Lazarus Raised from the Dead

38 Then Jesus, again groaning in Himself, came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone lay against it.
39 Jesus said, “Take away the stone.” Martha, the sister of him who was dead, said to Him, “Lord, by this time there is a stench, for he has been dead four days.”
40 Jesus said to her, “Did I not say to you that if you would believe you would see the glory of God?”

41 Then they took away the stone from the place where the dead man was lying.[d] And Jesus lifted up His eyes and said, “Father, I thank You that You have heard Me.
42 “And I know that You always hear Me, but because of the people who are standing by I said this, that they may believe that You sent Me.”
43 Now when He had said these things, He cried with a loud voice, “Lazarus, come forth!”
44 And he who had died came out bound hand and foot with graveclothes, and his face was wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, “Loose him, and let him go.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Matt. 26:1–5; Mark 14:1, 2; Luke 22:1, 2)

45 Then many of the Jews who had come to Mary, and had seen the things Jesus did, believed in Him.
46 But some of them went away to the Pharisees and told them the things Jesus did.
47 Then the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered a council and said, “What shall we do? For this Man works many signs.
48 “If we let Him alone like this, everyone will believe in Him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and nation.”
49 And one of them, Caiaphas, being high priest that year, said to them,
“You know nothing at all,
50 “nor do you consider that it is expedient for us[e] that one man should die for the people, and not that the whole nation should perish.” 51 Now this he did not say on his own authority; but being high priest that year he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation, 52 and not for that nation only, but also that He would gather together in one the children of God who were scattered abroad.
53 Then, from that day on, they plotted to put Him to death.
54 Therefore Jesus no longer walked openly among the Jews, but went from there into the country near the wilderness, to a city called Ephraim, and there remained with His disciples.
55 And the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went from the country up to Jerusalem before the Passover, to purify themselves.
56 Then they sought Jesus, and spoke among themselves as they stood in the temple, “What do you think—that He will not come to the feast?”

57 Now both the chief priests and the Pharisees had given a command, that if anyone knew where He was, he should report it, that they might seize Him.

John 12

The Anointing at Bethany

(Matt. 26:6–13; Mark 14:3–9)

1 Then, six days before the Passover, Jesus came to Bethany, where Lazarus was who had been dead,[a] whom He had raised from the dead.

2 There they made Him a supper; and Martha served, but Lazarus was one of those who sat at the table with Him.

3 Then Mary took a pound of very costly oil of spikenard, anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped His feet with her hair. And the house was filled with the fragrance of the oil.

4 But one of His disciples, Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, who would betray Him, said,

5 "Why was this fragrant oil not sold for three hundred denarii[b] and given to the poor?"

6 This he said, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and had the money box; and he used to take what was put in it.

7 But Jesus said, "Let her alone; she has kept[c] this for the day of My burial.

8 "For the poor you have with you always, but Me you do not have always."

The Plot to Kill Lazarus

9 Now a great many of the Jews knew that He was there; and they came, not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might also see Lazarus, whom He had raised from the dead.

10 But the chief priests plotted to put Lazarus to death also,

11 because on account of him many of the Jews went away and believed in Jesus.

The Triumphal Entry

(Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–11; Luke 19:28–40)

12 The next day a great multitude that had come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, 13 took branches of palm trees and went out to meet Him, and cried out:

"Hosanna!
'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!'[d]
The King of Israel!"

14 Then Jesus, when He had found a young donkey, sat on it; as it is written:

15 "Fear not, daughter of Zion;
Behold, your King is coming,
Sitting on a donkey's colt."[e]

16 His disciples did not understand these things at first; but when Jesus was glorified, then they remembered that these things were written about Him and that they had done these things to Him.
17 Therefore the people, who were with Him when He called Lazarus out of his tomb and raised him from the dead, bore witness.
18 For this reason the people also met Him, because they heard that He had done this sign.
19 The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, "You see that you are accomplishing nothing. Look, the world has gone after Him!"

The Fruitful Grain of Wheat

20 Now there were certain Greeks among those who came up to worship at the feast.
21 Then they came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida of Galilee, and asked him, saying, "Sir, we wish to see Jesus."
22 Philip came and told Andrew, and in turn Andrew and Philip told Jesus.
23 But Jesus answered them, saying, "The hour has come that the Son of Man should be glorified.
24 "Most assuredly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it produces much grain.
25 "He who loves his life will lose it, and he who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life.
26 "If anyone serves Me, let him follow Me; and where I am, there My servant will be also. If anyone serves Me, him My Father will honor.

Jesus Predicts His Death on the Cross

[27]"Now My soul is troubled, and what shall I say? 'Father, save Me from this hour'? But for this purpose I came to this hour.
[28]"Father, glorify Your name." Then a voice came from heaven, saying, "I have both glorified it and will glorify it again."
[29]Therefore the people who stood by and heard it said that it had thundered. Others said, "An angel has spoken to Him."
[30]Jesus answered and said, "This voice did not come because of Me, but for your sake.
[31]"Now is the judgment of this world; now the ruler of this world will be cast out.
[32]"And I, if I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all peoples to Myself."
[33]This He said, signifying by what death He would die.
[34]The people answered Him, "We have heard from the law that the Christ remains forever; and how can You say, 'The Son of Man must be lifted up'? Who is this Son of Man?"
[35]Then Jesus said to them, "A little while longer the light is with you. Walk while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you; he who walks in darkness does not know where he is going.
[36]"While you have the light, believe in the light, that you may become sons of light." These things Jesus spoke, and departed, and was hidden from them.

Who Has Believed Our Report?

[37]But although He had done so many signs before them, they did not believe in Him, [38]that the word of Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled, which he spoke:

> "Lord, who has believed our report?
> And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?"[f]

[39]Therefore they could not believe, because Isaiah said again:

> [40]"He has blinded their eyes and hardened their hearts,
> Lest they should see with their eyes,
> Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,

So that I should heal them."[g]

41 These things Isaiah said when[h] he saw His glory and spoke of Him.

Walk in the Light

42 Nevertheless even among the rulers many believed in Him, but because of the Pharisees they did not confess Him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue;
43 for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.
44 Then Jesus cried out and said, "He who believes in Me, believes not in Me but in Him who sent Me.
45 "And he who sees Me sees Him who sent Me.
46 "I have come as a light into the world, that whoever believes in Me should not abide in darkness.
47 "And if anyone hears My words and does not believe,[i] I do not judge him; for I did not come to judge the world but to save the world.
48 "He who rejects Me, and does not receive My words, has that which judges him—the word that I have spoken will judge him in the last day.
49 "For I have not spoken on My own authority; but the Father who sent Me gave Me a command, what I should say and what I should speak.
50 "And I know that His command is everlasting life. Therefore, whatever I speak, just as the Father has told Me, so I speak."

John 13

Jesus Washes the Disciples' Feet

1 Now before the Feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that His hour had come that He should depart from this world to the Father, having loved His own who were in the world, He loved them to the end.
2 And supper being ended,[a] the devil having already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray Him, 3 Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into His hands, and that He had come from God and was going to God, 4 rose from supper and laid aside His garments, took a towel and girded Himself.
5 After that, He poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel with which He was girded.

6Then He came to Simon Peter. And Peter said to Him, “Lord, are You washing my feet?”

7Jesus answered and said to him, “What I am doing you do not understand now, but you will know after this.”

8Peter said to Him, “You shall never wash my feet!” Jesus answered him, “If I do not wash you, you have no part with Me.”

9Simon Peter said to Him, “Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head!”

10Jesus said to him, “He who is bathed needs only to wash his feet, but is completely clean; and you are clean, but not all of you.”

11For He knew who would betray Him; therefore He said, “You are not all clean.”

12So when He had washed their feet, taken His garments, and sat down again, He said to them, “Do you know what I have done to you?

13“You call Me Teacher and Lord, and you say well, for so I am.

14“If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another’s feet.

15“For I have given you an example, that you should do as I have done to you.

16“Most assuredly, I say to you, a servant is not greater than his master; nor is he who is sent greater than he who sent him.

17“If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them.

Jesus Identifies His Betrayer

18“I do not speak concerning all of you. I know whom I have chosen; but that the Scripture may be fulfilled, ‘He who eats bread with Me[b] has lifted up his heel against Me.’[c]

19“Now I tell you before it comes, that when it does come to pass, you may believe that I am He.

20“Most assuredly, I say to you, he who receives whomever I send receives Me; and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me.”

21When Jesus had said these things, He was troubled in spirit, and testified and said, “Most assuredly, I say to you, one of you will betray Me.”

22Then the disciples looked at one another, perplexed about whom He spoke.

[23]Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one of His disciples, whom Jesus loved.

[24]Simon Peter therefore motioned to him to ask who it was of whom He spoke.

[25]Then, leaning back[d] on Jesus' breast, he said to Him, "Lord, who is it?"

[26]Jesus answered, "It is he to whom I shall give a piece of bread when I have dipped it." And having dipped the bread, He gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon.

[27]Now after the piece of bread, Satan entered him. Then Jesus said to him, "What you do, do quickly."

[28]But no one at the table knew for what reason He said this to him.

[29]For some thought, because Judas had the money box, that Jesus had said to him, "Buy those things we need for the feast," or that he should give something to the poor.

[30]Having received the piece of bread, he then went out immediately. And it was night.

The New Commandment

[31]So, when he had gone out, Jesus said, "Now the Son of Man is glorified, and God is glorified in Him.

[32]"If God is glorified in Him, God will also glorify Him in Himself, and glorify Him immediately.

[33]"Little children, I shall be with you a little while longer. You will seek Me; and as I said to the Jews, 'Where I am going, you cannot come,' so now I say to you.

[34]"A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another.

[35]"By this all will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another."

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

[36]Simon Peter said to Him, "Lord, where are You going?" Jesus answered him, "Where I am going you cannot follow Me now, but you shall follow Me afterward."

[37]Peter said to Him, "Lord, why can I not follow You now? I will lay down my life for Your sake."

[38]Jesus answered him, "Will you lay down your life for My sake? Most assuredly, I say to you, the rooster shall not crow till you have denied Me three times.

John 14

The Way, the Truth, and the Life

1 "Let not your heart be troubled; you believe in God, believe also in Me.
2 "In My Father's house are many mansions;[a] if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.[b]
3 "And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you to Myself; that where I am, there you may be also.
4 "And where I go you know, and the way you know."
5 Thomas said to Him, "Lord, we do not know where You are going, and how can we know the way?"
6 Jesus said to him, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me.

The Father Revealed

7 "If you had known Me, you would have known My Father also; and from now on you know Him and have seen Him."
8 Philip said to Him, "Lord, show us the Father, and it is sufficient for us."
9 Jesus said to him, "Have I been with you so long, and yet you have not known Me, Philip? He who has seen Me has seen the Father; so how can you say, 'Show us the Father'?
10 "Do you not believe that I am in the Father, and the Father in Me? The words that I speak to you I do not speak on My own authority; but the Father who dwells in Me does the works.
11 "Believe Me that I am in the Father and the Father in Me, or else believe Me for the sake of the works themselves.

The Answered Prayer

12 "Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do he will do also; and greater works than these he will do, because I go to My Father.
13 "And whatever you ask in My name, that I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

14"If you ask[c] anything in My name, I will do it.

Jesus Promises Another Helper

15"If you love Me, keep[d] My commandments.

16"And I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper, that He may abide with you forever—

17"the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees Him nor knows Him; but you know Him, for He dwells with you and will be in you.

18"I will not leave you orphans; I will come to you.

Indwelling of the Father and the Son

19"A little while longer and the world will see Me no more, but you will see Me. Because I live, you will live also.

20"At that day you will know that I am in My Father, and you in Me, and I in you.

21"He who has My commandments and keeps them, it is he who loves Me. And he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and manifest Myself to him."

22Judas (not Iscariot) said to Him, "Lord, how is it that You will manifest Yourself to us, and not to the world?"

23Jesus answered and said to him, "If anyone loves Me, he will keep My word; and My Father will love him, and We will come to him and make Our home with him.

24"He who does not love Me does not keep My words; and the word which you hear is not Mine but the Father's who sent Me.

The Gift of His Peace

25"These things I have spoken to you while being present with you.

26"But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you.

27"Peace I leave with you, My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

28"You have heard Me say to you, 'I am going away and coming back to you.’ If you loved Me, you would rejoice because I said,[e] ‘I am going to the Father,’ for My Father is greater than I.

29“And now I have told you before it comes, that when it does come to pass, you may believe.

30“I will no longer talk much with you, for the ruler of this world is coming, and he has nothing in Me.

31“But that the world may know that I love the Father, and as the Father gave Me commandment, so I do. Arise, let us go from here.

John 15

The True Vine

1“I am the true vine, and My Father is the vinedresser.

2“Every branch in Me that does not bear fruit He takes away;[a] and every branch that bears fruit He prunes, that it may bear more fruit.

3“You are already clean because of the word which I have spoken to you.

4“Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in Me.

5“I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in Me, and I in him, bears much fruit; for without Me you can do nothing.

6“If anyone does not abide in Me, he is cast out as a branch and is withered; and they gather them and throw them into the fire, and they are burned.

7“If you abide in Me, and My words abide in you, you will[b] ask what you desire, and it shall be done for you.

8“By this My Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit; so you will be My disciples.

Love and Joy Perfected

9“As the Father loved Me, I also have loved you; abide in My love.

10“If you keep My commandments, you will abide in My love, just as I have kept My Father’s commandments and abide in His love.

11“These things I have spoken to you, that My joy may remain in you, and that your joy may be full.

12“This is My commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you.

13“Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one’s life for his friends.

14“You are My friends if you do whatever I command you.

15“No longer do I call you servants, for a servant does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all things that I heard from My Father I have made known to you.

16“You did not choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain, that whatever you ask the Father in My name He may give you.

17“These things I command you, that you love one another.

The World’s Hatred

18“If the world hates you, you know that it hated Me before it hated you.

19“If you were of the world, the world would love its own. Yet because you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you.

20“Remember the word that I said to you, ‘A servant is not greater than his master.’ If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they kept My word, they will keep yours also.

21“But all these things they will do to you for My name’s sake, because they do not know Him who sent Me.

22“If I had not come and spoken to them, they would have no sin, but now they have no excuse for their sin.

23“He who hates Me hates My Father also.

24“If I had not done among them the works which no one else did, they would have no sin; but now they have seen and also hated both Me and My Father.

25“But this happened that the word might be fulfilled which is written in their law, ‘They hated Me without a cause.’[c]

The Coming Rejection

26“But when the Helper comes, whom I shall send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who proceeds from the Father, He will testify of Me.

27“And you also will bear witness, because you have been with Me from the beginning.

John 16

1 “These things I have spoken to you, that you should not be made to stumble.
2 “They will put you out of the synagogues; yes, the time is coming that whoever kills you will think that he offers God service.
3 “And these things they will do to you[a] because they have not known the Father nor Me.
4 “But these things I have told you, that when the[b] time comes, you may remember that I told you of them. And these things I did not say to you at the beginning, because I was with you.

The Work of the Holy Spirit

5 “But now I go away to Him who sent Me, and none of you asks Me, ‘Where are You going?’
6 “But because I have said these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart.
7 “Nevertheless I tell you the truth. It is to your advantage that I go away; for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you; but if I depart, I will send Him to you.
8 “And when He has come, He will convict the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment:
9 “of sin, because they do not believe in Me;
10 “of righteousness, because I go to My Father and you see Me no more;
11 “of judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.
12 “I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now.
13 “However, when He, the Spirit of truth, has come, He will guide you into all truth; for He will not speak on His own authority, but whatever He hears
He will speak; and He will tell you things to come.
14 “He will glorify Me, for He will take of what is Mine and declare it to you.
15 “All things that the Father has are Mine. Therefore I said that He will take of Mine and declare it to you.[c]

Sorrow Will Turn to Joy

16 “A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me, because I go to the Father.” 17 Then some of His disciples said among themselves, “What is this that He says to us, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’; and, ‘because I go to the Father’?”

18They said therefore, “What is this that He says, ‘A little while’? We do not know what He is saying.”

19Now Jesus knew that they desired to ask Him, and He said to them, “Are you inquiring among yourselves about what I said, ‘A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me’?

20“Most assuredly, I say to you that you will weep and lament, but the world will rejoice; and you will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will be turned into joy.

21“A woman, when she is in labor, has sorrow because her hour has come; but as soon as she has given birth to the child, she no longer remembers the anguish, for joy that a human being has been born into the world.

22“Therefore you now have sorrow; but I will see you again and your heart will rejoice, and your joy no one will take from you.

23“And in that day you will ask Me nothing. Most assuredly, I say to you, whatever you ask the Father in My name He will give you.

24“Until now you have asked nothing in My name. Ask, and you will receive, that your joy may be full.

Jesus Christ Has Overcome the World

25“These things I have spoken to you in figurative language; but the time is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figurative language, but I will tell you plainly about the Father.

26“In that day you will ask in My name, and I do not say to you that I shall pray the Father for you;

27“for the Father Himself loves you, because you have loved Me, and have believed that I came forth from God.

28“I came forth from the Father and have come into the world. Again, I leave the world and go to the Father.”

29His disciples said to Him, “See, now You are speaking plainly, and using no figure of speech!

30“Now we are sure that You know all things, and have no need that anyone should question You. By this we believe that You came forth from God.”

31Jesus answered them, “Do you now believe?

32“Indeed the hour is coming, yes, has now come, that you will be scattered, each to his own, and will leave Me alone. And yet I am not alone, because the Father is with Me.

33"These things I have spoken to you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you will[d] have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

John 17

Jesus Prays for Himself

1Jesus spoke these words, lifted up His eyes to heaven, and said: "Father, the hour has come. Glorify Your Son, that Your Son also may glorify You,

2"as You have given Him authority over all flesh, that He should[a] give eternal life to as many as You have given Him.

3"And this is eternal life, that they may know You, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent.

4"I have glorified You on the earth. I have finished the work which You have given Me to do.

5"And now, O Father, glorify Me together with Yourself, with the glory which I had with You before the world was.

Jesus Prays for His Disciples

6"I have manifested Your name to the men whom You have given Me out of the world. They were Yours, You gave them to Me, and they have kept Your word.

7"Now they have known that all things which You have given Me are from You.

8"For I have given to them the words which You have given Me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came forth from You; and they have believed that You sent Me.

9"I pray for them. I do not pray for the world but for those whom You have given Me, for they are Yours.

10"And all Mine are Yours, and Yours are Mine, and I am glorified in them.

11"Now I am no longer in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to You. Holy Father, keep through Your name those whom You have given Me,[b] that they may be one as We are.

12 “While I was with them in the world,[c] I kept them in Your name. Those whom You gave Me I have kept;[d] and none of them is lost except the son of perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled.
13 “But now I come to You, and these things I speak in the world, that they may have My joy fulfilled in themselves.
14 “I have given them Your word; and the world has hated them because they are not of the world, just as I am not of the world.
15 “I do not pray that You should take them out of the world, but that You should keep them from the evil one.
16 “They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world.
17 “Sanctify them by Your truth. Your word is truth.
18 “As You sent Me into the world, I also have sent them into the world.
19 “And for their sakes I sanctify Myself, that they also may be sanctified by the truth.

Jesus Prays for All Believers

20 “I do not pray for these alone, but also for those who will[e] believe in Me through their word;
21 “that they all may be one, as You, Father, are in Me, and I in You; that they also may be one in Us, that the world may believe that You sent Me.
22 “And the glory which You gave Me I have given them, that they may be one just as We are one:
23 “I in them, and You in Me; that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that You have sent Me, and have loved them as You have loved Me.
24 “Father, I desire that they also whom You gave Me may be with Me where I am, that they may behold My glory which You have given Me; for You loved Me before the foundation of the world.
25 “O righteous Father! The world has not known You, but I have known
You; and these have known that You sent Me.
26 “And I have declared to them Your name, and will declare it, that the love with which You loved Me may be in them, and I in them.”

John 18

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

(Matt. 26:47–56; Mark 14:43–52; Luke 22:47–53)

1 When Jesus had spoken these words, He went out with His disciples over the Brook Kidron, where there was a garden, which He and His disciples entered.
2 And Judas, who betrayed Him, also knew the place; for Jesus often met there with His disciples.
3 Then Judas, having received a detachment of troops, and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, came there with lanterns, torches, and weapons.
4 Jesus therefore, knowing all things that would come upon Him, went forward and said to them, "Whom are you seeking?"
5 They answered Him, "Jesus of Nazareth." Jesus said to them, "I am He."
And Judas, who betrayed Him, also stood with them.
6 Now when He said to them, "I am He," they drew back and fell to the ground.
7 Then He asked them again, "Whom are you seeking?" And they said,
"Jesus of Nazareth."
8 Jesus answered, "I have told you that I am He. Therefore, if you seek Me, let these go their way," 9 that the saying might be fulfilled which He spoke, "Of those whom You gave Me I have lost none."
10 Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's servant, and cut off his right ear. The servant's name was Malchus.
11 So Jesus said to Peter, "Put your sword into the sheath. Shall I not drink the cup which My Father has given Me?"

Before the High Priest

12 Then the detachment of troops and the captain and the officers of the Jews arrested Jesus and bound Him.
13 And they led Him away to Annas first, for he was the father-in-law of Caiaphas who was high priest that year.
14 Now it was Caiaphas who advised the Jews that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

Peter Denies Jesus

15 And Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did another[a] disciple. Now that disciple was known to the high priest, and went with Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest.

16But Peter stood at the door outside. Then the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to her who kept the door, and brought Peter in.

17Then the servant girl who kept the door said to Peter, “You are not also one of this Man’s disciples, are you?” He said, “I am not.”

18Now the servants and officers who had made a fire of coals stood there, for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter stood with them and warmed himself.

Jesus Questioned by the High Priest

19The high priest then asked Jesus about His disciples and His doctrine.

20Jesus answered him, “I spoke openly to the world. I always taught in synagogues and in the temple, where the Jews always meet,[b] and in secret I have said nothing.

21“Why do you ask Me? Ask those who have heard Me what I said to them. Indeed they know what I said.”

22And when He had said these things, one of the officers who stood by struck Jesus with the palm of his hand, saying, “Do You answer the high priest like that?”

23Jesus answered him, “If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil; but if well, why do you strike Me?”

24Then Annas sent Him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.

Peter Denies Twice More

25Now Simon Peter stood and warmed himself. Therefore they said to him, “You are not also one of His disciples, are you?” He denied it and said, “I am not!”

26One of the servants of the high priest, a relative of him whose ear Peter cut off, said, “Did I not see you in the garden with Him?”

27Peter then denied again; and immediately a rooster crowed.

In Pilate’s Court

28Then they led Jesus from Caiaphas to the Praetorium, and it was early morning. But they themselves did not go into the Praetorium, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eat the Passover.

29 Pilate then went out to them and said, “What accusation do you bring against this Man?”
30 They answered and said to him, “If He were not an evildoer, we would not have delivered Him up to you.” 31 Then Pilate said to them, “You take Him and judge Him according to your law.” Therefore the Jews said to him, “It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death,” 32 that the saying of Jesus might be fulfilled which He spoke, signifying by what death He would die.
33 Then Pilate entered the Praetorium again, called Jesus, and said to Him,
“Are You the King of the Jews?”
34 Jesus answered him, “Are you speaking for yourself about this, or did others tell you this concerning Me?” 35 Pilate answered, “Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered You to me. What have You done?” 36 Jesus answered, “My kingdom is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would fight, so that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now My kingdom is not from here.”
37 Pilate therefore said to Him, “Are You a king then?” Jesus answered, “You say rightly that I am a king. For this cause I was born, and for this cause I have come into the world, that I should bear witness to the truth.
Everyone who is of the truth hears My voice.”
38 Pilate said to Him, “What is truth?” And when he had said this, he went out again to the Jews, and said to them, “I find no fault in Him at all.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

(Matt. 27:15–23; Mark 15:6–14; Luke 23:13–23)

39 “But you have a custom that I should release someone to you at the Passover. Do you therefore want me to release to you the King of the Jews?”
40 Then they all cried again, saying, “Not this Man, but Barabbas!” Now Barabbas was a robber.

John 19

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

(Matt. 27:27–31; Mark 15:16–20)

[1]So then Pilate took Jesus and scourged Him.

[2]And the soldiers twisted a crown of thorns and put it on His head, and they put on Him a purple robe.

[3]Then they said,[a] “Hail, King of the Jews!” And they struck Him with their hands.

[4]Pilate then went out again, and said to them, “Behold, I am bringing Him out to you, that you may know that I find no fault in Him.”

Pilate’s Decision

[5]Then Jesus came out, wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. And Pilate said to them, “Behold the Man!”

[6]Therefore, when the chief priests and officers saw Him, they cried out, saying, “Crucify Him, crucify Him!” Pilate said to them, “You take Him and crucify Him, for I find no fault in Him.”

[7]The Jews answered him, “We have a law, and according to our[b] law He ought to die, because He made Himself the Son of God.”

[8]Therefore, when Pilate heard that saying, he was the more afraid,

[9]and went again into the Praetorium, and said to Jesus, “Where are You from?” But Jesus gave him no answer.

[10]Then Pilate said to Him, “Are You not speaking to me? Do You not know that I have power to crucify You, and power to release You?”

[11]Jesus answered, “You could have no power at all against Me unless it had been given you from above. Therefore the one who delivered Me to you has the greater sin.”

[12]From then on Pilate sought to release Him, but the Jews cried out, saying, “If you let this Man go, you are not Caesar’s friend. Whoever makes himself a king speaks against Caesar.”

[13]When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus out and sat down in the judgment seat in a place that is called The Pavement, but in Hebrew, Gabbatha.

[14]Now it was the Preparation Day of the Passover, and about the sixth hour. And he said to the Jews, “Behold your King!”

[15]But they cried out, “Away with Him, away with Him! Crucify Him!” Pilate said to them, “Shall I crucify your King?” The chief priests answered, “We have no king but Caesar!”

[16]Then he delivered Him to them to be crucified. So they took Jesus and led Him away.[c]

The King on a Cross

(Matt. 27:32–56; Mark 15:21–41; Luke 23:26–49)

17And He, bearing His cross, went out to a place called the Place of a Skull, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha, 18where they crucified Him, and two others with Him, one on either side, and Jesus in the center.
19Now Pilate wrote a title and put it on the cross. And the writing was:

JESUS OF NAZARETH, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

20Then many of the Jews read this title, for the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin.
21Therefore the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, "Do not write, 'The King of the Jews,' but, 'He said, "I am the King of the Jews." ' " 22Pilate answered, "What I have written, I have written."
23Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took His garments and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and also the tunic. Now the tunic was without seam, woven from the top in one piece.
24They said therefore among themselves, "Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be," that the Scripture might be fulfilled which says:

> "They divided My garments among them,
> And for My clothing they cast lots."[d]

Therefore the soldiers did these things.

Behold Your Mother

25Now there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother, and His mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene.
26When Jesus therefore saw His mother, and the disciple whom He loved standing by, He said to His mother, "Woman, behold your son!" 27Then He said to the disciple, "Behold your mother!" And from that hour that disciple took her to his own home.

It Is Finished

28After this, Jesus, knowing[e] that all things were now accomplished, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, said, "I thirst!"

29 Now a vessel full of sour wine was sitting there; and they filled a sponge with sour wine, put it on hyssop, and put it to His mouth.
30 So when Jesus had received the sour wine, He said, “It is finished!” And bowing His head, He gave up His spirit.

Jesus’ Side Is Pierced

31 Therefore, because it was the Preparation Day, that the bodies should not remain on the cross on the Sabbath (for that Sabbath was a high day), the Jews asked Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away.
32 Then the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first and of the other who was crucified with Him.
33 But when they came to Jesus and saw that He was already dead, they did not break His legs.
34 But one of the soldiers pierced His side with a spear, and immediately blood and water came out.
35 And he who has seen has testified, and his testimony is true; and he knows that he is telling the truth, so that you may believe.
36 For these things were done that the Scripture should be fulfilled, “Not one of His bones shall be broken.”[f] 37 And again another Scripture says, “They shall look on Him whom they pierced.”[g]

Jesus Buried in Joseph’s Tomb

(Matt. 27:57–61; Mark 15:42–47; Luke 23:50–56)

38 After this, Joseph of Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly, for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate gave him permission. So he came and took the body of Jesus.
39 And Nicodemus, who at first came to Jesus by night, also came, bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds.
40 Then they took the body of Jesus, and bound it in strips of linen with the spices, as the custom of the Jews is to bury.
41 Now in the place where He was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one had yet been laid.
42 So there they laid Jesus, because of the Jews’ Preparation Day, for the tomb was nearby.

John 20

The Empty Tomb

(Matt. 28:1–10; Mark 16:1–8; Luke 24:1–12)

1 Now on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene went to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the stone had been taken away from the tomb.
2 Then she ran and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and said to them, “They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid Him.”
3 Peter therefore went out, and the other disciple, and were going to the tomb.
4 So they both ran together, and the other disciple outran Peter and came to the tomb first.
5 And he, stooping down and looking in, saw the linen cloths lying there;
yet he did not go in.
6 Then Simon Peter came, following him, and went into the tomb; and he saw the linen cloths lying there, 7 and the handkerchief that had been around His head, not lying with the linen cloths, but folded together in a place by itself.
8 Then the other disciple, who came to the tomb first, went in also; and he saw and believed.
9 For as yet they did not know the Scripture, that He must rise again from the dead.
10 Then the disciples went away again to their own homes.

Mary Magdalene Sees the Risen Lord

11 But Mary stood outside by the tomb weeping, and as she wept she stooped down and looked into the tomb.
12 And she saw two angels in white sitting, one at the head and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.
13 Then they said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping?” She said to them, “Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid Him.”
14 Now when she had said this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing there, and did not know that it was Jesus.

15 Jesus said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you seeking?” She, supposing Him to be the gardener, said to Him, “Sir, if You have carried Him away, tell me where You have laid Him, and I will take Him away.”
16 Jesus said to her, “Mary!” She turned and said to Him,[a] “Rabboni!”
(which is to say, Teacher).
17 Jesus said to her, “Do not cling to Me, for I have not yet ascended to My Father; but go to My brethren and say to them, ‘I am ascending to My Father and your Father, and to My God and your God.’ ” 18 Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord,[b] and that He had spoken these things to her.

The Apostles Commissioned

(Luke 24:36–43; 1 Cor. 15:5)

19 Then, the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled,[c] for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst, and said to them, “Peace be with you.”
20 When He had said this, He showed them His hands and His side. Then the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord.
21 So Jesus said to them again, “Peace to you! As the Father has sent Me, I also send you.”
22 And when He had said this, He breathed on them, and said to them, “Receive the Holy Spirit.
23 “If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained.”

Seeing and Believing

24 Now Thomas, called the Twin, one of the twelve, was not with them when Jesus came.
25 The other disciples therefore said to him, “We have seen the Lord.” So he said to them, “Unless I see in His hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put my hand into His side, I will not believe.”
26 And after eight days His disciples were again inside, and Thomas with them. Jesus came, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, “Peace to you!”
27 Then He said to Thomas, “Reach your finger here, and look at My hands; and reach your hand here, and put it into My side. Do not be unbelieving, but believing."

[28]And Thomas answered and said to Him, "My Lord and my God!"

[29]Jesus said to him, "Thomas,[d] because you have seen Me, you have believed. Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed."

That You May Believe

[30]And truly Jesus did many other signs in the presence of His disciples, which are not written in this book;

[31]but these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in His name.

John 21

Breakfast by the Sea

[1]After these things Jesus showed Himself again to the disciples at the Sea of Tiberias, and in this way He showed Himself:

[2]Simon Peter, Thomas called the Twin, Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, the sons of Zebedee, and two others of His disciples were together.

[3]Simon Peter said to them, "I am going fishing." They said to him, "We are going with you also." They went out and immediately[a] got into the boat, and that night they caught nothing.

[4]But when the morning had now come, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples did not know that it was Jesus.

[5]Then Jesus said to them, "Children, have you any food?" They answered Him, "No."

[6]And He said to them, "Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some." So they cast, and now they were not able to draw it in because of the multitude of fish.

[7]Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, "It is the Lord!" Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put on his outer garment (for he had removed it), and plunged into the sea.

[8]But the other disciples came in the little boat (for they were not far from land, but about two hundred cubits), dragging the net with fish.

[9]Then, as soon as they had come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid on it, and bread.

10 Jesus said to them, “Bring some of the fish which you have just caught.”

11 Simon Peter went up and dragged the net to land, full of large fish, one hundred and fifty-three; and although there were so many, the net was not broken.

12 Jesus said to them, “Come and eat breakfast.” Yet none of the disciples dared ask Him, “Who are You?”—knowing that it was the Lord.

13 Jesus then came and took the bread and gave it to them, and likewise the fish.

14 This is now the third time Jesus showed Himself to His disciples after He was raised from the dead.

Jesus Restores Peter

15 So when they had eaten breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, “Simon, son of Jonah,[b] do you love Me more than these?” He said to Him, “Yes, Lord; You know that I love You.” He said to him, “Feed My lambs.”

16 He said to him again a second time, “Simon, son of Jonah,[c] do you love Me?” He said to Him, “Yes, Lord; You know that I love You.” He said to him, “Tend My sheep.”

17 He said to him the third time, “Simon, son of Jonah,[d] do you love Me?” Peter was grieved because He said to him the third time, “Do you love Me?” And he said to Him, “Lord, You know all things; You know that I love You.” Jesus said to him, “Feed My sheep.

18 “Most assuredly, I say to you, when you were younger, you girded yourself and walked where you wished; but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will gird you and carry you where you do not wish.”

19 This He spoke, signifying by what death he would glorify God. And when He had spoken this, He said to him, “Follow Me.”

The Beloved Disciple and His Book

20 Then Peter, turning around, saw the disciple whom Jesus loved following, who also had leaned on His breast at the supper, and said, “Lord, who is the one who betrays You?”

21 Peter, seeing him, said to Jesus, “But Lord, what about this man?”

22 Jesus said to him, “If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you? You follow Me.”

23 Then this saying went out among the brethren that this disciple would not die. Yet Jesus did not say to him that he would not die, but, “If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you?”

[24]This is the disciple who testifies of these things, and wrote these things; and we know that his testimony is true.

[25]And there are also many other things that Jesus did, which if they were written one by one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that would be written. Amen.

Annotations for John

1:1 In the beginning recalls the creation story of Genesis, but speaks more clearly of the Creator Himself. Furthermore, while Genesis spoke of the first creation, this "Prologue" of John (vv. 1–18) reveals the new creation in Christ.

Was the Word (Gr. logos): The Word is the eternal Son of God. Was indicates existence without reference to a starting point and emphasizes the Word's eternal existence without beginning. Logos can mean "wisdom," "reason," and "action" as well as "word," all of which are attributes of the Son of God. The Word was with God: With shows that the Word—the Son of God—is a distinct Person from the Father and that He is in eternal communion with the Father. The Word was God: The Word—the Son of God—is co-equal and co-eternal with the Father; He Himself is God with the same divinity as the Father. Some twist and mistranslate this phrase "the Word was a god" in order to propagate their heresy that the Son of God is a created being, a creature not fully divine. Such a translation is unsupportable, false, dishonest, and deceptive.

📖 1:1–17 This passage is read on the Feast of Pascha (Easter), the day of the Resurrection of Christ.

1:3 The Word is the co-Creator with the Father and the Holy Spirit (Gn 1; Ps 32:6, 9; Heb 1:2) and not merely an instrument or servant used by the Father. Will, operation, and power are one in the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Thus, the heavens and the earth are the works of the One who made them, while the Son was not made but is eternally begotten of the Father.

1:4 Only God has life in Himself. Thus, the Word, being God, is the source of life, together with the Father and the Holy Spirit. The life was the light of men: John now introduces mankind as receiver of the divine light. By participating in the life of the Son, believers themselves become children of the light (12:36; Eph 5:8; 1Th 5:5). Moses saw the divine light in the burning bush (Ex 3:2); the whole nation saw it at the Red Sea (Ex 13:21); Isaiah saw it in his heavenly vision (Is 6:1–5); and three apostles saw it at the Transfiguration (Mt 17:1–5).

1:5 Darkness indicates both spiritual ignorance and satanic opposition to the light. Those who hate truth prefer ignorance for themselves and strive to keep others ignorant as well (3:19). The word translated comprehend means both "understand" and "overcome." Thus, darkness can never overpower the light of Christ, nor can it understand the way of love.

1:6 This John is John the Baptist, not the author of this Gospel.

1:9–11 Christ offers light to every person, but the world and even many of His own refuse to receive Him; thus, they can neither know nor recognize Him. Those who accept Him have His light. In a hymn sung at the end of Liturgy, after hearing the Gospel and receiving communion, we sing, "We have seen the true light, we have received the heavenly Spirit."

1:12 Right also means "authority" and indicates a gift from God, not an inalienable right. Those who receive Christ become children of God by adoption (Gal 4:4–7) and by grace inherit everything Christ is by nature (see the article "Deification" at 2 Peter). To believe in His name means to believe and trust in Him who in His humanity took the name Jesus as Word, Son, Messiah, and Savior.

1:13 Adoption as a child of God is not a matter of ethnic descent (of blood) as it was in the OT; nor are we children of God simply by natural birth (the will of the flesh), nor by man's own decision (the will of man). Becoming a child of God is a spiritual birth by grace, through faith, and in the Holy Spirit. This is accomplished and manifested in the sacrament of Holy Baptism (3:5–8; see Tts 3:4–7).

1:14 The Word became flesh clarifies the manner in which the Son and Word of God came to His people (vv. 9–11), pointing specifically to His Incarnation. The Word became fully human without ceasing to be fully God. He assumed complete human nature: body, soul, will, emotion, and even mortality—everything that pertains to humanity except sin. As God and Man in one Person, Christ pours divinity into all of human nature, for anything not assumed by Christ would not have been healed.

Dwelt among us: In the OT, God's presence dwelt ("tabernacled") in the ark of the covenant and later in the temple. Here, the eternal Word comes to dwell in and among humanity itself. His glory refers both to His divine power shown by His signs and wonders (2:11; 11:4, 40), and to His humble service to mankind, shown most perfectly on the Cross (12:23–32; 13:31). In both ways, Christ reveals that He is the One sent from the Father.

Only begotten of the Father: The Son has no beginning, but has the Father as His source from eternity. He is called only begotten because there is no other born from the Father. (The Holy Spirit exists eternally from the Father through another mystery called "procession"; see 15:26.)

Full of grace and truth: This phrase qualifies both the Word and His glory. Grace is Christ's uncreated energy given to us through His love and mercy. Truth includes His faithfulness to His promises and covenants and to the reality of His words and gifts.

1:16 In saying we have all received of His fullness, the Scriptures confirm that God's grace can fill human nature to the extent of actually deifying it (see the article "Deification" at 2 Peter). In Christ, God's children become gods by grace (10:34, 35) without ceasing to be human. As metal thrust into fire takes on properties of fire (such as heat and light) without ceasing to be metal, so human nature permeated by God takes on properties of the divine nature. Grace for grace is a Semitic expression signifying an overabundance of grace.

1:18 No one has seen God at any time: No one can see the nature, or essence, of God, for to see God is to die (Ex 33:20). Only One who is Himself divine can see God, and thus the Son is the only One who can declare Him. This revelation of God's energies can be received by the faithful. Moses saw the "back" of God (Ex 33:21–23); Isaiah saw His glory (see Is 6:1; John 12:41).

1:19—2:12 Here the theological Prologue has concluded with 1:18, and the focus shifts to the beginnings of Christ's ministry: the witness of John the Baptist (1:19–34); the calling of the first apostles (1:35–51); Christ's first sign at Cana (2:1–11); and His rest at Capernaum (2:12). Just as John began his Gospel similarly to the opening of Genesis ("In the beginning"—v. 1; see Gn 1:1), so he parallels Genesis in this opening account, which covers seven consecutive days.

(1) The first day (1:19–28)—John the Baptist bears witness to the Light—the Christ—in the presence of the Jews. This parallels the creation of light on the first day in Gn 1:3–5.

(2) The second day (1:29–34)—John the Baptist declares that Christ baptizes with the Holy Spirit, which is greater than his own baptism of repentance, performed with water on earth. This parallels the separation of water above from the water below on the second day in Gn 1:6–8.

(3) The third day (1:35–42)—John the Baptist sends two disciples to Christ whom Christ gathers to be His own, one of whom He declares to be the foundation of the Church (v. 42; see Mt 16:18). This parallels the gathering of the waters and the establishment of growth on the land on the third day in Gn 1:9–13.

(4) The fourth day (1:43–51)—Jesus calls Philip and Nathanael, who see Christ as the true Light, the One who was revealed in the OT, a lesser light. This parallels the establishment of the lesser and greater lights governing the night and the day respectively on the fourth day in Gn 1:14–19.

(5) The sixth day (2:1–11)—John does not include the events of the fifth day, but jumps to the sixth. The phrase on the third day is an expression meaning "two days later," for it includes the current day in the calculation (see 2:1 and note). On this sixth day, the wedding in Cana occurs, which parallels the creation of man and woman in Gn 1:26–31.

(6) The seventh day (2:12)—Jesus rests at Capernaum with His mother, His brothers, and His disciples, which parallels God resting on the seventh day in Gn 2:1–3.

1:21 John the Baptist is a prophet but not the Prophet, the Messiah, whose coming Moses foretold (Dt 18:15–19).

1:26 On John's baptism, see notes at Lk 3:3 and 3:16, 17.

1:29 John's declaring Jesus as the Lamb of God recalls Isaiah's "Servant of God" who dies for the transgressions of His people (Is 53:4–12). Christ, the true Paschal (Passover) Lamb, offers Himself for our deliverance from darkness and death (1Pt 1:18, 19). St. John Chrysostom teaches that Jesus came to John this second time in order for John to make this declaration and thus stop anyone from thinking that Jesus needed baptism to wash away sins.

🕮 1:29–34 This passage is read on January 7, the Feast of the Synaxis of St. John the Baptist.

1:32 That the Spirit remained upon Him was a sign that Christ possesses the Spirit in His fullness from all eternity. Christ did not receive the Holy Spirit at His Baptism; rather, this vision that John saw revealed the truth that the Holy Spirit has always rested on Christ.

1:35–45 The Lord's first disciples had been followers of John the Baptist. They were Andrew (v. 40); Simon, who was also known as Peter, or Cephas (vv. 41, 42); Philip (v. 43); Nathanael (v. 45), who was also known as Bartholomew; and an unnamed disciple (vv. 35–40), who some Fathers say was John, the author of this Gospel. It was a common literary device for a writer not to give his own name (see Lk 24:13).

🕮 1:35–52 This passage is read on November 30, the Feast of the Apostle Andrew.

🕮 1:43–51 This passage is read on the first Sunday of Great Lent, called the Sunday of Orthodoxy, and on November 14, the Feast of the Apostle Philip.

1:47 No deceit means both having a pure heart and being straightforward with others.

1:48–50 What exactly occurred under the fig tree is not stated. St. John Chrysostom teaches this was the meeting place of Philip and Nathanael (vv. 45, 46), and that Jesus was praising Nathanael for being so diligent and careful in His search for the Messiah. Christ's foreknowledge and His ability to see into Nathanael's heart stir him to this confession of faith (v. 49).

1:51 The title Son of Man is a title of the Messiah that had a level of mystery in its meaning, indicating a man of heavenly origin who would usher in the Kingdom of God (Dan 7:13, 14). In an OT prophecy, Jacob dreamed of a ladder connecting earth to heaven, upon which the angels of God were ascending and descending (Gn 28:12–15). Jesus is this "ladder" who unites earth to heaven, and therefore is this Son of Man.

Christology

The center of Christianity is the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. In fact, He is the centerpiece of all history. But the world struggles with His identity. Who is He? Is He God? Is He man? Both? The Scriptures clearly answer these crucial questions.

In his Gospel, John gives a specific and definitive explanation of who Christ is. "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God" (1:1). John the Baptist, the Forerunner of Christ, revealed God the Word as "the Light" (1:7). "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us" (1:14). Who then is Jesus Christ?

1. He is God, for He was with God from before all time. Clearly, the One born Jesus of Nazareth did not have His beginning in His earthly birth. Rather, He is the eternal Son of God, without beginning. There never was a time when the Son of God did not exist.
2. He is also man, for He "became flesh." He has become one of us, being like us in all things, but without sin.
3. He acts both as God and as man, doing what is appropriate for each nature in the unity provided by His one divine Person. Never does divine nature and activity become changed into human nature and activity. The two are in union without confusion. Christ does, however, "energize" human nature with divine energy so that human nature is redeemed from sin and death and brought into union with God. He thus "deifies" humanity.

The miracle of these incomparable truths is known as the knowledge of Christ or "Christology." Many documents have expounded on Christology, but the definitive text is the Nicene Creed, the outcome of the first and second Ecumenical Councils in the fourth century. The Creed of Chalcedon (issued by the Fourth Ecumenical Council, AD 451) embodies other truths concerning the Incarnation of the Word. These creeds set the doctrinal fences outside of which we do not wander in our knowledge of Christ.

The apostle John bears witness to Christ: "That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, concerning the Word of life—the life was manifested, and we have seen, and bear witness, and declare to you that eternal life which was with the Father and was manifested to us—that which we have seen and heard we declare to you, that you also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father and with His Son Jesus Christ" (1Jn 1:1–3).

We, too, bear witness to Jesus Christ. For since God became man, and we are united with Him in baptism, we experience His Incarnation in our lives. The miracle of Christology for us is that, as the Son of God became man, we in turn may participate in God.

2:1–11 The wedding in Cana is the setting for the first of the seven signs (v. 11) performed by Jesus in the Gospel of John. John uses the term signs to show that these miraculous actions point beyond themselves to the truth that the Kingdom of God has come among us in the Person of Jesus Christ. The seven signs are (1) changing water into wine (2:1–11); (2) curing the nobleman's son (4:46–54); (3) healing the paralytic (5:1–15); (4) feeding the five thousand (6:1–14); (5) walking on water (6:15–21); (6) opening the eyes of a blind man (9:1–41); and (7) raising Lazarus from the dead (11:38–44).

The setting here is significant. In the OT, marriage feasts symbolized the union of God with His Bride, Israel. Jesus begins His ministry at Galilee, which had a large Gentile population; this was a sign of the spread of the gospel to all the world. That this wedding took place on the third day sets a resurrectional tone, showing that the marriage of God and His Church will be fulfilled in Christ's Resurrection. Other parallels between the marriage here and the Resurrection account in 20:1–18 are that both involve a woman named Mary who makes an appeal, and in both passages the disciples are invited to witness the event. Furthermore, the Resurrection account (20:11–18) has a striking similarity to SS 3:1–5, again showing the unity between marriage and our Lord's Resurrection.

By His presence at this wedding, Jesus further declares marriage to be holy and honorable (Heb 13:4); therefore, this passage is read at Orthodox weddings, and these images are incorporated into many prayers in the wedding service.

2:3–5 Here is an example of Mary's gift of intercession. Even now, Mary continually speaks to her Son on our behalf and is our preeminent intercessor before His Throne. This is declared in the words of an Orthodox prayer: "The intercessions of a mother have great effect to win the favor of the Master." This is confirmed as Jesus grants her request here.

In this passage, wine is symbolic of life, and thus there are two levels of meaning to Mary's statement, "They have no wine": (1) a marriage is not complete without the presence of Christ; and (2) the old covenant was unable to bestow life even on the most faithful people.

Contrary to certain modern usages, Woman is a sacred title in Scripture, an address conveying deep respect and distinction (4:21; 8:10; 19:26; 20:13; compare to Gn 2:23). What does your concern have to do with Me? is more literally, "What is that to Me and to you?" This answer is not a refusal of Mary's intercession, but a declaration that the time had not yet come for Christ to be revealed. That Christ fulfills Mary's request teaches several things: (1) Christ is Lord over hours and seasons and is not subject to them. (2) The wedding party needed to be aware of their lack of wine first so that they might learn that it is Christ who fulfills all needs. (3) We need to have perseverance in our petitions before God (Mt 15:21–28). (4) The intercessions of the righteous have great power (Jam 5:16).

2:6 Waterpots were made of stone because, according to rabbinical teaching, stone would not contract ritual impurity. That there are six (one less than the perfect seven) indicates that the Law, illustrated by water being reserved for Jewish purification, was incomplete, imperfect, and unable to bestow life. This water is changed into wine, symbolizing the old covenant being fulfilled in the new, which is capable of bestowing life. The overabundant gallons of wine illustrate the overflowing grace Christ grants to all.

2:9 The Fathers see this transformation as prefiguring the transformation of bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ in the Eucharist.

2:11 Glory: See note at 1:14.

2:13–17 See note on the cleansing of the temple at Mt 21:12, 13. In the synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark, Luke), this event occurs at the end of Christ's ministry, while John places it at the beginning. Certain Fathers teach Christ performed this act twice.

2:18–21 Since Jesus is not a Levitical priest, His authority to cleanse the temple is challenged. The term Jews in John's Gospel often refers specifically to the leaders; in this case, it refers to the chief priests and the elders (see Mt 21:23). As Christ is careful not to reveal Himself to scoffers, He answers in a hidden way: the ultimate sign will be His death and Resurrection.

2:23 John reports three Passover feasts between our Lord's Baptism and Passion (see also 6:4; 11:55), showing that His earthly ministry lasted three years.

3:1, 2 Nicodemus believed Jesus was from God (v. 2), but his faith was still weak, as he was afraid of his peers and thus came to Jesus by night (v. 2). Following this conversation, Nicodemus's faith grows to the point of defending Jesus before the Sanhedrin (7:50, 51) and finally making the bold public expression of faith of preparing and entombing our Lord's body (19:39–42). His memory is celebrated on the third Sunday of Pascha (Easter) along with the Myrrhbearing Women and Joseph of Arimathea. According to some early sources, Nicodemus was baptized by Peter and consequently was removed from the Sanhedrin and forced to flee Jerusalem.

3:3 Born again: The word again can also be translated "from above" and clearly refers to the heavenly birth from God through faith in Christ (1:12, 13). This heavenly birth is baptism (v. 5) and our adoption by God as our Father (Gal 4:4–7). This new birth is but the beginning of our spiritual life, with its goal being entrance into the kingdom of God.

3:4 Nicodemus misunderstands, questioning the possibility of a second physical birth. Misunderstandings occur frequently in John's Gospel (see 2:19–21; 4:10–14, 30–34; 6:27; 7:37–39; 11:11–15). Christ uses these opportunities to elevate an idea from a superficial or earthly meaning to a heavenly and eternal meaning.

3:5 This birth of water and the Spirit is a direct reference to Christian baptism and the gift of the Holy Spirit given at chrismation.

3:6 See note for 1:13.

3:8 A play on words: the Greek word pneuma means both wind and Spirit. The working of the Holy Spirit in the new birth is as mysterious as the source and destination of the blowing wind. Likewise, the Spirit moves where He wills and cannot be contained by human ideas or agendas.

3:12 According to St. John Chrysostom, earthly things refer to grace and baptism given to man. These are earthly, not in the sense of "unspiritual," but only in the sense that they occur on earth and are given to creatures. The heavenly things involve the ungraspable mysteries of the eternal generation of the Son from the Father; they relate to His eternal existence before all time and to God's divine plan of salvation for the world. A person first must grasp the ways in which God works among mankind before he can even begin to understand things that pertain to God Himself.

3:14 Moses lifted up an image of a serpent to cure the Israelites from deadly bites of poisonous snakes (Nm 21:4–9). This miracle-working image prefigured Christ being lifted up on the Cross. As believers behold the crucified Christ in faith, the power of sin and death is overthrown in them. Just as the image of a serpent was the weapon that destroyed the power of the serpents, so the instrument of Christ's death becomes the weapon that overthrows death itself.

3:16 To show the reason the Son must be crucified ("lifted up"—v. 14), Jesus declares God's great love not only for Israel, but for the world. This single verse expresses the whole of the message of John's Gospel, and indeed, of salvation history.

3:17, 18 While Christ came to save and not to condemn, man has free will. Thus, he can reject this gift, and he becomes condemned by his own rejection.

3:22 Baptized: See 4:2.

3:26 He is baptizing: See 4:2.

3:29 John the Baptist is called the friend (the "best man"), while Christ Himself is the bridegroom. The bride is the Church, the people of God. John confesses his role in the coming of the Messiah—that he is witness to the wedding of Christ and His people, and thus he rejoices in that celebration.

3:30 John expresses a humility that serves as an example for all believers. He renounces all earthly glory and reputation for the sake of Christ. By allowing Christ to increase in him, John himself finds true glory. This statement further indicates the end of the old covenant. As the law vanishes, the grace of Jesus Christ abounds. John's declaration is revealed in the liturgical calendar, wherein his birth is celebrated at a time when the sun begins to decrease in the sky (June 24), while Christ's birth is celebrated when the sun begins to increase (Dec. 25).

3:36 John echoes the teaching of Christ Himself (v. 18). Note the absence of the word "alone" in this statement of faith. "We do not from this assert that faith alone is sufficient for salvation; the directions for living that are given in many places in the Gospels show this" (JohnChr). See also Jam 2:14–24.

The New Birth

Early in His ministry, Jesus revealed the way to enter God's eternal Kingdom. We must be "born again" (3:3), a birth from above realized by water and the Spirit.

In His conversation with Nicodemus, Christ states, "Unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God" (3:5). From the beginning, the Church has recognized the "water" to be the water of baptism, "the Spirit" to be the Holy Spirit. Therefore, the new birth consists of being joined to Christ in the water of baptism and receiving the Holy Spirit through anointing or "chrismation."

Salvation, then, is more than forgiveness of sins, more than a mental acceptance of Christ and His teachings. For in salvation we are given union with God through Christ, a right and full relationship with the Holy Trinity, and the restoration of our full humanity. All these things are accomplished through the Incarnation, the union of God and man in the Person of Jesus Christ. Salvation, then, is founded on a substantial union of the believer with Christ in His full humanity, a flesh-to-flesh relationship. Paul likens it to the joining of husband and wife (Eph 5:23–32).

Throughout their epistles, the apostles remind us the new birth is necessary for salvation. We die to sin; then, buried with Christ and risen with Him, we are united to Christ and to His body, the Church. We are cleansed, justified, and sanctified—all in baptism, "the washing of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Spirit" (Tts 3:5). Without our repentance and faith, however, immersion in water would be of no effect.

Some Christians bypass baptism and stress only faith. Why is the mystery of the water necessary? Because just as Christ actually died on a cross, was buried, and rose again—all through His faith and God's grace—so we must actually be immersed in the sacramental waters of baptism, made effectual through our faith and God's grace.

The basic form of baptism is simple. The person to be born again, joined to Christ, is immersed in the water three times in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit (see Mt 28:19). The first-century Didache teaches, "If you do not have running water, use whatever is available. And if you cannot do it in cold water, use warm. But if you have neither, pour water on the head three times—in the name of Father, Son and Holy Spirit."

In the new birth, a true mystery takes place. For in the sacrament of baptism, we die, going down into the water to be mystically united to Christ in His death, and we live again, rising up out of the water in His resurrected humanity. In short, we are born again.

4:4 Samaria was the region to the north of Jerusalem, between Judea and Galilee.

📖 4:5–42 This passage is read on the fifth Sunday of Pascha, called the Sunday of the Samaritan Woman.

4:6, 7 The OT does not mention Jacob's well, though Jacob did dwell in the area (Gn 33:19). Wells were significant because of their rarity and their value in desert life. Therefore, wells came to symbolize life itself (Ps 35:9, 10; 45:4; Is 55:1). This particular well is maintained as a shrine to this day, and pilgrims can drink from it. Jesus is wearied from His journey, showing His complete humanity. The sixth hour is noontime. This woman is identified in church tradition as St. Photini (see note at 4:28–30).

4:9 The Samaritans were a mixed race and traditional enemies of the Jews. Although they worshiped the God of Israel and were also awaiting the Messiah, they accepted only the first five books of the OT (the Pentateuch) as their Scriptures. They had built their own temple on Mt. Gerizim, which the Jews destroyed in 128 BC.

4:10–14 Living water in the ordinary sense means fresh, flowing water, from a stream or spring rather than from a pond or cistern. Christ uses the term to mean the grace of the Holy Spirit that leads to eternal life (7:37–39). This gift not only remains in a person, but is so abundant it overflows to others. The woman misunderstands Christ and asks, "Are You greater than our father Jacob?" In the Scriptures, Jacob is a type of Christ, for he received the vision of the divine ladder (Gn 28:12), which Christ fulfills. Furthermore, just as Jacob gave this well for earthly life, now Christ gives the well of the Holy Spirit for eternal life.

4:16–19 Since Jesus perceived she was living with a man without being married, and as He knew of her string of husbands, the woman perceives He is a prophet. As the Samaritans did not accept any prophets after Moses, the only prophet they expected was the Messiah whom Moses foretold (Dt 18:15–18). Christ's insight into people's hearts, reported many times in the Gospels, underscores His divine nature.

4:20–24 If Jesus was indeed the expected Prophet (see previous note), then He could settle the historical argument about where worship was to take place. Jesus refuses to answer such an earthly question and elevates the discussion to the manner in which people ought to worship. Even more importantly, He turns the attention to the One we worship: God Himself. The Father is worshiped in spirit—that is, in the Holy Spirit—and in truth—that is in Christ Himself (14:6) and according to Christ's revelation. God is Spirit: God cannot be confined to a particular location. Those who receive the Holy Spirit and believe in Jesus Christ can worship God the Father with purity of heart.

Salvation is of the Jews (v. 22): The Lord affirms that true revelation comes from Judaism. "The commonwealth of Israel was the school of the knowledge of God for all the nations" (AthanG). More importantly, Jesus is testifying that the Messiah, who was prophesied among the Jews, has risen from among the Jews. While the gift of salvation in Christ is to all nations, it has come from within Judaism. The hour (v. 21) refers to the death and Resurrection of Christ and to the outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, which inaugurates the worship of the new covenant.

4:26 I who speak to you am *He is literally translated "I AM [Gr. ego eimi], who speak to you." "I AM" is the divine Name of God; its use indicates a theophany, or revelation of God Himself. The use of this Name by a mere man was considered blasphemy and punishable by death (see 8:58; Mk 14:62). However, as Jesus is divine, His use of this Name reveals His unity with the Father and the Holy Spirit; indeed, He is God Incarnate.

4:27 They marveled not only that Jesus spoke with a Samaritan, but that He was speaking with an unaccompanied woman, which was potentially scandalous. For further instances of the Lord's dealings with women, see 7:53–8:11; 11:20–33; 20:11–18 (see also Lk 8:1–3).

4:28–30 The Samaritan woman becomes an early evangelist, testifying to the advent of Christ and bringing others to Him (v. 39). According to an early tradition, after the Resurrection she was baptized with the name Photini, "the enlightened one." Along with her two sons and five daughters, she went to Carthage to spread the gospel. She was later martyred with her family under the emperor Nero by being thrown into a well. The Church remembers her on March 20 and on the fourth Sunday of Pascha.

4:31–34 On misunderstandings in John's Gospel, see note at 3:4. Christ fulfills His role as Messiah by doing the will of the Father; therefore this is His food. This also teaches us we are to perform the will of God in our lives without being distracted by earthly cares (6:27; see also Mt 4:4; 6:25–33).

4:35 Behold: According to St. John Chrysostom, this command to look was given because the townspeople were approaching, ready and eager to believe in Jesus. Christ compares these foreigners (relative to the Jews) to fields ready for harvest. This command is also to all believers to look to those around us and to share the gospel with anyone wanting to hear it, regardless of race or ethnicity.

4:36–38 St. John Chrysostom teaches those who sow and those who reap are the prophets of the OT and the apostles, respectively. The prophets sowed in preparation for the coming of the Messiah, but did not see His coming and thus did not reap. The apostles did not do the preparation, but would draw thousands to Christ in their own lifetimes.

4:42 That these foreigners are among the first to recognize Jesus as the Savior of the world shows the gospel is for all people in every nation.

4:44 His own country is Galilee (1:46; 2:1; 7:42, 52; 19:19).

4:45 Galileans were present at Jerusalem during the Passover (2:13–25), when Jesus performed many signs. While the Galileans received Christ having seen His signs, St. John Chrysostom gives greater credit to the Samaritans for accepting Christ based on words alone without the accompanying signs (see also 20:29).

4:46–54 This is the second sign (v. 54) reported in John's Gospel (see note at 2:1–11). Having revealed He can see into the hearts of people from a distance (1:45–48), the Lord now demonstrates He can heal from a distance, showing His divine power knows no earthly limits. While there are certain similarities between this sign and the miracle recorded in Mt 8:5–13, there are many crucial differences; these are clearly two different encounters.

4:48 Christ is admonishing the people in general (you in this verse is plural both times) and not merely the nobleman. Faith based on miraculous works alone is insufficient for salvation; this kind of incomplete faith quickly turns to scorn should the miracles cease (19:15).

4:49–53 The nobleman's concern is clearly for his child, though his faith in Christ is weak. He does not understand that Christ is Lord over illness even from a distance, nor does he grasp that Jesus would have the power to heal even if the child were to die. Finally, he inquires about the timing of the healing (v. 52), still not completely trusting the Lord's authority. Only after all is confirmed do he and his whole household believe (v. 53). Thus, in healing the child from a distance, Jesus heals not only the body of the child, but the soul of the nobleman.

5:1–15 This healing is the third sign in John's Gospel (see note at 2:1–11) and exemplifies the divine power to restore a person to wholeness. The Fathers teach this feast is the OT Pentecost (also called the "Feast of Weeks"), which celebrates the giving of the Law on Mt. Sinai. The references to the Law of Moses later in this chapter confirm this interpretation.

5:2–4 This double-basin pool, believed to have curative powers, has been discovered about 100 yards north of the temple area, near the Sheep *Gate. The water for this high-ground pool came from underground springs and was used to wash down the sacrificial lambs before they were slain.

The pool functions as a type of Christian baptism. Under the old covenant, a great multitude (v. 3) waited to enter the water for physical healing after an angel touched it (v. 4). The waters were special in that they were a way of indirectly participating in the animal sacrifices of the temple, since the animals were washed in the same water. Yet the grace was limited to the first person to enter. Under the new covenant, baptism is given to all nations as a direct participation in Christ's own sacrificial death (Rom 6:3–6) without the mediation of angels. Baptism thus grants healing of the soul and the promise of eternal resurrection of the body, and its grace in inexhaustible.

5:5 According to St. John Chrysostom, Jesus singled out the man who had waited for thirty-eight years in order to teach us to have perseverance, and as a judgment against those who lose hope or patience in much lesser troubles lasting a far shorter time.

5:6, 7 The Lord's question is relevant for many reasons. (1) It made public the fact that the sick man kept his faith even in a situation that was seemingly hopeless, for how could a paralytic ever be the first into the water? (2) The Lord draws attention away from the water and toward the need we have for a man to help us. This is fulfilled in Christ Himself, who became Man to heal all. (3) Not everyone who is ill actually desires healing. Sadly, some may prefer to remain infirm in order to have license to complain, to avoid responsibility for their lives, or to continue exciting the pity of others.

5:10–12 Although the Law itself does not specifically forbid the carrying of burdens on the Sabbath, this is prohibited in Jer 17:23 and explicitly forbidden in rabbinical teachings. That Christ is Lord over the Sabbath is made clear by His command (v. 8) and by the man's obedience (v. 9; see also Mt 12:1–8 and notes). As is often the case in John's Gospel, the term Jews here refers to the leaders and not to the people in general (see note at 2:18–21). Notice the malice of these leaders, for they focus solely on the Sabbath violation, asking the man, "Who is the Man who said to you, 'Take up your bed'?" but ignoring altogether the miraculous healing.

5:14 That the man was found in the temple shows his great faith, for he had gone there directly to thank God for his cure rather than departing to someone's home or to the marketplace.

Sin no more: While there is a general connection between sin and suffering (Rom 6:23), this connection is not always one-to-one, for the innocent often suffer, and the guilty are often spared earthly sufferings (see also 9:1–3). Nevertheless, sometimes our sins lead directly to our own suffering in this world; according to St. John Chrysostom, this was the case with this paralytic. Christ's warning here, however, is that the sins that destroy the soul lead to a far worse result than an affliction of the body. The only hope is to flee from sin altogether.

5:15 The man does not report Jesus to the leaders of the Jews in a malicious way, but as a witness to Christ's goodness. For even though these leaders were only interested in the violation of the Sabbath (v. 12), the healed man emphasizes that it was Jesus who had made him well, saying nothing about carrying his bed.

5:16–30 When Jesus declares God to be My Father, the Jews clearly understand this implies absolute equality (vv. 17, 18). That the Son can do nothing of Himself (v. 19) proves that His every act and word is in complete unity with the Father and the Holy Spirit. This discourse reveals that the Father and the Son are completely united in nature, will, and action. Thus, the Son fully shares the divine attributes of both giving life and executing judgment. Christ's judgment (v. 22) is based on both faith (v. 24) and works (v. 29).

5:25 The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God: The dead refers both to the spiritually dead, who will find life in Christ, and to the physically dead, who will rise in the general resurrection. Christ confirms this statement by raising Lazarus from the dead (11:38–44) before going to His own death. Verses 24–30 are read at the Orthodox funeral service, confirming the same reward for those who fall asleep in faith.

5:30 The divine will is common to the three Persons of the Trinity—Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—for all fully share the same divine nature. When the Son is said to obey the Father, this refers to His human will, which Christ assumed at His Incarnation. Christ freely aligned His human will in every aspect with the divine will of the Father (see note at 6:38), and we are called to do likewise.

5:31–47 How could Christ's witness ever be untrue? It cannot (see 8:14). Rather, Jesus is anticipating the argument and speaking the thoughts of the Jewish leaders (he does the same thing in Lk 4:23). In Jewish tradition, a valid testimony requires two witnesses (Dt 17:6). Jesus offers four witnesses to confirm His identity as Messiah and as Son of God: (1) God the Father (vv. 32, 37, 38); (2) John the Baptist (vv 33–35); (3) His own works (v. 36); and (4) the OT Scriptures, through which Moses and others gave testimony (vv. 39–47).

6:1–71 This chapter parallels the story of the Passover and Exodus of Israel from Egypt in several important ways.

(1) In the Exodus account (Ex 11–17), God first performed His signs against Pharaoh, then gave instructions on how to be saved at the time of the Passover (Ex 11:1–12:14). In this passage, the multitudes follow Christ because of His signs (v. 2), and this too takes place at Passover (v. 4).

(2) In the Exodus, the Jews were said to eat unleavened bread because they were hastily driven out of Egypt and had brought no provisions for themselves (Ex 12:39). Here, Jesus feeds the multitudes with earthly bread because they had brought no provisions, having rushed out to see Him (vv. 2–14).

(3) In the Exodus, Moses leads the people across the Red Sea, walking on dry ground in the midst of the water (Ex 14:15–31). Here, Christ sends His disciples across the sea (v. 17) and then walks on the sea (v. 19) as if it were dry ground.

(4) In the Exodus, God fed His people manna and gave them drink from a miraculous water source (Ex 16:1–17:7). Here, Christ declares Himself to be the true food and drink, the true bread that has come down from heaven (vv. 48–58).

These parallels show that Christ our God is the fulfillment of the old covenant, and that the breaking of His body and the shedding of His blood, which free mankind from the slavery of sin, fulfill the sacrifice of the Passover lambs (1:29), which brought the people out of slavery into the Promised Land.

6:2–14 The feeding of the multitude is the fourth of our Lord's signs reported by John (see note 2:1–11) and is recorded in all four Gospels. On the parallel between this sign and the story of Israel's Exodus, see note 6:1–71 above. The description of Christ as He took the loaves, gave thanks (Gr. eucharisto), and distributed them (v. 11) prefigures the celebration of the Eucharist. See notes at Mt 14:14–21.

6:5–9 Christ tests Philip to increase his faith (v. 5), for Philip needed help in understanding Him (14:8–10). Two hundred denarii corresponds to over six months' wages for a laborer. Andrew has greater faith than Philip: knowing the prophet Elisha had multiplied bread for 100 men (4Kg 4:42–44), he offers the food brought by a certain lad. Nevertheless, Andrew is still weak in faith, questioning what a mere five loaves could do for the number of people there (v. 9).

6:14, 15 Though Jesus had performed greater signs than this, these crowds were so desirous of an earthly Messiah that they declared Jesus to be the expected Prophet (Dt 18:15–19) only when they were filled with earthly things (see v. 26). Because of this misunderstanding, Jesus departed from them.

6:16–21 This is the fifth sign recorded by John (see note at 2:1–11). On the parallel between this sign and Israel's crossing of the Red Sea, see note on 6:1–71. See also note at Mt 14:27.

6:26 See note on 6:14, 15.

6:38 My own will: Since Christ has two natures, He has two wills—the divine will and a human will. The Sixth Ecumenical Council, held at Constantinople (AD 680–681), proclaims these two wills of Christ do not work contrary to one another, but rather "His human will follows, not resisting nor reluctant, but subject to His divinity and to His omnipotent will." See notes at 1:14; 5:30.

6:51–59 The eucharistic significance of this passage is indisputable. Our Lord's declaration that He is Himself the living bread that gives life reveals the Mystical Supper of the NT Church. John never reports the details of the Last Supper (such as the "words of institution" recorded in Lk 22:19, 20); instead, he reveals the significance and truth of these events (events that were already known to his hearers) by reporting here Christ's own words. See notes at Mt 26:26–28 and Lk 22:19, 20.

6:53–56 Christ was crucified in the flesh and His blood was shed on the Cross, and on the third day He was raised in a glorified state. We receive the grace of Christ's sacrificial offering by coming to Him in faith (v. 35) and by receiving Holy Communion in faith. In Communion, we truly eat His flesh and drink His blood, and this grants the faithful eternal life (v. 54), with Christ abiding in us and us in Him (v. 56). "There is no room left for any doubt about the reality of His flesh and blood, because we have both the witness of His words and our own faith. Thus when we eat and drink these elements, we are in Christ and Christ is in us" (HilryP).

6:60–66 Even His disciples took Christ's teaching on His Body and Blood as a hard saying (v. 60), and many walked with Him no more (v. 66). To this day, there are still those who reject Christ's own words concerning the sacramental eating of His Body and drinking of His Blood, and thus do not walk in His teaching. Because of the difficulty of grasping the depth of this Mystery, many attempt either to define its nature rationally or to explain away Christ's words altogether, giving them a purely metaphorical meaning. Either extreme is dubious; to reject this sacramental teaching is to reject the witness of the Scriptures and the unanimous teaching of the Church throughout history. See note at Lk 22:19, 20.

6:68, 69 See note at Mt 16:13–20 and Lk 9:20.

7:1 This section (7:1–10:21) tells of our Lord's visit to Jerusalem for the Feast of Tabernacles (v. 2); the entire section covers eight days. At this festival during the last year of His earthly life, Jesus taught in the temple and attracted a great deal of public attention. Some thought Him mad (v. 20); others believed Him to be the Messiah (vv. 31, 40); and still others (such as the Sadducees and the Pharisees) considered Him to be a threat (vv. 32, 45–52). The Jews who sought to kill Him (v. 1) are the religious leaders and not the people in general.

7:2 The Feast of Tabernacles (Heb. succoth) is an eight-day autumn harvest festival commemorating the time when Israel wandered in the wilderness of Sinai and the people lived in tents, or tabernacles. Along with Passover and Pentecost, this was one of the three most important festivals of the ancient Jews; it included numerous sacrifices and celebrations (Lv 23:33–43). In later times, the final day of this feast also included drawing water from the pool of Siloam to be mixed with wine and poured at the foot of the altar, both as a purification and in remembrance of the water flowing from the rock that Moses struck (Ex 17:1–7). It further included the lighting of great lamps in the outer court of the temple (see notes for vv. 37–39; 8:12; see also 2Mc 10:5–9).

7:3 Brothers: See note at Mt 12:46–50.

7:10 Not openly means not with a grand, public entrance as on Palm Sunday (12:12–16).

7:17 The simple desire to know and follow God's will is the key to understanding it. Spiritual blindness comes from unwillingness to know God or to recognize His authority. St. John Chrysostom paraphrases Christ in this way: "Rid yourselves of wickedness: the anger, the envy, and the hatred which have arisen in your hearts, without provocation, against Me. Then you will have no difficulty in realizing that My words are actually those of God. As it is, these passions darken your understanding and distort sound judgment. If you remove these passions, you will no longer be afflicted in this way."

7:23 Sabbath: See note at Mt 12:3–5.

7:27 We know where this Man is from: The crowds are mistaken, both in an earthly sense and in a divine sense. Humanly speaking, they think of Jesus as being from Nazareth of Galilee; they are not aware that He was actually born in Bethlehem (v. 42; see Lk 2:1–7). Beyond this, they cannot comprehend that He has come from the Father in Heaven, eternally begotten before all ages, and thus His divine "origin" remains unknown to them as well.

7:30 His hour is the time of His suffering and death. Christ is the Lord over time, an authority possessed by God alone. He comes to His Cross of His own free will and in His time, and not according to the plots of men (see 8:20; 10:39).

7:33, 34 This statement refers to the Lord's death, Resurrection, and Ascension into heaven.

7:35 Among the Greeks means among the Gentiles. This unwitting prophecy points to the time after His Ascension when Christ's name will be preached among the Gentiles by the apostles.

7:37–39 The last day, that great day of the feast was the eighth day of the Feast of Tabernacles. The ceremony of the drawing of water (see note for v. 2) provides the context for the Lord's words, "If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink." The living water (v. 38) is the gift of the Holy Spirit (v. 39) and the new life that accompanies this gift.

🕮 7:37–52; 8:12 This passage is read on Pentecost (Trinity Sunday), the seventh Sunday after Pascha (Easter).

7:40 The Prophet refers to the expected Messiah, the Savior Moses foretold would come (Dt 18:15–19).

7:41–43 Bethlehem was the town from which the Christ was expected to come (Mic 5:2; see note for v. 27).

7:45–49 The chief priests had sent officers of the temple to arrest Jesus in the middle of the Feast (v. 32). By the time the last day had arrived (v. 37), no arrest had been made, because these officers had been converted by the Lord's teaching. The Pharisees and the scribes who had "witnessed the miracles and read the Scriptures derived no benefit" from either. These officers, on the other hand, even though they could claim none of this learning, were "captivated by a single sermon." When the mind is open, "there is no need for long speeches. Truth is like that" (JohnChr).

7:50–52 Nicodemus had spoken with Jesus (3:1–21) and had increased in faith (see note for 3:1, 2). Yet his defense of Christ was still based on our law and was not yet a public profession of faith (see 19:38, 39). According to the law, Jesus must be given a hearing before He can be judged (Ex 23:1; Dt 1:15–17).

No prophet has arisen out of Galilee: The Pharisees show their blind hatred and their ignorance of the Scriptures, for the prophet Jonah came from Galilee, from the town of Gath Hepher, which was only three miles from Nazareth (4Kg 14:25).

7:53–8:11 This story of the woman caught in adultery is not found in several ancient manuscripts, nor is it covered in the commentaries of St. John Chrysostom and certain other Fathers. However, it is still sealed by the Church as inspired, authentic, canonical Scripture, and it bears the same authority as all other Scripture. It is read on one of the two days when St. Mary of Egypt, a reformed prostitute, is commemorated.

8:5, 6 The law dictated the death penalty for adulterers (Lv 20:10). This ordinance was not observed to the letter in the days of Jesus; the Pharisees brought this particular woman because they saw an opportunity to test Him. If Christ objected to the punishment, He could be accused of opposing the Law; if He upheld the punishment, then He could be accused of showing no mercy to sinners.

This is the only place in the NT where our Lord wrote something. Several theories exist as to what He wrote. Some say He wrote out the Ten Commandments, which all the accusers had violated at least once. Others say He wrote the names of the accusers who had themselves committed adultery.

8:7–11 Christ's answer confounds the Pharisees, for He upholds a great principle of the Law—that the wages of sin is death (Gn 2:17; Rom 6:23)—without neglecting its greater aspect of mercy (Dt 13:17; Ps 116:2–117:4; Hos 6:6). This mercy is offered freely to all repentant sinners. In order for us to receive this gift, we must in turn flee from sin (v. 11).

8:12 I am the light of the world: Jesus spoke these words in the context of the great lamps being lit at the conclusion of the Feast of Tabernacles (see note at 7:2). Thus He declares Himself to be the fulfillment and the divine object of all celebrations of light. In the Scriptures, God the Father Himself is light (1:4–9; 1Jn 1:5), an attribute He bestows on His followers (Mt 5:14; Php 2:15). Our Lord confirms His claim by performing the great sign of opening the eyes of a man born blind (9:1–7; see especially 9:5).

8:13–18 Your witness: See note at 5:31–47.

8:19 Because the Son and the Father share the same divine nature, one cannot be known apart from the other (14:7–11).

8:21 Going away refers to Jesus' death, Resurrection, and Ascension into heaven.

8:28 Lift up has the double meaning of being nailed to the Cross and of being exalted by His Father upon the completion of His work.

8:31 Jesus expects all who follow Him to be disciples, that is, learners. Abiding in His word is the responsibility of all believers, not only of the clergy or of an elite class of zealots.

8:32 The truth refers both to the virtue of truth and, more importantly, to Christ Himself (14:6). Being free refers to the freedom from darkness, confusion, and lies, as well as the freedom from the bondage of sin and death.

8:37–40 To be a child of Abraham, it is not enough to be simply related by blood; rather, Abraham's true children share his faith and virtue (Lk 3:8). St. John Chrysostom teaches that our Lord wanted to detach the Jews from racial pride and to teach them no longer to place their hope of salvation in being of the race of Abraham's children by nature, but to come to faith by their own free will. Their idea that being a descendant of Abraham was enough for salvation was the very thing that prevented them from coming to Christ.

8:42 Proceeded refers not to the Son coming eternally from the Father, but to Christ being sent from the Father to His Incarnation on earth.

8:44 Just as being a child of Abraham is based on sharing his attributes (see note for vv. 37–40), likewise, those who reject Christ share the same attributes as the devil (in particular, a hatred for truth), and thus are rightly called the devil's children.

8:48 Unable to defeat Christ through logic or truth, these enemies resort to personal insult (see also 9:34).

8:54 See note for 5:31–47.

8:58 I AM (Gr. ego eimi) is the divine Name of God in the OT, first revealed to Moses at the burning bush (Ex 3:13–15). To the Jews, this was a direct, explicit, and unmistakable claim to perfect equality with God, as evidenced by their reaction (v. 59; see also Mk 14:62–64). John places special emphasis on the use of this Name to clearly reveal Christ as God. This divine claim illuminates Christ's authority even over death (v. 52), a power belonging only to God the Father.

9:1–38 This healing is the sixth sign in John's Gospel (see note on 2:1–11). Of all the miracle stories in the Bible, this is the only one in which the person was blind from birth (see v. 32). The blind man is symbolic of all humanity: all need illumination by Christ, the Light of the world. This sign is an illustration of baptism, which is also called "holy illumination." As Pascha (Easter) is the traditional day to receive catechumens into the Church, the lessons following Pascha reflect a baptismal theology. Thus, this passage is read on the sixth Sunday of Pascha.

9:3 The Savior rejects the assumption (common in the ancient world) that all troubles and maladies are necessarily the consequence of personal sin or even the sins of one's parents (see Ex 20:5; Dt 5:9; contrast Ezk 18:19–21). Though suffering can be the direct result of personal sin, this is certainly not always the case (see note at 5:14). In this instance, the man's blindness provided the occasion for the works of God to be revealed; it was not related directly to the man's personal sins.

9:4 The work that people do consists of faith (6:29), good deeds (5:29), and repentance (12:40). The night that comes refers both to the time after a person's death and to the age to come, when there is no longer an opportunity to express faith. On that day there will not be faith, but all will submit, whether willingly or unwillingly (JohnChr).

9:5 The unprecedented healing of the man born blind confirms Christ's claim that He is the light of the world (see 8:12 and note).

9:6 St. Irenaeus sees in this mixture of clay and saliva a type of the creation of humanity from the earth (Gn 2:7). Christ reveals His divinity by restoring part of creation using the same material with which He created humanity in the beginning.

9:7 The pool of Siloam was on the outskirts of Jerusalem, a considerable distance from the temple. From this pool water was taken for the rites connected with the Feast of Tabernacles (see note at 7:2). Siloam, translated, Sent, symbolizes Christ, the One sent by the Father (5:36; 20:21). Just as the healing of the blind man confirmed Christ's claim to be the light of the world (8:12), so also, His making use of the pool of Siloam confirms that He is the true purification of the temple and those who worship in it.

9:16 Just as the Pharisees had ignored the healing of the paralytic and focused only on the perceived violation of the Sabbath (5:10–16), here many of them cannot see the glory of God through their own prejudices.

9:24 With Jesus not present, the Pharisees call Him a sinner, but earlier when He asked them face-to-face, "Which of you convicts Me of sin?" (8:46), they evaded the question. Give God the glory! was an oath formula used before giving testimony. Nevertheless, the healed man will indeed give God glory (v. 38). The more he is pressed, the more fervent his faith becomes, while the Pharisees lapse into deeper darkness.

9:25 This healed man becomes a model of Christian witness. Many people do not bear witness to Christ because they fear they will be asked questions they cannot answer. This man's answer to people much more educated than he provides the solution: he admits what he does not know, but follows up with what he does know. The formula, "That I don't know, but what I do know is this," is foundational to witnessing one's faith to others.

9:26–38 Having opened the blind man's eyes, the Lord also opens his heart and illumines his spirit. The man moves from knowing almost nothing about Christ (v. 25), through the conclusion that Jesus could not possibly be a sinner (v. 31), through confessing that Jesus must be from God (v. 33), to finally seeing Him as the divine Son of God and worshiping Him (v. 38). The Pharisees again cannot refute this man's logic nor the truth of what he reveals, and thus they resort to personal insult (v. 34; see 8:48).

9:32 The unprecedented nature of opening the eyes of one who was born blind is a confirmation of Christ's divinity. This was one of the signs of the coming Messiah (Is 35:5; 42:7) and a prerogative belonging solely to God (Ps 145:8).

9:39–41 Our Lord's coming brought judgment to the world, not because He came to judge (12:47, 48), but because of man's accountability to Him. Those who see and hear Him but do not believe are judged by their own faithlessness.

10:1–18 Jesus' conversation with the Pharisees continues, as there is no break between 9:41 and 10:1. All of this is taking place at the conclusion of the Feast of Tabernacles (see note at 7:1). Christ is contrasting their leadership with His own. They have failed as pastors of God's people ("pastor" comes from the Latin word for "shepherd"). Their leadership has been marked by deceit and pride and has lacked compassion. Christ, on the other hand, fulfills all virtue.

According to St. John Chrysostom, the door is God's Word, meaning both the Scriptures and our Lord Himself (vv. 7, 9), since the Scriptures reveal God the Word. The one who tries to lead in a way that is neither in Christ nor according to the teaching of the Scriptures is a thief and a robber. Rather than using this door so all can see His works openly, these false shepherds use underhanded means to control, steal, and manipulate people, ultimately destroying their souls (v. 10). In contrast, those pastors who lead according to Christ will find eternal life (v. 9).

10:3–5 As Christ has intimate knowledge of every person, so also true pastors in the Church strive to know their people by name, that is, personally. These pastors endeavor to understand each person's situation and needs, from the greatest to the least, possessing Christlike compassion for each one (Heb 4:15). In return, the people will respond to a true leader, trusting he is a follower of Christ. "Where the bishop is present, there the people shall gather" (IgnAnt). Indeed, the response of the faithful can be a better indicator of who is a true shepherd than the claims of leaders (7:47–49).

10:8 The phrase all who ever came before Me does not refer to Moses or genuine prophets, but to people claiming to be the Messiah both before and after Christ, such as Judas of Galilee and Theudas (Acts 5:36, 37).

📖 10:9–16 This passage is read on days commemorating a holy hierarch.

10:10 The ultimate thief is Satan, who spreads lies and heresies among the people of God, luring away both leaders and people. Life means living in God's grace here on earth, while the more abundant life indicates the Kingdom to come.

10:11–15 Christ reveals Himself as the good shepherd: (1) He enters by the door (v. 2), that is, He fulfills the Scriptures concerning Himself; (2) He knows and is known by the Father (v. 15); (3) He knows His people personally, and therefore is known by them (vv. 3, 14); and (4) He gives His life for the sake of His people (v. 11), which is a direct prophecy of His coming Passion.

10:16 Other sheep are the Gentiles, who will be brought into the one flock with the Jews under the one shepherd. Thus, for example, the Church transcends ethnic and racial lines. It has been the Orthodox teaching from the beginning that there be one bishop serving a city (Canon 8 of I Nicea), a principle affirmed in every generation. Writing in the early second century to a Church that held separate liturgies for Jewish and Gentile Christians, St. Ignatius taught, "Be careful to observe a single Eucharist, for there is one Flesh of our Lord Jesus Christ, and one cup of His Blood that makes us one, and one altar, just as there is one bishop. . . . This is in line with God's will."

10:17, 18 I lay down My life: The Lord is clear that His life-giving death will be voluntary. He does nothing apart from the will of His Father. As He laid down His life for us, we lay down our lives for Him and for the sake of others.

10:21 Those who respond in faith are not merely impressed by the signs, but perceive the holiness of His words.

10:22 The Feast of Dedication took place approximately three months after the Feast of Tabernacles (7:1–10:21) and was known as the "Festival of Lights" (also called Hanukkah). It commemorates the rededication of the temple in Jerusalem after the Seleucid King Epiphanes desecrated it in 167 BC (see 1Mc 1–4). At this festival, the leaders of Israel's past were commemorated, many of whom were themselves shepherds.

10:25 Both what Christ told them and the works He had done have already answered their question. Only the Messiah could open the eyes of the blind (see note 9:32) or perform these miracles that bear witness to Him. Likewise, only the Messiah could speak to the hearts of people as Christ had (7:46; 9:21).

10:26 As I said to you indicates these are the same Pharisees whom Christ addressed three months earlier (10:1–5).

10:30–33 Responding to their question (v. 24), Jesus reveals Himself to be fully God: One means one in nature or essence. He is God before all ages, and He remains God after the Incarnation and for all eternity. The plural verb are indicates two distinct Persons, while confirming a continuous unity. The Jews clearly recognize this claim of divinity (v. 33) and thus accuse Him of blasphemy.

10:34–36 You are gods: People who receive God's grace in faith will partake of His divine nature (2Pt 1:4) and can rightly be called gods (see article "Deification" at 2 Peter). Christ is effectively saying, "If those who have received this honor by grace are not guilty for calling themselves gods, how can He who has this by nature deserve to be rebuked?" (JohnChr).

10:39 Because Christ is going to His Passion voluntarily and according to His own will (vv. 17, 18), His accusers cannot arrest Him until He is ready (7:30; 8:20; see Lk 4:28–30).

11:1–45 The resurrection of Lazarus is the seventh sign in John's Gospel (see note 2:1–11), the sign that sealed the Jewish authorities' decision to put Jesus to death (vv. 47–50). This event is celebrated liturgically on Lazarus Saturday, the day before Palm Sunday. Bethany is on the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives, about two miles from Jerusalem (v. 18). Lazarus is the same name as "Eleazar" (lit. "God helps").

11:4 This message is sent back to Mary and Martha to strengthen them so that when Lazarus dies, they may take confidence in Christ's words. The Son of God being glorified must not be understood to be the cause of Lazarus dying; instead, this indicates Christ will be glorified as a result of his death (which occurred from a natural illness) and his being raised from the dead.

11:6 The Lord delays in order for Lazarus to be dead long enough that the corruption of his body could set in (v. 39). Thus, no one could doubt the miracle, and the might of the Lord would be clearly seen by all.

11:8 See 10:29–39.

11:11 Sleeps: Compare to Acts 7:60; 1Co 11:30; 15:6.

11:16 Thomas's statement is an unwitting prophecy of his own future martyrdom. It also illustrates the path that all believers must take—that we die daily to the world for the sake of following Christ (Lk 9:23, 24).

11:17 There existed a rabbinical opinion that the soul lingered about the body for three days, but after four days resuscitation would be impossible.

11:19 Mourning began on the day of a person's death. Weeping and wailing lasted three days; lamentation lasted one week; and general mourning lasted 30 days.

11:20 Not unlike the incident of Lk 10:38–42, the two sisters react differently to Christ's arrival. Martha, being inclined to active service, rushes out to meet Jesus, while Mary remains in mourning until called by Christ (vv. 28, 29). Sitting was the traditional posture when mourning and receiving other mourners (Job 2:8, 13; Ezk 8:14).

11:21, 22 While Martha possesses great faith, her statements indicate a lack of understanding about Christ. In saying, "if You had been here, my brother would not have died," Martha reveals she does not fully see that Christ is God, thinking He needed to be present to effect healings (contrast 5:46–54). By saying, "whatever you ask of God, God will give You," she shows her lack of understanding that Christ possesses full divine authority to act as He wills.

11:23–27 I am the resurrection and the life: To correct Martha's misunderstanding (see note above), Christ declares His divine authority to raise the dead at the last day (v. 24) as well as here in this world. Such is the power of these words that Martha is immediately led to her great confession of faith (v. 27). Do you believe this? is a question directed not only to Martha, but to all of us.

11:28 See note at v. 20.

11:32 Mary approaches Christ with the identical words Martha used (v. 21). While Jesus engaged Martha with words, here He engages Mary with deeds—the raising of her brother from the dead (vv. 38–44).

11:35 John emphasizes that Jesus wept and groaned in spirit (vv. 33, 38) to show He had fully taken on human nature and was subject to grief as any man would be. Weeping is the natural response to the tragedy of death. At Compline of Lazarus Saturday, we sing, "Shedding tears by Your own choice, You have given us proof of Your heartfelt love."

11:39, 40 Though Martha's faith had increased (vv. 23–27), she still understood neither Christ's will nor His power. The spices and oils used to anoint a dead body would only hold the stench of decomposition at bay for a short time (see note at 11:6). Many icons of the raising of Lazarus show bystanders covering their noses, illustrating both the reality of his corrupted flesh and the fact that many did not believe Christ could raise the dead.

11:41, 42 To show His divine will was one with the Father's, and that His human will was freely subject in every way to the Father's, Christ prays aloud for the sake of the people.

11:43 See 5:28, 29. Christ calls Lazarus forth, not in the name of the Father, but by His own authority. This shows the people that while Christ came from the Father, He fully possesses divine authority in Himself.

11:44 That Lazarus came out bound in his graveclothes is seen by many Fathers as an indication that he will need them again—that his resurrection continues an earthly life which will again end in death. The Savior's graveclothes, by contrast, would be left in the tomb (20:5–7). Unlike Lazarus's, Christ's Resurrection transfigures human nature; He will never die again.

This sign not only prepared the disciples to believe in Christ's Resurrection, but in the words of the hymn for the day, it also "confirmed the universal resurrection," proving Christ has the power to fulfill the promise given to Ezekiel that all the dead will one day rise (Ezk 37:1–13).

11:49–52 Caiaphas, being high priest, is given the authority to speak prophetically. The failings and even wickedness of the officeholder do not diminish the grace of the office itself. Here, Caiaphas means only that the death of Christ will spare the Jews from Roman intervention. God's meaning, however, is that all people will be saved through the death of the Son.

11:55 Because Jesus is the Lamb of God (1:29), the connection between the Passover, when lambs were slaughtered to save the Jews from death (Ex 12:1–13), and the death of Jesus, which saves mankind from sin and death, is continually emphasized.

12:1 This Passover is the third mentioned in John (see 2:13; 6:4) and is the setting for the last week of Christ's earthly ministry, which is narrated in careful detail. Jesus had already been glorified through His signs and words; it remained for Him to be glorified through His death and Resurrection (see note at 1:14).

📖 12:1–18 This passage is read on Palm Sunday, the Feast of the Entrance of Our Lord into Jerusalem.

12:3–8 The other disciples said the same thing Judas said (v. 5), but with a very different motive (see Mt 26:6–13 and note). Judas spoke from greed, while the others spoke from the virtue of charity. That Jesus put a thief in charge of the money shows that by every means He attempted to save Judas: He fulfilled Judas' lust for money; He allowed Judas to exercise apostolic authority (6:11; see also Mk 6:7); He washed Judas' feet with the other disciples (13:5); and He allowed him to partake at the table of the Mystical Supper (13:26). Yet Judas could never overcome his greed (see note at Mt 26:14–16).

12:12–18 The Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem: See Mt 21:1–11 and accompanying notes.

12:20–23 These Greeks were Gentiles who believed in the God of Abraham, having come to participate in the Passover feast. That they were still called Greeks shows they were not yet full proselytes (converts). Since Jesus had taught His disciples not to go to the Gentiles (Mt 10:5; 15:24), the disciples approach Him before bringing these inquirers. Glorified (v. 23) refers to the Savior's death on the Cross. Christ's obscure response indicates two things: (1) the answer these Greeks are seeking will not be found in words, but in the Cross; and (2) the Cross will be the event that opens all manner of grace to the Gentiles.

12:24 The image of the grain of wheat dying in order to bear fruit signifies that Christ's death will give life to the world. In many Orthodox churches, boiled wheat that is sweetened and spiced is served at memorial services for the departed faithful to affirm God's promise that those who have died in Christ will rise again to life.

12:27 See notes at Mt 26:39 and Lk 22:41–44.

12:28 The Father's name is an extension of His Person. The Son's death completes the purpose of the Father and shows His love for all, thus glorifying Him. Christ is in effect saying, "Father, lead Me to the Cross." This is the Lord's divine response to the human prompting to avoid the Cross (v. 27). The Father's response refers to the signs already performed by Christ and to the death and Resurrection to come.

12:29 Though the Father spoke clearly, some people heard indistinct sounds like thunder because they lacked faith. Those with a little faith heard the words but did not know the source, thinking it was an angel. The disciples knew the Father Himself had spoken (see v. 30).

12:31–33 Lifted up (v. 32) is a reference to Christ being hung on the Cross (see also 3:14, 15; 8:28). This death will bring salvation to all *peoples, while at the same time rendering judgment on the faithless and destroying once for all the power of Satan, the ruler of this world.

12:35, 36 The light refers to Christ (1:4–9; 8:12). His teaching here has several facets of meaning. First, He will be completing His public ministry shortly. Further, our lives are very limited; we have but a short time to repent and believe in Christ before death. Finally, the second coming of Christ is but a little while when compared to eternity.

12:40 According to St. John Chrysostom, Isaiah's prophecy does not mean God causes spiritual blindness in people who would otherwise have been faithful. This is a figure of speech common to Scripture revealing God as giving people up to their own devices (as in Rom 1:24, 26). What is meant by He has blinded is that God has permitted their self-chosen blindness (compare Ex 8:15, 32 with Ex 10:20, 27). They did not become blind because God spoke through Isaiah, but rather Isaiah spoke because he foresaw their blindness.

12:41 Isaiah . . . saw His [Christ's] glory in about 700 BC (Is 6:1) and spoke of Him in many places throughout his lengthy prophecy.

12:42, 43 These rulers, according to St. John Chrysostom, are in reality the worst of slaves in that they are enslaved by the opinions of men. This keeps them from leading as God would have them lead.

12:47, 48 Christ does not judge with favoritism or partiality. He has spoken the words of life, words of love, forgiveness, repentance, virtue, and mercy. His words will be the unbending standard by which all people are judged on the last day.

13:1 John's account of our Lord's discourses during the Last Supper is contained in chs. 13–17. The feast of Passover commemorated God's passing over the Israelites when He killed the firstborn of the Egyptians (Ex 12). It is also linked with Israel's "crossing over" the Red Sea (Ex 14) from slavery to freedom. In Christ, we escape death and pass over from this world, which is enslaved to sin, and into the Kingdom of God. When Jesus had eaten the Passover supper with His disciples (v. 2), He made a new covenant in which eternal life is granted. His hour: the time of Christ's death, Resurrection, and Ascension into heaven.

13:2 Supper: This account does not directly mention the Eucharist (which is clearly reflected in 6:51–59). John omits the specifics of both the Eucharist and our Lord's Baptism (see 1:19–36; 3:1–36), accounts with which his hearers would have been familiar by the time John wrote his Gospel (about AD 90). Instead, he focuses on the significance of these events. Our Lord's discourses and actions at the Last Supper reveal the mystery of His Incarnation, service, and mission to and in the world. He emphasizes in turn the disciples' own mission to the world.

There are two main ways the devil influences the human heart: (1) through ideas or thoughts; and (2) through conceptual images, as taught in 2Co 10:5. Satan influenced Judas in both areas. Christians are called to reject the thoughts and images suggested by the devil the moment they occur. Judas cooperated with the devil's will, not only by entertaining these thoughts, but then by carrying them out. Far from being a helpless victim, Judas was the devil's willing co-conspirator.

13:5 The foot-washing is an act of love and humility. It was a common expression of hospitality in the ancient Middle East, but was normally done by slaves or house-servants. Peter's response (vv. 6, 8) shows his shock at seeing the Master performing the duties of a slave.

13:6–10 If I do not wash you, you have no part with Me (v. 8) shows the cleansing power of Christ's death and Resurrection, for only by participating in Christ's death can we be raised with Him (Rom 6:3–11).

He who is bathed needs only to wash his feet (v. 10): This foot-washing also serves as an image of the sacrament of confession. Those who have completely bathed, that is, have been baptized, have no need ever to be baptized again, for baptism is indelible. The sins the believer assumes during his life must still be washed through ongoing repentance, just as the feet of a person returning from the public bath must be washed before entering the house. As Christians, we are bathed by Christ in baptism and have periodic washings in the sacrament of confession.

13:12–20 The command to wash one another's feet (v. 14) symbolizes that humble service is to be shown to all people. If Christ, who is Lord of all, humbly served not only His servants but even the traitor among them, then we must certainly do the same not only to our fellow servants, but also to our enemies. Within the Church, the clergy are seen first and foremost as servants of their flocks. To this day, the bishops of the Church (and in some places the presbyters) wash the feet of the faithful on Holy Thursday.

13:26–30 In the upper room, all was light, because Christ was present (12:46). Judas' exit from the Last Supper at night (v. 30) symbolizes his entrance into all-encompassing spiritual darkness (3:19).

13:31 After Judas had gone out, our Lord presents the final teachings of His earthly ministry (often called the "Farewell Discourse") and offers His High Priestly Prayer (ch. 17). Calling His death "glorification" (vv. 31–33), Christ shows that He does not fear death and that He accepts it willingly. The Father and the Son are glorified through the death of Christ because His death destroys all powers of darkness.

13:34 Many religions and philosophies teach people to love one another. What makes this commandment new is the measure required of our love: we must love as Christ has loved us, laying down His life not only for His friends, but even for His enemies.

13:36 This is a prophecy of the martyrdom of Simon Peter, which he would suffer for the sake of Christ by being crucified upside down in Rome in about AD 67 (see 21:18, 19).

14:2 Many mansions is a word-picture of an abundance of living accommodations around a central courtyard. Mansions also speaks of the multitude of blessings that await those who enter the Kingdom of God.

14:6 The way, the truth, and the life: The way we reach the Father is forever established in the Person and work of the Son. The Son is the truth because He is the unique revelation of the Father. Christ is the life who became Man so we might have life, and as He is our life, not even death can hinder us from coming to Him. Only in Christ can one come to know the Father, for only in Christ is the way of all truth and all life found.

14:9 He who has seen Me has seen the Father: Our response to Christ determines our relationship with the Father. If we reject Christ then we will never find the Father; but if we believe in Christ and follow Him, then we ourselves will become "children of God," living eternally in the love of the Father (1:12).

14:10 While human beings are made in God's image (Gn 1:26), the Incarnate Son is Himself the exact image of the Father (Col 1:15). Christ did not say, "I am the Father," for He is not. Rather, He declares that He and the Father are one in essence and undivided in nature while being distinct Persons in the Godhead.

14:12 The greater *works indicate that Christ's working through mere humans after Pentecost is greater than His performing signs and wonders directly. These works, attested to in the Book of Acts, include spreading the gospel throughout the world, miraculous healings, and raising the dead.

14:13, 14 To pray in Christ's name does not simply mean to attach the phrase "in Jesus' name we pray" to the end of prayers. Rather, to pray in His name means to pray according to His will. Just as an emissary of a king can only be said to be speaking in the king's name if he says what the king would want him to say, so also we can only be said to be praying in the name of Christ when we pray according to what He wants. The purpose here is not to get God to do our will, but for us to learn to pray properly, according to God's will (Mt 6:10).

14:16 Helper (Gr. parakletos) refers to the Holy Spirit. This title also means "Comforter," "Counselor," and "Advocate."

14:17 The Spirit of truth is in each believer, and we are called to know Him. The Holy Spirit prays in us and for us when we do not know how to pray, enabling us to pray in Christ's name (14:13, 14; Rom 8:26) and giving us words of witness when we speak the gospel (Mk 13:11).

14:19 The brief separation of Jesus from the disciples at His death will lead to a deeper mystical union after the Resurrection and to the gift of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost.

14:20 That day refers to Pentecost, for as St. John Chrysostom notes, it is "the power of the Holy Spirit that taught them all things."

14:26 Helper: See note at 14:16. We have confidence in the apostles' doctrine (Acts 2:42) because the Holy Spirit is their Teacher; He brings to remembrance not only Christ's words, but also their meaning. We have confidence in the Church because the Holy Spirit is our Instructor as well from Pentecost until today, leading us into all truth (16:13). "Where the Church is, there is the Holy Spirit and the fullness of grace" (Iren).

14:27 Peace was the customary Jewish word of both greeting and farewell. Perfect peace is brought by Christ, who reconciles humanity to God (Eph 2:14). Peace is part of the traditional greeting of Christians to each other (Rom 1:7; 1Co 1:3), and the greeting "Peace be to all" is offered many times during the liturgical services of the Church.

14:28 My Father is greater than I does not mean greater in nature or essence, for the Father and the Son share one divine nature. Nor does it mean the Son is created, for the Son is begotten from all eternity. Rather, it means that the Father, as the Fountainhead of the Trinity, is the eternal cause of the Son.

14:29 Before it comes refers to our Lord's Passion. Telling these events beforehand strengthened the disciples' faith.

14:30 The ruler of this world is the devil, who dominates the realm of those who do not love Christ or keep His commandments. Jesus said the devil has nothing in Me because there can be no compromise between Christ or His followers and the devil. Jesus became Man, but was never stained with sin.

14:31 Arise, let us go from here: Christ takes His disciples to another room or location to complete His discourse in order to gain their undivided attention. According to St. John Chrysostom, their current location was susceptible to intrusions, and the disciples were likely to be distracted from fear.

15:1–6 The vine is a symbol of Israel (Is 5:1–7; Jer 2:21). In contrast to disobedient and unfruitful Israel, our Lord calls Himself the true vine, which together with the branches constitutes a new and fruitful people of God: the Church. At the Divine Liturgy, the bishop prays that the Lord will visit and confirm the vineyard, the local body of Christ, which He planted with His own right hand (Ps 79:15, 16).

To abide in this vine is to abide in Christ and His Church. The figure of the vine and the branches shows (1) our union with Christ is intimate and real; (2) life flows from the vine to the branches—abiding in Christ is dynamic and vitalizing; and (3) the fruit we bear is both good works and mission (v. 16; 17:18).

15:10 One cannot love God and disobey His commandments. To love God is to obey Him (14:15).

15:12 See note on 13:34.

15:14, 15 Friendship is higher than servanthood. Servants obey their masters out of fear or a sense of duty; friends obey out of love and an internal desire to do what is good and right. Abraham was called a "friend of God" (Jam 2:23) because he obeyed God out of the belief of his heart. The disciples, and indeed all the saints, are honored as friends of Christ because they freely obey His commandments out of love. Those who have this spirit of loving obedience are open to receive and understand the revelations of the Father.

15:18–25 The term world is used in several distinct ways in Scripture. In some cases, it refers to all that is glorious, beautiful, and redeemable in God's creation (3:16). Other times, it refers to that which is finite in contrast to that which is eternal (11:9; 18:36). In still other instances, as here, it indicates all that is in rebellion against God (see also 8:23).

The rebellion of the world against God reveals several things: (1) While union with Christ brings love, truth, and peace, it also brings persecution, because the world hates love and truth (v. 19). (2) The world hated Christ; therefore, it will hate all who try to be Christlike (v. 20). (3) The world hates Christ because it neither knows nor desires to know the Father (vv. 21–24). (4) Hatred for Jesus Christ is irrational and unreasonable, for Christ brings love and mercy; thus, Christ is hated without a cause (v. 25).

15:26 With respect to God's working salvation in the world, the Son sends the Holy Spirit from the Father. With respect to the divine nature, the Holy Spirit eternally proceeds from the Father alone. In other words, the Holy Spirit receives His eternal existence only from the Father. In conformity with Christ's words, the Nicene-Constantinopolitan Creed confesses belief "in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father." While the Son is begotten of the Father alone, the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father alone; the source, the Fountainhead, of both Persons is the Father.

16:6 Sorrow here means "extreme grief leading to despondency or despair," which is a sinful passion. "Great is the tyranny of despondency" (JohnChr). This sin is constantly referred to in the writings of the Desert Fathers. When the world persecutes the believer or when God seems to be absent, Christians are called to fight against this despondency, taking comfort from the presence of the Holy Spirit (vv. 5–15).

16:7 Helper: See note at 14:16.

16:8–11 Through the illumination brought by the Holy Spirit, the world will be convicted, that is, proven wrong. It will be convicted concerning (1) its sin, the ultimate of which is denying Jesus Christ; (2) righteousness (v. 10), which it failed to accept from Christ with faith and thanksgiving; and (3) judgment (v. 11), for all who reject Christ will receive the same penalty that Satan, the ruler of this world, has already received (see Mt 25:41).

16:13 Because the Holy Spirit is the Spirit of truth, and because this Spirit abides in the Church, the Church is the guardian of all truth.

16:21 No longer remembers does not imply the faithful are to forget the Passion and Cross of Christ, any more than a woman "forgets" labor. Rather, we now see these sufferings in light of the victory of the Resurrection, and this victory transfigures our perception of sufferings. Christ's victory allows us to rejoice in anguish because of the infinitely greater good that comes from it (Rom 5:3–5; Php 3:10).

16:26–28 We know prayer is offered in the name of God the Father, for Christ taught us to pray that way (Mt 6:9), and He Himself prayed to the Father (11:41; 12:28; 17:1). In Christ, we have direct access to the Father, and thus we pray in the name of the Son as well (see note at 14:13, 14). After Pentecost, we learn the Holy Spirit Himself "makes intercession for us" (Rom 8:26), and we are instructed to pray always "in the Spirit" (Eph 6:18). Therefore, as Orthodox Christians, we pray continually and with confidence to all three Persons of the Trinity, "in the name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit."

17:1–26 Christ's prayer is often called the High Priestly Prayer, as it contains the basic elements of prayer a priest offers to God when a sacrifice is about to be made: glorification (vv. 3–5, 25), remembrance of God's works (vv. 2, 6–8, 22, 23), intercession on behalf of others (vv. 9, 11, 15, 20, 21, 24), and a declaration of the offering itself (vv. 1, 5).

The passage that includes vv. 1–13 is read on the seventh Sunday of Pascha (Easter), a day remembering the Fathers of the First Ecumenical Council (Nicea I) in AD 325. At this council the heresy of Arianism was condemned. This heresy taught that the Son of God was created by the Father and that there was a time when the Son of God did not exist. We find our Lord's words here bearing witness to His divinity and to His filial relationship with the Father. This testimony is sufficient in itself to dismiss Arianism.

The hour has come signifies Christ is Lord over time. "He voluntarily willed to ascend the Cross in the flesh" (hymn of Orthodoxy Sunday). Glorify refers to the redemption of all creation that will be accomplished through the Cross and Resurrection—the purpose for which Christ was sent into the world. In this redemption, the Father and the Son are glorified. This is why the Cross, which is a sign of death, is glorified in the Church as "life-giving" and the "weapon of peace."

17:3 The knowledge of the only true God is far more than intellectual understanding. It is participation in His divine life and in communion with Him. Thus, eternal life is an ongoing, loving knowledge of God in Christ and the Holy Spirit.

17:4 Christ's work can never be separated from who He is. This verse is a statement each believer can make at the end of life, no matter how long or short that life may be.

17:6 The men whom You have given Me are the apostles. They are the ones through whom God's word comes to us. This handing down of God's word to successive generations is called apostolic tradition.

Isaiah prophesied that in the days of the Messiah, the knowledge of the Name of God would be revealed (Is 52:6). Your name: In the OT times, the phrase "the Name" was reverently used as a substitute for God's actual Name "Yahweh," which was too sacred to pronounce. The fuller revelation of the Name was given to those who believe in Christ, for Christ manifested the Name not only by declaring the Father, but by being the very presence of God and sharing the Name with Him.

17:9 Christ first prayed for Himself (vv. 1–5) and secondly for them, the apostles (vv. 6–19). Only then does He pray for those whom You have given Me—all who will come to believe in Him (vv. 20–26). Here the world is the portion of humanity in rebellion against God, those who prefer darkness to His light.

17:11 Holy Father is echoed in the eucharistic prayer of Didache 10:2: "We give you thanks, Holy Father, for Your holy name which You have made to dwell in our hearts."

17:12 The son of perdition ("destruction") is Judas Iscariot (6:70, 71). OT prophecy alludes to Judas (Ps 40:10; 108:2–13; Zec 11:12, 13), and Judas becomes a type for all who will fall away in the last days (see 2Th 2:3, where "son of perdition" refers to the Antichrist).

17:14, 15 Inasmuch as Christ is from heaven, those who are joined to Him become like Him. Thus, all believers attract the world's hatred. The second-century Letter to Diognetus (6:3) states, "Christians dwell in the world but do not belong to the world." Reborn in Christ, Christians have their citizenship in the Kingdom of God (3:1–5), yet their vocation is in the world, where they are protected by God against the evil one.

17:17 Sanctify: To consecrate, make holy, separate, set apart from the world, and bring into the sphere of the sacred for God's use. St. John Chrysostom interprets this verse as saying, "Make them holy through the gift of the Spirit and by correct doctrine."

17:20 Those who will believe: The Church in every generation participates in the life and glory of the Trinity. Christians enjoy two kinds of unity: with God and with one another, the latter being rooted in the former.

17:26 The ultimate goal of Christ's prayer, and indeed of life itself, is for the love of the Father to dwell in each person.

18:1 This garden was at the Mount of Olives (Mk 14:26).

18:2 That Christ intentionally came to the place known to His betrayer Judas, one of His disciples, shows He was going to His Passion willingly and voluntarily. It reveals Christ went to find Judas rather than Judas finding Christ.

18:4 That Jesus spoke first without waiting for them shows that in every step toward His arrest, He is Lord and in control (see vv. 8, 35).

18:5 That Judas . . . stood with them shows his allegiance to the priests and Pharisees (v. 3).

18:6 I am *He is literally "I AM" (Gr. ego eimi), the divine Name (see note at 8:58). The power of this Name drives all His accusers to the ground. Even so, they do not repent.

18:8 Notice Jesus is giving commands at His own arrest, and they are being obeyed, showing He is Lord of His own Passion (see vv. 4, 35). The obedience of Christ's captors is particularly striking in that Peter was not arrested when he attacked the high priest's servant with a sword (v. 10). The command to let the disciples go their way also indicates His mercy toward them, as they were not yet strong enough to face martyrdom. God does not allow a burden beyond a person's spiritual strength (1Co 10:13).

18:13 Annas was the previous high priest and remained a force of power behind the religious establishment (see note at Lk 3:2). Caiaphas was high priest the year of Jesus' Crucifixion, holding the office from AD 18–36.

18:15 This other disciple is John, the author of this Gospel. It was a common practice for an author to conceal his name in the details of his story (see 13:23; compare Mk 14:51, 52; Lk 24:13, 18).

18:17 A girl being the first to test Peter is an icon of the temptation of Adam by Eve (Gn 3:6). This fallen state is overcome in Christ, when a woman is the first to hear, believe, and proclaim the Resurrection (20:1, 11–18).

18:19 The questioning of the high priest tries to uncover subversive activity that would not only violate the Law of Moses, but be reason enough to accuse Jesus of a political crime before Pilate. Note the two points of question put to Jesus concern His disciples and His doctrine, two essential components of Christ and His Church.

18:27 After his three denials, Peter will be restored through his three affirmations of love following the Resurrection (21:15–17).

18:28 St. John Chrysostom notes the irony that Christ's accusers did not fear being defiled by condemning an innocent Man to death, but would not set foot into a court of justice.

18:31 Since the chief priests of the Jews had no actual crime with which to make an accusation against Jesus (vv. 29, 30), Pilate refused to pass judgment. When the chief priests say, "It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death," they are not referring to the Law of Moses, but to the laws of Roman occupation, for the Romans reserved the right to execute people. Thus, the chief priests relied on Pilate to sentence Jesus to death.

18:32 The Jewish law prescribed stoning as the usual means of execution. However, Christ had prophesied He would be killed by being lifted up on the Cross (3:14; 8:28; 12:32, 33), having foreknowledge that He would die, not at the hands of the Jews, but by the Roman method of crucifixion.

18:35 It is unheard of that the accused would have to name the charges against himself in any court, since the captors would be the ones to name the crime. That Pilate has to ask Jesus what the charges are shows that the chief priests could name no crime He might have committed (vv. 29, 30). And more importantly, it shows Jesus was Lord over the events of His death (see vv. 4, 8). For even the governor has to come to Him in order for the trial to proceed.

18:38–40 Though Pilate knows Christ to be innocent of any crime, he attempts to strike a compromise with the Jews by declaring Christ guilty, but freeing Him on account of Passover. Thus, the chief priests would have an official declaration of guilt and Christ would not be unjustly punished.

19:1–6 Having failed to reach a compromise that would have released Jesus without punishment (18:38–40), Pilate has Him scourged (v. 1) and mocked (vv. 2, 3; see note at Mt 27:27–31). Scourging was a severe punishment using a whip that had bits of bone or metal imbedded at the tips. Pilate does all this in hopes of moderating the wrath of the chief priests so he does not have to execute a Man he knows to be innocent (v. 4). Instead of subsiding, the rage of the chief priests increases, and they begin demanding Pilate crucify Him (v. 6).

📖 19:6–11, 13–20, 25–28, 30–35 This passage is read on September 14, the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross.

19:7–12 The chief priests finally reveal that their true charge against Christ is blasphemy (v. 7), which was not a crime under Roman law. According to Jewish Law, however, it deserved death (Lv 24:16). Under Roman law, the Jewish leaders could not put anyone to death. Since Pilate alone had the power to enforce the death penalty, he had to be given a serious political accusation. Therefore the Jews changed their charge from blasphemy (v. 7) to treason (v. 12), saying Jesus speaks against Caesar.

19:10 Pilate again looks to Christ to give him a way to avoid having to condemn Him. Once more, this shows Jesus is the true Lord over the events taking place (see 18:4, 8, 35), a truth Jesus states with perfect clarity (v. 11).

19:11 Since Pilate had been given authority from above, he shares in the sin of condemning Jesus. However, as he had no previous knowledge of Christ, nor was He a Jew with the advantage of the Law and the prophets, Pilate's sin was less. While the one who delivered Christ can refer either to Judas (18:3) or to Caiaphas (18:28), it also refers to all mankind, for all of us sin against Christ, and thus all of us have participated in delivering Him to the Cross.

19:14 While the synoptic Gospels date the Crucifixion on the first day of Passover, John dates it on the Preparation Day, the day before Passover. Thus, in the synoptic tradition, the Last Supper is the Passover meal, while in John's Gospel, Jesus, as the Lamb of God (1:29), dies at the exact time the Passover lambs are being slain in the temple. While it is impossible to determine which is historically accurate, both traditions are theologically accurate—the Mystical Supper is the fulfillment of the Passover meal (the synoptic tradition), and Christ's death is the fulfillment of the Passover lambs being slain (John's tradition).

19:19–22 A title: What was intended as an accusation and a mockery became instead a triumphant symbol. Pilate's act is prophetic, showing the Jews had risen against their own King, and that the cross was the means by which Christ established His Kingdom.

19:23 The tunic is interpreted as representing Christ's body in two ways. That it is woven from the top shows Christ came down from heaven; that it is without seam is a sign of the unity of the Church.

19:25–27 We see here several important truths concerning Christ's mother: (1) In calling Mary "Woman" (v. 26), Jesus is using a term of dignity and affection. Contrary to certain modern usages, this is a sacred title in Scripture, an address conveying deep respect and distinction (2:4; 4:21; 8:10; 20:13; compare to Gn 2:23). (2) In saying to John, "Behold your mother!" (v. 27), our Lord symbolically establishes Mary's role as mother of all faithful disciples in every generation.

(3) If Mary had other children, Jesus would not have placed her in the care of John, for her own children would have cared for her. Thus the apostolic teaching that Mary remained ever-virgin is confirmed by His action. (4) Christ also demonstrates we must "even to our last breath show every care for our parents" (JohnChr).

19:28 I thirst: The Son of God assumed our human need for water in order that we might be delivered from spiritual thirst (4:13, 14; 7:37, 38). The Scripture refers to Ps 21:16.

19:30 Finished is better translated "accomplished" or "fulfilled"—not meaning Christ's life is ended, but showing His divine plan of salvation has now been completed. Bowing His head, He gave up His spirit: St. John Chrysostom writes that Christ did not die first, with His head falling as a result of death. Instead, as Lord even of His own death, Jesus first bowed His head, and then willingly gave up His spirit (see note at Lk 23:46).

19:34 The blood and water from Christ's body show the reality of the great sacraments. The water speaks of our baptism, which is participation in Christ's life-giving death (Rom 3:6–11). In Communion, we receive His life-giving Blood, "drinking from His very side" (JohnChr). It is literally the forgiveness of sins and the regeneration of mankind that poured out from our Lord's side.

19:38, 39 Joseph of Arimathea was a hidden disciple, one who believed in Jesus but had made no public acknowledgement of faith. Nicodemus had come to Jesus by night (3:2) and later defended Him before the Pharisees (7:50–52). By burying Him, both show their devotion to our Lord publicly, in stark contrast to the fearful disciples, who had scattered. See also note at Lk 23:50–53.

20:1 The first day of the week is Sunday, or the Lord's Day. The remembrance of this day in Christian tradition does not replace the Sabbath, but completes it. Saturday still remains the Sabbath, the blessed day on which Christ rested in the tomb, just as He rested when He completed the creation of the universe (Gn 2:2). Because of the Resurrection, Sunday is also known in the Church as the eighth day, which symbolizes eternity, a day without end.

20:2 Though John does not mention the other myrrhbearing women (Mk 16:1; Lk 24:10), Mary's use of we indicates they were present.

20:3–8 The response of Peter and John (the other disciple) reveals each one's disposition. John's reaching the tomb first indicates his faith is lofty and full of understanding, and indeed, he is the first to have believed (v. 8). Peter's faith, on the other hand, is more direct and bold, shown by his immediate entrance into the tomb (v. 6).

20:7 The details John gives concerning the linen cloths confirm the Resurrection, for if thieves had taken away Christ's body as Mary initially thought (v. 2), they would not have taken the time to strip the body, nor to fold and place each piece carefully and separately.

20:9 The Scripture had foretold Christ could not remain dead (Ps 15:10).

20:11–18 The encounter between the risen Lord and Mary is reminiscent of the encounter between the bride and her beloved in the Song of Solomon (SS 3:1–4). This parallel teaches that through the Resurrection, Christ has taken the Church to be His eternal Bride (see note at 2:1–11; Eph 5:31, 32; Rev 21:9, 10).

20:13 Woman: See note at 2:3–5.

20:16 That Mary turned again (see v. 14) shows she had been looking back and forth between the angels (v. 12) and her Lord, sensing the awe of the angels in the presence of their Ruler, but not yet recognizing Jesus herself. Through Christ calling Mary by name, her eyes and heart are opened, and she recognizes Him (see 10:3, 4). Rabboni is an affectionate term meaning "my dear Teacher."

20:17 Do not cling to Me: Christ does not prohibit the touching of His resurrected flesh, for we commune with His flesh in the Eucharist, and He even commands Thomas to touch Him (v. 27). Here, Christ is instructing Mary to understand and accept that His life is not merely continuing in the same state as before, and that He will not remain with her as He did in the past, but is pressing forward to His Ascension to the Father.

20:18 Mary Magdalene, having remained faithful to Christ to the end, is the first person sent to proclaim the risen Lord, and thus is the first apostle of the Resurrection. She is known in the Church as "the apostle to the apostles."

20:21–23 Christ commissions the disciples to continue His mission on earth, granting them the Holy Spirit (v. 22) and the authority to forgive the sins of others (v. 23). (See the articles "Ordination" at Acts 14 and "Confession" at 1Jn 1.) Through this direct consecration and through apostolic continuity, Christ's own Priesthood is communicated to the bishops and presbyters of the Church.

20:24–29 The doubt of Thomas is described in the Church hymns as "blessed," for it was not a doubt of resistance to truth, but one that desperately desired a truthful answer—a "doubt which gave birth to faith" when the answer was revealed. In hymns of the Church, Christ says to Thomas, "Your doubt will teach My Passion and Resurrection to all," and we affirm that his doubt "brought the hearts of believers to knowledge." The conversion of Thomas' doubt into faith led him to the clearest confession of Christ's divinity, addressing Jesus as my Lord and my God (v. 28).

20:30 Signs: See note at 2:1–11.

21:1 The Sea of Tiberias is another name for the Sea of Galilee. Because Christ's resurrected body was transfigured and incorruptible, it was not visible unless He willingly showed *Himself. His resurrected body is indeed human, but it is glorified in every respect and illustrates the kind of body each believer will have in the general resurrection (see 1Co 15:42–49).

21:4 See note at Lk 24:16.

21:6, 7 This is the second time Christ provided a multitude of fish for these men (Lk 5:4–6). Jesus often revealed Himself after the Resurrection through words and acts that were familiar (20:16; Lk 24:35). It is through this familiar grace that our Lord is recognizable to all His followers (see also note at Lk 5:6). John, the beloved disciple, is the first to perceive that the Man on the shore is the Lord, showing that love for Christ brings spiritual insight. Peter plunging into the sea demonstrates the boldness of his faith (see note at 20:3–8).

21:8 The great catch of fish is an image of the disciples bringing mankind to the knowledge of Jesus Christ, and it fulfills the prophecy of Jer 16:16. In the festal hymn of Pentecost we sing to Christ, "Through the fishermen, You drew the world into Your net."

21:11 Peter takes the initiative in dragging the net to land, an act symbolic of his leadership in the early Church. That the net was not broken shows the invincibility of the Church, while the number one hundred and fifty-three symbolizes all nations of humanity.

21:12 The disciples' inner desire to ask Christ, "Who are You?" shows His form was altered in a way that amazed them. Yet they did not ask because they knew even though His appearance was altered, it was the Lord.

21:13 This meal is reminiscent of the feeding of the five thousand and carries the same eucharistic significance (see note at 6:2–14). The fish became a symbol of identity for early Christians. The initials of the phrase "Jesus Christ, God's Son, Savior" in Greek form the acronym ICHTHYS, which is Greek for "fish."

21:15–17 That Christ singles out Simon Peter has a twofold significance: (1) Peter was the leader among the disciples, and thus had to be the first to confess his love for the risen Lord. (2) Peter had denied Christ three times (18:17, 25–27), and here Christ restores Him with a threefold confession of love.

It is important to note that the first two times Christ inquires of Peter, "Do you love Me?" He uses a form of the word agape, which denotes the highest form of sacrificial and self-emptying love, the kind of love God has for man and that man can develop only through maturing in God's grace. Each time, however, Peter is unable to claim such a lofty love. When Peter answers, "You know that I love You," he uses the term philo, which is a lesser form of love, akin to brotherly affection. When the Lord asks the third time, "Do you love Me?" He has changed to the term philo, condescending to Peter's weakness and accepting whatever love Peter is able to offer. Nevertheless, Christ knows that Peter will develop agape love for Him, as Peter will eventually accept martyrdom for His sake (vv. 18, 19). Peter was grieved both that the Lord had to condescend to his level of love and that this was a clear, though gentle, reference to his three denials.

21:18, 19 This is Christ's second prophecy of Peter's martyrdom (see 13:36), which Peter would suffer under Nero in about AD 67 by being crucified upside down.

21:20–23 This disciple is John, the author of this Gospel. St. John lived a long life, dying at about the age of 100 (c. AD 98–108). Early Christians marveled at his longevity, and some thought he would not die before the return of Christ. John corrects this assumption by clarifying that Jesus did not say to him that he would not die.

21:24 John's use of we indicates he had an assistant. Tradition holds John used a scribe named Prochorus who wrote down his words and teachings; this scribe is shown in many icons.

21:25 Acknowledging his Gospel contains only a fraction of Christ's life, John has written his book to bring his hearers to faith (20:31). While the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke contain many more miracles and parables, these too are far from exhaustive. This verse not only emphasizes the holiness of what was written, but also points to the ongoing oral tradition within the Church (see 2Th 2:15).

The Book of Acts

Author

Traditionally, Acts is ascribed to Luke—"the beloved physician," as Paul calls him (Col 4:14); the "disciple of Paul," as St. John Chrysostom describes him. It is a continuation by Luke of the account given in his gospel (see note on 1:1).

Date

Acts was written about AD 75–85, some time after the composition of the Gospel of Luke.

Major Theme

The spread of the gospel by the apostles from Jerusalem to the whole world (1:8). The Book of Acts recounts the triumphant march of the Christian mission from Jerusalem throughout the Roman empire. This achievement points to the work of the Holy Spirit, who descended on the early Church, empowering the apostles and other missionaries to carry the good news of salvation. At the same time, Acts narrates the expansion of the Church by means of small congregations.

The primary subtheme of Acts is the same as the major theme of the Gospel of Luke: Immanuel, God with us. In Luke's gospel, God is with us in His incarnate Son. In Acts, the incarnate Son of God is yet present in the Church by the power of the Holy Spirit.

Background

The Acts of the Apostles is a spiritual and theological record of how the Church developed, as seen through the actions of the early Christians. The book is not to be read as a blueprint for reproducing the specific details and aspects of the Church which we read there. However, it is of great importance for understanding the organization and structure of the Church; its method of resolving controversies; the role of apostles, bishops, priests (elders), and deacons; and the spiritual life of the Church.

Outline

I. Introduction (1:1–3)

Acts 1

Prologue

1 The former account I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began both to do and teach,
2 until the day in which He was taken up, after He through the Holy Spirit had given commandments to the apostles whom He had chosen, 3 to whom He also presented Himself alive after His suffering by many infallible proofs, being seen by them during forty days and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

The Holy Spirit Promised

4 And being assembled together with them, He commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the Promise of the Father, "which," He said, "you have heard from Me;
5 "for John truly baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit not many days from now."
6 Therefore, when they had come together, they asked Him, saying, "Lord, will You at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?" 7 And He said to them, "It is not for you to know times or seasons which the Father has put in His own authority.
8 "But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me[a] in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth."

Jesus Ascends to Heaven

(Mark 16:19, 20; Luke 24:50–53)

9 Now when He had spoken these things, while they watched, He was taken up, and a cloud received Him out of their sight.
10 And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven as He went up, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel, 11 who also said, "Men of Galilee, why do you stand gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will so come in like manner as you saw Him go into heaven."

The Upper Room Prayer Meeting

12 Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a Sabbath day's journey.
13 And when they had entered, they went up into the upper room where they were staying: Peter, James, John, and Andrew; Philip and Thomas; Bartholomew and Matthew; James the son of Alphaeus and Simon the Zealot; and Judas the son of James.
14 These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication,[b] with the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with His brothers.

Matthias Chosen

(cf. Ps. 108:8)

15 And in those days Peter stood up in the midst of the disciples[c] (altogether the number of names was about a hundred and twenty), and said, 16 "Men and brethren, this Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke before by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus;
17 "for he was numbered with us and obtained a part in this ministry."
18 (Now this man purchased a field with the wages of iniquity; and falling headlong, he burst open in the middle and all his entrails gushed out.
19 And it became known to all those dwelling in Jerusalem; so that field is called in their own language, Akel Dama, that is, Field of Blood.) 20 "For it is written in the Book of Psalms:

> 'Let his dwelling place be desolate,
> And let no one live in it';[d]

and,

> 'Let[e] another take his office.'[f]

21 "Therefore, of these men who have accompanied us all the time that the Lord Jesus went in and out among us, 22 "beginning from the baptism of John to that day when He was taken up from us, one of these must become a witness with us of His resurrection."
23 And they proposed two: Joseph called Barsabas, who was surnamed Justus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed and said, “You, O Lord, who know the hearts of all, show which of these two You have chosen 25 “to take part in this ministry and apostleship from which Judas by transgression fell, that he might go to his own place.” 26 And they cast their lots, and the lot fell on Matthias. And he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

Acts 2

Coming of the Holy Spirit

1 When the Day of Pentecost had fully come, they were all with one accord[a] in one place.
2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting.
3 Then there appeared to them divided tongues, as of fire, and one sat upon each of them.
4 And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

The Crowd’s Response

5 And there were dwelling in Jerusalem Jews, devout men, from every nation under heaven.
6 And when this sound occurred, the multitude came together, and were confused, because everyone heard them speak in his own language.
7 Then they were all amazed and marveled, saying to one another, “Look, are not all these who speak Galileans?
8 “And how is it that we hear, each in our own language in which we were born?
9 “Parthians and Medes and Elamites, those dwelling in Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,
10 “Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya adjoining Cyrene, visitors from Rome, both Jews and proselytes, 11 “Cretans and Arabs—we hear them speaking in our own tongues the wonderful works of God.”
12 So they were all amazed and perplexed, saying to one another, “Whatever could this mean?”

13 Others mocking said, “They are full of new wine.”

Peter’s Sermon

(Joel 2:28–32)

14 But Peter, standing up with the eleven, raised his voice and said to them, “Men of Judea and all who dwell in Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and heed my words.
15 “For these are not drunk, as you suppose, since it is only the third hour of the day.
16 “But this is what was spoken by the prophet Joel:

> 17 ‘And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God,
> That I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh;
> Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy,
> Your young men shall see visions,
> Your old men shall dream dreams.
> 18 And on My menservants and on My maidservants
> I will pour out My Spirit in those days;
> And they shall prophesy.
> 19 I will show wonders in heaven above
> And signs in the earth beneath:
> Blood and fire and vapor of smoke.
> 20 The sun shall be turned into darkness,
> And the moon into blood,
> Before the coming of the great and awesome day of the LORD.
> 21 And it shall come to pass
> That whoever calls on the name of the LORD
> Shall be saved.’[b]

22 “Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a Man attested by God to you by miracles, wonders, and signs which God did through Him in your midst, as you yourselves also know—23 “Him, being delivered by the determined purpose and foreknowledge of God, you have taken[c] by lawless hands, have crucified, and put to death; 24 “whom God raised up, having loosed the pains of death, because it was not possible that He should be held by it.
25 “For David says concerning Him:

‘I foresaw the LORD always before my face,
For He is at my right hand, that I may not be shaken.
26*Therefore my heart rejoiced, and my tongue was glad;*
Moreover my flesh also will rest in hope.
27*For You will not leave my soul in Hades,*
Nor will You allow Your Holy One to see corruption.
28*You have made known to me the ways of life;*
You will make me full of joy in Your presence.’[d]

29“Men and brethren, let me speak freely to you of the patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his tomb is with us to this day.

30“Therefore, being a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him that of the fruit of his body, according to the flesh, He would raise up the Christ to sit on his throne,[e]

31“he, foreseeing this, spoke concerning the resurrection of the Christ, that His soul was not left in Hades, nor did His flesh see corruption.

32“This Jesus God has raised up, of which we are all witnesses.

33“Therefore being exalted to the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, He poured out this which you now see and hear.

34“For David did not ascend into the heavens, but he says himself:

‘The LORD said to my Lord,
“Sit at My right hand,
35*Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.” ’*[f]

36“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly that God has made this Jesus, whom you crucified, both Lord and Christ.”

37Now when they heard this, they were cut to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, “Men and brethren, what shall we do?”

38Then Peter said to them, “Repent, and let every one of you be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.

39“For the promise is to you and to your children, and to all who are afar off, as many as the Lord our God will call.”

A Vital Church Grows

40And with many other words he testified and exhorted them, saying, “Be saved from this perverse generation.”

41Then those who gladly[g] received his word were baptized; and that day about three thousand souls were added to them.

42And they continued steadfastly in the apostles’ doctrine and fellowship, in the breaking of bread, and in prayers.

43Then fear came upon every soul, and many wonders and signs were done through the apostles.

44Now all who believed were together, and had all things in common,

45and sold their possessions and goods, and divided them among all, as anyone had need.

46So continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, they ate their food with gladness and simplicity of heart, 47praising God and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to the church[h] daily those who were being saved. Chrismation

Acts 3

A Lame Man Healed

1Now Peter and John went up together to the temple at the hour of prayer, the ninth hour.

2And a certain man lame from his mother’s womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms from those who entered the temple;

3who, seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple, asked for alms.

4And fixing his eyes on him, with John, Peter said, “Look at us.”

5So he gave them his attention, expecting to receive something from them.

6Then Peter said, “Silver and gold I do not have, but what I do have I give you: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk.”

7And he took him by the right hand and lifted him up, and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.

8So he, leaping up, stood and walked and entered the temple with them—walking, leaping, and praising God.

9And all the people saw him walking and praising God.

10Then they knew that it was he who sat begging alms at the Beautiful

Gate of the temple; and they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.

Preaching in Solomon's Portico

11 Now as the lame man who was healed held on to Peter and John, all the people ran together to them in the porch which is called Solomon's, greatly amazed.

12 So when Peter saw it, he responded to the people: "Men of Israel, why do you marvel at this? Or why look so intently at us, as though by our own power or godliness we had made this man walk?

13 "The God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified His Servant Jesus, whom you delivered up and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let Him go.

14 "But you denied the Holy One and the Just, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, 15 "and killed the Prince of life, whom God raised from the dead, of which we are witnesses.

16 "And His name, through faith in His name, has made this man strong, whom you see and know. Yes, the faith which comes through Him has given him this perfect soundness in the presence of you all.

17 "Yet now, brethren, I know that you did it in ignorance, as did also your rulers.

18 "But those things which God foretold by the mouth of all His prophets, that the Christ would suffer, He has thus fulfilled.

19 "Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord,

20 "and that He may send Jesus Christ, who was preached to you before,[a] 21 "whom heaven must receive until the times of restoration of all things, which God has spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since the world began.

22 "For Moses truly said to the fathers, 'The LORD your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. Him you shall hear in all things, whatever He says to you.

23 'And it shall be that every soul who will not hear that Prophet shall be utterly destroyed from among the people.'[b]

24 "Yes, and all the prophets, from Samuel and those who follow, as many as have spoken, have also foretold[c] these days.

25“You are sons of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with our fathers, saying to Abraham, ‘And in your seed all the families of the earth shall be blessed.’[d] 26“To you first, God, having raised up His Servant Jesus, sent Him to bless you, in turning away every one of you from your iniquities.”

Acts 4

Peter and John Arrested

1Now as they spoke to the people, the priests, the captain of the temple, and the Sadducees came upon them, 2being greatly disturbed that they taught the people and preached in Jesus the resurrection from the dead.
3And they laid hands on them, and put them in custody until the next day, for it was already evening.
4However, many of those who heard the word believed; and the number of the men came to be about five thousand.

Addressing the Sanhedrin

5And it came to pass, on the next day, that their rulers, elders, and scribes, 6as well as Annas the high priest, Caiaphas, John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the family of the high priest, were gathered together at Jerusalem.
7And when they had set them in the midst, they asked, “By what power or by what name have you done this?”
8Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, “Rulers of the people and elders of Israel:
9“If we this day are judged for a good deed done to a helpless man, by what means he has been made well, 10“let it be known to you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead, by Him this man stands here before you whole.
11“This is the ‘stone which was rejected by you builders, which has become the chief cornerstone.’[a] 12“Nor is there salvation in any other, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved.”

The Name of Jesus Forbidden

13 Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were uneducated and untrained men, they marveled. And they realized that they had been with Jesus.
14 And seeing the man who had been healed standing with them, they could say nothing against it.
15 But when they had commanded them to go aside out of the council, they conferred among themselves, 16 saying, "What shall we do to these men? For, indeed, that a notable miracle has been done through them is evident to all who dwell in Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it.
17 "But so that it spreads no further among the people, let us severely threaten them, that from now on they speak to no man in this name." 18 So they called them and commanded them not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus.
19 But Peter and John answered and said to them, "Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you more than to God, you judge.
20 "For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard."
21 So when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding no way of punishing them, because of the people, since they all glorified God for what had been done.
22 For the man was over forty years old on whom this miracle of healing had been performed.

Prayer for Boldness

(cf. Ps. 2:1, 2)

23 And being let go, they went to their own companions and reported all that the chief priests and elders had said to them.
24 So when they heard that, they raised their voice to God with one accord and said: "Lord, You are God, who made heaven and earth and the sea, and all that is in them, 25 "who by the mouth of Your servant David[b] have said:

'Why did the nations rage,
And the people plot vain things?
26 The kings of the earth took their stand,
And the rulers were gathered together

Against the LORD and against His Christ.'[c]

27"For truly against Your holy Servant Jesus, whom You anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel, were gathered together 28"to do whatever Your hand and Your purpose determined before to be done.

29"Now, Lord, look on their threats, and grant to Your servants that with all boldness they may speak Your word,

30"by stretching out Your hand to heal, and that signs and wonders may be done through the name of Your holy Servant Jesus."

31And when they had prayed, the place where they were assembled together was shaken; and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spoke the word of God with boldness.

Sharing in All Things

32Now the multitude of those who believed were of one heart and one soul; neither did anyone say that any of the things he possessed was his own, but they had all things in common.

33And with great power the apostles gave witness to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus. And great grace was upon them all.

34Nor was there anyone among them who lacked; for all who were possessors of lands or houses sold them, and brought the proceeds of the things that were sold, 35and laid them at the apostles' feet; and they distributed to each as anyone had need.

36And Joses,[d] who was also named Barnabas by the apostles (which is translated Son of Encouragement), a Levite of the country of Cyprus, 37having land, sold it, and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet.

Acts 5

Lying to the Holy Spirit

1But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession.

2And he kept back part of the proceeds, his wife also being aware of it, and brought a certain part and laid it at the apostles' feet.

3But Peter said, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and keep back part of the price of the land for yourself?

4"While it remained, was it not your own? And after it was sold, was it not in your own control? Why have you conceived this thing in your heart? You have not lied to men but to God."

5Then Ananias, hearing these words, fell down and breathed his last. So great fear came upon all those who heard these things.

6And the young men arose and wrapped him up, carried him out, and buried him.

7Now it was about three hours later when his wife came in, not knowing what had happened.

8And Peter answered her, "Tell me whether you sold the land for so much?" She said, "Yes, for so much."

9Then Peter said to her, "How is it that you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord? Look, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out."

10Then immediately she fell down at his feet and breathed her last. And the young men came in and found her dead, and carrying her out, buried her by her husband.

11So great fear came upon all the church and upon all who heard these things.

Continuing Power in the Church

12And through the hands of the apostles many signs and wonders were done among the people. And they were all with one accord in Solomon's Porch.

13Yet none of the rest dared join them, but the people esteemed them highly.

14And believers were increasingly added to the Lord, multitudes of both men and women, 15so that they brought the sick out into the streets and laid them on beds and couches, that at least the shadow of Peter passing by might fall on some of them.

16Also a multitude gathered from the surrounding cities to Jerusalem, bringing sick people and those who were tormented by unclean spirits, and they were all healed.

Imprisoned Apostles Freed

17Then the high priest rose up, and all those who were with him (which is the sect of the Sadducees), and they were filled with indignation, 18and laid their hands on the apostles and put them in the common prison.
19But at night an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and brought them out, and said, 20"Go, stand in the temple and speak to the people all the words of this life."
21And when they heard that, they entered the temple early in the morning and taught. But the high priest and those with him came and called the council together, with all the elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought.

Apostles on Trial Again

22But when the officers came and did not find them in the prison, they returned and reported, 23saying, "Indeed we found the prison shut securely, and the guards standing outside[a] before the doors; but when we opened them, we found no one inside!"
24Now when the high priest,[b] the captain of the temple, and the chief priests heard these things, they wondered what the outcome would be.
25So one came and told them, saying,[c] "Look, the men whom you put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people!"
26Then the captain went with the officers and brought them without violence, for they feared the people, lest they should be stoned.
27And when they had brought them, they set them before the council. And the high priest asked them, 28saying, "Did we not strictly command you not to teach in this name? And look, you have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this Man's blood on us!"
29But Peter and the other apostles answered and said: "We ought to obey God rather than men.
30"The God of our fathers raised up Jesus whom you murdered by hanging on a tree.
31"Him God has exalted to His right hand to be Prince and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins.

32 “And we are His witnesses to these things, and so also is the Holy Spirit whom God has given to those who obey Him.”

Gamaliel’s Advice

33 When they heard this, they were furious and plotted to kill them.
34 Then one in the council stood up, a Pharisee named Gamaliel, a teacher of the law held in respect by all the people, and commanded them to put the apostles outside for a little while.
35 And he said to them: “Men of Israel, take heed to yourselves what you intend to do regarding these men.
36 “For some time ago Theudas rose up, claiming to be somebody. A number of men, about four hundred, joined him. He was slain, and all who obeyed him were scattered and came to nothing.
37 “After this man, Judas of Galilee rose up in the days of the census, and drew away many people after him. He also perished, and all who obeyed him were dispersed.
38 “And now I say to you, keep away from these men and let them alone;
for if this plan or this work is of men, it will come to nothing; 39 “but if it is of God, you cannot overthrow it—lest you even be found to fight against God.”
40 And they agreed with him, and when they had called for the apostles and beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go.
41 So they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for His[d] name.
42 And daily in the temple, and in every house, they did not cease teaching and preaching Jesus as the Christ.

Acts 6

Seven Chosen to Serve

1 Now in those days, when the number of the disciples was multiplying, there arose a complaint against the Hebrews by the Hellenists,[a] because their widows were neglected in the daily distribution.
2 Then the twelve summoned the multitude of the disciples and said, “It is not desirable that we should leave the word of God and serve tables.

3 “Therefore, brethren, seek out from among you seven men of good reputation, full of the Holy Spirit and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business;

4 “but we will give ourselves continually to prayer and to the ministry of the word.”

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude. And they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and the Holy Spirit, and Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas, and Nicolas, a proselyte from Antioch, 6 whom they set before the apostles; and when they had prayed, they laid hands on them.

7 Then the word of God spread, and the number of the disciples multiplied greatly in Jerusalem, and a great many of the priests were obedient to the faith.

Stephen Accused of Blasphemy

8 And Stephen, full of faith[b] and power, did great wonders and signs among the people.

9 Then there arose some from what is called the Synagogue of the Freedmen (Cyrenians, Alexandrians, and those from Cilicia and Asia), disputing with Stephen.

10 And they were not able to resist the wisdom and the Spirit by which he spoke.

11 Then they secretly induced men to say, “We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and God.”

12 And they stirred up the people, the elders, and the scribes; and they came upon him, seized him, and brought him to the council.

13 They also set up false witnesses who said, “This man does not cease to speak blasphemous[c] words against this holy place and the law;

14 “for we have heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth will destroy this place and change the customs which Moses delivered to us.”

15 And all who sat in the council, looking steadfastly at him, saw his face as the face of an angel. Ordination

Acts 7

Stephen’s Address: The Call of Abraham

[1]Then the high priest said, “Are these things so?”

[2]And he said, “Brethren and fathers, listen: The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran,

[3]“and said to him, ‘Get out of your country and from your relatives, and come to a land that I will show you.’[a]

[4]“Then he came out of the land of the Chaldeans and dwelt in Haran. And from there, when his father was dead, He moved him to this land in which you now dwell.

[5]“And God gave him no inheritance in it, not even enough to set his foot on. But even when Abraham had no child, He promised to give it to him for a possession, and to his descendants after him.

[6]“But God spoke in this way: that his descendants would dwell in a foreign land, and that they would bring them into bondage and oppress them four hundred years.

[7]‘And the nation to whom they will be in bondage I will judge,’[b] said God, ‘and after that they shall come out and serve Me in this place.’[c]

[8]“Then He gave him the covenant of circumcision; and so Abraham begot Isaac and circumcised him on the eighth day; and Isaac begot Jacob, and Jacob begot the twelve patriarchs.

The Patriarchs in Egypt

9“And the patriarchs, becoming envious, sold Joseph into Egypt. But God was with him

[10]“and delivered him out of all his troubles, and gave him favor and wisdom in the presence of Pharaoh, king of Egypt; and he made him governor over Egypt and all his house.

[11]“Now a famine and great trouble came over all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and our fathers found no sustenance.

[12]“But when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent out our fathers first.

[13]“And the second time Joseph was made known to his brothers, and Joseph’s family became known to the Pharaoh.

[14]“Then Joseph sent and called his father Jacob and all his relatives to him, seventy-five[d] people.

[15]“So Jacob went down to Egypt; and he died, he and our fathers.

[16]“And they were carried back to Shechem and laid in the tomb that Abraham bought for a sum of money from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem.

God Delivers Israel by Moses

17 "But when the time of the promise drew near which God had sworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt 18 "till another king arose who did not know Joseph.
19 "This man dealt treacherously with our people, and oppressed our forefathers, making them expose their babies, so that they might not live.
20 "At this time Moses was born, and was well pleasing to God; and he was brought up in his father's house for three months.
21 "But when he was set out, Pharaoh's daughter took him away and brought him up as her own son.
22 "And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and deeds.
23 "Now when he was forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.
24 "And seeing one of them suffer wrong, he defended and avenged him who was oppressed, and struck down the Egyptian.
25 "For he supposed that his brethren would have understood that God would deliver them by his hand, but they did not understand.
26 "And the next day he appeared to two of them as they were fighting, and tried to reconcile them, saying, 'Men, you are brethren; why do you wrong one another?'
27 "But he who did his neighbor wrong pushed him away, saying, 'Who made you a ruler and a judge over us?
28 'Do you want to kill me as you did the Egyptian yesterday?'[e] 29 "Then, at this saying, Moses fled and became a dweller in the land of Midian, where he had two sons.
30 "And when forty years had passed, an Angel of the Lord[f] appeared to him in a flame of fire in a bush, in the wilderness of Mount Sinai.
31 "When Moses saw it, he marveled at the sight; and as he drew near to observe, the voice of the Lord came to him, 32 "saying, 'I am the God of your fathers—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.'[g] And Moses trembled and dared not look.
33 'Then the LORD said to him, "Take your sandals off your feet, for the place where you stand is holy ground.
34 "I have surely seen the oppression of My people who are in Egypt; I have heard their groaning and have come down to deliver them. And now come, I will send you to Egypt.” ’[h] 35“This Moses whom they rejected, saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge?’[i] is the one God sent to be a ruler and a deliverer by the hand of the Angel who appeared to him in the bush.

36“He brought them out, after he had shown wonders and signs in the land of Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and in the wilderness forty years.

Israel Rebels Against God

37“This is that Moses who said to the children of Israel,[j] ‘The LORD your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. Him you shall hear.’[k]

38“This is he who was in the congregation in the wilderness with the Angel who spoke to him on Mount Sinai, and with our fathers, the one who received the living oracles to give to us, 39“whom our fathers would not obey, but rejected. And in their hearts they turned back to Egypt, 40“saying to Aaron, ‘Make us gods to go before us; as for this Moses who brought us out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’[l]

41“And they made a calf in those days, offered sacrifices to the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.

42“Then God turned and gave them up to worship the host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the Prophets:

> ‘Did you offer Me slaughtered animals and sacrifices during > forty years in the wilderness,
> O house of Israel?
> 43*You also took up the tabernacle of Moloch,*
> And the star of your god Remphan,
> Images which you made to worship;
> And I will carry you away beyond Babylon.’[m]

God’s True Tabernacle

44“Our fathers had the tabernacle of witness in the wilderness, as He appointed, instructing Moses to make it according to the pattern that he had seen,

45 “which our fathers, having received it in turn, also brought with Joshua into the land possessed by the Gentiles, whom God drove out before the face of our fathers until the days of David, 46 “who found favor before God and asked to find a dwelling for the God of Jacob.
47 “But Solomon built Him a house.
48 “However, the Most High does not dwell in temples made with hands, as the prophet says:

> 49 ‘Heaven is My throne,
> And earth is My footstool.
> What house will you build for Me? says the LORD,
> Or what is the place of My rest?
> 50 Has My hand not made all these things?’ [n]

Israel Resists the Holy Spirit

51 “You stiff-necked and uncircumcised in heart and ears! You always resist the Holy Spirit; as your fathers did, so do you.
52 “Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who foretold the coming of the Just One, of whom you now have become the betrayers and murderers, 53 “who have received the law by the direction of angels and have not kept it.”

Stephen the Martyr

54 When they heard these things they were cut to the heart, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.
55 But he, being full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God, 56 and said, “Look! I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God!”
57 Then they cried out with a loud voice, stopped their ears, and ran at him with one accord;
58 and they cast him out of the city and stoned him. And the witnesses laid down their clothes at the feet of a young man named Saul.
59 And they stoned Stephen as he was calling on God and saying, “Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.”

60 Then he knelt down and cried out with a loud voice, “Lord, do not charge them with this sin.” And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

Acts 8

Saul Persecutes the Church

1 Now Saul was consenting to his death. At that time a great persecution arose against the church which was at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles.
2 And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him.
3 As for Saul, he made havoc of the church, entering every house, and dragging off men and women, committing them to prison.

Christ Is Preached in Samaria

4 Therefore those who were scattered went everywhere preaching the word.
5 Then Philip went down to the[a] city of Samaria and preached Christ to them.
6 And the multitudes with one accord heeded the things spoken by Philip, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.
7 For unclean spirits, crying with a loud voice, came out of many who were possessed; and many who were paralyzed and lame were healed.
8 And there was great joy in that city.

The Sorcerer’s Profession of Faith

9 But there was a certain man called Simon, who previously practiced sorcery in the city and astonished the people of Samaria, claiming that he was someone great,
10 to whom they all gave heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, “This man is the great power of God.” 11 And they heeded him because he had astonished them with his sorceries for a long time.
12 But when they believed Philip as he preached the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, both men and women were baptized.

13 Then Simon himself also believed; and when he was baptized he continued with Philip, and was amazed, seeing the miracles and signs which were done.

The Sorcerer's Sin

14 Now when the apostles who were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent Peter and John to them, 15 who, when they had come down, prayed for them that they might receive the Holy Spirit.
16 For as yet He had fallen upon none of them. They had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.
17 Then they laid hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.
18 And when Simon saw that through the laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Spirit was given, he offered them money, 19 saying, "Give me this power also, that anyone on whom I lay hands may receive the Holy Spirit."
20 But Peter said to him, "Your money perish with you, because you thought that the gift of God could be purchased with money!
21 "You have neither part nor portion in this matter, for your heart is not right in the sight of God.
22 "Repent therefore of this your wickedness, and pray God if perhaps the thought of your heart may be forgiven you.
23 "For I see that you are poisoned by bitterness and bound by iniquity." 24 Then Simon answered and said, "Pray to the Lord for me, that none of the things which you have spoken may come upon me." 25 So when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem, preaching the gospel in many villages of the Samaritans.

Christ Is Preached to an Ethiopian

(cf. Is. 53:7, 8)

26 Now an angel of the Lord spoke to Philip, saying, "Arise and go toward the south along the road which goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza." This is desert.
27 So he arose and went. And behold, a man of Ethiopia, a eunuch of great authority under Candace the queen of the Ethiopians, who had charge of all her treasury, and had come to Jerusalem to worship,

28 was returning. And sitting in his chariot, he was reading Isaiah the prophet.
29 Then the Spirit said to Philip, “Go near and overtake this chariot.”
30 So Philip ran to him, and heard him reading the prophet Isaiah, and said,
“Do you understand what you are reading?”
31 And he said, “How can I, unless someone guides me?” And he asked Philip to come up and sit with him.
32 The place in the Scripture which he read was this:

> “He was led as a sheep to the slaughter;
> And as a lamb before its shearer is silent,
> So He opened not His mouth.
> 33 In His humiliation His justice was taken away,
> And who will declare His generation?
> For His life is taken from the earth.”[b]

34 So the eunuch answered Philip and said, “I ask you, of whom does the prophet say this, of himself or of some other man?”
35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and beginning at this Scripture, preached Jesus to him.
36 Now as they went down the road, they came to some water. And the eunuch said, “See, here is water. What hinders me from being baptized?” 37 Then Philip said, “If you believe with all your heart, you may.” And he answered and said, “I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.”[c] 38 So he commanded the chariot to stand still. And both Philip and the eunuch went down into the water, and he baptized him.
39 Now when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught Philip away, so that the eunuch saw him no more; and he went on his way rejoicing.
40 But Philip was found at Azotus. And passing through, he preached in all the cities till he came to Caesarea.

Acts 9

The Damascus Road: Saul Converted

(Acts 22:6–16; 26:12–18)

[1]Then Saul, still breathing threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest

[2]and asked letters from him to the synagogues of Damascus, so that if he found any who were of the Way, whether men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem.

[3]As he journeyed he came near Damascus, and suddenly a light shone around him from heaven.

[4]Then he fell to the ground, and heard a voice saying to him, “Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?”

[5]And he said, “Who are You, Lord?” Then the Lord said, “I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting.[a] It is hard for you to kick against the goads.”

[6]So he, trembling and astonished, said, “Lord, what do You want me to do?” Then the Lord said to him, “Arise and go into the city, and you will be told what you must do.”

[7]And the men who journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice but seeing no one.

[8]Then Saul arose from the ground, and when his eyes were opened he saw no one. But they led him by the hand and brought him into Damascus.

[9]And he was three days without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

Ananias Baptizes Saul

[10]Now there was a certain disciple at Damascus named Ananias; and to him the Lord said in a vision, “Ananias.” And he said, “Here I am, Lord.”

[11]So the Lord said to him, “Arise and go to the street called Straight, and inquire at the house of Judas for one called Saul of Tarsus, for behold, he is praying.

[12]“And in a vision he has seen a man named Ananias coming in and putting his hand on him, so that he might receive his sight.”

[13]Then Ananias answered, “Lord, I have heard from many about this man, how much harm he has done to Your saints in Jerusalem.

[14]“And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all who call on Your name.”

[15]But the Lord said to him, “Go, for he is a chosen vessel of Mine to bear My name before Gentiles, kings, and the children of Israel.

[16]“For I will show him how many things he must suffer for My name’s sake.”

[17]And Ananias went his way and entered the house; and laying his hands on him he said, “Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus,[b] who appeared to you on the road as you came, has sent me that you may receive your sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit.”

[18]Immediately there fell from his eyes something like scales, and he received his sight at once; and he arose and was baptized.

[19]So when he had received food, he was strengthened. Then Saul spent some days with the disciples at Damascus.

Saul Preaches Christ

[20]Immediately he preached the Christ[c] in the synagogues, that He is the Son of God.

[21]Then all who heard were amazed, and said, “Is this not he who destroyed those who called on this name in Jerusalem, and has come here for that purpose, so that he might bring them bound to the chief priests?”

[22]But Saul increased all the more in strength, and confounded the Jews who dwelt in Damascus, proving that this Jesus is the Christ.

Saul Escapes Death

[23]Now after many days were past, the Jews plotted to kill him.

[24]But their plot became known to Saul. And they watched the gates day and night, to kill him.

[25]Then the disciples took him by night and let him down through the wall in a large basket.

Saul at Jerusalem

[26]And when Saul had come to Jerusalem, he tried to join the disciples; but they were all afraid of him, and did not believe that he was a disciple.

[27]But Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles. And he declared to them how he had seen the Lord on the road, and that He had spoken to him, and how he had preached boldly at Damascus in the name of Jesus.

[28]So he was with them at Jerusalem, coming in and going out.

[29]And he spoke boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus and disputed against the Hellenists, but they attempted to kill him.

[30]When the brethren found out, they brought him down to Caesarea and sent him out to Tarsus.

The Church Prospers

31 Then the churches[d] throughout all Judea, Galilee, and Samaria had peace and were edified. And walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit, they were multiplied.

Aeneas Healed

32 Now it came to pass, as Peter went through all parts of the country, that he also came down to the saints who dwelt in Lydda.
33 There he found a certain man named Aeneas, who had been bedridden eight years and was paralyzed.
34 And Peter said to him, “Aeneas, Jesus the Christ heals you. Arise and make your bed.” Then he arose immediately.
35 So all who dwelt at Lydda and Sharon saw him and turned to the Lord.

Dorcas Restored to Life

36 At Joppa there was a certain disciple named Tabitha, which is translated Dorcas. This woman was full of good works and charitable deeds which she did.
37 But it happened in those days that she became sick and died. When they had washed her, they laid her in an upper room.
38 And since Lydda was near Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent two men to him, imploring him not to delay in coming to them.
39 Then Peter arose and went with them. When he had come, they brought him to the upper room. And all the widows stood by him weeping, showing the tunics and garments which Dorcas had made while she was with them.
40 But Peter put them all out, and knelt down and prayed. And turning to the body he said, “Tabitha, arise.” And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up.
41 Then he gave her his hand and lifted her up; and when he had called the saints and widows, he presented her alive.
42 And it became known throughout all Joppa, and many believed on the Lord.
43 So it was that he stayed many days in Joppa with Simon, a tanner.

Acts 10

Cornelius Sends a Delegation

1There was a certain man in Caesarea called Cornelius, a centurion of what was called the Italian Regiment, 2a devout man and one who feared God with all his household, who gave alms generously to the people, and prayed to God always.
3About the ninth hour of the day he saw clearly in a vision an angel of God coming in and saying to him, "Cornelius!"
4And when he observed him, he was afraid, and said, "What is it, lord?" So he said to him, "Your prayers and your alms have come up for a memorial before God.
5"Now send men to Joppa, and send for Simon whose surname is Peter.
6"He is lodging with Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea.[a] He will tell you what you must do."
7And when the angel who spoke to him had departed, Cornelius called two of his household servants and a devout soldier from among those who waited on him continually.
8So when he had explained all these things to them, he sent them to Joppa.

Peter's Vision

9The next day, as they went on their journey and drew near the city, Peter went up on the housetop to pray, about the sixth hour.
10Then he became very hungry and wanted to eat; but while they made ready, he fell into a trance 11and saw heaven opened and an object like a great sheet bound at the four corners, descending to him and let down to the earth.
12In it were all kinds of four-footed animals of the earth, wild beasts, creeping things, and birds of the air.
13And a voice came to him, "Rise, Peter; kill and eat."
14But Peter said, "Not so, Lord! For I have never eaten anything common or unclean."
15And a voice spoke to him again the second time, "What God has cleansed you must not call common."
16This was done three times. And the object was taken up into heaven again.

Summoned to Caesarea

17Now while Peter wondered within himself what this vision which he had seen meant, behold, the men who had been sent from Cornelius had made inquiry for Simon's house, and stood before the gate.
18And they called and asked whether Simon, whose surname was Peter, was lodging there.
19While Peter thought about the vision, the Spirit said to him, "Behold, three men are seeking you.
20"Arise therefore, go down and go with them, doubting nothing; for I have sent them."
21Then Peter went down to the men who had been sent to him from Cornelius,[b] and said, "Yes, I am he whom you seek. For what reason have you come?"
22And they said, "Cornelius the centurion, a just man, one who fears God and has a good reputation among all the nation of the Jews, was divinely instructed by a holy angel to summon you to his house, and to hear words from you."
23Then he invited them in and lodged them. On the next day Peter went away with them, and some brethren from Joppa accompanied him.

Peter Meets Cornelius

24And the following day they entered Caesarea. Now Cornelius was waiting for them, and had called together his relatives and close friends.
25As Peter was coming in, Cornelius met him and fell down at his feet and worshiped him.
26But Peter lifted him up, saying, "Stand up; I myself am also a man."
27And as he talked with him, he went in and found many who had come together.
28Then he said to them, "You know how unlawful it is for a Jewish man to keep company with or go to one of another nation. But God has shown me that I should not call any man common or unclean.
29"Therefore I came without objection as soon as I was sent for. I ask, then, for what reason have you sent for me?" 30So Cornelius said, "Four days ago I was fasting until this hour; and at the ninth hour[c] I prayed in my house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing, 31"and said, 'Cornelius, your prayer has been heard, and your alms are remembered in the sight of God.

32‘Send therefore to Joppa and call Simon here, whose surname is Peter. He is lodging in the house of Simon, a tanner, by the sea.[d] When he comes, he will speak to you.’

33“So I sent to you immediately, and you have done well to come. Now therefore, we are all present before God, to hear all the things commanded you by God.”

Preaching to Cornelius’ Household

34Then Peter opened his mouth and said: “In truth I perceive that God shows no partiality.

35“But in every nation whoever fears Him and works righteousness is accepted by Him.

36“The word which God sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace through Jesus Christ—He is Lord of all—

37“that word you know, which was proclaimed throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee after the baptism which John preached:

38“how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power, who went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with Him.

39“And we are witnesses of all things which He did both in the land of the Jews and in Jerusalem, whom they[e] killed by hanging on a tree.

40“Him God raised up on the third day, and showed Him openly, 41“not to all the people, but to witnesses chosen before by God, even to us who ate and drank with Him after He arose from the dead.

42“And He commanded us to preach to the people, and to testify that it is He who was ordained by God to be Judge of the living and the dead.

43“To Him all the prophets witness that, through His name, whoever believes in Him will receive remission of sins.”

The Holy Spirit Falls on the Gentiles

44While Peter was still speaking these words, the Holy Spirit fell upon all those who heard the word.

45And those of the circumcision who believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because the gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out on the Gentiles also.

46For they heard them speak with tongues and magnify God. Then Peter answered, 47“Can anyone forbid water, that these should not be baptized who have received the Holy Spirit just as we have?” 48And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord. Then they asked him to stay a few days.

Acts 11

Peter Defends God’s Grace

1Now the apostles and brethren who were in Judea heard that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.
2And when Peter came up to Jerusalem, those of the circumcision contended with him,
3saying, “You went in to uncircumcised men and ate with them!”
4But Peter explained it to them in order from the beginning, saying:
5“I was in the city of Joppa praying; and in a trance I saw a vision, an object descending like a great sheet, let down from heaven by four corners; and it came to me.
6“When I observed it intently and considered, I saw four-footed animals of the earth, wild beasts, creeping things, and birds of the air.
7“And I heard a voice saying to me, ‘Rise, Peter; kill and eat.’
8“But I said, ‘Not so, Lord! For nothing common or unclean has at any time entered my mouth.’
9“But the voice answered me again from heaven, ‘What God has cleansed you must not call common.’
10“Now this was done three times, and all were drawn up again into heaven.
11“At that very moment, three men stood before the house where I was, having been sent to me from Caesarea.
12“Then the Spirit told me to go with them, doubting nothing. Moreover these six brethren accompanied me, and we entered the man’s house.
13“And he told us how he had seen an angel standing in his house, who said to him, ‘Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon whose surname is Peter, 14‘who will tell you words by which you and all your household will be saved.’
15“And as I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell upon them, as upon us at the beginning.

16 “Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how He said, ‘John indeed baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit.’ 17 “If therefore God gave them the same gift as He gave us when we believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I that I could withstand God?” 18 When they heard these things they became silent; and they glorified God, saying, “Then God has also granted to the Gentiles repentance to life.”

Barnabas and Saul at Antioch

19 Now those who were scattered after the persecution that arose over Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to no one but the Jews only.
20 But some of them were men from Cyprus and Cyrene, who, when they had come to Antioch, spoke to the Hellenists, preaching the Lord Jesus.
21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number believed and turned to the Lord.
22 Then news of these things came to the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent out Barnabas to go as far as Antioch.
23 When he came and had seen the grace of God, he was glad, and encouraged them all that with purpose of heart they should continue with the Lord.
24 For he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. And a great many people were added to the Lord.
25 Then Barnabas departed for Tarsus to seek Saul.
26 And when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. So it was that for a whole year they assembled with the church and taught a great many people. And the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.

Relief to Judea

27 And in these days prophets came from Jerusalem to Antioch.
28 Then one of them, named Agabus, stood up and showed by the Spirit that there was going to be a great famine throughout all the world, which also happened in the days of Claudius Caesar.
29 Then the disciples, each according to his ability, determined to send relief to the brethren dwelling in Judea.
30 This they also did, and sent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

Acts 12

Herod's Violence to the Church

1 Now about that time Herod the king stretched out his hand to harass some from the church.
2 Then he killed James the brother of John with the sword.
3 And because he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further to seize Peter also. Now it was during the Days of Unleavened Bread.
4 So when he had arrested him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four squads of soldiers to keep him, intending to bring him before the people after Passover.

Peter Freed from Prison

5 Peter was therefore kept in prison, but constant[a] prayer was offered to God for him by the church.
6 And when Herod was about to bring him out, that night Peter was sleeping, bound with two chains between two soldiers; and the guards before the door were keeping the prison.
7 Now behold, an angel of the Lord stood by him, and a light shone in the prison; and he struck Peter on the side and raised him up, saying, "Arise quickly!" And his chains fell off his hands.
8 Then the angel said to him, "Gird yourself and tie on your sandals"; and so he did. And he said to him, "Put on your garment and follow me."
9 So he went out and followed him, and did not know that what was done by the angel was real, but thought he was seeing a vision.
10 When they were past the first and the second guard posts, they came to the iron gate that leads to the city, which opened to them of its own accord; and they went out and went down one street, and immediately the angel departed from him.
11 And when Peter had come to himself, he said, "Now I know for certain that the Lord has sent His angel, and has delivered me from the hand of Herod and from all the expectation of the Jewish people."
12 So, when he had considered this, he came to the house of Mary, the mother of John whose surname was Mark, where many were gathered together praying.
13 And as Peter knocked at the door of the gate, a girl named Rhoda came to answer.

14When she recognized Peter's voice, because of her gladness she did not open the gate, but ran in and announced that Peter stood before the gate.

15But they said to her, "You are beside yourself!" Yet she kept insisting that it was so. So they said, "It is his angel."

16Now Peter continued knocking; and when they opened the door and saw him, they were astonished.

17But motioning to them with his hand to keep silent, he declared to them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, "Go, tell these things to James and to the brethren." And he departed and went to another place.

18Then, as soon as it was day, there was no small stir among the soldiers about what had become of Peter.

19But when Herod had searched for him and not found him, he examined the guards and commanded that they should be put to death. And he went down from Judea to Caesarea, and stayed there.

Herod's Violent Death

20Now Herod had been very angry with the people of Tyre and Sidon; but they came to him with one accord, and having made Blastus the king's personal aide their friend, they asked for peace, because their country was supplied with food by the king's country.

21So on a set day Herod, arrayed in royal apparel, sat on his throne and gave an oration to them.

22And the people kept shouting, "The voice of a god and not of a man!"

23Then immediately an angel of the Lord struck him, because he did not give glory to God. And he was eaten by worms and died.

24But the word of God grew and multiplied.

Barnabas and Saul Appointed

25And Barnabas and Saul returned from[b] Jerusalem when they had fulfilled their ministry, and they also took with them John whose surname was Mark.

Acts 13

1Now in the church that was at Antioch there were certain prophets and teachers: Barnabas, Simeon who was called Niger, Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen who had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

2 As they ministered to the Lord and fasted, the Holy Spirit said, “Now separate to Me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.”

3 Then, having fasted and prayed, and laid hands on them, they sent them away.

Preaching in Cyprus

4 So, being sent out by the Holy Spirit, they went down to Seleucia, and from there they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they arrived in Salamis, they preached the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. They also had John as their assistant.

6 Now when they had gone through the island[a] to Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet, a Jew whose name was Bar-Jesus,

7 who was with the proconsul, Sergius Paulus, an intelligent man. This man called for Barnabas and Saul and sought to hear the word of God.

8 But Elymas the sorcerer (for so his name is translated) withstood them, seeking to turn the proconsul away from the faith.

9 Then Saul, who also is called Paul, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked intently at him

10 and said, “O full of all deceit and all fraud, you son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, will you not cease perverting the straight ways of the Lord?

11 “And now, indeed, the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you shall be blind, not seeing the sun for a time.” And immediately a dark mist fell on him, and he went around seeking someone to lead him by the hand.

12 Then the proconsul believed, when he saw what had been done, being astonished at the teaching of the Lord.

At Antioch in Pisidia

13 Now when Paul and his party set sail from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphylia; and John, departing from them, returned to Jerusalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Pisidia, and went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day and sat down.

15 And after the reading of the Law and the Prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent to them, saying, “Men and brethren, if you have any word of exhortation for the people, say on.”

16 Then Paul stood up, and motioning with his hand said, “Men of Israel, and you who fear God, listen:
17 “The God of this people Israel[b] chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt as strangers in the land of Egypt, and with an uplifted arm
He brought them out of it.
18 “Now for a time of about forty years He put up with their ways in the wilderness.
19 “And when He had destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan, He distributed their land to them by allotment.
20 “After that He gave them judges for about four hundred and fifty years, until Samuel the prophet.
21 “And afterward they asked for a king; so God gave them Saul the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years.
22 “And when He had removed him, He raised up for them David as king, to whom also He gave testimony and said, ‘I have found David[c] the son of Jesse, a man after My own heart, who will do all My will.’[d] 23 “From this man’s seed, according to the promise, God raised up for Israel a Savior—Jesus—[e] 24 “after John had first preached, before His coming, the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.
25 “And as John was finishing his course, he said, ‘Who do you think I am?
I am not He. But behold, there comes One after me, the sandals of whose feet
I am not worthy to loose.’
26 “Men and brethren, sons of the family of Abraham, and those among you who fear God, to you the word of this salvation has been sent.
27 “For those who dwell in Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they did not know Him, nor even the voices of the Prophets which are read every Sabbath, have fulfilled them in condemning Him.
28 “And though they found no cause for death in Him, they asked Pilate that He should be put to death.
29 “Now when they had fulfilled all that was written concerning Him, they took Him down from the tree and laid Him in a tomb.
30 “But God raised Him from the dead.
31 “He was seen for many days by those who came up with Him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are His witnesses to the people.
32 “And we declare to you glad tidings—that promise which was made to the fathers.

33“God has fulfilled this for us their children, in that He has raised up Jesus. As it is also written in the second Psalm:

‘You are My Son,
Today I have begotten You.’[f]

34“And that He raised Him from the dead, no more to return to corruption,
He has spoken thus:

‘I will give you the sure mercies of David.’[g]

35“Therefore He also says in another Psalm:

‘You will not allow Your Holy One to see corruption.’[h]

36“For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell asleep, was buried with his fathers, and saw corruption; 37“but He whom God raised up saw no corruption.
38“Therefore let it be known to you, brethren, that through this Man is preached to you the forgiveness of sins; 39“and by Him everyone who believes is justified from all things from which you could not be justified by the law of Moses.
40“Beware therefore, lest what has been spoken in the prophets come upon you:

41 ‘Behold, you despisers,
Marvel and perish!
For I work a work in your days,
A work which you will by no means believe,
Though one were to declare it to you.’ ”[i]

Blessing and Conflict at Antioch

42So when the Jews went out of the synagogue,[j] the Gentiles begged that these words might be preached to them the next Sabbath.
43Now when the congregation had broken up, many of the Jews and devout proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas, who, speaking to them, persuaded them to continue in the grace of God.
44On the next Sabbath almost the whole city came together to hear the word of God.
45But when the Jews saw the multitudes, they were filled with envy; and contradicting and blaspheming, they opposed the things spoken by Paul.

46Then Paul and Barnabas grew bold and said, “It was necessary that the word of God should be spoken to you first; but since you reject it, and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, behold, we turn to the Gentiles.
47“For so the Lord has commanded us:

> ‘I have set you as a light to the Gentiles,
> That you should be for salvation to the ends of the earth.’ ”[k]

48Now when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad and glorified the word of the Lord. And as many as had been appointed to eternal life believed.
49And the word of the Lord was being spread throughout all the region.
50But the Jews stirred up the devout and prominent women and the chief men of the city, raised up persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them from their region.
51But they shook off the dust from their feet against them, and came to Iconium.
52And the disciples were filled with joy and with the Holy Spirit.

Acts 14

At Iconium

1Now it happened in Iconium that they went together to the synagogue of the Jews, and so spoke that a great multitude both of the Jews and of the Greeks believed.
2But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles and poisoned their minds against the brethren.
3Therefore they stayed there a long time, speaking boldly in the Lord, who was bearing witness to the word of His grace, granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands.
4But the multitude of the city was divided: part sided with the Jews, and part with the apostles.
5And when a violent attempt was made by both the Gentiles and Jews, with their rulers, to abuse and stone them, 6they became aware of it and fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and to the surrounding region.

7 And they were preaching the gospel there.

Idolatry at Lystra

8 And in Lystra a certain man without strength in his feet was sitting, a cripple from his mother's womb, who had never walked.
9 This man heard Paul speaking. Paul, observing him intently and seeing that he had faith to be healed, 10 said with a loud voice, "Stand up straight on your feet!" And he leaped and walked.
11 Now when the people saw what Paul had done, they raised their voices, saying in the Lycaonian language, "The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men!"
12 And Barnabas they called Zeus, and Paul, Hermes, because he was the chief speaker.
13 Then the priest of Zeus, whose temple was in front of their city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates, intending to sacrifice with the multitudes.
14 But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard this, they tore their clothes and ran in among the multitude, crying out 15 and saying, "Men, why are you doing these things? We also are men with the same nature as you, and preach to you that you should turn from these useless things to the living God, who made the heaven, the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, 16 "who in bygone generations allowed all nations to walk in their own ways.
17 "Nevertheless He did not leave Himself without witness, in that He did good, gave us rain from heaven and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness."
18 And with these sayings they could scarcely restrain the multitudes from sacrificing to them.

Stoning, Escape to Derbe

19 Then Jews from Antioch and Iconium came there; and having persuaded the multitudes, they stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing him to be dead.
20 However, when the disciples gathered around him, he rose up and went into the city. And the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

Strengthening the Converts

21And when they had preached the gospel to that city and made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, Iconium, and Antioch, 22strengthening the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, and saying, “We must through many tribulations enter the kingdom of God.”
23So when they had appointed elders in every church, and prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord in whom they had believed.
24And after they had passed through Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia.
25Now when they had preached the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia.
26From there they sailed to Antioch, where they had been commended to the grace of God for the work which they had completed.
27Now when they had come and gathered the church together, they reported all that God had done with them, and that He had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles.
28So they stayed there a long time with the disciples.

Acts 15

Conflict over Circumcision

1And certain men came down from Judea and taught the brethren, “Unless you are circumcised according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved.”
2Therefore, when Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and dispute with them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas and certain others of them should go up to Jerusalem, to the apostles and elders, about this question.
3So, being sent on their way by the church, they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria, describing the conversion of the Gentiles; and they caused great joy to all the brethren.
4And when they had come to Jerusalem, they were received by the church and the apostles and the elders; and they reported all things that God had done with them.
5But some of the sect of the Pharisees who believed rose up, saying, “It is necessary to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the law of Moses.”

The Jerusalem Council

6 Now the apostles and elders came together to consider this matter.

7 And when there had been much dispute, Peter rose up and said to them:
"Men and brethren, you know that a good while ago God chose among us, that by my mouth the Gentiles should hear the word of the gospel and believe.

8 "So God, who knows the heart, acknowledged them by giving them the Holy Spirit, just as He did to us,

9 "and made no distinction between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith.

10 "Now therefore, why do you test God by putting a yoke on the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear?

11 "But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ[a] we shall be saved in the same manner as they."

12 Then all the multitude kept silent and listened to Barnabas and Paul declaring how many miracles and wonders God had worked through them among the Gentiles.

13 And after they had become silent, James answered, saying, "Men and brethren, listen to me:

14 "Simon has declared how God at the first visited the Gentiles to take out of them a people for His name.

15 "And with this the words of the prophets agree, just as it is written:

> 16 'After this I will return
> And will rebuild the tabernacle of David, which has fallen > down;
> I will rebuild its ruins,
> And I will set it up;
> 17 So that the rest of mankind may seek the LORD,
> Even all the Gentiles who are called by My name,
> Says the LORD who does all these things.'[b]

18 "Known to God from eternity are all His works.[c]

19 "Therefore I judge that we should not trouble those from among the Gentiles who are turning to God,

20 "but that we write to them to abstain from things polluted by idols, from sexual immorality,[d] from things strangled, and from blood.

21“For Moses has had throughout many generations those who preach him in every city, being read in the synagogues every Sabbath.”

The Jerusalem Decree

22Then it pleased the apostles and elders, with the whole church, to send chosen men of their own company to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas, namely, Judas who was also named Barsabas,[e] and Silas, leading men among the brethren.
23They wrote this letter by them:

The apostles, the elders, and the brethren,

To the brethren who are of the Gentiles in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia:

Greetings.

24Since we have heard that some who went out from us have troubled you with words, unsettling your souls, saying, “You must be circumcised and keep the law”[f]—to whom we gave no such commandment—25it seemed good to us, being assembled with one accord, to send chosen men to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, 26men who have risked their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. 27We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, who will also report the same things by word of mouth. 28For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things: 29that you abstain from things offered to idols, from blood, from things strangled, and from sexual immorality.[g]
If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well.

Farewell.

Continuing Ministry in Syria

30So when they were sent off, they came to Antioch; and when they had gathered the multitude together, they delivered the letter.
31When they had read it, they rejoiced over its encouragement.
32Now Judas and Silas, themselves being prophets also, exhorted and strengthened the brethren with many words.
33And after they had stayed there for a time, they were sent back with greetings from the brethren to the apostles.[h]

34However, it seemed good to Silas to remain there.[i]

35Paul and Barnabas also remained in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also.

Division over John Mark

36Then after some days Paul said to Barnabas, “Let us now go back and visit our brethren in every city where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they are doing.”

37Now Barnabas was determined to take with them John called Mark.

38But Paul insisted that they should not take with them the one who had departed from them in Pamphylia, and had not gone with them to the work.

39Then the contention became so sharp that they parted from one another. And so Barnabas took Mark and sailed to Cyprus; 40but Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended by the brethren to the grace of God.

41And he went through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches.

Acts 16

Timothy Joins Paul and Silas

1Then he came to Derbe and Lystra. And behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timothy, the son of a certain Jewish woman who believed, but his father was Greek.

2He was well spoken of by the brethren who were at Lystra and Iconium.

3Paul wanted to have him go on with him. And he took him and circumcised him because of the Jews who were in that region, for they all knew that his father was Greek.

4And as they went through the cities, they delivered to them the decrees to keep, which were determined by the apostles and elders at Jerusalem.

5So the churches were strengthened in the faith, and increased in number daily.

The Macedonian Call

6Now when they had gone through Phrygia and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach the word in Asia.

7 After they had come to Mysia, they tried to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit[a] did not permit them.

8 So passing by Mysia, they came down to Troas.

9 And a vision appeared to Paul in the night. A man of Macedonia stood and pleaded with him, saying, “Come over to Macedonia and help us.”

10 Now after he had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go to Macedonia, concluding that the Lord had called us to preach the gospel to them.

Lydia Baptized at Philippi

11 Therefore, sailing from Troas, we ran a straight course to Samothrace, and the next day came to Neapolis, 12 and from there to Philippi, which is the foremost city of that part of Macedonia, a colony. And we were staying in that city for some days.

13 And on the Sabbath day we went out of the city to the riverside, where prayer was customarily made; and we sat down and spoke to the women who met there.

14 Now a certain woman named Lydia heard us. She was a seller of purple from the city of Thyatira, who worshiped God. The Lord opened her heart to heed the things spoken by Paul.

15 And when she and her household were baptized, she begged us, saying, “If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come to my house and stay.” So she persuaded us.

Paul and Silas Imprisoned

16 Now it happened, as we went to prayer, that a certain slave girl possessed with a spirit of divination met us, who brought her masters much profit by fortune-telling.

17 This girl followed Paul and us, and cried out, saying, “These men are the servants of the Most High God, who proclaim to us the way of salvation.”

18 And this she did for many days. But Paul, greatly annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, “I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her.” And he came out that very hour.

19 But when her masters saw that their hope of profit was gone, they seized Paul and Silas and dragged them into the marketplace to the authorities.

20 And they brought them to the magistrates, and said, “These men, being Jews, exceedingly trouble our city;

21"and they teach customs which are not lawful for us, being Romans, to receive or observe."
22Then the multitude rose up together against them; and the magistrates tore off their clothes and commanded them to be beaten with rods.
23And when they had laid many stripes on them, they threw them into prison, commanding the jailer to keep them securely.
24Having received such a charge, he put them into the inner prison and fastened their feet in the stocks.

The Philippian Jailer Saved

25But at midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them.
26Suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken; and immediately all the doors were opened and everyone's chains were loosed.
27And the keeper of the prison, awaking from sleep and seeing the prison doors open, supposing the prisoners had fled, drew his sword and was about to kill himself.
28But Paul called with a loud voice, saying, "Do yourself no harm, for we are all here."
29Then he called for a light, ran in, and fell down trembling before Paul and Silas.
30And he brought them out and said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?"
31So they said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved, you and your household."
32Then they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all who were in his house.
33And he took them the same hour of the night and washed their stripes. And immediately he and all his family were baptized.
34Now when he had brought them into his house, he set food before them; and he rejoiced, having believed in God with all his household.

Paul Refuses to Depart Secretly

35And when it was day, the magistrates sent the officers, saying, "Let those men go."
36So the keeper of the prison reported these words to Paul, saying, "The magistrates have sent to let you go. Now therefore depart, and go in peace."

37But Paul said to them, "They have beaten us openly, uncondemned Romans, and have thrown us into prison. And now do they put us out secretly? No indeed! Let them come themselves and get us out."

38And the officers told these words to the magistrates, and they were afraid when they heard that they were Romans.

39Then they came and pleaded with them and brought them out, and asked them to depart from the city.

40So they went out of the prison and entered the house of Lydia; and when they had seen the brethren, they encouraged them and departed.

Acts 17

Preaching Christ at Thessalonica

1Now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews.

2Then Paul, as his custom was, went in to them, and for three Sabbaths reasoned with them from the Scriptures, 3explaining and demonstrating that the Christ had to suffer and rise again from the dead, and saying, "This Jesus whom I preach to you is the Christ."

4And some of them were persuaded; and a great multitude of the devout Greeks, and not a few of the leading women, joined Paul and Silas.

Assault on Jason's House

5But the Jews who were not persuaded, becoming envious,[a] took some of the evil men from the marketplace, and gathering a mob, set all the city in an uproar and attacked the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6But when they did not find them, they dragged Jason and some brethren to the rulers of the city, crying out, "These who have turned the world upside down have come here too.

7"Jason has harbored them, and these are all acting contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying there is another king—Jesus."

8And they troubled the crowd and the rulers of the city when they heard these things.

9So when they had taken security from Jason and the rest, they let them go.

Ministering at Berea

10Then the brethren immediately sent Paul and Silas away by night to Berea. When they arrived, they went into the synagogue of the Jews.

11These were more fair-minded than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness, and searched the Scriptures daily to find out whether these things were so.

12Therefore many of them believed, and also not a few of the Greeks, prominent women as well as men.

13But when the Jews from Thessalonica learned that the word of God was preached by Paul at Berea, they came there also and stirred up the crowds.

14Then immediately the brethren sent Paul away, to go to the sea; but both Silas and Timothy remained there.

15So those who conducted Paul brought him to Athens; and receiving a command for Silas and Timothy to come to him with all speed, they departed.

The Philosophers at Athens

16Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was provoked within him when he saw that the city was given over to idols.

17Therefore he reasoned in the synagogue with the Jews and with the Gentile worshipers, and in the marketplace daily with those who happened to be there.

18Then[b] certain Epicurean and Stoic philosophers encountered him. And some said, “What does this babbler want to say?” Others said, “He seems to be a proclaimer of foreign gods,” because he preached to them Jesus and the resurrection.

19And they took him and brought him to the Areopagus, saying, “May we know what this new doctrine is of which you speak?

20“For you are bringing some strange things to our ears. Therefore we want to know what these things mean.”

21For all the Athenians and the foreigners who were there spent their time in nothing else but either to tell or to hear some new thing.

Addressing the Areopagus

22Then Paul stood in the midst of the Areopagus and said, “Men of Athens, I perceive that in all things you are very religious;

23“for as I was passing through and considering the objects of your worship, I even found an altar with this inscription:

TO THE UNKNOWN GOD.

Therefore, the One whom you worship without knowing, Him I proclaim to you:

24"God, who made the world and everything in it, since He is Lord of heaven and earth, does not dwell in temples made with hands.

25"Nor is He worshiped with men's hands, as though He needed anything, since He gives to all life, breath, and all things.

26"And He has made from one blood[c] every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, and has determined their preappointed times and the boundaries of their dwellings,

27"so that they should seek the Lord, in the hope that they might grope for Him and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us;

28"for in Him we live and move and have our being, as also some of your own poets have said, 'For we are also His offspring.'

29"Therefore, since we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Divine Nature is like gold or silver or stone, something shaped by art and man's devising.

30"Truly, these times of ignorance God overlooked, but now commands all men everywhere to repent,

31"because He has appointed a day on which He will judge the world in righteousness by the Man whom He has ordained. He has given assurance of this to all by raising Him from the dead."

32And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked, while others said, "We will hear you again on this matter."

33So Paul departed from among them.

34However, some men joined him and believed, among them Dionysius the Areopagite, a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

Acts 18

Ministering at Corinth

1After these things Paul departed from Athens and went to Corinth.

2And he found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, who had recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla (because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to depart from Rome); and he came to them.

3So, because he was of the same trade, he stayed with them and worked; for by occupation they were tentmakers.

4And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuaded both Jews and Greeks.

5When Silas and Timothy had come from Macedonia, Paul was compelled by the Spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus is the Christ.

6But when they opposed him and blasphemed, he shook his garments and said to them, "Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean. From now on I will go to the Gentiles."

7And he departed from there and entered the house of a certain man named Justus,[a] one who worshiped God, whose house was next door to the synagogue.

8Then Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed on the Lord with all his household. And many of the Corinthians, hearing, believed and were baptized.

9Now the Lord spoke to Paul in the night by a vision, "Do not be afraid, but speak, and do not keep silent;

10"for I am with you, and no one will attack you to hurt you; for I have many people in this city."

11And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

12When Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews with one accord rose up against Paul and brought him to the judgment seat,

13saying, "This fellow persuades men to worship God contrary to the law."

14And when Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, "If it were a matter of wrongdoing or wicked crimes, O Jews, there would be reason why I should bear with you.

15"But if it is a question of words and names and your own law, look to it yourselves; for I do not want to be a judge of such matters."

16And he drove them from the judgment seat.

17Then all the Greeks[b] took Sosthenes, the ruler of the synagogue, and beat him before the judgment seat. But Gallio took no notice of these things.

Paul Returns to Antioch

18So Paul still remained a good while. Then he took leave of the brethren and sailed for Syria, and Priscilla and Aquila were with him. He had his hair cut off at Cenchrea, for he had taken a vow.

19 And he came to Ephesus, and left them there; but he himself entered the synagogue and reasoned with the Jews.

20 When they asked him to stay a longer time with them, he did not consent, 21 but took leave of them, saying, “I must by all means keep this coming feast in Jerusalem;[c] but I will return again to you, God willing.” And he sailed from Ephesus.

22 And when he had landed at Caesarea, and gone up and greeted the church, he went down to Antioch.

23 After he had spent some time there, he departed and went over the region of Galatia and Phrygia in order, strengthening all the disciples.

Ministry of Apollos

24 Now a certain Jew named Apollos, born at Alexandria, an eloquent man and mighty in the Scriptures, came to Ephesus.

25 This man had been instructed in the way of the Lord; and being fervent in spirit, he spoke and taught accurately the things of the Lord, though he knew only the baptism of John.

26 So he began to speak boldly in the synagogue. When Aquila and Priscilla heard him, they took him aside and explained to him the way of God more accurately.

27 And when he desired to cross to Achaia, the brethren wrote, exhorting the disciples to receive him; and when he arrived, he greatly helped those who had believed through grace;

28 for he vigorously refuted the Jews publicly, showing from the Scriptures that Jesus is the Christ.

Acts 19

Paul at Ephesus

1 And it happened, while Apollos was at Corinth, that Paul, having passed through the upper regions, came to Ephesus. And finding some disciples

2 he said to them, “Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?” So they said to him, “We have not so much as heard whether there is a Holy Spirit.”

3 And he said to them, “Into what then were you baptized?” So they said, “Into John’s baptism.”
4 Then Paul said, “John indeed baptized with a baptism of repentance, saying to the people that they should believe on Him who would come after him, that is, on Christ Jesus.”
5 When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.
6 And when Paul had laid hands on them, the Holy Spirit came upon them, and they spoke with tongues and prophesied.
7 Now the men were about twelve in all.
8 And he went into the synagogue and spoke boldly for three months, reasoning and persuading concerning the things of the kingdom of God.
9 But when some were hardened and did not believe, but spoke evil of the Way before the multitude, he departed from them and withdrew the disciples, reasoning daily in the school of Tyrannus.
10 And this continued for two years, so that all who dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.

Miracles Glorify Christ

11 Now God worked unusual miracles by the hands of Paul, 12 so that even handkerchiefs or aprons were brought from his body to the sick, and the diseases left them and the evil spirits went out of them.
13 Then some of the itinerant Jewish exorcists took it upon themselves to call the name of the Lord Jesus over those who had evil spirits, saying, “We[a] exorcise you by the Jesus whom Paul preaches.”
14 Also there were seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish chief priest, who did so.
15 And the evil spirit answered and said, “Jesus I know, and Paul I know;
but who are you?”
16 Then the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, overpowered[b] them, and prevailed against them,[c] so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.
17 This became known both to all Jews and Greeks dwelling in Ephesus; and fear fell on them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified.
18 And many who had believed came confessing and telling their deeds.
19 Also, many of those who had practiced magic brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all. And they counted up the value of them, and it totaled fifty thousand pieces of silver.
20 So the word of the Lord grew mightily and prevailed.

The Riot at Ephesus

21When these things were accomplished, Paul purposed in the Spirit, when he had passed through Macedonia and Achaia, to go to Jerusalem, saying, “After I have been there, I must also see Rome.”
22So he sent into Macedonia two of those who ministered to him, Timothy and Erastus, but he himself stayed in Asia for a time.
23And about that time there arose a great commotion about the Way.
24For a certain man named Demetrius, a silversmith, who made silver shrines of Diana,[d] brought no small profit to the craftsmen.
25He called them together with the workers of similar occupation, and said:
“Men, you know that we have our prosperity by this trade.
26“Moreover you see and hear that not only at Ephesus, but throughout almost all Asia, this Paul has persuaded and turned away many people, saying that they are not gods which are made with hands.
27“So not only is this trade of ours in danger of falling into disrepute, but also the temple of the great goddess Diana may be despised and her magnificence destroyed,[e] whom all Asia and the world worship.”
28Now when they heard this, they were full of wrath and cried out, saying,
“Great is Diana of the Ephesians!”
29So the whole city was filled with confusion, and rushed into the theater with one accord, having seized Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians, Paul’s travel companions.
30And when Paul wanted to go in to the people, the disciples would not allow him.
31Then some of the officials of Asia, who were his friends, sent to him pleading that he would not venture into the theater.
32Some therefore cried one thing and some another, for the assembly was confused, and most of them did not know why they had come together.
33And they drew Alexander out of the multitude, the Jews putting him forward. And Alexander motioned with his hand, and wanted to make his defense to the people.
34But when they found out that he was a Jew, all with one voice cried out for about two hours, “Great is Diana of the Ephesians!” 35And when the city clerk had quieted the crowd, he said: “Men of Ephesus, what man is there who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is temple guardian of the great goddess Diana, and of the image which fell down from Zeus?

36“Therefore, since these things cannot be denied, you ought to be quiet and do nothing rashly.
37“For you have brought these men here who are neither robbers of temples nor blasphemers of your[f] goddess.
38“Therefore, if Demetrius and his fellow craftsmen have a case against anyone, the courts are open and there are proconsuls. Let them bring charges against one another.
39“But if you have any other inquiry to make, it shall be determined in the lawful assembly.
40“For we are in danger of being called in question for today’s uproar, there being no reason which we may give to account for this disorderly gathering.”
41And when he had said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

Acts 20

Journeys in Greece

1After the uproar had ceased, Paul called the disciples to himself, embraced them, and departed to go to Macedonia.
2Now when he had gone over that region and encouraged them with many words, he came to Greece 3and stayed three months. And when the Jews plotted against him as he was about to sail to Syria, he decided to return through Macedonia.
4And Sopater of Berea accompanied him to Asia—also Aristarchus and Secundus of the Thessalonians, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy, and Tychicus and Trophimus of Asia.
5These men, going ahead, waited for us at Troas.
6But we sailed away from Philippi after the Days of Unleavened Bread, and in five days joined them at Troas, where we stayed seven days.

Ministering at Troas

7Now on the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul, ready to depart the next day, spoke to them and continued his message until midnight.
8There were many lamps in the upper room where they[a] were gathered together.

9 And in a window sat a certain young man named Eutychus, who was sinking into a deep sleep. He was overcome by sleep; and as Paul continued speaking, he fell down from the third story and was taken up dead.
10 But Paul went down, fell on him, and embracing him said, “Do not trouble yourselves, for his life is in him.” 11 Now when he had come up, had broken bread and eaten, and talked a long while, even till daybreak, he departed.
12 And they brought the young man in alive, and they were not a little comforted.

From Troas to Miletus

13 Then we went ahead to the ship and sailed to Assos, there intending to take Paul on board; for so he had given orders, intending himself to go on foot.
14 And when he met us at Assos, we took him on board and came to Mitylene.
15 We sailed from there, and the next day came opposite Chios. The following day we arrived at Samos and stayed at Trogyllium. The next day we came to Miletus.
16 For Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus, so that he would not have to spend time in Asia; for he was hurrying to be at Jerusalem, if possible, on the Day of Pentecost.

The Ephesian Elders Exhorted

17 From Miletus he sent to Ephesus and called for the elders of the church.
18 And when they had come to him, he said to them: “You know, from the first day that I came to Asia, in what manner I always lived among you, 19 “serving the Lord with all humility, with many tears and trials which happened to me by the plotting of the Jews; 20 “how I kept back nothing that was helpful, but proclaimed it to you, and taught you publicly and from house to house, 21 “testifying to Jews, and also to Greeks, repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.
22 “And see, now I go bound in the spirit to Jerusalem, not knowing the things that will happen to me there, 23 “except that the Holy Spirit testifies in every city, saying that chains and tribulations await me.

24“But none of these things move me; nor do I count my life dear to myself,[b] so that I may finish my race with joy, and the ministry which I received from the Lord Jesus, to testify to the gospel of the grace of God.
25“And indeed, now I know that you all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, will see my face no more.
26“Therefore I testify to you this day that I am innocent of the blood of all men.
27“For I have not shunned to declare to you the whole counsel of God.
28“Therefore take heed to yourselves and to all the flock, among which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, to shepherd the church of God[c] which He purchased with His own blood.
29“For I know this, that after my departure savage wolves will come in among you, not sparing the flock.
30“Also from among yourselves men will rise up, speaking perverse things, to draw away the disciples after themselves.
31“Therefore watch, and remember that for three years I did not cease to warn everyone night and day with tears.
32“So now, brethren, I commend you to God and to the word of His grace, which is able to build you up and give you an inheritance among all those who are sanctified.
33“I have coveted no one’s silver or gold or apparel.
34“Yes,[d] you yourselves know that these hands have provided for my necessities, and for those who were with me.
35“I have shown you in every way, by laboring like this, that you must support the weak. And remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that He said, ‘It is more blessed to give than to receive.’ ”
36And when he had said these things, he knelt down and prayed with them all.
37Then they all wept freely, and fell on Paul’s neck and kissed him, 38sorrowing most of all for the words which he spoke, that they would see his face no more. And they accompanied him to the ship.

Acts 21

Warnings on the Journey to Jerusalem

1Now it came to pass, that when we had departed from them and set sail, running a straight course we came to Cos, the following day to Rhodes, and from there to Patara.

2And finding a ship sailing over to Phoenicia, we went aboard and set sail.

3When we had sighted Cyprus, we passed it on the left, sailed to Syria, and landed at Tyre; for there the ship was to unload her cargo.

4And finding disciples,[a] we stayed there seven days. They told Paul through the Spirit not to go up to Jerusalem.

5When we had come to the end of those days, we departed and went on our way; and they all accompanied us, with wives and children, till we were out of the city. And we knelt down on the shore and prayed.

6When we had taken our leave of one another, we boarded the ship, and they returned home.

7And when we had finished our voyage from Tyre, we came to Ptolemais, greeted the brethren, and stayed with them one day.

8On the next day we who were Paul's companions[b] departed and came to Caesarea, and entered the house of Philip the evangelist, who was one of the seven, and stayed with him.

9Now this man had four virgin daughters who prophesied.

10And as we stayed many days, a certain prophet named Agabus came down from Judea.

11When he had come to us, he took Paul's belt, bound his own hands and feet, and said, "Thus says the Holy Spirit, 'So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man who owns this belt, and deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.' "

12Now when we heard these things, both we and those from that place pleaded with him not to go up to Jerusalem.

13Then Paul answered, "What do you mean by weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not only to be bound, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus."

14So when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, "The will of the Lord be done."

Paul Urged to Make Peace

15And after those days we packed and went up to Jerusalem.

16Also some of the disciples from Caesarea went with us and brought with them a certain Mnason of Cyprus, an early disciple, with whom we were to lodge.

17 And when we had come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly.
18 On the following day Paul went in with us to James, and all the elders were present.
19 When he had greeted them, he told in detail those things which God had done among the Gentiles through his ministry.
20 And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord. And they said to him, "You see, brother, how many myriads of Jews there are who have believed, and they are all zealous for the law;
21 "but they have been informed about you that you teach all the Jews who are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, saying that they ought not to circumcise their children nor to walk according to the customs.
22 "What then? The assembly must certainly meet, for they will[c] hear that you have come.
23 "Therefore do what we tell you: We have four men who have taken a vow.
24 "Take them and be purified with them, and pay their expenses so that they may shave their heads, and that all may know that those things of which they were informed concerning you are nothing, but that you yourself also walk orderly and keep the law.
25 "But concerning the Gentiles who believe, we have written and decided that they should observe no such thing, except[d] that they should keep themselves from things offered to idols, from blood, from things strangled, and from sexual immorality."

Arrested in the Temple

26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day, having been purified with them, entered the temple to announce the expiration of the days of purification, at which time an offering should be made for each one of them.
27 Now when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews from Asia, seeing him in the temple, stirred up the whole crowd and laid hands on him,
28 crying out, "Men of Israel, help! This is the man who teaches all men everywhere against the people, the law, and this place; and furthermore he also brought Greeks into the temple and has defiled this holy place."
29 (For they had previously[e] seen Trophimus the Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.)
30 And all the city was disturbed; and the people ran together, seized Paul, and dragged him out of the temple; and immediately the doors were shut.

31 Now as they were seeking to kill him, news came to the commander of the garrison that all Jerusalem was in an uproar.
32 He immediately took soldiers and centurions, and ran down to them. And when they saw the commander and the soldiers, they stopped beating Paul.
33 Then the commander came near and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains; and he asked who he was and what he had done.
34 And some among the multitude cried one thing and some another. So when he could not ascertain the truth because of the tumult, he commanded him to be taken into the barracks.
35 When he reached the stairs, he had to be carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the mob.
36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying out, "Away with him!"

Addressing the Jerusalem Mob

(Acts 9:1–19; 26:12–18)

37 Then as Paul was about to be led into the barracks, he said to the commander, "May I speak to you?" He replied, "Can you speak Greek?
38 "Are you not the Egyptian who some time ago stirred up a rebellion and led the four thousand assassins out into the wilderness?" 39 But Paul said, "I am a Jew from Tarsus, in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city; and I implore you, permit me to speak to the people." 40 So when he had given him permission, Paul stood on the stairs and motioned with his hand to the people. And when there was a great silence, he spoke to them in the Hebrew language, saying,

Acts 22

1 "Brethren and fathers, hear my defense before you now."
2 And when they heard that he spoke to them in the Hebrew language, they kept all the more silent. Then he said:
3 "I am indeed a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, taught according to the strictness of our fathers' law, and was zealous toward God as you all are today.
4 "I persecuted this Way to the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women,

5“as also the high priest bears me witness, and all the council of the elders, from whom I also received letters to the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring in chains even those who were there to Jerusalem to be punished.
6“Now it happened, as I journeyed and came near Damascus at about noon, suddenly a great light from heaven shone around me.
7“And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?’
8“So I answered, ‘Who are You, Lord?’ And He said to me, ‘I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom you are persecuting.’
9“And those who were with me indeed saw the light and were afraid,[a] but they did not hear the voice of Him who spoke to me.
10“So I said, ‘What shall I do, Lord?’ And the Lord said to me, ‘Arise and go into Damascus, and there you will be told all things which are appointed for you to do.’
11“And since I could not see for the glory of that light, being led by the hand of those who were with me, I came into Damascus.
12“Then a certain Ananias, a devout man according to the law, having a good testimony with all the Jews who dwelt there, 13“came to me; and he stood and said to me, ‘Brother Saul, receive your sight.’ And at that same hour I looked up at him.
14“Then he said, ‘The God of our fathers has chosen you that you should know His will, and see the Just One, and hear the voice of His mouth.
15‘For you will be His witness to all men of what you have seen and heard.
16‘And now why are you waiting? Arise and be baptized, and wash away your sins, calling on the name of the Lord.’ 17“Now it happened, when I returned to Jerusalem and was praying in the temple, that I was in a trance 18“and saw Him saying to me, ‘Make haste and get out of Jerusalem quickly, for they will not receive your testimony concerning Me.’ 19“So I said, ‘Lord, they know that in every synagogue I imprisoned and beat those who believe on You.
20‘And when the blood of Your martyr Stephen was shed, I also was standing by consenting to his death,[b] and guarding the clothes of those who were killing him.’
21“Then He said to me, ‘Depart, for I will send you far from here to the Gentiles.’ ”

Paul's Roman Citizenship

22And they listened to him until this word, and then they raised their voices and said, "Away with such a fellow from the earth, for he is not fit to live!"

23Then, as they cried out and tore off their clothes and threw dust into the air,

24the commander ordered him to be brought into the barracks, and said that he should be examined under scourging, so that he might know why they shouted so against him.

25And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said to the centurion who stood by, "Is it lawful for you to scourge a man who is a Roman, and uncondemned?"

26When the centurion heard that, he went and told the commander, saying, "Take care what you do, for this man is a Roman."

27Then the commander came and said to him, "Tell me, are you a Roman?" He said, "Yes."

28The commander answered, "With a large sum I obtained this citizenship." And Paul said, "But I was born a citizen."

29Then immediately those who were about to examine him withdrew from him; and the commander was also afraid after he found out that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him.

The Sanhedrin Divided

30The next day, because he wanted to know for certain why he was accused by the Jews, he released him from his bonds, and commanded the chief priests and all their council to appear, and brought Paul down and set him before them.

Acts 23

1Then Paul, looking earnestly at the council, said, "Men and brethren, I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day."

2And the high priest Ananias commanded those who stood by him to strike him on the mouth.

3Then Paul said to him, "God will strike you, you whitewashed wall! For you sit to judge me according to the law, and do you command me to be struck contrary to the law?"

4 And those who stood by said, “Do you revile God’s high priest?”

5 Then Paul said, “I did not know, brethren, that he was the high priest; for it is written, ‘You shall not speak evil of a ruler of your people.’ ”[a]

6 But when Paul perceived that one part were Sadducees and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, “Men and brethren, I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee; concerning the hope and resurrection of the dead I am being judged!”

7 And when he had said this, a dissension arose between the Pharisees and the Sadducees; and the assembly was divided.

8 For Sadducees say that there is no resurrection—and no angel or spirit; but the Pharisees confess both.

9 Then there arose a loud outcry. And the scribes of the Pharisees’ party arose and protested, saying, “We find no evil in this man; but if a spirit or an angel has spoken to him, let us not fight against God.”[b]

10 Now when there arose a great dissension, the commander, fearing lest Paul might be pulled to pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down and take him by force from among them, and bring him into the barracks.

The Plot Against Paul

11 But the following night the Lord stood by him and said, “Be of good cheer, Paul; for as you have testified for Me in Jerusalem, so you must also bear witness at Rome.”

12 And when it was day, some of the Jews banded together and bound themselves under an oath, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.

13 Now there were more than forty who had formed this conspiracy.

14 They came to the chief priests and elders, and said, “We have bound ourselves under a great oath that we will eat nothing until we have killed Paul.

15 “Now you, therefore, together with the council, suggest to the commander that he be brought down to you tomorrow,[c] as though you were going to make further inquiries concerning him; but we are ready to kill him before he comes near.”

16 So when Paul’s sister’s son heard of their ambush, he went and entered the barracks and told Paul.

17 Then Paul called one of the centurions to him and said, “Take this young man to the commander, for he has something to tell him.”

[18]So he took him and brought him to the commander and said, “Paul the prisoner called me to him and asked me to bring this young man to you. He has something to say to you.”

[19]Then the commander took him by the hand, went aside, and asked privately, “What is it that you have to tell me?”

[20]And he said, “The Jews have agreed to ask that you bring Paul down to the council tomorrow, as though they were going to inquire more fully about him.

[21]“But do not yield to them, for more than forty of them lie in wait for him, men who have bound themselves by an oath that they will neither eat nor drink till they have killed him; and now they are ready, waiting for the promise from you.”

[22]So the commander let the young man depart, and commanded him, “Tell no one that you have revealed these things to me.”

Sent to Felix

[23]And he called for two centurions, saying, “Prepare two hundred soldiers, seventy horsemen, and two hundred spearmen to go to Caesarea at the third hour of the night;

[24]“and provide mounts to set Paul on, and bring him safely to Felix the governor.”

[25]He wrote a letter in the following manner:

> [26]Claudius Lysias,
>
> To the most excellent governor Felix:
>
> Greetings.
> [27]This man was seized by the Jews and was about to be killed by them. Coming with the troops I rescued him, having learned that he was a Roman. [28]And when I wanted to know the reason they accused him, I brought him before their council. [29]I found out that he was accused concerning questions of their law, but had nothing charged against him deserving of death or chains. [30]And when it was told me that the Jews lay in wait for the man,[d] I sent him immediately to you, and also commanded his accusers to state before you the charges against him.

Farewell.

31 Then the soldiers, as they were commanded, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris.
32 The next day they left the horsemen to go on with him, and returned to the barracks.
33 When they came to Caesarea and had delivered the letter to the governor, they also presented Paul to him.
34 And when the governor had read it, he asked what province he was from.
And when he understood that he was from Cilicia, 35 he said, “I will hear you when your accusers also have come.” And he commanded him to be kept in Herod’s Praetorium.

Acts 24

Accused of Sedition

1 Now after five days Ananias the high priest came down with the elders and a certain orator named Tertullus. These gave evidence to the governor against Paul.
2 And when he was called upon, Tertullus began his accusation, saying: “Seeing that through you we enjoy great peace, and prosperity is being brought to this nation by your foresight, 3 “we accept it always and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankfulness.
4 “Nevertheless, not to be tedious to you any further, I beg you to hear, by your courtesy, a few words from us.
5 “For we have found this man a plague, a creator of dissension among all the Jews throughout the world, and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes.
6 “He even tried to profane the temple, and we seized him,[a] and wanted to judge him according to our law.
7 “But the commander Lysias came by and with great violence took him out of our hands,
8 “commanding his accusers to come to you. By examining him yourself you may ascertain all these things of which we accuse him.”
9 And the Jews also assented,[b] maintaining that these things were so.

The Defense Before Felix

10Then Paul, after the governor had nodded to him to speak, answered:
"Inasmuch as I know that you have been for many years a judge of this nation, I do the more cheerfully answer for myself, 11"because you may ascertain that it is no more than twelve days since I went up to Jerusalem to worship.
12"And they neither found me in the temple disputing with anyone nor inciting the crowd, either in the synagogues or in the city.
13"Nor can they prove the things of which they now accuse me.
14"But this I confess to you, that according to the Way which they call a sect, so I worship the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the Law and in the Prophets.
15"I have hope in God, which they themselves also accept, that there will be a resurrection of the dead,[c] both of the just and the unjust.
16"This being so, I myself always strive to have a conscience without offense toward God and men.
17"Now after many years I came to bring alms and offerings to my nation, 18"in the midst of which some Jews from Asia found me purified in the temple, neither with a mob nor with tumult.
19"They ought to have been here before you to object if they had anything against me.
20"Or else let those who are here themselves say if they found any wrongdoing[d] in me while I stood before the council, 21"unless it is for this one statement which I cried out, standing among them, 'Concerning the resurrection of the dead I am being judged by you this day.' "

Felix Procrastinates

22But when Felix heard these things, having more accurate knowledge of the Way, he adjourned the proceedings and said, "When Lysias the commander comes down, I will make a decision on your case."
23So he commanded the centurion to keep Paul and to let him have liberty, and told him not to forbid any of his friends to provide for or visit him.
24And after some days, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish, he sent for Paul and heard him concerning the faith in Christ.
25Now as he reasoned about righteousness, self-control, and the judgment to come, Felix was afraid and answered, “Go away for now; when I have a convenient time I will call for you.”

26Meanwhile he also hoped that money would be given him by Paul, that he might release him.[e] Therefore he sent for him more often and conversed with him.

27But after two years Porcius Festus succeeded Felix; and Felix, wanting to do the Jews a favor, left Paul bound.

Acts 25

Paul Appeals to Caesar

1Now when Festus had come to the province, after three days he went up from Caesarea to Jerusalem.

2Then the high priest[a] and the chief men of the Jews informed him against Paul; and they petitioned him, 3asking a favor against him, that he would summon him to Jerusalem—while they lay in ambush along the road to kill him.

4But Festus answered that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself was going there shortly.

5“Therefore,” he said, “let those who have authority among you go down with me and accuse this man, to see if there is any fault in him.”

6And when he had remained among them more than ten days, he went down to Caesarea. And the next day, sitting on the judgment seat, he commanded Paul to be brought.

7When he had come, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem stood about and laid many serious complaints against Paul, which they could not prove,

8while he answered for himself, “Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Caesar have I offended in anything at all.”

9But Festus, wanting to do the Jews a favor, answered Paul and said, “Are you willing to go up to Jerusalem and there be judged before me concerning these things?”

10So Paul said, “I stand at Caesar’s judgment seat, where I ought to be judged. To the Jews I have done no wrong, as you very well know.

11“For if I am an offender, or have committed anything deserving of death, I do not object to dying; but if there is nothing in these things of which these men accuse me, no one can deliver me to them. I appeal to Caesar."

12Then Festus, when he had conferred with the council, answered, "You have appealed to Caesar? To Caesar you shall go!"

Paul Before Agrippa

13And after some days King Agrippa and Bernice came to Caesarea to greet Festus.

14When they had been there many days, Festus laid Paul's case before the king, saying: "There is a certain man left a prisoner by Felix, 15"about whom the chief priests and the elders of the Jews informed me, when I was in Jerusalem, asking for a judgment against him.

16"To them I answered, 'It is not the custom of the Romans to deliver any man to destruction[b] before the accused meets the accusers face to face, and has opportunity to answer for himself concerning the charge against him.'

17"Therefore when they had come together, without any delay, the next day I sat on the judgment seat and commanded the man to be brought in.

18"When the accusers stood up, they brought no accusation against him of such things as I supposed, 19"but had some questions against him about their own religion and about a certain Jesus, who had died, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

20"And because I was uncertain of such questions, I asked whether he was willing to go to Jerusalem and there be judged concerning these matters.

21"But when Paul appealed to be reserved for the decision of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I could send him to Caesar."

22Then Agrippa said to Festus, "I also would like to hear the man myself." "Tomorrow," he said, "you shall hear him."

23So the next day, when Agrippa and Bernice had come with great pomp, and had entered the auditorium with the commanders and the prominent men of the city, at Festus' command Paul was brought in.

24And Festus said: "King Agrippa and all the men who are here present with us, you see this man about whom the whole assembly of the Jews petitioned me, both at Jerusalem and here, crying out that he was not fit to live any longer.

25"But when I found that he had committed nothing deserving of death, and that he himself had appealed to Augustus, I decided to send him.

26"I have nothing certain to write to my lord concerning him. Therefore I have brought him out before you, and especially before you, King Agrippa, so that after the examination has taken place I may have something to write.

27“For it seems to me unreasonable to send a prisoner and not to specify the charges against him.”

Acts 26

Paul’s Early Life

1Then Agrippa said to Paul, “You are permitted to speak for yourself.” So Paul stretched out his hand and answered for himself:
2“I think myself happy, King Agrippa, because today I shall answer for myself before you concerning all the things of which I am accused by the Jews,
3“especially because you are expert in all customs and questions which have to do with the Jews. Therefore I beg you to hear me patiently.
4“My manner of life from my youth, which was spent from the beginning among my own nation at Jerusalem, all the Jews know.
5“They knew me from the first, if they were willing to testify, that according to the strictest sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee.
6“And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made by God to our fathers.
7“To this promise our twelve tribes, earnestly serving God night and day, hope to attain. For this hope’s sake, King Agrippa, I am accused by the Jews.
8“Why should it be thought incredible by you that God raises the dead?
9“Indeed, I myself thought I must do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth.
10“This I also did in Jerusalem, and many of the saints I shut up in prison, having received authority from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I cast my vote against them.
11“And I punished them often in every synagogue and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly enraged against them, I persecuted them even to foreign cities.

Paul Recounts His Conversion

(Acts 9:1–19; 22:6–16)

12“While thus occupied, as I journeyed to Damascus with authority and commission from the chief priests, 13“at midday, O king, along the road I saw a light from heaven, brighter than the sun, shining around me and those who journeyed with me.

14“And when we all had fallen to the ground, I heard a voice speaking to me and saying in the Hebrew language, ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me? It is hard for you to kick against the goads.’
15“So I said, ‘Who are You, Lord?’ And He said, ‘I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting.
16‘But rise and stand on your feet; for I have appeared to you for this purpose, to make you a minister and a witness both of the things which you have seen and of the things which I will yet reveal to you.
17‘I will deliver you from the Jewish people, as well as from the Gentiles, to whom I now[a] send you, 18‘to open their eyes, in order to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins and an inheritance among those who are sanctified by faith in Me.’

Paul’s Post-Conversion Life

19“Therefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision, 20“but declared first to those in Damascus and in Jerusalem, and throughout all the region of Judea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent, turn to God, and do works befitting repentance.
21“For these reasons the Jews seized me in the temple and tried to kill me.
22“Therefore, having obtained help from God, to this day I stand, witnessing both to small and great, saying no other things than those which the prophets and Moses said would come—23“that the Christ would suffer, that He would be the first to rise from the dead, and would proclaim light to the Jewish people and to the Gentiles.”

Agrippa Parries Paul’s Challenge

24Now as he thus made his defense, Festus said with a loud voice, “Paul, you are beside yourself! Much learning is driving you mad!” 25But he said, “I am not mad, most noble Festus, but speak the words of truth and reason.
26“For the king, before whom I also speak freely, knows these things; for I am convinced that none of these things escapes his attention, since this thing was not done in a corner.
27“King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know that you do believe."

[28]Then Agrippa said to Paul, "You almost persuade me to become a Christian."

[29]And Paul said, "I would to God that not only you, but also all who hear me today, might become both almost and altogether such as I am, except for these chains."

[30]When he had said these things, the king stood up, as well as the governor and Bernice and those who sat with them;

[31]and when they had gone aside, they talked among themselves, saying, "This man is doing nothing deserving of death or chains."

[32]Then Agrippa said to Festus, "This man might have been set free if he had not appealed to Caesar."

Acts 27

The Voyage to Rome Begins

[1]And when it was decided that we should sail to Italy, they delivered Paul and some other prisoners to one named Julius, a centurion of the Augustan Regiment.

[2]So, entering a ship of Adramyttium, we put to sea, meaning to sail along the coasts of Asia. Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica, was with us.

[3]And the next day we landed at Sidon. And Julius treated Paul kindly and gave him liberty to go to his friends and receive care.

[4]When we had put to sea from there, we sailed under the shelter of Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.

[5]And when we had sailed over the sea which is off Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra, a city of Lycia.

[6]There the centurion found an Alexandrian ship sailing to Italy, and he put us on board.

[7]When we had sailed slowly many days, and arrived with difficulty off Cnidus, the wind not permitting us to proceed, we sailed under the shelter of Crete off Salmone.

[8]Passing it with difficulty, we came to a place called Fair Havens, near the city of Lasea.

Paul's Warning Ignored

[9]Now when much time had been spent, and sailing was now dangerous because the Fast was already over, Paul advised them,

[10]saying, “Men, I perceive that this voyage will end with disaster and much loss, not only of the cargo and ship, but also our lives.”

[11]Nevertheless the centurion was more persuaded by the helmsman and the owner of the ship than by the things spoken by Paul.

[12]And because the harbor was not suitable to winter in, the majority advised to set sail from there also, if by any means they could reach Phoenix, a harbor of Crete opening toward the southwest and northwest, and winter there.

In the Tempest

[13]When the south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their desire, putting out to sea, they sailed close by Crete.

[14]But not long after, a tempestuous head wind arose, called Euroclydon.[a] [15]So when the ship was caught, and could not head into the wind, we let her drive.

[16]And running under the shelter of an island called Clauda,[b] we secured the skiff with difficulty.

[17]When they had taken it on board, they used cables to undergird the ship; and fearing lest they should run aground on the Syrtis[c] Sands, they struck sail and so were driven.

[18]And because we were exceedingly tempest-tossed, the next day they lightened the ship.

[19]On the third day we threw the ship’s tackle overboard with our own hands.

[20]Now when neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and no small tempest beat on us, all hope that we would be saved was finally given up.

[21]But after long abstinence from food, then Paul stood in the midst of them and said, “Men, you should have listened to me, and not have sailed from Crete and incurred this disaster and loss.

[22]“And now I urge you to take heart, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship.

[23]“For there stood by me this night an angel of the God to whom I belong and whom I serve,

[24]“saying, ‘Do not be afraid, Paul; you must be brought before Caesar; and indeed God has granted you all those who sail with you.’

25“Therefore take heart, men, for I believe God that it will be just as it was told me.
26“However, we must run aground on a certain island.”
27Now when the fourteenth night had come, as we were driven up and down in the Adriatic Sea, about midnight the sailors sensed that they were drawing near some land.
28And they took soundings and found it to be twenty fathoms; and when they had gone a little farther, they took soundings again and found it to be fifteen fathoms.
29Then, fearing lest we should run aground on the rocks, they dropped four anchors from the stern, and prayed for day to come.
30And as the sailors were seeking to escape from the ship, when they had let down the skiff into the sea, under pretense of putting out anchors from the prow, 31Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, “Unless these men stay in the ship, you cannot be saved.”
32Then the soldiers cut away the ropes of the skiff and let it fall off.
33And as day was about to dawn, Paul implored them all to take food, saying, “Today is the fourteenth day you have waited and continued without food, and eaten nothing.
34“Therefore I urge you to take nourishment, for this is for your survival, since not a hair will fall from the head of any of you.”
35And when he had said these things, he took bread and gave thanks to God in the presence of them all; and when he had broken it he began to eat.
36Then they were all encouraged, and also took food themselves.
37And in all we were two hundred and seventy-six persons on the ship.
38So when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship and threw out the wheat into the sea.

Shipwrecked on Malta

39When it was day, they did not recognize the land; but they observed a bay with a beach, onto which they planned to run the ship if possible.
40And they let go the anchors and left them in the sea, meanwhile loosing the rudder ropes; and they hoisted the mainsail to the wind and made for shore.
41But striking a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground; and the prow stuck fast and remained immovable, but the stern was being broken up by the violence of the waves.

[42]And the soldiers' plan was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim away and escape.

[43]But the centurion, wanting to save Paul, kept them from their purpose, and commanded that those who could swim should jump overboard first and get to land, [44]and the rest, some on boards and some on parts of the ship. And so it was that they all escaped safely to land.

Acts 28

Paul's Ministry on Malta

1 Now when they had escaped, they then found out that the island was called Malta.
2 And the natives showed us unusual kindness; for they kindled a fire and made us all welcome, because of the rain that was falling and because of the cold.
3 But when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks and laid them on the fire, a viper came out because of the heat, and fastened on his hand.
4 So when the natives saw the creature hanging from his hand, they said to one another, "No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he has escaped the sea, yet justice does not allow to live."
5 But he shook off the creature into the fire and suffered no harm.
6 However, they were expecting that he would swell up or suddenly fall down dead. But after they had looked for a long time and saw no harm come to him, they changed their minds and said that he was a god.
7 In that region there was an estate of the leading citizen of the island, whose name was Publius, who received us and entertained us courteously for three days.
8 And it happened that the father of Publius lay sick of a fever and dysentery. Paul went in to him and prayed, and he laid his hands on him and healed him.
9 So when this was done, the rest of those on the island who had diseases also came and were healed.
10 They also honored us in many ways; and when we departed, they provided such things as were necessary.

Arrival at Rome

11 After three months we sailed in an Alexandrian ship whose figurehead was the Twin Brothers, which had wintered at the island.
12 And landing at Syracuse, we stayed three days.
13 From there we circled round and reached Rhegium. And after one day the south wind blew; and the next day we came to Puteoli, 14 where we found brethren, and were invited to stay with them seven days.

And so we went toward Rome.

15 And from there, when the brethren heard about us, they came to meet us as far as Appii Forum and Three Inns. When Paul saw them, he thanked God and took courage.

16 Now when we came to Rome, the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the guard; but Paul was permitted to dwell by himself with the soldier who guarded him.

Paul's Ministry at Rome

17 And it came to pass after three days that Paul called the leaders of the Jews together. So when they had come together, he said to them: "Men and brethren, though I have done nothing against our people or the customs of our fathers, yet I was delivered as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans, 18 "who, when they had examined me, wanted to let me go, because there was no cause for putting me to death.

19 "But when the Jews[a] spoke against it, I was compelled to appeal to Caesar, not that I had anything of which to accuse my nation.

20 "For this reason therefore I have called for you, to see you and speak with you, because for the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain."

21 Then they said to him, "We neither received letters from Judea concerning you, nor have any of the brethren who came reported or spoken any evil of you.

22 "But we desire to hear from you what you think; for concerning this sect, we know that it is spoken against everywhere."

23 So when they had appointed him a day, many came to him at his lodging, to whom he explained and solemnly testified of the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus from both the Law of Moses and the Prophets, from morning till evening.

24 And some were persuaded by the things which were spoken, and some disbelieved.

25 So when they did not agree among themselves, they departed after Paul had said one word: "The Holy Spirit spoke rightly through Isaiah the prophet to our[b] fathers,

26 "saying,

> 'Go to this people and say:

“Hearing you will hear, and shall not understand;
And seeing you will see, and not perceive;
27 For the hearts of this people have grown dull.
Their ears are hard of hearing,
And their eyes they have closed,
Lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears,
Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,
So that I should heal them.” ’[c]

28 “Therefore let it be known to you that the salvation of God has been sent to the Gentiles, and they will hear it!”

29 And when he had said these words, the Jews departed and had a great dispute among themselves.[d]

30 Then Paul dwelt two whole years in his own rented house, and received all who came to him, 31 preaching the kingdom of God and teaching the things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ with all confidence, no one forbidding him.

Annotations for Acts

1:1 The former account is the Gospel of Luke (see Lk 1:3). The Gospel covers over 30 years of Christ's earthly life; Acts covers over 30 years of early Church life. Theophilus: See note at Lk 1:3.

📖 1:1–8 This passage is read on Holy Pascha (Easter).

📖 1:1–12 This passage is read on the Feast of the Ascension of the Lord.

1:2 During the Last Supper, Jesus promised to teach His disciples through the Holy Spirit (Jn 16:13). After His Resurrection, His promise is fulfilled.

1:3 Forty is a number indicating completion or fulfillment.

1:4 The Promise of the Father is the gift of the Holy Spirit (v. 5), which the Jews had been expecting to accompany the messianic age (see Joel 3:1).

1:6 That the disciples are still fixated on the establishment of an earthly kingdom shows that the Holy Spirit has not yet been given, for only after Pentecost do the disciples receive the full understanding of the Kingdom of God. Here, the disciples are asking the wrong question, for Christ will not restore the kingdom to Israel, but will rather restore Israel and the world to the Kingdom.

1:9–11 Christ's Ascension is His enthronement in the fullness of divine authority and glory. Icons of the Ascension represent Christ in such a way that one cannot tell whether He is going to heaven or coming again to earth. This captures the profound truth that we are already living under His reign while awaiting His return. Thus, the icon shows Christ being taken up (v. 11), coming again in like manner (v. 11), and yet continually present (Mt 28:20). Believers are not to stand idly gazing up into heaven, but rather are called to virtuous faith and action in this world until Christ's return.

1:12 A Sabbath day's journey is the distance the Jews could travel without breaking the Sabbath rest —something under a mile.

1:16 Because the apostles had been enlightened by Christ to understand the OT as pointing to Him and His works (Lk 24:27), Peter now sees these two prophetic psalms (v. 20) as foretelling the fate of Judas.

1:18 See Mt 27:3–5. Though the accounts may seem to differ, Luke's report here is merely a more detailed account of Judas' end. This should also be understood in a spiritual sense, that the heart and soul of the rebellious or faithless person will be spilled out in the final judgment.

1:20 The Greek word episkope, here rendered office, is literally "bishopric" and refers to the apostolic position of overseer. Thus, we learn the apostles were the first bishops of the Church. The authority of overseeing the life of the Church continues in the bishops who stand in their succession.

1:26 Casting lots to discern the will of God has been practiced since ancient times (Jos 18:6–10; Neh 11:1; Jon 1:7) and continues in various places in the Church to this day. This should not be misunderstood as surrendering all authority to random chance. The authority of the apostles is shown by their offering of specific names (v. 23). Nevertheless, the final outcome is left to God.

2:1 The Day of Pentecost, also called the Feast of Weeks in the OT (see Lv 23:16), comes 50 days after Passover and is a celebration of the first fruits of harvest. As Jesus was crucified at Passover, the events of ch. 2 occur 50 days after His death. On the first Christian Pentecost, the unity of assembling with one accord (or purpose) in one place provides the environment in which the Holy Spirit comes to dwell in us.

📖 2:1–11 This passage is read on the Feast of Pentecost (Trinity) Sunday, the seventh Sunday after Pascha (Easter).

2:3 The Holy Spirit coming in the appearance of divided tongues, as of fire fulfills the prophecy of John the Baptist that Christ would "baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire" (Lk 3:16). This fire is a manifestation of the uncreated energy of God. Because God is wholly uncreated, His power or energy is also uncreated.

2:4–8 This is a fulfillment of the prophecy of Joel 3:1 and a divine reversal or recapitulation of the events at the Tower of Babel (Gn 11:1–9). In the account of Babel, pride was shown to possess the awesome power to divide; here, the humble reception of the Holy Spirit is shown to have the overwhelming power to unite, even in diversity. A key lesson of Pentecost is that the people hear the gospel in their own language.

2:14–40 Peter's sermon focuses on two prophetic themes: (1) the promised coming of the Holy Spirit (vv. 14–21); and (2) the Resurrection of Christ (vv. 22–40). This pattern of showing the OT prophecy being fulfilled in Christ is the central means by which the apostles preached the gospel (see 8:35). This method of preaching led directly to the multitude's repentance, baptism, and reception of the Holy Spirit (vv. 38, 39).

2:16–21 On Pentecost, the first part of Joel's prophecy (vv. 17–19) was fulfilled with the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. The second part (vv. 19–21) will be fulfilled at the Second Coming of Christ.

2:25–32 See notes at Ps 15.

2:36 The term made refers to Christ's Incarnation and works as a Man, and not to His eternal existence as Lord and God.

2:37 Peter's listeners were cut to the heart because they understood and had been prepared by the OT. Almost half of Peter's message is a quotation of OT scriptures. The evidence that Jesus fulfills these prophecies is overwhelming to them.

2:38, 39 Peter's answer defines Christian life within the Church. We must (1) repent, (2) be baptized, and (3) receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. The baptismal service of the Orthodox Church reflects this way of life. Candidates first repent, confess their sins, and renounce the devil. Second, they are baptized by immersion. Third, they are given the gift of the Holy Spirit through chrismation.

2:42 Central elements of worship that were present from the very beginning continue in the Orthodox Church to this day: apostolic doctrine being taught in the fellowship of a common assembly, the breaking of the eucharistic bread, and specific liturgical prayers. Prayers is literally "the prayers" in Greek, referring to specific liturgical prayers. The Jews had practiced liturgical prayer for centuries, the preeminent prayers being the Psalms. Because the Psalms point so clearly to Christ, Christians immediately incorporated them into NT worship.

2:44, 45 Having all things in common was practiced as a necessity, for many of the new converts were far from home. While such communal living is not a mandate for all Christians, it is still practiced in various monasteries. Furthermore, it continually reminds us that all things belong to God and are for the benefit of all mankind.

Chrismation

From earliest times the Church has practiced chrismation immediately following baptism. In the sacrament of chrismation (Gr. chrismatis, "anointing") the newly baptized person receives the Holy Spirit through anointing with oil by the bishop or priest. The roots of this sacrament are clear in both the Old and New Testaments and are especially brought to light on the Day of Pentecost.

Promises of the Holy Spirit from the Old Testament. In his sermon on Pentecost, St. Peter quotes the well-known prophecy of Joel, "I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh" (2:17; see Joel 3:1). This promise was significant because under the old covenant, the gift of the Spirit had been given only to a few—the patriarchs, the prophets, and some of the judges. Certain leaders of Israel were indwelt with the Holy Spirit to accomplish their tasks. Joel, however, prophesied that the Holy Spirit would be given to all God's people, "all flesh." This was fulfilled at Pentecost, for Peter exclaims, "this [outpouring of the Spirit] is what was spoken by the prophet Joel" (2:16).

Other Old Testament prophets who speak of this same promise of the Spirit include Jeremiah (Jer 38:31–34) and Ezekiel (Ezk 36:25–27). In fact, the Ezekiel passage ties together the water and the Spirit in a prophetic vision of baptism and chrismation.

Jesus promises the Holy Spirit. Our Lord Jesus Christ repeatedly promised the gift of the Holy Spirit to His disciples. Early in His public ministry He said, "'If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink. He who believes in Me, as the scripture has said, out of his heart will flow rivers of living water.' But this He spoke concerning the Spirit" (Jn 7:37–39). Jesus also said, "I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper, that He may abide with you forever" (Jn 14:16).

Christ promised the Holy Spirit would reveal truth to the Church. "When He, the Spirit of truth, has come, He will guide you into all truth; for He will not speak on His own authority, but whatever He hears He will speak; and He will tell you things to come. He will glorify Me, for He will take of what is Mine and declare it to you" (Jn 16:13, 14). Jesus says the Holy Spirit will bring glory to Him, Christ. This gives us an excellent means of testing whether or not acts attributed to the Holy Spirit do indeed belong to Him.

The last words of Christ before His Ascension include a promise: "John truly baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit not many days from now" (1:5). This word was fulfilled ten days later on the Day of Pentecost.

How is the Holy Spirit given to us? The people who heard Peter speak at Pentecost asked him how they might receive salvation. He answered, "Repent, and let every one of you be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit" (2:38). We repent (turn from our sins and toward Christ); we are baptized; we are given "the gift of the Holy Spirit," chrismation. That practice has never changed.

In Acts 8, Philip, the deacon and evangelist, preached in Samaria (vv. 5–8). Many believed and were baptized (v. 12). The apostles came and later confirmed these new believers with the gift of the Holy Spirit through the laying on of hands (vv. 14–17). Here is the sacrament of chrismation following Holy Baptism. Later, the apostle Paul met some disciples of John the Baptist who had not been present when Peter spoke at Pentecost (19:1–7). They believed in Christ, "were baptized" (v. 5), and "the Holy Spirit came upon them" (v. 6), again through the hands of an apostle.

The promise of God includes both our union with Christ in Holy Baptism and the gift of the Holy Spirit at chrismation.

3:1 At the hour of prayer, the ninth *hour: The apostles were observing regular Jewish hours of prayer, just as believers had done for centuries (Ps 54:18; Dan 6:11). The practice of praying at the first (6:00 a.m.), third (9:00 a.m.), sixth (12:00 noon), and ninth (3:00 p.m.) hours of the day carried over into the Church from the start. This practice continues to this day in the Orthodox Church in private prayers, in monasteries, and in some parishes. (See also 10:3, 9, 30.)

3:1–10 The apostles participate not only in preaching and teaching but in healing as well. The sacrament of healing manifests God's presence in the Church and confirms the message of the gospel.

3:6 In the name: See note at Jn 14:13, 14.

3:11 Solomon's porch is in the temple area.

3:12–26 Peter's sermon clarifies several key truths concerning Jesus: (1) He reveals the identity of Jesus, by whose power the lame man was healed. He is God's Suffering Servant (v. 13), the Holy One (v. 14) of God, the Prince of life (v. 15), the Christ foretold by the prophets (v. 18). (2) As prophesied, Christ was rejected, for the leaders had Him killed (v. 15). But God raised Him, and the apostles are witnesses to that Resurrection (v. 15). (3) The rejection of Christ shows profound ignorance of God's saving activity (vv. 18–20). (4) The only saving response the people can make is to repent and be converted (v. 19), which is a thorough change of mind and heart. (5) The rewards of conversion include forgiveness of sins, renewal, and confidence in the glorious Second Coming of Christ (vv. 19–26).

3:26 Repentance always bring blessings from the Lord. Some fear turning away from sin makes life hard to bear. Instead, through repentance, life that was merely existence is transformed into real living—that is, living in faith, love, joy, and confident hope.

4:1, 2 Sadducees: See 23:8.

4:12 The name of Christ is not simply a verbal pronunciation, but indicates His will, His life, His person, His very presence. Salvation in the name of Christ indicates salvation in His eternal being. As Christ is the one and only Son of God, salvation can only be found in Him.

4:13 Uneducated and untrained refers specifically to religious education. This lack of religious training stands in contrast to the expertise of the Sanhedrin. The wisdom and power of the Holy Spirit transcend earthly religious training, for God works in the humble and simple as well as in those who are formally educated or influential.

4:16 The admission of a notable miracle without a faithful response illustrates the hardness of the human heart where there is no repentance.

4:19 While God commands our obedience to governing authorities (Lk 20:25; Rom 13:1–7), obedience to God comes first. When the two are in conflict, the believer must follow God and be willing to accept the consequences.

4:24–30 This prayer follows a traditional liturgical formula of praise, remembrance of God's works, and petition. Note that signs and wonders (v. 30) are requested, not as ends in themselves, but in order to give boldness to the preachers and to confirm the word they speak (v. 29).

4:31 While the Holy Spirit continually abides in the Church, His presence is experienced again and again in liturgical assemblies and in recurring pentecostal outpourings. Note how quickly the petition of the apostles (vv. 29, 30) was answered.

4:32–37 See note at 2:44, 45. The mandate for the Church is not communal living per se, but to be willing to do what is necessary for the good of the community. Barnabas (v. 36) is highlighted as an example of Christian generosity.

5:1–5 Ananias and Sapphira are accountable for allowing Satan to fill their hearts with lies, and for breaking the trust and integrity of the Church. Their sin is not only keeping back possessions but deception (v. 4). Lying to the Church is equal to lying to the Holy Spirit (v. 3), the Spirit of truth.

5:15 The power of God rests in His Church. While many people had great faith, Peter is given a particular grace to heal in order to draw people to the unity of the Church (see also Jn 14:12). Furthermore, this passage reveals how God works through physical creation, for even light and shadow are given divine power. See note at 19:11–19.

5:19–21 Signs and wonders are given by God, not as ends in themselves, but to encourage and strengthen the apostles to preach the gospel (see 4:24–31).

5:29 See note at 4:19.

5:30 Christ's Cross is often referred to as a tree, both because it is made of wood and because trees were often used to crucify criminals. There is also a deeper meaning in this term, for just as a living tree brought death to mankind through Adam (Gn 2:17), now a dead tree brings life to mankind through Jesus. See also Dt 21:23; Gal 3:13.

5:34 Gamaliel was a famous rabbi under whom Paul studied (22:3).

5:36, 37 Theudas and Judas of Galilee were two of many who made false messianic claims. They raised the sword of rebellion against Rome and were crushed, as reported by the Jewish historian Josephus.

5:41 Rejoicing: See Lk 6:22, 23. Suffering is not necessarily a sign of God's displeasure, as thought by many Jews (see Lk 13:1–4; Jn 9:1–3). Rather, Christians accept persecution joyfully, knowing that the rewards of the Kingdom far outweigh any sufferings on earth. See also Rom 5:3–5.

6:1 The Hebrews here are Jewish Christians in Jerusalem who spoke Aramaic. The Hellenists were Greek-speaking Jewish Christians from other parts of the Hellenized world who had settled back in Jerusalem. St. John Chrysostom notes that this complaint shows a lack of order among the multitude of believers, even though the neglect was not malicious. Thus, the difficulties facing the Church arose not only from outside, but also by dissension from within.

📖 6:1–7 This passage is read on the third Sunday of Pascha, which commemorates the Myrrhbearing Women, Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus.

6:2–4 The term disciples in Acts generally refers to all believers, and not only to the twelve apostles. While the ministries of the word and of serving widows are both important, they cannot be performed by the same people and still receive the proper attention. Thus, the Church develops diversified ministries. In the Orthodox Church to this day, the bishops and presbyters are called to focus on prayer and the ministry of the word, with the other ministries being accomplished by the deacons and the laity. Note that the servants to be chosen must not only be spiritual, but full of the wisdom necessary to manage the business they are called to do (v. 3).

6:5, 6 While the multitude submitted the names of the seven deacons (v. 5), the apostles were the ones to ordain them (v. 6). Thus, the synergy between laity and clergy is demonstrated in the selection of Church leaders. It should be noted that there is disagreement among the Fathers as to whether these men held the liturgical office of deacon, or whether this diaconate was more service-oriented. In either understanding, they nevertheless received this office by ordination.

6:7 The number of disciples multiplied greatly: This growth only happens when three great pillars of church life are fully in place. These pillars are (1) worship (v. 4), (2) evangelism (v. 4), and (3) charity (v. 3). Furthermore, this growth happens after the external and internal struggles have been addressed. The priests here were Christian converts who had been Jewish priests; they had not necessarily been ordained to the priestly ministry within the Christian Church after their conversion.

6:9 Freedmen were Jews who had been formerly held captive under the Romans, often because of rebellion.

6:11 This charge is brought against Stephen because in Christ, the liturgy and Law of the OT are fulfilled, and are thus changed and transformed (Heb 7:12). To those who do not believe in Christ, these changes are blasphemous.

6:14 The charge that Jesus would destroy the temple was leveled against Him at His trial (Mt 26:61) by false witnesses. This was a misinterpretation of two of His sayings: (1) "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up" (Jn 2:19)—referring to His own body; and (2) His prophecy of the destruction of the temple (Lk 21:6, 20). This prophecy was fulfilled in AD 70, when the Romans destroyed the temple as punishment for a Jewish rebellion.

6:15 Those who become one with Christ receive this divine radiance revealed in Stephen's face. This is a preview of the glory all believers will share in the age to come (2Co 3:18). See also Ex 34:29–35.

Ordination

Sacraments (or mysteries) are holy actions of the Church by which spiritual life is imparted to those receiving them. Ordination, which means "setting in place" or "selection by the outstretched hand," is one of several Orthodox sacraments. It is extended specifically to bishops, presbyters (priests), and deacons, and generally to all through Holy Baptism.

1. Bishops. Christ in His ministry ordained or "set in place" the Twelve, assuring them, "You did not choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain" (Jn 15:16).

Both the New Testament and the church fathers recognize the Twelve as the first bishops or overseers in the Church. When Judas had fallen away and the disciples were considering his successor, Peter said, "Let another take his office" (Gr. episkopen, lit., "bishopric"; Acts 1:20). This bishopric was given to Matthias (Acts 1:25).

The apostles—these first bishops—in turn ordained presbyters and deacons.

2. Deacons. The account of the first ordination of deacons (Acts 6:1–6) is quite detailed. "Seek out from among you seven men of good reputation, full of the Holy Spirit and wisdom," the apostles said, "whom we may appoint [Gr. kathistemi, "to set down or ordain"] over this business" (Acts 6:3). The manner of this appointment is clear: "they laid hands on them" (Acts 6:6). The ordination of deacons in the Orthodox Church takes place in this same manner today, through the laying on of hands by the bishop.
3. Presbyters. The first account of the ordination of elders or presbyters is in Acts 14:23. The apostles Paul and Barnabas "appointed [lit., "elected by stretching forth the hand"] elders in every church, and prayed with fasting," then "commended them to the Lord in whom they had believed." Similarly, Paul reminds his apostolic apprentice, Titus, "For this reason I left you in Crete, that you should set in order the things that are lacking, and appoint [set in place, ordain] elders in every city as I commanded you" (Tts 1:5).

The Titus passage brings to mind the first prayer the bishop prays over one being ordained to the Orthodox priesthood: "The grace divine, which always heals that which is weak and completes that which is lacking, elevates through the laying on of my hands this most devout deacon to be priest."

The bishop continues to ask God to "fill with the gift of the Holy Spirit this man . . . that he may be worthy to stand in innocence before Your holy altar, to proclaim the Gospel of Your Kingdom, to minister the word of Your truth, to offer You spiritual gifts and sacrifices, to renew Your people through the laver of regeneration."

A dramatic moment in the service of ordination comes when the candidate is led around the altar three times, kissing or venerating the four corners of the altar each time. This symbolizes his marriage to Christ, his death with Christ, and his willingness to serve the Church sacrificially after the example of his Master.

Ordination is seen as an eternal appointment, "for the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable" (Rom 11:29). It is in this spirit that during each Divine Liturgy the priest prays for his bishop that "the Lord God remember him in His Kingdom always, now and ever, and unto ages of ages."

Through the sacrament of ordination in His Church, Christ entrusts to the shepherd the very salvation of His people's souls.

7:1 Stephen does not answer the high priest directly, but uses the charges as the context for his preaching. As with Peter's sermon on Pentecost (2:14–40), Stephen preaches Jesus Christ based on the OT, showing how the Jews consistently missed the purpose of God's dealings with them due to their hardness of heart (v. 51).

7:6 Foreign land: Egypt (See Ex 1–12).

7:8 Circumcision identified each male as being adopted into the community of Israel, and as being a true descendant of Abraham.

7:19 Pharaoh's order to destroy the Hebrew babies (Ex 1:22) prefigured Herod's attempt to kill Christ by destroying all the infants in Bethlehem (Mt 2:16). As Moses was preserved from death in order to deliver Israel from bondage, so also Christ was preserved in order to save the world through His Passion and Resurrection.

7:30 This Angel of the Lord is the Son of God Himself, before He became Man. Angel means "messenger" and is a term used for the pre-eternal Christ as the Word of God, the One who speaks to the people (see Is 9:6). Note that this Angel speaks with the voice of the Lord (v. 31) and declares Himself to be God (v. 32).

7:33 The place of God's revelation is holy ground, for God's presence makes creation to be holy. Church buildings are included in this sanctified space because God's revelation comes to the faithful there, and God's presence is experienced through the sacraments there.

7:38 The congregation of Israel under the Old Covenant was a type or picture of the New Covenant Church. Just as the Israelite congregation journeyed with the Angel, now the Church journeys toward the Kingdom in the presence of Christ.

7:47–50 The Most High does not dwell in temples made with hands: This does not mean that God was not present in the temple. Rather, it indicates that God's presence is not limited to a specific temple, but dwells in every soul that receives Him.

7:51 Israel resisted the Holy Spirit by neither accepting God's plan for them nor receiving His correction through the prophets. The contemporary Jewish leaders continued to resist the Holy Spirit in their opposition to Jesus and to His disciples.

7:55–58 Stephen's vision of the enthroned Christ is seen by his opponents as the ultimate blasphemy, which carried the penalty of stoning (Lv 24:16). Saul, a participant in Stephen's martyrdom, was a great persecutor of the early Christians. He would later be called by Christ to be His apostle and would become the great Christian missionary, Paul of Tarsus (see 9:1–22).

7:59, 60 In imitation of his Savior (Lk 23:34), Stephen offers his soul to God and prays for the forgiveness of his enemies.

8:1 In the Liturgy of St. Basil, we proclaim God as one who "makes the evil to be good." In other words, God uses the sins of man for good and holy results. Here, the scattering of the disciples during this persecution led to the spread of the gospel to other areas. St. Stephen is sometimes called the Protomartyr (or "first martyr"), as he is the first believer to be killed in the name of Christ.

8:5–13 Philip the deacon (6:5) is the first to evangelize Samaria with the gospel of Jesus Christ, bringing both teachings and healings. The eager reception by the people (v. 12) is due in part to the foundation laid by St. Photini, the Samaritan woman of Jn 4, who brought news of the Messiah before His crucifixion (see Jn 4:39).

8:9 Being a sorcerer and dazzled by Philip's healings, Simon converted for reasons other than faith. He would later try to buy the power to work miracles (vv. 18–24), and according to tradition, he afterwards returned to his magical arts and was a bitter enemy of the Church.

8:14 The unity of the Church is shown by new communities being under the authority of and in communion with the church of Jerusalem. In the Church to this day, all communities in a given area are united under the authority of a local bishop, who is in communion with all the other bishops of the Orthodox Church.

8:16, 17 Baptism and chrismation (lit. "anointing for the reception of the Holy Spirit") were considered two distinct sacraments from the beginning. The phrase baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus should not be understood to mean that the Trinity was not mentioned at the time of baptism. "Do not imagine that because the names of the Father and the Holy Spirit are sometimes omitted when the Apostle speaks of baptism that the invocation of their names has been omitted" (BasilG). Sometimes the Bible speaks of baptism in the Holy Spirit and sometimes of baptism in Christ to emphasize certain points. Always "we are baptized in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit" (BasilG; see Mt 28:19). Specific reference to baptism in Jesus Christ was not intended to neglect the Trinity, but to distinguish Christian baptism from John's baptism of repentance (see 19:1–5).

8:22–24 Faith must be accompanied by a total change of life or it is worthless. Simon believed on a certain level (v. 13), but he was not justified, because he was poisoned by bitterness and bound by iniquity.

8:27 Eunuchs were men who were castrated, whether by birth defect, disease, or mutilation, and were often employed to guard women of nobility. This eunuch had a thorough knowledge of Judaism and was likely a Jewish proselyte (convert).

8:29 Only those who are mature in faith can hear and discern the promptings of the Spirit (JohnChr). Those of lesser faith are prompted more directly by words and angels.

8:30, 31 Because the Scriptures have a specific, God-given meaning (2Pt 1:20, 21), it is impossible to truly understand them apart from the Church, for apostolic interpretation is held in the consciousness of the Church.

8:32, 33 This passage from Isaiah is prayed by the presbyter as he prepares the bread for the Divine Liturgy.

8:35 Again, the OT is the foundation for proclaiming the gospel of Jesus Christ (see 2:14–40; 7:1–53). Such is the power of the OT that if anyone "would apply himself to the study of the prophets, he would need no miracles" (JohnChr).

8:36–39 From the beginning, baptism in water (v. 36) and faith in Christ (v. 37) are both essential for entrance into the NT Church. The apostolic pattern of conversion in Christ is hearing, believing, and baptism.

9:1, 2 Saul persecutes Christians under the legal structure of Judaism; as such, he is charged to arrest Jewish Christians, but has no authority over Gentile Christians. Christianity became known as the Way based on Christ calling Himself "the way" (Jn 14:6), and on the fact that following Christ is not simply a momentary decision or the observance of outward religious practices, but a whole way of life.

9:4 To persecute either Christians individually or the Church generally is to persecute Christ Himself, for they cannot be separated (see Mt 25:40; Eph 5:23, 30).

9:5 Goads are spikes used to prod farm animals. The term is sometimes used as a metaphor for the wisdom or promptings of God (Ecc 12:11, "pointed sticks"). Here Christ is declaring the futility of fighting against divine truth.

9:8 Saul's blindness illustrates Christ's teachings on spiritual blindness (Jn 9:39). As long as Saul saw things from his own perspective, he was spiritually blind. Only by having his earthly vision taken away does Saul become capable of truly seeing Christ in glory and truth. This action also drives Saul to submit to the Church for baptism.

9:11 The Orthodox Church of Antioch continues an unbroken succession to this early Damascus Church and to this day is headquartered on the street called Straight.

9:13 Ananias was likely one of Saul's targets for arrest in Damascus. He served as first bishop of that city.

9:15 That Saul was God's chosen vessel does not mean that he had no free will in the matter. Rather, it indicates that God had selected Saul, knowing that he would freely accept and be capable of doing the work set before him.

9:18 Note that even though Saul had a direct revelation of Christ and believed in Him, he still submitted to baptism in the Church. The scales falling from Saul's eyes illustrate that those under the Law remain ultimately blind until they encounter and receive Jesus Christ.

9:23–25 The former persecutor is now persecuted (see also 5:41).

9:29 These Hellenists were not Christians, but Greek-speaking Jews who rejected Christ (contrast 6:1).

9:31 This is the first mention in the Book of Acts of churches in the plural, showing that the Church is not invisible, but consists of visible local communities united in faith, doctrine, worship, and authority.

9:32 The term saints refers to all Christian believers, for all who believe in Jesus Christ with their whole heart and are sanctified by the Holy Spirit are by definition saints. The later use of the term saints for holy people who lived particularly exemplary lives and who are canonized (or glorified) by the Church does not undo this primary meaning. Lydda is about 25 miles northwest of Jerusalem.

🕮 9:32–42 This passage is read on the fourth Sunday of Pascha, called the Sunday of the Paralytic.

9:34 Peter brings Christ's healing to a paralytic in a manner similar to Jesus healing the paralytic in Jn 5:1–15. The healing power of Jesus the Christ continues in His Church to this day.

9:35 Sharon was a region north of Lydda along the Mediterranean seacoast. The signs the apostles worked convinced many people who turned to the Lord. These signs prove the mercy and power of God, thus confirming the gospel and leading people to repentance.

9:40 Peter's raising of Tabitha from the dead parallels Christ's raising of the synagogue ruler's daughter (Mt 9:22–25).

10:1 With this chapter, a whole new period in church history begins. Initially composed of Jews and then Samaritans (8:5–25), with the conversion of Cornelius the Church begins its dramatic growth among the Gentiles.

10:2 "Fearer of God" was a formal designation for a Gentile who followed precepts of the Jewish religion but had not yet become a proselyte, or full convert. Two things characterized the devotion of Cornelius: he gave alms generously and he prayed. His devotion did not make Him a Christian, but His prayers and alms were accepted by God (v. 4) and prepared him for conversion to Jesus Christ at the preaching of Peter. Even good people need Christ!

10:3 The ninth hour is 3:00 p.m., one of the traditional hours for liturgical prayer for both Jews and early Christians. These hours of liturgical prayer were prayed by both the Jewish Christians (e.g., Peter in v. 9) and Gentile Christians (e.g., Cornelius here). This practice continues in the Orthodox Church today (see 3:1 and note).

10:7 Cornelius's obedience to God shows the true state of his heart, for it is those who not only hear but also do the will of God that are the true believers (Mt 7:21; Rom 2:13; Jam 1:22).

10:9 The sixth hour is 12:00 noon, a traditional hour of liturgical prayer. See note at v. 3.

10:14, 15 Peter's resistance shows the difficulty with which the Jews let go of the Law. God's commandment here is first a declaration that the Old Covenant dietary laws are fulfilled and thus no longer in effect (see Mk 7:19). More importantly, this vision revealed that the Gentiles, who were considered unclean by the Jews, are cleansed by the blood of Christ and are equal partakers of the Kingdom (see v. 28). This vision thus prepared Peter to receive Cornelius (vv. 17–48). Finally, this also teaches us that God desires to receive everyone into His Church, regardless of heritage, social class, or past sins, for all are one in Christ.

10:28 See note at 10:14, 15.

10:30 The ninth hour: See note at v. 3. A man . . . in bright clothing signifies an angel.

10:33 Cornelius and those with him are eager to hear, for "faith comes by hearing" (Rom 10:17), and faithful and devoted people still need to hear the gospel.

10:34–43 Peter's focus is on the saving work and power of Jesus Christ, His death and Resurrection, and how He fulfilled the word spoken by the OT prophets (v. 43).

10:35 Justification is not merely a one-time event, but a dynamic, ongoing process. In addition to faith, two conditions are given here: God accepts whoever fears Him and works righteousness. This does not deny justification by faith, but demonstrates clearly that justification is not by faith alone (Jam 2:24).

10:38 It was in His humanity that Jesus was anointed by the Holy Spirit, for Christ possessed the Holy Spirit from all eternity before the Incarnation. Note also the core faith in the Trinity: God the Father, together with His Son Jesus and the Holy Spirit, are co-operational in the salvation of mankind.

10:44 The giving of the Holy Spirit prior to baptism is something the Church had not seen before (v. 45). This unusual occurrence is a sign that God has accepted the Gentiles, and that baptism is not to be denied them.

10:48 To be baptized is of monumental importance. Even after the household of Cornelius had believed and received the Holy Spirit, baptism was still essential. The Book of Acts clearly teaches the crucial importance of the great sacraments—baptism (see also 2:38, 41; 8:12, 36–38; 9:18; 16:15, 33; 18:8; 19:5; 22:16); chrismation, or the sacramental reception of the Holy Spirit (2:38; 8:17; 9:17; 19:6); the Eucharist (2:42, 46; 20:7; 27:35); and ordination (6:6; 13:3; 14:23).

11:2 Those of the circumcision were Jewish Christians who insisted that circumcision and the rest of the OT Law must continue to be observed even by Christians in order to receive salvation (see 15:1; Gal 2:12). These Jewish Christians also advocated separation from Gentiles.

11:13 Call for Simon: The need to be received into the apostolic Church is indisputable. Even those who have direct revelations of Christ in the Holy Spirit are invariably directed to the apostolic Church (see also 9:6–18; 11:22). For it is in the Church that the unity and fullness of Christ are experienced, and the words of salvation (v. 14) are proclaimed without alteration.

11:17–19 The evangelization of the Gentiles brought a significant amount of conflict to the early Church. Even though Christ had commanded the apostles to preach the gospel universally (1:8), it took a while for this to be put into practice. Much debate would come over what requirements from the OT Law, if any, these Gentile Christians would have to follow (see ch. 15).

📖 11:19–30 This passage is read on the fifth Sunday of Pascha, called the Sunday of the Samaritan Woman.

11:20 Hellenists here refers to actual Greeks, not to Hellenistic Jews (contrast 6:1). The Church in Antioch was instrumental in bringing numerous Gentiles to the Lord Jesus.

11:22 Two key truths are revealed in Barnabas being sent out to Antioch: (1) an apostle is sent, but does not work in isolation from the Church (v. 23); and (2) the church in Antioch needed the seal of apostolic authority to be integrated into the universal Church (see note at v. 13).

11:25 In seeking help Barnabas reveals humility, a recognition of his own limitations, and his communion with and dependence on the other apostles.

11:26 Two key elements of early church practice included (1) the eucharistic assembly and (2) the teaching of the gospel. That the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch is more than just historical fact. It demonstrates that Christ's command to preach the gospel among the Gentiles was first fully realized in Antioch. "It was there for the first time that men were accounted worthy of that name" (JohnChr).

11:27 These prophets are Christian believers within the Church who have the gift of prophecy (see 1Co 12:29; 14:3, 29; Eph 4:11).

11:28, 29 This great famine took place in AD 44–51, beginning in Judea and spreading to Greece and Italy. The principle of giving, each according to his ability, is one that continues in the Church to this day.

11:30 The elders (lit., "the bearded ones") are the presbyters, or priests; they are the clergy ordained and put in charge of the local churches by the apostles who established them (see 14:23). As to the orders of the ministry, bishops (the apostles) are first mentioned in 1:20 (see note). Deacons appear in 6:2–6. Here is the first reference to presbyters or priests.

12:1–9 Herod Agrippa is the grandson of Herod the Great, who tried to kill Jesus as an infant (Mt 2:16). Herod Agrippa ruled as king in Palestine under Rome in AD 41–44. The dates of his reign determine the period in which James was killed (v. 2) and Peter was imprisoned (v. 3). James was the first of the twelve apostles to be martyred. This event reveals that by the year AD 44, there was growing popular displeasure against Christians.

12:3 The Days of Unleavened Bread mark the Passover period, and thus the commemoration of the Passion and Resurrection of Christ.

12:5 The power of intercessory prayer by the church on behalf of its leaders is evidenced by Peter's release from prison (v. 10).

12:9–11 Peter's initial confusion (v. 9) and subsequent understanding (v. 11) about his release from prison show that God's works are not always clear to us while they are unfolding. But in hindsight His purpose often becomes clear.

12:12 John whose surname was Mark is St. Mark the Evangelist, who would compose the Gospel of Mark. He would later become a coworker with Paul and Barnabas (v. 25; Col 4:10) and still later with Peter (1Pt 5:13).

12:15 It is his angel shows not only that the early Christians believed in angels, but that each person is assigned one. To this day in the Liturgy of the Orthodox Church, we pray "for an angel of peace, a faithful guide, a guardian of our souls and bodies." (See Mt 18:10.)

12:17 This James is the "brother" of the Lord (Gal 1:19; see also note at Mt 12:46–50), not the apostle of the twelve, for that James had already been martyred (v. 2). By this time, James is bishop of Jerusalem (see 15:13; 21:18). The brethren are the Christians of the Jerusalem Church.

12:21–23 The death of Herod reveals a deeper spiritual meaning: all who seek or accept unworthy praise are taking that which rightly belongs to God alone.

12:24 The enemies of God cannot stop the spread of the word of God.

12:25 See note at v. 12.

13:1 Manaen was raised with Herod Antipas, tetrarch from 4 BC–AD 39, and son of the Herod who slaughtered the infants in Bethlehem (Mt 2:16). Manaen was one of the early Christians with noble family connections.

13:2 Ministered (Gr. leitourgounton) literally means "performed liturgical acts." It is the same root word from which "liturgy" is derived. This phrase would be more accurately translated, "as they performed the liturgy to the Lord and fasted." Liturgical worship did not originate in Antioch. Its roots are in ancient Israel. Saul and Barnabas, who came from Jerusalem, taught the Antiochian Christians—among other things—true worship (11:22–26). Note too that fasting and liturgy are inseparable. It is in the midst of this liturgy that the Holy Spirit speaks. Separate means "to set apart for special service."

13:3 Laid hands on them is a reference to the sacrament of ordination (see note at 10:48). While contemporary Orthodox practice is usually to ordain no more than one person to a specific rank at a given liturgy, here was a case of multiple ordinations. Note that even Saul (Paul), who had a direct call to serve from Jesus Christ (9:1–6; 2Co 12:1–4), still had to experience ordination in the Church.

13:5 The synagogues were the initial places of Christian preaching, for Christianity arose from Judaism, and the Jews had been prepared through the OT for the Christ. John: See note at 12:12.

13:9 This is the first use in Acts of the name Paul for Saul. No particular significance is stated, but it was not the result of his conversion as many have suggested, for he is still called Saul for quite some time after his conversion. Paul is a Roman name, and Saul is a Hebrew name. Many Jews of this time had two names, one Jewish and another Greek or Roman. Paul may have begun to favor his Roman name out of humility (Paul means "little"), or because his ministry was now becoming more focused on the Gentiles. St. John Chrysostom suggests that the name change was the result of ordination (vv. 2, 3), just as Christ gave Simon the new name Peter (Mt 16:17, 18; Jn 1:42).

13:11, 12 The hand of the Lord acts not to inflict punishment for punishment's sake, but to bring repentance and conversion—which proves fruitful in this case of the proconsul. This is the first recorded instance of conversion to Christ of a high Roman official.

13:13 John: See note at 12:12. His departing from them became the cause of great strife with Paul, and also between Paul and Barnabas (15:37–40). But God's work still flourishes.

13:14 Antioch in Pisidia was in Galatia, and should not be confused with Antioch of Syria, from which Paul and Barnabas had just been sent.

13:16 You who fear God: See note at 10:2.

13:17–41 Paul preaches Christ based on His fulfillment of OT events and prophecies (see note at 8:35).

13:23, 24 The heart of Paul's message is: (1) Christ is the promise and therefore the fulfillment of the Jewish faith; (2) Jesus is the seed of David, and thus fulfills his office as the true King of Israel; and (3) Jesus is the One John the Baptist preached.

📖 13:25–32 This passage is read on August 29, the Feast of the Beheading of John the Baptist.

13:26 The family of Abraham refers to the Jews, while those who fear God refer to Gentile believers; thus, salvation is proclaimed to all mankind.

13:27 Paul consistently presses the point that if the OT is properly understood, it is clear Jesus is the Messiah. Even the Jewish leaders' rejection of Jesus fulfilled these prophecies (Ps 2:1, 2; 118:22, 23; Is 53:1–9).

13:38, 39 In addition to Christ's death and Resurrection, two recurring themes in apostolic preaching are (1) the forgiveness of sins (v. 38) and (2) no one is justified by the law of Moses (v. 39).

13:45, 46 Many of the Jews reject the teaching that salvation is for all people, so Paul and Barnabas now turn to the Gentiles. This pattern continues throughout Acts: the gospel is preached first to the Jews, God's chosen people, then to the Gentiles (Rom 1:16).

14:1 Iconium: The capitol of Lycaonia in Asia Minor between Antioch and Lystra. An interesting second-century account tells of a man from Iconium who went to meet St. Paul. Paul had been described to him as being "a small man in size with meeting eyebrows, a rather large nose, bald, bow-legged, but strongly built, full of grace, who at times seemed to have the face of an angel" (from The Acts of Thekla).

14:2 Unbelieving could also be translated "disobedient." It is from the common Greek verb apeitheo, meaning "to disobey."

14:3 See note at 4:24–30.

14:4 See Mt 10:34–36.

14:5 The inner resistance to repentance is so strong that many would rather deny the wonders of God (v. 3) and destroy His messengers than look inward and change.

14:11–13 This unfitting praise by the people was "a contrivance of the devil" (JohnChr), an attempt to lead the people to a new idolatry and to tempt Paul and Barnabas to pride.

14:15–17 While Paul preached Christ to the Jews using the OT (13:17–41), here he presents the Lord to these Gentiles from the perspective of creation (see also 17:22–26). In this way, he uses a starting point most accessible to his hearers.

14:18, 19 The people's immediate change from worshipping these apostles to persecuting them shows a mob mentality, and that a faith based solely on the miraculous (vv. 8–11) is fickle, weak, and easily shattered.

14:20, 21 Leaving town in the face of persecution shows wisdom, not lack of faith (Mt 10:23). The short reference to Derbe does not imply a short stay, for many disciples were made before these apostles departed again.

14:22 Part of the apostolic calling is making new disciples, while an equally important part is strengthening those who already believe. It would be an empty gesture for the Church to convert someone and then leave him to struggle on his own. Instead, the believers' souls must be guarded and continually nurtured.

14:23 Elders are presbyters (priests) ordained by the apostles to nurture and lead the churches they established (see note for v. 22). The word translated appointed (Gr. cheirotoneo) means "to ordain by the laying on of hands."

15:1 See 11:2; Gal 2:12.

15:2 This brewing dispute concerning the relationship between the OT Law and Christianity (v. 1) came to a head and had to be settled before it divided the Church completely. The Church has never been free from disputes and dissensions, but nevertheless has maintained a way to resolve them: in council. The meeting of bishops in council, with the participation of elders (presbyters) and knowledgeable laymen, continues to guide the Church to this day.

15:6–29 This is the Apostolic Council in Jerusalem, about AD 49, a precedent of tremendous importance for the government of the Church. The Orthodox Church is sometimes known as "the Church of the Councils," for it continues the practice of solving disputes and coming to a consensus through councils. This council progresses through the stages of assembly (v. 6), testimony (vv. 7–12), decision (vv. 13–21), and adoption (vv. 22–29).

15:7–12 Peter gives his testimony after much dispute (v. 7); he stresses how God has worked among the Gentiles, and then Paul and Barnabas do the same. The emphasis of all three apostles is that God has already shown them the answer and He must not be opposed.

15:13–21 Note that even though Peter is present, James, being bishop of Jerusalem, presides at this council (see note at 12:17). He interprets the testimony in light of the Scriptures and finds that Simon Peter's testimony is in agreement with the OT prophets (v. 15). Thus, James makes his decision by recognizing the consensus of the apostles in light of the Holy Scriptures. When James declares, I judge (v. 19), he does not mean "I think" or "In my opinion"; rather, he is making the final decision. Nevertheless, this verdict is not merely his own opinion, but a summary of the testimony of the council.

The four prohibited acts (v. 20) reflect both qualities of Christian behavior and minimal requirements of the OT Law. Some interpreters understand blood to mean eating blood (Lv 17:14); others, such as St. John Chrysostom, understand this to mean murder, the shedding of blood.

15:22–29 While James makes the definitive decision, it is not valid until it is adopted by not only the council, but the whole church. This apostolic letter is an early form of church canon.

15:28 It seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us does not indicate an equality between God and man. Rather, it emphasizes the unity between God and the Church and the way in which the Holy Spirit works in and through holy councils. The Church strives to limit canons to only those that are truly essential, in order to lay upon the faithful no greater burden than . . . necessary.

15:36 See note at 14:22.

15:37–40 The one who had departed: See 13:13. This dispute shows that Christians can be plagued with disagreements concerning details and can even separate physically without falling from communion with one another. This particular dispute was eventually resolved, and John Mark later rejoined Paul (see 2Ti 4:11).

16:1 This Timothy would become one of the chief co-workers of Paul, would be the recipient of two of Paul's epistles, and would later follow the apostle John as bishop of Ephesus.

16:3 Since Timothy is partly of Jewish heritage, Paul has him circumcised to accommodate Jewish sensibilities. In the case of Titus, a Gentile, Paul refuses to do this on dogmatic principles, reaffirming that believers do not receive salvation through the Law (Gal 2:3).

16:4 Decrees translates the Greek word dogma, which includes not only decrees but official teachings. The Church preserves her dogmas, or doctrines, as delivered by the apostles, and these essential teachings are never up for negotiation.

16:6, 7 Though no indication is given in the Scriptures why Paul was forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach in these places, St. John Chrysostom likens this to the way a hunter will underfeed his dogs before a hunt in order to increase their hunger for the prize. Likewise, these people were not yet hungry for the gospel, and thus God delays the gospel being preached in their presence until a desire for Him can be cultivated.

16:10 The use of we indicates that Luke (the author of Acts) has joined Paul, Silas, and Timothy in Troas. This is the first of several uses of we in Acts, indicating that Luke was an eyewitness to many of the events he recorded.

16:13 The place for prayer was usually a synagogue, though in Philippi there were few Jews. Thus, this may have been a private home or gathering place by the riverside for lack of an actual synagogue.

16:14 Paul is the church planter par excellence, and his work remains the model for building churches. He starts with people already attuned to God and expounds for them the fullness of the gospel message (see note at 8:35). Lydia, the first convert in Europe, was a well-to-do businesswoman with a large home sufficient to host the Christian missionaries.

16:15 Again, faith leads immediately to baptism not only of the adults, but of the entire household, including children and servants. See note at 8:36–39.

16:16–18 Exorcisms in the name of Christ are part of apostolic ministry. Notably, every baptismal service in the Orthodox Church begins with an exorcism to expel Satan from having any further influence over the new believer. Though the demon declared the truth through this slave girl, nevertheless, she needed to be free to accept Christ on her own, and Paul could not endure to see her tormented any longer. Furthermore, impure praise from God's enemies is not acceptable (WSir 15:9; see note at Lk 4:41).

16:20 Paul's accusers here care little for religion, but they use religious prejudice against the Jews to retaliate for their financial loss.

16:25 Being persecuted unjustly for Christ leads Paul and Silas to joy rather than sorrow (Lk 6:22, 23). Their praying and singing hymns prepares the other prisoners for conversion later that night.

16:27 Was about to kill himself: A jailer who let prisoners escape would be subject to cruel torture and execution.

16:30 The jailer's question, "what must I do to be saved?" implies he has already heard his prisoners proclaiming "the way of salvation" (v. 17) and their praying and singing (v. 25). The miraculous earthquake (v. 26) and Paul's concern for the jailer's life (v. 28) strengthen his faith and lead to his conversion.

16:33 All his family would include not only his wife and children, but any servants as well (see note at v. 15).

16:37 Note that Paul does not appeal to his Roman citizenship in order to escape punishment for Christ, which he could easily have done. Rather, he uses his citizenship to have additional opportunities to proclaim the gospel (see also 22:22–30).

17:1 The largest and most important city in Macedonia, Thessalonica was very cosmopolitan, possessing an excellent harbor and superior commerce. With the flow of goods, communication, and people to and from the city, word of what was happening there spread quickly, and the church there became highly influential (1Th 1:8).

17:2, 3 Reasoned (Gr. dialegomai) does not mean engaging in rational debate, for the proclamation of the gospel is not about winning intellectual arguments. Rather, this term indicates speaking or conversing about truths, ideas, or things that have been witnessed (note how this term is used in 20:9). The English word "dialogue" comes from the same root. The Scriptures are the OT writings (see notes at 8:35; 13:17–41).

17:4 Devout as used here is a synonym of "God-fearing." It was used to designate a Gentile who followed the precepts of the Jewish religion, but had not yet become a proselyte or full convert (see 10:2).

17:7 The trumped-up charge that Christians claimed another king—Jesus is reminiscent of the charges brought against Jesus of being a political king. Instead, Paul was proclaiming the Kingdom of God, with Jesus as King (see 14:22; 19:28; 20:5).

17:9 Security: A deposit of money held as a bond to encourage Jason to uphold public peace in the future.

17:13 Though unwilling to search the Scriptures to see if Paul's message is true, as the Jews in Berea did (v. 11), the Jews from Thessalonica were willing to travel the 60 miles to Berea to stir up the crowds against Paul.

17:14 Brethren: The new Christians.

17:17 In freethinking Athens, Paul moves beyond the synagogue and makes open contact with Gentiles in the marketplace.

17:18 Both the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers believed that fulfillment could be achieved in this life through emotional calm and impassivity. However, they pursued this aim differently. The Epicureans pursued pleasure, while the Stoics renounced it.

17:22–31 Paul consistently preaches Christ from a starting point familiar to his hearers. To the Jews, he preaches from the OT (vv. 2, 3). To these Gentiles, he uses one of their own altars to proclaim Christ (v. 23) and emphasizes: (1) God is Creator of all; (2) God is the giver of life; (3) God desires all people to seek Him; (4) repentance is a way toward God; (5) God is Judge of all; and (6) God raised Jesus from the dead. (See also note at 14:15–17.)

17:32 The resurrection of the dead is the point at which some Gentile philosophers react negatively, while the other aspects of Paul's speech go unchallenged (see previous note). This rejection is due to the Platonic view that the body was a prison for the soul and unworthy of salvation.

18:1–5 See notes at 8:35; 16:14. These Greeks were "God-fearers," those who accepted Judaism but had not yet fully converted.

18:6 Shaking out his garments was a sign of God's judgment. Quoting the OT (2Kg 1:16; Ezk 18:13), Paul declares the fulfillment of his responsibility and these Jews' own accountability for their rejection of the gospel message.

18:12 Gallio was governor of Corinth and Achaia in AD 51–52, which firmly dates Paul's first visit to Corinth.

18:18 The vow Paul makes is likely a form of the Nazirite vow (Nm 6:1–21) given in thanksgiving for deliverance from danger.

18:19 Entered the synagogue: See note at 16:14.

18:21 God willing underscores Paul's constant reliance on God and the continual submission of his own plans to God's (see Jam 4:13–17). The coming feast was either Passover, which became the Christian celebration of Christ's Resurrection, or Pentecost, which became the celebration of the descent of the Holy Spirit (see 20:16). Note there was already a budding liturgical "calendar" among the apostles, revealing their deep desire to gather in remembrance of the great Christian feasts.

18:24–28 Two outstanding qualities characterize Apollos: (1) He is fervent in spirit, and (2) he is humble. A fervent person can be useful to God even if he is not yet well taught. Apollos apparently was not yet in the Church, but still spoke boldly in the synagogue (v. 26). His humility is shown in that he submits to correction by two tentmakers, one of whom was a woman—offensive to most educated men in his culture. Aquila and Pricilla displayed great decency and wisdom: they did not correct Apollos publicly, but rather took him aside privately.

19:1 Ephesus was the capital of the Roman province of Asia Minor, a large, magnificent city. Paul remained there for at least two years and three months (vv. 8–10). Because of this city's influence, churches were formed in almost every neighboring city and town within those three years. The seven churches in Revelation 2; 3 are all in this area.

19:2–4 Repentance (v. 4) is good, but apart from Christ Jesus, it does not secure salvation. Repentance is enough to stay people from sin, but it cannot restore us from corruption. Only the Incarnation of the Son of God has the power to overthrow both sin and its subsequent corruption (AthanG). Thus, a person needs to be joined to Christ in baptism and the sustaining power of the Holy Spirit.

19:5, 6 Baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus: See note at 8:16, 17. The laying on of hands for the reception of the Holy Spirit (chrismation) is a distinct sacrament from baptism, though always united to it. In the Church today, chrismation can be administered not only by the bishop, but also by presbyters who anoint with a special oil consecrated by the bishop.

19:8–10 On the term reasoning as it occurs in vv. 8, 9, see note at 17:2, 3. Again Paul follows the pattern of first preaching to the Jews and then moving to the Gentiles (see 13:45).

19:11–19 The miracles performed here follow those performed by Christ and show that Christ lives and works through His followers. Of particular significance is the way physical objects (handkerchiefs and aprons, v. 12) become instruments of grace when touched by people of great faith. That God works wonders both through His saints and through created objects shows that creation itself is being renewed. (For other examples of objects bestowing grace, see 5:15; Nm 21:8, 9; 4Kg 13:20, 21; Mk 6:12, 13; Lk 8:41–48; Jn 9:6, 7.)

19:26 Being dynamic and vital, the Church has an impact on every culture in which it exists, bringing both conversion and opposition. Note that Paul, a man without wealth or political status, influenced almost all Asia by his simple proclamation of the gospel. St. John Chrysostom emphasizes that this fact alone demonstrates God's hand was upon him.

19:27 The temple of . . . Diana (Gr. Artemis), goddess of the hunt, was one of seven wonders of the ancient world because of its size and exquisite beauty. In the center of the temple was a statue of Diana, which the people there believed Zeus had sent down from heaven (see v. 35).

19:29 Gaius, from Asia Minor (20:4) is perhaps the same person mentioned in Rom 16:23 and 1Co 1:14. Aristarchus is a Thessalonian (20:4; Col 4:10).

19:33, 34 Alexander, who was a Jew, attempted to prevent the Jews from associating with the Christians and to turn the anger of the crowds against them.

19:37 Apostolic preaching does not blaspheme other people's gods. Instead, as simply as possible, it presents the message of salvation through Jesus Christ.

20:4 Paul never took missionary journeys alone, but always a team accompanied him and together they raised up local leaders.

20:5 Us: See note at 16:10.

20:7–12 The first day of the week was Sunday, the Lord's Day of Resurrection, the Church's customary day to celebrate the Eucharist. Worship on the Sabbath ceased with the passing of the old covenant. To break bread means to celebrate the eucharistic Liturgy. While teaching and preaching are vital, the weekly Eucharist is always the culmination of the Lord's Day assembly.

Note the unified order of liturgical worship here. After gathering on the Lord's Day, the first part of the Liturgy focuses on the proclamation of the word, with Paul giving his lengthy sermon (v. 7). The second part of the Liturgy consists of breaking the bread, or Holy Communion (v. 11), followed by the agape feast, or community meal and fellowship. This pattern of liturgical worship continues in the Church to this day.

20:9 St. John Chrysostom upholds Eutychus as an example for young believers. While some young people stay up into the night for the purposes of entertainment, drunkenness, or immorality, this young man tried to remain awake in order to hear Paul preach the gospel.

20:10 See 4Kg 4:34.

20:16 That Paul desired to be with the other apostles in Jerusalem for Pentecost shows that a liturgical calendar based on sacred days was already being kept in the early Church. In that tradition, the Orthodox Church to this day keeps a calendar of special feasts, fasts, and celebrations (see 18:21 and note).

20:17–38 From this meeting, we learn: (1) the Church in Ephesus is living and growing; (2) it has already developed a permanent pattern of sacramental leadership in the elders (lit. "presbyters"; v. 17) and the overseers (lit. "bishops," v. 28); and (3) the threat of false teachers and heresies arising both within and without the Church is already present (vv. 29, 30).

20:19 Paul reminds his hearers of the tears and trials he faced in Ephesus in order to strengthen them for what is to come. Paul's persecutions in Ephesus (Asia Minor) were among the worst he faced (1Co 15:32; 2Co 1:8).

20:26 Innocent of the blood does not mean that Paul has no responsibility to others. Rather, it means he has fulfilled his responsibility with regard to preaching the gospel, and their rejection of Jesus Christ is their own. (See 18:6 and note; see also note for v. 28 below.)

20:28 Blood in biblical language signifies life. Christ shed His own blood on the Cross to redeem His people and establish His Church.

20:29–32 Because trials come from both outside (v. 29) and inside (v. 30) the Church, the only protection is with God Himself (v. 32). It is in God and not in man that the Church is sustained and thrives.

20:33–35 While St. Paul teaches the clergy should be supported materially by the faithful (1Co 9:1–23), he has not required this for himself from the communities he established. This allowed Paul to preach all the more freely and took away any opportunity for others to question his motives (compare with Neh 5:14–19; 13:10–13). The quotation from Christ (v. 35) is not recorded in the four Gospels (see Jn 21:25).

21:8 We: See note at 16:10. This Philip the evangelist is one of the seven deacons whose selection was recorded in 6:5, not the apostle of the twelve.

21:9 Prophecy is the gift of the Holy Spirit to speak the will of God authoritatively. This gift is given to both men and women (see 1Co 11:4, 5), and many holy women were prophets, including Miriam (Ex 15:20, 21), Deborah (Jdg 4:4), Huldah (4Kg 22:14), Isaiah's wife (Is 8:3), the Virgin Mary (Lk 1:46–55), and Anna (Lk 2:36–38).

21:10, 11 This same Agabus is mentioned in 11:28. Here he prophesies in the style of the OT prophets, using an ordinary object to illustrate his message (see Is 20:2; Jer 13:1).

21:17–25 Paul meets with James, the bishop of Jerusalem, who reports that many Jews have set themselves against Paul. While neither Jews nor Gentiles find salvation through the Law, James encourages Paul to demonstrate his compliance with the Law in order to gain the trust of the Jewish Christians in Jerusalem.

21:25 See 15:1–29 and notes.

21:28 For a Gentile to enter prohibited precincts of the temple area was a serious offense punishable by death.

21:31 Since Jerusalem is under Roman occupation, disturbances like this were held in check here by the Roman commander.

21:36 Away with him was the same cry shouted against Jesus at His trial (Jn 19:15).

21:38 The Egyptian, according to Josephus the historian, claimed to be a prophet and led a group of 30,000 to the Mount of Olives, telling them the walls of the city would fall at his word. Felix, the Roman governor, attacked the rebels and killed thousands of them, but this false prophet and some of his followers fled into the wilderness.

22:1 Brethren and fathers is a respectful form of address (7:2), showing that Paul treats even his enemies with courtesy.

22:3–21 Again, Paul begins at a point with which his listeners would be familiar, first identifying with his hearers before trying to bring them to a new understanding (see note at 14:15–17). Paul is careful to mention his relationship with important Jews (Gamaliel, v. 3; Ananias, v. 12) both to calm and to identify with this crowd at the temple.

22:16 In apostolic understanding, being baptized is directly equated with the cleansing of sins (see notes at 8:36–39; 10:48).

22:17 Trance means a religious ecstasy or a direct vision of God's divine energy.

22:21, 22 In spite of Paul's attempts to moderate the wrath of these Jews, the mere mention of Gentiles sets them off against him, demanding his death.

22:24–29 Scourging was a form of punishment in which prisoners were bound in a stooping position with their hands tied behind their backs, and whipped with leather lashes that had bits of bone or metal in them. This punishment could be inflicted on non-citizens either to extract a confession or as a penalty for a crime. For Roman citizens, it could only be used if the person had been found guilty of a crime.

22:30 God often works through secular leaders (see 23:23). Here, the civil authority wants to interrogate Paul more thoroughly, which allows Paul all the more opportunity to proclaim faith in the Resurrection.

23:1 This council is the Jewish Sanhedrin, the highest Jewish governing body.

23:2 Ananias was high priest during AD 47–59. He was a hard and violent man who was later assassinated by his own people at the start of the Jewish war against the Romans (AD 70). Paul has thus far said nothing offensive to the Jews, and St. John Chrysostom calls the order to strike Paul "shameless" and without cause.

23:3–5 Paul accuses Ananias of the ultimate hypocrisy: violating the Law while posing as one who judges according to the Law. Paul nevertheless shows great respect for the holy office of the high priest even though the officeholder himself was contemptible.

23:6 Knowing that his interrogators will not hear him impartially, Paul intentionally divides the council against itself by bringing up the heart of the Christian faith: the resurrection of the dead.

23:8 The Pharisees confess both: Why is the word both used when three things are mentioned? According to St. John Chrysostom, angel and spirit refer to one entity or concept. Thus both refers to belief in the resurrection and belief in a realm of angels or spirits.

23:11 Paul receives comfort from the Lord in the face of the impending plot on his life (vv. 12–16), and a prophecy of both his preaching and his subsequent death at Rome. For the word witness can also refer to martyrdom.

23:23 God often works through secular leaders (see also 22:30). Here the commander (v. 19) protects Paul from assassination, which allows God's plan to unfold for Paul to preach in Rome (v. 11). The third hour of the night is 9:00 p.m.

23:24 Felix was the Roman governor from AD 52–59.

23:31 Antipatris was a town halfway between Jerusalem and Caesarea which had a military outpost.

23:35 Herod's Praetorium was a palace and fortress built decades earlier by Herod the Great. It was later taken over by the Roman governors as their official residence.

24:1 The presence of the high priest indicates the vigor with which the Jewish leaders sought Paul's destruction.

24:5 Since Paul has broken no Roman law, Tertullus the prosecutor tries to present Paul as a social agitator who could stir up trouble at any time. Roman authorities were very particular about keeping peace and order.

24:11 Twelve days: Part of Paul's defense is that he had not been in Jerusalem long enough to gather people and start a riot.

24:14 Paul again affirms the unity between Christianity (the Way) and God's promises in the OT (see 8:35; 13:17–41).

24:17 This is the only time Paul reveals that bringing alms was the main reason he came to Jerusalem, showing that charity is to be performed without drawing attention to oneself (Mt 6:1–4; see also Rom 15:25–28; 1Co 16:1–4; Gal 2:10).

24:25 Reasoned: See note at 17:2, 3. Felix was afraid: According to the historian Josephus, Felix had an adulterous marriage and was prone to accepting bribes (v. 26), and thus he responds negatively to Paul's teachings about righteousness, self-control, and the judgment to come. Paul does not back off from proclaiming the truth, even though it means remaining in prison.

25:3, 4 Though Paul has now been in prison for two years (24:27), his Jewish opponents are still determined to kill him. Festus denies their request for a trial in Jerusalem, not so much to protect Paul as to underscore his own authority by having the trial at his headquarters in Caesarea.

25:7 Compare Mk 14:56, 59.

25:11 Perceiving that Festus might yield to the Jewish authorities, Paul appeals to Ceasar. It was the right of Roman citizens to be tried before the imperial tribunal in Rome. This course of events allows the Lord's prophecy that Paul would preach in Rome to be fulfilled (23:11).

25:13 King Agrippa is Herod Agrippa II, ruler of Galilee. He is the son of Herod Agrippa I (12:1–23), who beheaded James and imprisoned Peter, and a grandson of Herod the Great (Mt 2:1), who slaughtered the infants in Bethlehem. Bernice is Agrippa's sister.

25:18 As I supposed: Because of the turmoil and the pressure being placed on him by the whole Jewish council, Festus assumed that Paul must have committed some staggering crimes.

25:23 Again, the course of events allows for a large group of influential people to be exposed to the gospel message (see 26:2ff).

25:26, 27 Paul's trial here is strikingly unusual in that there are no actual charges against him, yet there is already an appeal. As Festus would look incompetent sending a man to Caesar on appeal without any charges, this hearing has to be held in order to come up with a legal accusation (compare Jn 18:29–35).

26:10–18 This is the third account in Acts of Paul's conversion (see 9:1–8; 22:1–21 and notes).

26:25 The Greek word for reason (sophrosune) would be better translated "good judgment."

26:26 This thing was not done in a corner: A proverb meaning something was done publicly and was widely known, here a reference to the Resurrection of Christ (v. 23).

26:27 Agrippa was of Jewish blood and familiar with the OT (v. 3). If he believed in the OT writings, he would have to take Paul's proclamation seriously.

26:32 Though not legally necessary at this point, Paul's appeal serves the advancement of the gospel in two ways: (1) it protects him from his enemies, and thus a teacher of the gospel is kept alive; and (2) it allows the gospel to be preached in Rome (23:11).

27:2 We: See note at 16:10.

27:3 The term friends here refers to other Christian believers.

27:9 The Fast refers to the Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur), which falls in late September or early October.

27:10 I perceive: Paul gave a personal opinion (rather than a prophecy), in contrast to the professional opinion of the helmsman (v. 11), so that the others would listen to him later when the ship was being torn up (vv. 21–25). The fact that the voyage did not result in the loss of lives does not mean that Paul was wrong; rather, it indicates that if the natural order of things had not been superseded, men would have died. Instead, God intervenes, and the people are spared (vv. 30–34).

27:16 The skiff: A small boat or dinghy pulled by the ship, which could be used for expeditions to land.

27:17 The Syrtis *Sands: A sandbank on the north coast of North Africa.

27:18 Lightened the ship means throwing the most expendable cargo overboard to compensate for having taken on water in a storm.

27:31 Since Paul's earlier words had proven true (see v. 10 and note), the centurion was now inclined to trust Paul, resulting in all the people on board being saved.

27:35 Paul's actions express both the Jewish and Christian practice of giving thanks to God before a meal. This expression of thanks in the midst of a terrible storm teaches us to be thankful to God even when circumstances appear hopeless. It also helped those on the ship to have confidence in Paul and to be more inclined to listen to him. Note the high level of trust they placed in Paul, for even though there were so many people (v. 37), they threw out the rest of the food based on his words.

27:41–44 According to St. John Chrysostom, the destruction of the ship serves several purposes. It shows: (1) the severity of the danger, and thus the power of Paul's prophecy (v. 22); (2) that people are ultimately to depend on God rather than earthly things, for God saved the men when the ship was unable to; and (3) the importance of having holy people dwell among us, for they guide us to safety according to the will of God.

28:1 Malta is a small island south of Sicily.

28:2 Natives is literally "barbarians," which simply means they were not cultured and did not speak Greek.

28:3 The apostle Paul does not cease to be a servant of others.

28:4–6 Though their understanding of God is flawed, these natives are deeply spiritual and on some level recognize God as being present everywhere, directing the course of human events. According to St. John Chrysostom, they have a far better understanding of God than worldly philosophers.

28:8–10 The natural kindness of the residents of Malta (v. 2) increased all the more as they saw the works of God being done among them.

28:11 The Twin Brothers of Greek mythology were sons of Zeus and were considered protectors of sailors.

28:12 Syracuse was a major seaport in Sicily.

28:13, 14 Brethren are Christians. By AD 60, there were numerous churches scattered throughout the empire, including one in Puteoli. From this point, Paul's company traveled on foot.

28:16, 17 The Jews had a strong and well-organized community in Rome. As was his custom in every city, Paul spoke first to the Jewish leaders concerning the gospel of Jesus Christ (see 13:45).

28:20 The hope of Israel means the resurrection, which Paul has made central in his preaching (see 23:6). This chain refers to his imprisonment under house arrest.

28:22 That Christianity was spoken against everywhere shows the tremendous influence it had already in Rome. The Jews in Rome were more open to the gospel than the Jews in Judea.

28:23 See notes at 8:35; 13:17–41.

28:31 Paul's preaching finishes here where it began: proclaiming(1) the Kingdom of God and (2) things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ. These two interrelated subjects are still the content of the preaching and teaching of the Orthodox Church. No one forbidding him: Imprisonment did not stop Paul from bearing witness to Jesus Christ, for the gospel cannot be hidden (Mt 5:14). The story of the Acts of the Apostles continues through their successors in the Church to this day.

Notes for Acts

Acts 1

a 1:8 NU-Text reads My witnesses.
b 1:14 NU-Text omits and supplication.

d 28:29 NU-Text omits this verse.

The Book of Romans

Author

While Pauline authorship of some epistles has been questioned, the Church has universally accepted St. Paul as the author of Romans.

Date

Romans was probably written in AD 55–57 during the latter part of Paul's third missionary journey (Acts 20:3–21:16), most likely while he was in Corinth.

Major Theme

God's righteousness revealed in Christ for our salvation (1:16, 17).
Righteousness is the basis of a faithful relationship between God and humanity. God Himself freely offers this living and growing relationship to all through Christ.

Subthemes in Romans include:

(1) The natural mortality and actual sinfulness of all (1:18–3:20).
(2) Salvation through Christ apart from the Mosaic Law (3:21–4:25).
(3) New life in Christ through Holy Baptism (chs. 5–7).
(4) New life in the Holy Spirit through chrismation (ch. 8).
(5) God's plan for Jews and Gentiles and their reconciliation in Christ (chs. 9–11).
(6) Christian life in the Church and in the world (chs. 12–16).

Background

Paul's logic in Romans proceeds largely from the use of dichotomies, in which two concepts are placed in opposition to each other; and synergies, in which two concepts work together. However, many modern commentators have seen opposition between pairs of concepts where Paul intends cooperation. These pairs of concepts include: law and grace; faith and works; Old Testament and New Testament; nature and grace; spirit and body; reality and symbol; God's faithfulness and humanity's faithfulness; secular and sacred; Church and state. The areas in which Paul truly sees opposition are fewer and more fundamental: living faith versus dead faith; living works versus dead works; good versus evil; righteousness versus unrighteousness; natural versus unnatural; faithfulness versus unfaithfulness.

Romans is the most significant, the most logical, and the most doctrinally oriented of Paul's epistles, and the only one he wrote to a church he had not yet visited.

Outline

I. Introduction: The Righteousness of God Available for All (1:1–17)

IV. God's Faithfulness to All: Jew and Gentile (9:1–11:36)
  A. Paul's personal agony (9:1–5)
  B. Paradox: unbelief of Jews, belief of Gentiles (9:6–10:21)
  C. Destiny of Jews and Gentiles (11:1–36)
V. Living Out a Faithful Relationship with God (12:1–15:7)
  A. In the church (12:1–21)
  B. With governing authorities (13:1–14)
  C. Toward weaker Christians (14:1–15:7)
VI. Conclusion and Greetings (15:8–16:27)

Romans 1

Greeting

1 Paul, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated to the gospel of God
2 which He promised before through His prophets in the Holy Scriptures, 3 concerning His Son Jesus Christ our Lord, who was born of the seed of David according to the flesh, 4 and declared to be the Son of God with power according to the Spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead.
5 Through Him we have received grace and apostleship for obedience to the faith among all nations for His name,
6 among whom you also are the called of Jesus Christ;
7 To all who are in Rome, beloved of God, called to be saints:
Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Desire to Visit Rome

8 First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world.
9 For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of His Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers, 10 making request if, by some means, now at last I may find a way in the will of God to come to you.
11 For I long to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift, so that you may be established—12 that is, that I may be encouraged together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me.
13 Now I do not want you to be unaware, brethren, that I often planned to come to you (but was hindered until now), that I might have some fruit among you also, just as among the other Gentiles.
14 I am a debtor both to Greeks and to barbarians, both to wise and to unwise.
15 So, as much as is in me, I am ready to preach the gospel to you who are in Rome also.

The Just Live by Faith

16For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ,[a] for it is the power of God to salvation for everyone who believes, for the Jew first and also for the Greek.
17For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith; as it is written, "The just shall live by faith."[b]

God's Wrath on Unrighteousness

18For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who suppress the truth in unrighteousness, 19because what may be known of God is manifest in them, for God has shown it to them.
20For since the creation of the world His invisible attributes are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse, 21because, although they knew God, they did not glorify Him as God, nor were thankful, but became futile in their thoughts, and their foolish hearts were darkened.
22Professing to be wise, they became fools, 23and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like corruptible man—and birds and four-footed animals and creeping things.
24Therefore God also gave them up to uncleanness, in the lusts of their hearts, to dishonor their bodies among themselves, 25who exchanged the truth of God for the lie, and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever. Amen.
26For this reason God gave them up to vile passions. For even their women exchanged the natural use for what is against nature.
27Likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust for one another, men with men committing what is shameful, and receiving in themselves the penalty of their error which was due.
28And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a debased mind, to do those things which are not fitting; 29being filled with all unrighteousness, sexual immorality,[c] wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, evilmindedness; they are whisperers, 30backbiters, haters of God, violent, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,

31 undiscerning, untrustworthy, unloving, unforgiving,[d] unmerciful;
32 who, knowing the righteous judgment of God, that those who practice such things are deserving of death, not only do the same but also approve of those who practice them.

Romans 2

God's Righteous Judgment

1 Therefore you are inexcusable, O man, whoever you are who judge, for in whatever you judge another you condemn yourself; for you who judge practice the same things.
2 But we know that the judgment of God is according to truth against those who practice such things.
3 And do you think this, O man, you who judge those practicing such things, and doing the same, that you will escape the judgment of God?
4 Or do you despise the riches of His goodness, forbearance, and longsuffering, not knowing that the goodness of God leads you to repentance?
5 But in accordance with your hardness and your impenitent heart you are treasuring up for yourself wrath in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God,
6 who "will render to each one according to his deeds":[a]
7 eternal life to those who by patient continuance in doing good seek for glory, honor, and immortality;
8 but to those who are self-seeking and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness—indignation and wrath,
9 tribulation and anguish, on every soul of man who does evil, of the Jew first and also of the Greek;
10 but glory, honor, and peace to everyone who works what is good, to the Jew first and also to the Greek.
11 For there is no partiality with God.
12 For as many as have sinned without law will also perish without law, and as many as have sinned in the law will be judged by the law
13 (for not the hearers of the law are just in the sight of God, but the doers of the law will be justified; 14 for when Gentiles, who do not have the law, by nature do the things in the law, these, although not having the law, are a law to themselves, 15 who show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and between themselves their thoughts accusing or else excusing them)

16 in the day when God will judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ, according to my gospel.

The Jews Guilty as the Gentiles

17 Indeed[b] you are called a Jew, and rest on the law, and make your boast in God,

18 and know His will, and approve the things that are excellent, being instructed out of the law,

19 and are confident that you yourself are a guide to the blind, a light to those who are in darkness,

20 an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of babes, having the form of knowledge and truth in the law.

21 You, therefore, who teach another, do you not teach yourself? You who preach that a man should not steal, do you steal?

22 You who say, "Do not commit adultery," do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you rob temples?

23 You who make your boast in the law, do you dishonor God through breaking the law?

24 For "the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you,"[c] as it is written.

Circumcision of No Avail

25 For circumcision is indeed profitable if you keep the law; but if you are a breaker of the law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision.

26 Therefore, if an uncircumcised man keeps the righteous requirements of the law, will not his uncircumcision be counted as circumcision?

27 And will not the physically uncircumcised, if he fulfills the law, judge you who, even with your written code and circumcision, are a transgressor of the law?

28 For he is not a Jew who is one outwardly, nor is circumcision that which is outward in the flesh;

29 but he is a Jew who is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the Spirit, not in the letter; whose praise is not from men but from God. The Basis of God's Judgment The Law

Romans 3

God's Judgment Defended

1 What advantage then has the Jew, or what is the profit of circumcision?
2 Much in every way! Chiefly because to them were committed the oracles of God.
3 For what if some did not believe? Will their unbelief make the faithfulness of God without effect?
4 Certainly not! Indeed, let God be true but every man a liar. As it is written:

> "That You may be justified in Your words,
> And may overcome when You are judged."[a]

5 But if our unrighteousness demonstrates the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unjust who inflicts wrath? (I speak as a man.)
6 Certainly not! For then how will God judge the world?
7 For if the truth of God has increased through my lie to His glory, why am I also still judged as a sinner?
8 And why not say, "Let us do evil that good may come"?—as we are slanderously reported and as some affirm that we say. Their condemnation is just.

All Have Sinned

(Ps. 14:1–3; 53:1–4)

9 What then? Are we better than they? Not at all. For we have previously charged both Jews and Greeks that they are all under sin.
10 As it is written:

> "There is none righteous, no, not one;
> 11 There is none who understands;
> There is none who seeks after God.
> 12 They have all turned aside;

They have together become unprofitable;
There is none who does good, no, not one.”[b] 13 “Their throat is an open tomb;
With their tongues they have practiced deceit”;[c]
“The poison of asps is under their lips”;[d]
14 “Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.”[e]
15 “Their feet are swift to shed blood;
16 Destruction and misery are in their ways;
17 And the way of peace they have not known.”[f]
18 “There is no fear of God before their eyes.”[g]

19 Now we know that whatever the law says, it says to those who are under the law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.
20 Therefore by the deeds of the law no flesh will be justified in His sight, for by the law is the knowledge of sin.

God’s Righteousness Through Faith

21 But now the righteousness of God apart from the law is revealed, being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets, 22 even the righteousness of God, through faith in Jesus Christ, to all and on all[h] who believe. For there is no difference;
23 for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God,
24 being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus,
25 whom God set forth as a propitiation by His blood, through faith, to demonstrate His righteousness, because in His forbearance God had passed over the sins that were previously committed,
26 to demonstrate at the present time His righteousness, that He might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.

Boasting Excluded

27 Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? Of works? No, but by the law of faith.
28 Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith apart from the deeds of the law.

29 Or is He the God of the Jews only? Is He not also the God of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also, 30 since there is one God who will justify the circumcised by faith and the uncircumcised through faith.
31 Do we then make void the law through faith? Certainly not! On the contrary, we establish the law.

Romans 4

Abraham Justified by Faith

(Gen. 17:10)

1 What then shall we say that Abraham our father has found according to the flesh?[a] 2 For if Abraham was justified by works, he has something to boast about, but not before God.
3 For what does the Scripture say? "Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness."[b]
4 Now to him who works, the wages are not counted as grace but as debt.

David Celebrates the Same Truth

5 But to him who does not work but believes on Him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is accounted for righteousness, 6 just as David also describes the blessedness of the man to whom God imputes righteousness apart from works:

> 7 "Blessed are those whose lawless deeds are forgiven,
> And whose sins are covered;
> 8 Blessed is the man to whom the LORD shall not impute sin."[c]

Abraham Justified Before Circumcision

9 Does this blessedness then come upon the circumcised only, or upon the uncircumcised also? For we say that faith was accounted to Abraham for righteousness.
10 How then was it accounted? While he was circumcised, or uncircumcised? Not while circumcised, but while uncircumcised.

[11]And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had while still uncircumcised, that he might be the father of all those who believe, though they are uncircumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also,

[12]and the father of circumcision to those who not only are of the circumcision, but who also walk in the steps of the faith which our father Abraham had while still uncircumcised.

The Promise Granted Through Faith

[13]For the promise that he would be the heir of the world was not to Abraham or to his seed through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.

[14]For if those who are of the law are heirs, faith is made void and the promise made of no effect, [15]because the law brings about wrath; for where there is no law there is no transgression.

[16]Therefore it is of faith that it might be according to grace, so that the promise might be sure to all the seed, not only to those who are of the law, but also to those who are of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all

[17](as it is written, "I have made you a father of many nations"[d]) in the presence of Him whom he believed—God, who gives life to the dead and calls those things which do not exist as though they did;

[18]who, contrary to hope, in hope believed, so that he became the father of many nations, according to what was spoken, "So shall your descendants be."[e]

[19]And not being weak in faith, he did not consider his own body, already dead (since he was about a hundred years old), and the deadness of Sarah's womb.

[20]He did not waver at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in faith, giving glory to God, [21]and being fully convinced that what He had promised He was also able to perform.

[22]And therefore "it was accounted to him for righteousness."[f]

[23]Now it was not written for his sake alone that it was imputed to him,

[24]but also for us. It shall be imputed to us who believe in Him who raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead,

[25]who was delivered up because of our offenses, and was raised because of our justification.

Romans 5

Faith Triumphs in Trouble

1 Therefore, having been justified by faith, we have[a] peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ,
2 through whom also we have access by faith into this grace in which we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God.
3 And not only that, but we also glory in tribulations, knowing that tribulation produces perseverance;
4 and perseverance, character; and character, hope.
5 Now hope does not disappoint, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts by the Holy Spirit who was given to us.

Christ in Our Place

6 For when we were still without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly.
7 For scarcely for a righteous man will one die; yet perhaps for a good man someone would even dare to die.
8 But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.
9 Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him.
10 For if when we were enemies we were reconciled to God through the death of His Son, much more, having been reconciled, we shall be saved by His life.
11 And not only that, but we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received the reconciliation.

Death in Adam, Life in Christ

(Gen. 3:1–19)

12 Therefore, just as through one man sin entered the world, and death through sin, and thus death spread to all men, because all sinned—13 (For until the law sin was in the world, but sin is not imputed when there is no law.

14 Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those who had not sinned according to the likeness of the transgression of Adam, who is a type of Him who was to come.
15 But the free gift is not like the offense. For if by the one man's offense many died, much more the grace of God and the gift by the grace of the one Man, Jesus Christ, abounded to many.
16 And the gift is not like that which came through the one who sinned. For the judgment which came from one offense resulted in condemnation, but the free gift which came from many offenses resulted in justification.
17 For if by the one man's offense death reigned through the one, much more those who receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness will reign in life through the One, Jesus Christ.) 18 Therefore, as through one man's offense judgment came to all men, resulting in condemnation, even so through one Man's righteous act the free gift came to all men, resulting in justification of life.
19 For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so also by one Man's obedience many will be made righteous.
20 Moreover the law entered that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace abounded much more, 21 so that as sin reigned in death, even so grace might reign through righteousness to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. Justification by Faith

Romans 6

Dead to Sin, Alive to God

1 What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound?
2 Certainly not! How shall we who died to sin live any longer in it?
3 Or do you not know that as many of us as were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into His death?
4 Therefore we were buried with Him through baptism into death, that just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.
5 For if we have been united together in the likeness of His death, certainly we also shall be in the likeness of His resurrection, 6 knowing this, that our old man was crucified with Him, that the body of sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves of sin.

7 For he who has died has been freed from sin.
8 Now if we died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with Him, 9 knowing that Christ, having been raised from the dead, dies no more. Death no longer has dominion over Him.
10 For the death that He died, He died to sin once for all; but the life that He lives, He lives to God.
11 Likewise you also, reckon yourselves to be dead indeed to sin, but alive to God in Christ Jesus our Lord.
12 Therefore do not let sin reign in your mortal body, that you should obey it in its lusts.
13 And do not present your members as instruments of unrighteousness to sin, but present yourselves to God as being alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness to God.
14 For sin shall not have dominion over you, for you are not under law but under grace.

From Slaves of Sin to Slaves of God

15 What then? Shall we sin because we are not under law but under grace? Certainly not!
16 Do you not know that to whom you present yourselves slaves to obey, you are that one's slaves whom you obey, whether of sin leading to death, or of obedience leading to righteousness?
17 But God be thanked that though you were slaves of sin, yet you obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine to which you were delivered.
18 And having been set free from sin, you became slaves of righteousness.
19 I speak in human terms because of the weakness of your flesh. For just as you presented your members as slaves of uncleanness, and of lawlessness leading to more lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves of righteousness for holiness.
20 For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness.
21 What fruit did you have then in the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.
22 But now having been set free from sin, and having become slaves of God, you have your fruit to holiness, and the end, everlasting life.
23 For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord. Holy Baptism

Romans 7

Freed from the Law

1 Or do you not know, brethren (for I speak to those who know the law), that the law has dominion over a man as long as he lives?
2 For the woman who has a husband is bound by the law to her husband as long as he lives. But if the husband dies, she is released from the law of her husband.
3 So then if, while her husband lives, she marries another man, she will be called an adulteress; but if her husband dies, she is free from that law, so that she is no adulteress, though she has married another man.
4 Therefore, my brethren, you also have become dead to the law through the body of Christ, that you may be married to another—to Him who was raised from the dead, that we should bear fruit to God.
5 For when we were in the flesh, the sinful passions which were aroused by the law were at work in our members to bear fruit to death.
6 But now we have been delivered from the law, having died to what we were held by, so that we should serve in the newness of the Spirit and not in the oldness of the letter.

Sin's Advantage in the Law

7 What shall we say then? Is the law sin? Certainly not! On the contrary, I would not have known sin except through the law. For I would not have known covetousness unless the law had said, "You shall not covet."[a] 8 But sin, taking opportunity by the commandment, produced in me all manner of evil desire. For apart from the law sin was dead.
9 I was alive once without the law, but when the commandment came, sin revived and I died.
10 And the commandment, which was to bring life, I found to bring death.
11 For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it killed me.
12 Therefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy and just and good.

Law Cannot Save from Sin

13 Has then what is good become death to me? Certainly not! But sin, that it might appear sin, was producing death in me through what is good, so that sin through the commandment might become exceedingly sinful.

14For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am carnal, sold under sin.

15For what I am doing, I do not understand. For what I will to do, that I do not practice; but what I hate, that I do.

16If, then, I do what I will not to do, I agree with the law that it is good.

17But now, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.

18For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh) nothing good dwells; for to will is present with me, but how to perform what is good I do not find.

19For the good that I will to do, I do not do; but the evil I will not to do, that I practice.

20Now if I do what I will not to do, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells in me.

21I find then a law, that evil is present with me, the one who wills to do good.

22For I delight in the law of God according to the inward man.

23But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.

24O wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death?

25I thank God—through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, with the mind I myself serve the law of God, but with the flesh the law of sin.

Romans 8

Free from Indwelling Sin

1There is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus,[a] who do not walk according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit.

2For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free from the law of sin and death.

3For what the law could not do in that it was weak through the flesh, God did by sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, on account of sin: He condemned sin in the flesh, 4that the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us who do not walk according to the flesh but according to the Spirit.

5For those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6For to be carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.

7Because the carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, nor indeed can be.

8So then, those who are in the flesh cannot please God.

9But you are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you. Now if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he is not His.

10And if Christ is in you, the body is dead because of sin, but the Spirit is life because of righteousness.

11But if the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, He who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through His Spirit who dwells in you.

Sonship Through the Spirit

12Therefore, brethren, we are debtors—not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh.

13For if you live according to the flesh you will die; but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live.

14For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, these are sons of God.

15For you did not receive the spirit of bondage again to fear, but you received the Spirit of adoption by whom we cry out, “Abba, Father.”

16The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, 17and if children, then heirs—heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him, that we may also be glorified together.

From Suffering to Glory

18For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.

19For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God.

20For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of Him who subjected it in hope;

21because the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God.

22For we know that the whole creation groans and labors with birth pangs together until now.

[23]Not only that, but we also who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, eagerly waiting for the adoption, the redemption of our body.

[24]For we were saved in this hope, but hope that is seen is not hope; for why does one still hope for what he sees?

[25]But if we hope for what we do not see, we eagerly wait for it with perseverance.

[26]Likewise the Spirit also helps in our weaknesses. For we do not know what we should pray for as we ought, but the Spirit Himself makes intercession for us[b] with groanings which cannot be uttered.

[27]Now He who searches the hearts knows what the mind of the Spirit is, because He makes intercession for the saints according to the will of God.

[28]And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are the called according to His purpose.

[29]For whom He foreknew, He also predestined to be conformed to the image of His Son, that He might be the firstborn among many brethren.

[30]Moreover whom He predestined, these He also called; whom He called, these He also justified; and whom He justified, these He also glorified.

God's Everlasting Love

[31]What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who can be against us?

[32]He who did not spare His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?

[33]Who shall bring a charge against God's elect? It is God who justifies.

[34]Who is he who condemns? It is Christ who died, and furthermore is also risen, who is even at the right hand of God, who also makes intercession for us.

[35]Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?

[36]As it is written:

> "For Your sake we are killed all day long;
> We are accounted as sheep for the slaughter."[c]

[37]Yet in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us.

38For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels nor principalities nor powers, nor things present nor things to come,
39nor height nor depth, nor any other created thing, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Romans 9

Israel's Rejection of Christ

1I tell the truth in Christ, I am not lying, my conscience also bearing me witness in the Holy Spirit, 2that I have great sorrow and continual grief in my heart.
3For I could wish that I myself were accursed from Christ for my brethren, my countrymen[a] according to the flesh, 4who are Israelites, to whom pertain the adoption, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the law, the service of God, and the promises;
5of whom are the fathers and from whom, according to the flesh, Christ came, who is over all, the eternally blessed God. Amen.

Israel's Rejection and God's Purpose

(Gen. 25:19–23)

6But it is not that the word of God has taken no effect. For they are not all Israel who are of Israel, 7nor are they all children because they are the seed of Abraham; but, "In Isaac your seed shall be called."[b] 8That is, those who are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God; but the children of the promise are counted as the seed.
9For this is the word of promise: "At this time I will come and Sarah shall have a son."[c]
10And not only this, but when Rebecca also had conceived by one man, even by our father Isaac 11(for the children not yet being born, nor having done any good or evil, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works but of Him who calls), 12it was said to her, "The older shall serve the younger."[d]
13As it is written, "Jacob I have loved, but Esau I have hated."[e]

Israel's Rejection and God's Justice

14 What shall we say then? Is there unrighteousness with God? Certainly not!

15 For He says to Moses, "I will have mercy on whomever I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whomever I will have compassion."[f]

16 So then it is not of him who wills, nor of him who runs, but of God who shows mercy.

17 For the Scripture says to the Pharaoh, "For this very purpose I have raised you up, that I may show My power in you, and that My name may be declared in all the earth."[g]

18 Therefore He has mercy on whom He wills, and whom He wills He hardens.

19 You will say to me then, "Why does He still find fault? For who has resisted His will?"

20 But indeed, O man, who are you to reply against God? Will the thing formed say to him who formed it, "Why have you made me like this?"

21 Does not the potter have power over the clay, from the same lump to make one vessel for honor and another for dishonor?

22 What if God, wanting to show His wrath and to make His power known, endured with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath prepared for destruction,

23 and that He might make known the riches of His glory on the vessels of mercy, which He had prepared beforehand for glory, 24 even us whom He called, not of the Jews only, but also of the Gentiles?

25 As He says also in Hosea:

> "I will call them My people, who were not My people,
> And her beloved, who was not beloved."[h] > 26 "And it shall come to pass in the place where it was said to them,
> 'You are not My people,'
> There they shall be called sons of the living God."[i]

27 Isaiah also cries out concerning Israel:[j]

> "Though the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea,

The remnant will be saved.
28 For He will finish the work and cut it short in righteousness,
Because the LORD will make a short work upon the earth."[k]

29 And as Isaiah said before:

"Unless the LORD of Sabaoth[l] had left us a seed,
We would have become like Sodom,
And we would have been made like Gomorrah."[m]

Present Condition of Israel

30 What shall we say then? That Gentiles, who did not pursue righteousness, have attained to righteousness, even the righteousness of faith;
31 but Israel, pursuing the law of righteousness, has not attained to the law of righteousness.[n]
32 Why? Because they did not seek it by faith, but as it were, by the works of the law.[o] For they stumbled at that stumbling stone.
33 As it is written:

"Behold, I lay in Zion a stumbling stone and rock of offense,
And whoever believes on Him will not be put to shame."[p]

Is God Faithful to Israel?

Romans 10

Israel Needs the Gospel

1 Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel[a] is that they may be saved.
2 For I bear them witness that they have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge.
3 For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and seeking to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted to the righteousness of God.
4 For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes.
5 For Moses writes about the righteousness which is of the law, "The man who does those things shall live by them."[b]

[6]But the righteousness of faith speaks in this way, "Do not say in your heart, 'Who will ascend into heaven?' "[c] (that is, to bring Christ down from above)

[7]or, " 'Who will descend into the abyss?' "[d] (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead).

[8]But what does it say? "The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart"[e] (that is, the word of faith which we preach):

[9]that if you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus and believe in your heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you will be saved.

[10]For with the heart one believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

[11]For the Scripture says, "Whoever believes on Him will not be put to shame."[f]

[12]For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek, for the same Lord over all is rich to all who call upon Him.

[13]For "whoever calls on the name of the LORD shall be saved."[g]

Israel Rejects the Gospel

[14]How then shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher?

[15]And how shall they preach unless they are sent? As it is written:

> "How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the gospel of peace,[h]
> Who bring glad tidings of good things!"[i]

[16]But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, "LORD, who has believed our report?"[j]

[17]So then faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.

[18]But I say, have they not heard? Yes indeed:

> "Their sound has gone out to all the earth,
> And their words to the ends of the world."[k]

[19]But I say, did Israel not know? First Moses says:

“I will provoke you to jealousy by those who are not a nation,
I will move you to anger by a foolish nation.”[l]

20But Isaiah is very bold and says:

“I was found by those who did not seek Me;
I was made manifest to those who did not ask for Me.”[m]

21But to Israel he says:

“All day long I have stretched out My hands
To a disobedient and contrary people.”[n]

Romans 11

Israel’s Rejection Not Total

1I say then, has God cast away His people? Certainly not! For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

2God has not cast away His people whom He foreknew. Or do you not know what the Scripture says of Elijah, how he pleads with God against Israel, saying,

3*“LORD, they have killed Your prophets and torn down Your altars, and I alone am left, and they seek my life”*?[a]

4But what does the divine response say to him? “I have reserved for Myself seven thousand men who have not bowed the knee to Baal.”[b]

5Even so then, at this present time there is a remnant according to the election of grace.

6And if by grace, then it is no longer of works; otherwise grace is no longer grace.[c] But if it is of works, it is no longer grace; otherwise work is no longer work.

7What then? Israel has not obtained what it seeks; but the elect have obtained it, and the rest were blinded.

8Just as it is written:

“God has given them a spirit of stupor,
Eyes that they should not see
And ears that they should not hear,

To this very day.”[d]

9 And David says:

“Let their table become a snare and a trap,
A stumbling block and a recompense to them.
10 Let their eyes be darkened, so that they do not see,
And bow down their back always.”[e]

Israel’s Rejection Not Final

11 I say then, have they stumbled that they should fall? Certainly not! But through their fall, to provoke them to jealousy, salvation has come to the Gentiles.

12 Now if their fall is riches for the world, and their failure riches for the Gentiles, how much more their fullness!

13 For I speak to you Gentiles; inasmuch as I am an apostle to the Gentiles, I magnify my ministry, 14 if by any means I may provoke to jealousy those who are my flesh and save some of them.

15 For if their being cast away is the reconciling of the world, what will their acceptance be but life from the dead?

16 For if the firstfruit is holy, the lump is also holy; and if the root is holy, so are the branches.

17 And if some of the branches were broken off, and you, being a wild olive tree, were grafted in among them, and with them became a partaker of the root and fatness of the olive tree, 18 do not boast against the branches. But if you do boast, remember that you do not support the root, but the root supports you.

19 You will say then, “Branches were broken off that I might be grafted in.”

20 Well said. Because of unbelief they were broken off, and you stand by faith. Do not be haughty, but fear.

21 For if God did not spare the natural branches, He may not spare you either.

22 Therefore consider the goodness and severity of God: on those who fell, severity; but toward you, goodness,[f] if you continue in His goodness. Otherwise you also will be cut off.

23 And they also, if they do not continue in unbelief, will be grafted in, for

God is able to graft them in again.

24For if you were cut out of the olive tree which is wild by nature, and were grafted contrary to nature into a cultivated olive tree, how much more will these, who are natural branches, be grafted into their own olive tree?

25For I do not desire, brethren, that you should be ignorant of this mystery, lest you should be wise in your own opinion, that blindness in part has happened to Israel until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in.

26And so all Israel will be saved,[g] as it is written:

> "The Deliverer will come out of Zion,
> And He will turn away ungodliness from Jacob;
> 27*For this is My covenant with them,*
> When I take away their sins."[h]

28Concerning the gospel they are enemies for your sake, but concerning the election they are beloved for the sake of the fathers.

29For the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable.

30For as you were once disobedient to God, yet have now obtained mercy through their disobedience, 31even so these also have now been disobedient, that through the mercy shown you they also may obtain mercy.

32For God has committed them all to disobedience, that He might have mercy on all.

33Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past finding out!

> 34*"For who has known the mind of the* LORD*?*
> Or who has become His counselor?"[i] > 35*"Or who has first given to Him*
> And it shall be repaid to him?"[j]

36For of Him and through Him and to Him are all things, to whom be glory forever. Amen.

Romans 12

Living Sacrifices to God

[1]I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service.

[2]And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

Serve God with Spiritual Gifts

[3]For I say, through the grace given to me, to everyone who is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think soberly, as God has dealt to each one a measure of faith.

[4]For as we have many members in one body, but all the members do not have the same function,

[5]so we, being many, are one body in Christ, and individually members of one another.

[6]Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, let us use them: if prophecy, let us prophesy in proportion to our faith;

[7]or ministry, let us use it in our ministering; he who teaches, in teaching;

[8]he who exhorts, in exhortation; he who gives, with liberality; he who leads, with diligence; he who shows mercy, with cheerfulness.

Behave Like a Christian

[9]Let love be without hypocrisy. Abhor what is evil. Cling to what is good.

[10]Be kindly affectionate to one another with brotherly love, in honor giving preference to one another;

[11]not lagging in diligence, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord;

[12]rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation, continuing steadfastly in prayer;

[13]distributing to the needs of the saints, given to hospitality.

[14]Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse.

[15]Rejoice with those who rejoice, and weep with those who weep.

[16]Be of the same mind toward one another. Do not set your mind on high things, but associate with the humble. Do not be wise in your own opinion.

[17]Repay no one evil for evil. Have regard for good things in the sight of all men.

[18]If it is possible, as much as depends on you, live peaceably with all men.

[19]Beloved, do not avenge yourselves, but rather give place to wrath; for it is written, “Vengeance is Mine, I will repay,”[a] says the Lord.

20Therefore

> “If your enemy is hungry, feed him;
> If he is thirsty, give him a drink;
> For in so doing you will heap coals of fire on his head.”[b]

21Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

Romans 13

Submit to Government

1Let every soul be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist are appointed by God.
2Therefore whoever resists the authority resists the ordinance of God, and those who resist will bring judgment on themselves.
3For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to evil. Do you want to be unafraid of the authority? Do what is good, and you will have praise from the same.
4For he is God’s minister to you for good. But if you do evil, be afraid; for he does not bear the sword in vain; for he is God’s minister, an avenger to execute wrath on him who practices evil.
5Therefore you must be subject, not only because of wrath but also for conscience’ sake.
6For because of this you also pay taxes, for they are God’s ministers attending continually to this very thing.
7Render therefore to all their due: taxes to whom taxes are due, customs to whom customs, fear to whom fear, honor to whom honor.

Love Your Neighbor
(cf. Mark 12:31; James 2:8)

8Owe no one anything except to love one another, for he who loves another has fulfilled the law.
9For the commandments, “You shall not commit adultery,” “You shall not murder,” “You shall not steal,” “You shall not bear false witness,”[a] “You shall not covet,"[b] and if there is any other commandment, are all summed up in this saying, namely, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."[c] 10Love does no harm to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of the law.

Put on Christ

11And do this, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now our salvation is nearer than when we first believed.

12The night is far spent, the day is at hand. Therefore let us cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.

13Let us walk properly, as in the day, not in revelry and drunkenness, not in lewdness and lust, not in strife and envy.

14But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, to fulfill its lusts.

Romans 14

The Law of Liberty

1Receive one who is weak in the faith, but not to disputes over doubtful things.

2For one believes he may eat all things, but he who is weak eats only vegetables.

3Let not him who eats despise him who does not eat, and let not him who does not eat judge him who eats; for God has received him.

4Who are you to judge another's servant? To his own master he stands or falls. Indeed, he will be made to stand, for God is able to make him stand.

5One person esteems one day above another; another esteems every day alike. Let each be fully convinced in his own mind.

6He who observes the day, observes it to the Lord;[a] and he who does not observe the day, to the Lord he does not observe it. He who eats, eats to the Lord, for he gives God thanks; and he who does not eat, to the Lord he does not eat, and gives God thanks.

7For none of us lives to himself, and no one dies to himself.

8For if we live, we live to the Lord; and if we die, we die to the Lord. Therefore, whether we live or die, we are the Lord's.

9For to this end Christ died and rose[b] and lived again, that He might be Lord of both the dead and the living.

10 But why do you judge your brother? Or why do you show contempt for your brother? For we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ.[c]

11 For it is written:

> "As I live, says the LORD*,*
> Every knee shall bow to Me,
> And every tongue shall confess to God."[d]

12 So then each of us shall give account of himself to God.

13 Therefore let us not judge one another anymore, but rather resolve this, not to put a stumbling block or a cause to fall in our brother's way.

The Law of Love

14 I know and am convinced by the Lord Jesus that there is nothing unclean of itself; but to him who considers anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean.

15 Yet if your brother is grieved because of your food, you are no longer walking in love. Do not destroy with your food the one for whom Christ died.

16 Therefore do not let your good be spoken of as evil;

17 for the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.

18 For he who serves Christ in these things[e] is acceptable to God and approved by men.

19 Therefore let us pursue the things which make for peace and the things by which one may edify another.

20 Do not destroy the work of God for the sake of food. All things indeed are pure, but it is evil for the man who eats with offense.

21 It is good neither to eat meat nor drink wine nor do anything by which your brother stumbles or is offended or is made weak.[f]

22 Do you have faith? Have[g] it to yourself before God. Happy is he who does not condemn himself in what he approves.

23 But he who doubts is condemned if he eats, because he does not eat from faith; for whatever is not from faith is sin.[h]

Bearing Others' Burdens

[1]We then who are strong ought to bear with the scruples of the weak, and not to please ourselves.

[2]Let each of us please his neighbor for his good, leading to edification.

[3]For even Christ did not please Himself; but as it is written, "The reproaches of those who reproached You fell on Me."[a]

[4]For whatever things were written before were written for our learning, that we through the patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope.

[5]Now may the God of patience and comfort grant you to be like-minded toward one another, according to Christ Jesus,

[6]that you may with one mind and one mouth glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Glorify God Together

[7]Therefore receive one another, just as Christ also received us,[b] to the glory of God.

[8]Now I say that Jesus Christ has become a servant to the circumcision for the truth of God, to confirm the promises made to the fathers,

[9]and that the Gentiles might glorify God for His mercy, as it is written:

> "For this reason I will confess to You among the Gentiles,
> And sing to Your name."[c]

[10]And again he says:

> "Rejoice, O Gentiles, with His people!"[d]

[11]And again:

> "Praise the LORD*, all you Gentiles!*
> Laud Him, all you peoples!"[e]

[12]And again, Isaiah says:

> "There shall be a root of Jesse;
> And He who shall rise to reign over the Gentiles,
> In Him the Gentiles shall hope."[f]

13 Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that you may abound in hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.

From Jerusalem to Illyricum

14 Now I myself am confident concerning you, my brethren, that you also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another.[g]
15 Nevertheless, brethren, I have written more boldly to you on some points, as reminding you, because of the grace given to me by God, 16 that I might be a minister of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, ministering the gospel of God, that the offering of the Gentiles might be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit.
17 Therefore I have reason to glory in Christ Jesus in the things which pertain to God.
18 For I will not dare to speak of any of those things which Christ has not accomplished through me, in word and deed, to make the Gentiles obedient—19 in mighty signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God, so that from Jerusalem and round about to Illyricum I have fully preached the gospel of Christ.
20 And so I have made it my aim to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build on another man's foundation, 21 but as it is written:

> "To whom He was not announced, they shall see;
> And those who have not heard shall understand."[h]

Plan to Visit Rome

22 For this reason I also have been much hindered from coming to you.
23 But now no longer having a place in these parts, and having a great desire these many years to come to you, 24 whenever I journey to Spain, I shall come to you.[i] For I hope to see you on my journey, and to be helped on my way there by you, if first I may enjoy your company for a while.
25 But now I am going to Jerusalem to minister to the saints.
26 For it pleased those from Macedonia and Achaia to make a certain contribution for the poor among the saints who are in Jerusalem.
27 It pleased them indeed, and they are their debtors. For if the Gentiles have been partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to minister to them in material things.

28 Therefore, when I have performed this and have sealed to them this fruit,
I shall go by way of you to Spain.

29 But I know that when I come to you, I shall come in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel[j] of Christ.

30 Now I beg you, brethren, through the Lord Jesus Christ, and through the love of the Spirit, that you strive together with me in prayers to God for me, 31 that I may be delivered from those in Judea who do not believe, and that my service for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the saints,

32 that I may come to you with joy by the will of God, and may be refreshed together with you.

33 Now the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Romans 16

Sister Phoebe Commended

1 I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is a servant of the church in Cenchrea,

2 that you may receive her in the Lord in a manner worthy of the saints, and assist her in whatever business she has need of you; for indeed she has been a helper of many and of myself also.

Greeting Roman Saints

3 Greet Priscilla and Aquila, my fellow workers in Christ Jesus,

4 who risked their own necks for my life, to whom not only I give thanks, but also all the churches of the Gentiles.

5 Likewise greet the church that is in their house. Greet my beloved Epaenetus, who is the firstfruits of Achaia[a] to Christ.

6 Greet Mary, who labored much for us.

7 Greet Andronicus and Junia, my countrymen and my fellow prisoners, who are of note among the apostles, who also were in Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias, my beloved in the Lord.

9 Greet Urbanus, our fellow worker in Christ, and Stachys, my beloved.

10 Greet Apelles, approved in Christ. Greet those who are of the household of Aristobulus.

[11]Greet Herodion, my countryman.[b] Greet those who are of the household of Narcissus who are in the Lord.

[12]Greet Tryphena and Tryphosa, who have labored in the Lord. Greet the beloved Persis, who labored much in the Lord.

[13]Greet Rufus, chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

[14]Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and the brethren who are with them.

[15]Greet Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints who are with them.

[16]Greet one another with a holy kiss. The[c] churches of Christ greet you.

Avoid Divisive Persons

[17]Now I urge you, brethren, note those who cause divisions and offenses, contrary to the doctrine which you learned, and avoid them.

[18]For those who are such do not serve our Lord Jesus[d] Christ, but their own belly, and by smooth words and flattering speech deceive the hearts of the simple.

[19]For your obedience has become known to all. Therefore I am glad on your behalf; but I want you to be wise in what is good, and simple concerning evil.

[20]And the God of peace will crush Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

Greetings from Paul's Friends

[21]Timothy, my fellow worker, and Lucius, Jason, and Sosipater, my countrymen, greet you.

[22]I, Tertius, who wrote this epistle, greet you in the Lord.

[23]Gaius, my host and the host of the whole church, greets you. Erastus, the treasurer of the city, greets you, and Quartus, a brother.

[24]The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.[e]

Benediction

[25]Now to Him who is able to establish you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery kept secret since the world began

[26]but now made manifest, and by the prophetic Scriptures made known to all nations, according to the commandment of the everlasting God, for obedience to the faith—

[27]to God, alone wise, be glory through Jesus Christ forever. Amen.[f]

Annotations for Romans

1:1–4 St. Paul is a bondservant, a slave to Jesus Christ. Apostle: one who is sent. The gospel of God: the good news of salvation in Jesus Christ. This gospel fulfills what God promised in the OT (v. 2), which is realized in the Incarnation of the Son of God (v. 3). This gospel also reveals the Trinity, for it is from God the Father (v. 1), it concerns His Son (v. 3), and it is according to the Spirit (v. 4).

1:3 Jesus Christ is one Person with two natures: human and divine. His divine nature is from all eternity and is revealed in that He is both God's Son and the Lord. His human nature is revealed in His being born of the seed of David according to the flesh: He was conceived and born of the Virgin Mary while never ceasing to be God.

1:4 Christ's resurrection did not make Him the Son of God, but rather declared Him to be so. The truth of His divinity, which had been veiled from the world, is revealed fully in His Passion and Resurrection.

1:5 Obedience to the faith can mean either acceptance of the gospel of Christ itself, or the virtue of obedience practiced by those who believe in His name.

1:6 New believers are called by the Church to a life of faith. It is not up to us to create the Church, for the Church existed before us. Rather, we are called to enter the living historic Church of Jesus Christ as she exists today.

1:7 Called to be saints refers to the present time; it is not something limited to the future. In the NT, all who are true Christians are saints even while they live (see note at 16:1, 2; see also Eph 1:1; 3:8; Php 1:1; Col 1:2; 2Th 1:10; Jude 3). From among all the saints, meaning those "set apart to God," the Church canonizes or glorifies certain exemplary saints as having lived such dedicated and faithful lives that they are worthy for us to follow and imitate (1Co 11:1). See note at Acts 9:32.

1:8–12 St. Paul shows a pastoral concern for the Roman Christians even though he was not the founder of the church at Rome. He thanks God for them (v. 8), prays always for them daily (v. 9), and longs to see them (v. 11).

1:11 Paul had not yet visited Rome when he wrote this letter. This epistle contains the core of apostolic doctrine essential for the foundation of a local community. For this reason, the Church reads Romans immediately following Pentecost, the season in which we celebrate the spread of the gospel from Jerusalem to the ends of the world.

1:13 Paul was hindered in coming to Rome because of his missionary work among the other Gentiles. Though Paul's personal desire was to go to Rome, he submitted to God's will by first accomplishing what God had planned for him in these other places.

1:14 Barbarians are literally "alien people," here those not culturally Greeks (see Acts 28:2).

1:16 St. Paul is not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, thus setting an example for all believers (see Lk 9:26).

1:17 The righteousness of God is to be in a continuous state of communion with Him. This state of being right with God originates with God and is accepted by mankind in faith. From faith to faith: We first receive Jesus Christ by faith and then live in Him by that faith.

"The just shall live by faith" is one of the passages of the OT (Hab 2:4) most quoted in the NT. It shows the harmony between both testaments and summarizes the theme of Romans: faith is a way of life. The righteous (just means "righteous") are those who not only believe, but live righteously in accordance with their faith.

1:18 The wrath of God is His righteous and holy judgment. It is not a loss of temper or self-control, but the revelation of His divine truth, love, and power confronting those who reject Him (see Mt 25:41–46; 2Th 1:6–10; 2:8).

1:20 All humanity can recognize "natural revelation," that is, God's energy or power and His transcendence (Godhead), by simply observing the glories of creation. Thus, the rejection of God cannot be excused by the claim of ignorance, for even "the heavens declare the glory of God; / The firmament shows the creation of His hands" (Ps 18:2).

1:21 Humanity by nature worships. Some seek to worship the Creator, while others worship the creation. A brief definition of being fully human is giving glory and thanks to the true God. Those who refuse to worship Him become darkened in their hearts.

1:26, 27 Homosexual behavior, men with men, is a vile rejection of God's order for creation. These passions are against nature and therefore spiritually devastating. Error means "delusion."

1:29–32 While sexual immorality is not the only way man is given over to unrighteousness, it is often more destructive than other sins and thus receives specific attention here (see 1Co 6:12–20). Those who focus only on sexual sins fail to see that all sin separates man from God and leads to destruction. Covetousness is a sinful passion directly opposite the virtue of thankfulness—it is being unsatisfied with the blessings already received and having an insatiable desire for more. Murder also includes hatred towards another (Mt 5:21, 22). Whisperers are people who gossip. Inventors of evil things are those who cooperate with the devil to discover new forms of wickedness. Those who approve (v. 32) of sins such as homosexual behavior, greed, and rebellion against parents are as guilty as those who commit them.

2:1 Not only will the unrighteous experience God's judgment (1:18–32), so also will the self-righteous.

2:2–16 See the article, "The Basis of God's Judgment" in this chapter.

2:14–16 A Gentile is counted as a Jew—as one of God's people—when his conscience leads him to righteousness the way the law leads a virtuous Jew.

The law written in their hearts (v. 15) refers to a person's conscience. Because man's conscience is God-given, it has the same power to lead a person to God as the law does. According to St. John Chrysostom, those who are able to follow their conscience to God are more virtuous than those with the law, for they do not have the advantage of concrete instructions yet still desire to please God (however, see 3:1, 2).

2:17–24 Many Jews relied on knowing the law for their righteousness, when in fact they did not obey it. Knowing the law does not make one a guide to the blind (v. 19); it is keeping the spirit and heart of the law that makes one a guide to others.

2:25–27 Circumcision is an outward sign of the law, valuable only when accompanied by interior conversion and love for God. Those who are uncircumcised but virtuous will judge the circumcised.

2:29 The name Jew comes from "Judah," which means "the Lord be praised." A true Jew is one who seeks praise . . . not from men but from God. The goal of the legalist is to have praise from men; the goal of the spiritual person is to please God.

The Basis of God's Judgment

Even as believing Christians, we must not take the outcome of God's final judgment for granted. In every Divine Liturgy Orthodox Christians pray, "For a good defense before the dread Judgment Seat of Christ, let us pray to the Lord: Lord have mercy." Romans 2:2–16 describes God's judgment, showing how we can prepare ourselves for it. God's righteous judgment will be:

1. According to truth (2:2, 3): Nothing is hidden from God. He sees everything and knows the truth about each of us. One of mankind's great self-deceptions is to say, "Who sees us?" (Is 29:15) and think there is no judgment.
2. According to impenitent hearts (2:4, 5): An unrepentant or hard heart despises God's goodness, treasuring up the wrath of God at the judgment. A repentant heart, on the other hand, is grateful for God's patience and abides in Christ, practicing a lifetime of repentance, which produces confidence before Him at the judgment (1Jn 2:28).

3. According to our deeds (2:6–15): The "doing good" referred to in 2:7 is not an attempt to gain merit with God. Rather, it is the unity of intentions with actions, faith with works. Even unbelievers are rewarded for good works, apart from spiritual understanding (2:14, 15). But note the following:
   (a) "Doing good" means seeking God's glory (2:10), not our own glory; God's honor, not our own honor; the eternal reward of immortality, not reward here and now. "Doing good" is seeking first the Kingdom of God (Mt 6:33).
   (b) Good intentions alone, or faith without works, will not save (2:13). Simply to hear and not do is religion without reality. Those with true faith, "the doers" of the truth, practice virtue from pure and repentant hearts (Jam 1:21–27).
   (c) "By nature" (v. 14) people are inspired by and cooperate with God's grace. Therefore, good deeds are natural to us, whereas evil deeds are contrary to nature. Because we all fail, we need God's mercy (3:9–19). The presence of God's law in our conscience (2:15) condemns anything we do contrary to true human nature. Therefore, even Gentiles—people not under the Law of Moses, those who do not know of Christ—have an internal law from God, the natural law written in their hearts, according to which God will judge them. Melchizedek, Job, and the Ninevites are Old Testament examples of non-Jews judged to be righteous. Jews, then, have two laws from God—the Law of Moses and conscience—and are accountable to Him for both (2:12).
   (d) Those who are condemned choose to reject God. There is no automatic, fated condemnation: God's just judgment of us is based on our exercise of free will. Although sin impairs our powers, it does not destroy God's image in us or our free will.
4. By Jesus Christ (2:16): In the day of judgment we are not judged directly by God the Father, whom we cannot see, but by the incarnate Son whom we do see, Christ Jesus (Acts 17:31; see Jn 3:16–21, 35, 36). Christ will judge on the basis of the light He Himself has given to each of us (Jn 1:9) and our response to His light (Jn 3:16–21). "The secrets of men" (Rom 2:16) are "the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Heb 4:12).

The Law

One key to understanding Romans is to distinguish properly between the several ways Paul uses the word "law" in this epistle.

1. The Mosaic Law (2:12, 13) was written by God on tablets of stone (2Co 3:3, 7) and given to the Jews through Moses. This Law reveals God's righteousness to prepare men for the Messiah and for God's grace. When Paul speaks of "the law," he is most often referring to the Mosaic Law.
   The Law is good, but cannot be kept. It is revelation from God, but not an end in itself. The purpose of the Mosaic Law is (a) to reveal the difference between good and evil; (b) to make the world accountable to God (3:19); (c) to manifest sin (3:20); and (d) to be a schoolmaster to lead us to Christ (Gal 3:24). Though it is not opposed to the grace of God, the Law cannot save us or make us righteous.
2. The natural law (2:14, 15) has been "written" by God in the heart of every human who has ever lived as the voice of conscience. It is a reliable guide to God's righteousness for those who are pure in heart; but it can be dulled or obscured completely by habitual sin.
3. The law of works (3:27) is our attempt to establish righteousness before God on the basis of keeping the natural law and/or the Mosaic Law. This law reveals human weakness and sin.

4. The law of faith (3:27) is the synergy, the cooperation, of our faithfulness with God's. It alone is the means by which we attain the righteousness of God. God has been revealing His righteousness by this law little by little since the time of creation, but now has revealed it fully in Christ. As both the natural law and the Mosaic Law bear witness to this law of faith, so those who become righteous by grace through faith fulfill in Christ both the natural and the Mosaic Law.
5. The law of sin (7:25; 8:2) is the power of the sinful passions in our mortal humanity. Passions—desires for such things as food, sex, praise, possessions—are natural; their sinful overindulgence is not. Carnal (physical) passions are especially strong. They aid the unnatural domination of the body over the soul. Sometimes carnal passions overpower the will. The law of sin coupled with the Mosaic Law breeds intense warfare between sin and righteousness. Only God's grace can bring victory for righteousness.
6. The law of the Spirit (8:2) is also called "the law of Christ" (Gal 6:2) and "the law of liberty" (Jam 1:25; 2:12). It is the power and life of the Holy Spirit active in those who by faith in Christ live out their baptism and chrismation to the fullest possible degree. This makes the righteousness of God gained by faith real in one's life. Coupled with the law of faith, the law of the Spirit defeats the law of sin and fulfills the natural and Mosaic Law. It orients one's innermost being toward God and restores the power of the spirit over the flesh, the soul over the body.

3:1, 2 While the Gentiles can find God through their conscience (2:14–16, 25–29), they are not better off than the Jews. The Jews have the advantage of the oracles of God (that is, the Law and the Prophets) to lead them all the more to God. The advantage to the Jew is pedagogical; they are taught more thoroughly and more precisely about God. Nevertheless, this advantage does not make the Jew any more righteous than the Gentile, for all are under sin (vv. 9, 23).

3:4 Let God be true but every man a liar means God remains faithful to His word and to His creation, while man is continually unfaithful to God.

3:9 See note for vv. 1, 2.

3:10–18 These quotations from the OT speak to the questions Paul asks in vv. 1–9.

3:19 Since the law reveals sin, all the world is accountable before God by the very presence of the law.

3:20 The law cannot justify a person (that is, bring them into an ongoing state of communion with God) because that is not the purpose of the law, nor does it have that power. The purpose of the law is to reveal the knowledge of sin—that we have fallen from communion with God—in order to turn our hearts to repentance.

3:21, 22 The law may be kept by obedience (Lv 18:5) and by faith (Dt 30:14). Obedience without faith cannot bring anyone to righteousness. Yet faith, even apart from the law, can bring a person to righteousness, because Jesus Christ supersedes the law.

3:23 The ultimate purpose of man's existence is to attain the glory of God. Even if a person were to keep the whole law, he would still fall short of that glory, because he would still be bound by death. The glory of God is both eternal righteousness and eternal life. Jesus Christ alone lived in completed righteousness, and He alone was resurrected from the dead. Therefore, He alone is the fullness of the glory of God, and we receive that glory in Him (see Jn 14:6).

3:24 Being justified refers to an ongoing state of righteousness and not merely to a one-time event. This justification requires a redemption: a sacrificial offering capable of (1) setting us free from sin and death, and (2) uniting us eternally with righteousness and life. In the OT, this sacrificial offering was prefigured by blood sacrifices—the killing of physically perfect animals for the temporal remission of sins (see Heb 9). Under the new covenant, Christ is the sacrificial offering that once for all eternally frees us from sin and death (Heb 10:14) and by His grace unites us with righteousness and life.

3:25 To propitiate means "to cover" or "to conciliate." Propitiation refers to the mercy seat in the tabernacle where God was enthroned among His people (Ex 25:17–22). Once a year, on the Day of Atonement, the blood of the sacrifice was liturgically sprinkled on the mercy seat in the holy of holies. This prefigured the covering of our sins and our reconciliation to God that was to come in Jesus Christ. Heaven holds the true mercy seat (Heb 9:23–26; 10:19–22), and Christ's blood was taken to heaven through His Passion, Resurrection, and Ascension, thus reconciling us to God once and for all.

3:26 Ongoing faith in Jesus is the way mankind receives God's righteousness. Justification (being made righteous) by faith is not a one-time "not guilty" verdict, as some may teach. Rather, it is Christ living in us, and we in Him (Gal 2:20). Thus, to be justified is to be in communion with Jesus Christ in an ongoing, dynamic, and growing life with Him. The relationship between God and His people is one of Shepherd to sheep, Master to servant, and Father to an adopted child.

3:27–31 The law teaches us that: (1) Attaining righteousness through works alone is impossible (v. 27). (2) Righteousness is attained by faith and is a gift from God (vv. 27, 28). (3) God is impartial—Jews and Gentiles are justified on the same basis of ongoing faith in Jesus Christ (vv. 29, 30). There is "no difference" (JohnChr) between the terms by faith and through faith (v. 30). (4) By teaching justification by faith in Christ, Christians establish (or uphold) the law (v. 31), because Christ Himself fulfills the law (Mt 5:17).

4:1–5 Even Abraham experienced righteousness in the sight of God through faith, and this completely apart from works of the law, for the law had not yet been given. If this holds true for the Jews' founding father, it is true for all Jews. Because Abraham responded in faith to God's promise (Gn 15), he was accounted righteous, or justified (see note at 3:24). Only through faith in God can the ungodly be justified (v. 5).

4:6–8 Faith not only predated the law, it remained active during the time of the law. As revealed in Ps 31, David discovered what Abraham had known: being forgiven comes by God's mercy through repentance, faith, and humility, not by works of the law.

4:11, 12 Because Abraham was circumcised as a sign of God's covenant, he is father to all Jews. Yet Abraham was living by faith when he was 75, but was not circumcised until he was 99 (Gn 12:4; 17:24). During this time of being uncircumcised, he was still righteous before God by faith; thus he is also the father of uncircumcised believers, the Gentiles. Imputed (v. 11) means "reckoned" or "rendered." This term does not refer to a mere legal standing, but indicates that God's righteousness is actually given to mankind by grace. This righteousness transforms the whole person, internally and externally. Those who say God's righteousness is merely an external declaration or fiat that does not really become ours experientially miss the point and fall short of the truth. God's righteousness is a gift that indeed becomes our own, leading us to godliness (see article, "Deification" at 2 Peter).

4:13–18 Righteousness does not come through genetic or ethnic ancestry. Though the law requires one to become a Jew, this law only brings about wrath (v. 15). Why? Its purpose is not to save, but to make man aware of his sin or transgressions. True righteousness is based on God's promise (v. 14) and is received by faith. The righteous are those who receive God's promise in faith and not those of the law (v. 14), that is, those who are merely physical offspring of Abraham. The true descendants of Abraham are the believers, for he is the father of all who believe, whether Jew or Gentile.

4:25 Jesus died for the forgiveness of our offenses. If He had been a sinner, the law would have condemned Him as it did everyone else. But He is and has perfect love, and He is without sin. Thus, He perfectly fulfilled both the letter and the heart of the law, and the offering of Himself on the Cross is our justification (see note at 3:24).

5:1 Faith in Christ makes us justified, an ongoing state of communion with Him (see note at 3:24).

Because of this ongoing communion, we have peace with God which is also ongoing. The Greek word pistis, here translated as faith, can also be rendered "faithfulness." Faith is more than the conviction that something is true (Jam 2:19). Genuine faithfulness is continuous loyalty and obedience to God. Such faithfulness justifies a person through God's grace.

5:5 Christians ask, "How can I experience the love of God and pass it on to others?" St. Paul offers the answer here.

5:6 The ungodly are all of us. Because of sin, everyone stands in alienation from God, and we do not have the capacity to become righteous on our own. Because of God's love, Christ died for our sins to bring us the gift of righteousness.

5:10 Those who accept and appropriate Christ's love are reconciled to God, being restored to peace and communion with Him. God has not ceased to be our Friend, for He is unchangeable. We are the ones who have changed and thus need changing. So while we were still rebellious enemies of God, God was working in His love to restore us.

5:12 For Adam and Eve, sin came first, and this led to death. This death then spread to all men. The rest of humanity inherits death, and then in our mortal state, we all sin. Thus, all mankind suffers the consequences of Adam's "original sin." However, the Orthodox Church rejects any teaching that would assign guilt to all mankind for Adam's sin. We indeed suffer the consequences of others' sins, but we carry guilt only for our own sins.

5:13 Until the law came, sin worked freely in the world. From Adam to Moses, people suffered from mortality and committed all manner of sin. They were accountable to God for their sin under natural law (1:18–21; 2:14–16). But without the written law, the seriousness of their sin often remained clouded. God gave the law to Moses to expose the magnitude of man's sin (see note at 4:13–18).

5:14 After Adam, our sin could not be said to be in the likeness of his sin, because only Adam's sin brought mortality to our race. Yet the law of sin and death reigned because man overwhelmingly continued to sin in rebellion against God. However, among both Jews and Gentiles, some kept the law of nature and the law of Moses on the basis of inner faith. Yet these still suffered the death that reigned over humanity. Adam is a type, a prefiguring or a foreshadowing of Christ as the head of humanity. As the first man, Adam caused death to reign in the human race. As the new and perfect Man, Christ brings eternal life to humanity.

5:15–17 Just as immortality is far superior to mortality, so also the grace of Christ exceeds the death we inherited from Adam. For by grace, not only is Adam's sin covered, but the sins of the whole world are covered as well. In other words, justification in Christ far exceeds condemnation through Adam (v. 16). As we all inherited Adam's mortality (v. 15), we shall all inherit Christ's immortality. This saving gift (v. 15) must be received through faith. Though all will be raised, some will be raised to eternal life while others will be raised to eternal judgment (Jn 5:28, 29).

5:18 One Man's righteous act refers primarily to Christ's death and Resurrection, but also to His incarnate life as a whole, which reunites human nature with God. Justification: See notes at 3:24; 5:1.

5:19 Many were made sinners refers to man's subjection to mortality and becoming prone to sin. It does not mean that man inherits the guilt of Adam's sin, nor does it mean that our sinning is completely inevitable. However, the first thing damaged in Adam's nature was his will, and in our corrupted state, this weakened will is prone to falling into sin.

Christ has two wills, one human and one divine. His human will is totally and willingly subject to the divine will. Through Christ's obedience, healing is brought to man's human will. Therefore, many are made righteous and are able by grace to participate in God's righteousness. Indeed, many saints become so filled with grace that they pass extensive periods of time without sinning, for they allow the healing power of Christ to fill their human will.

5:20 The law was given as a temporary measure on God's part to reveal sin and to lead us to repentance and faith (Gal 3:23–25). Instead of decreasing under the law, sin abounded even more. This increase of sin amplifies our awareness of our fallen state and serves as an impetus to "bring us to Christ" (Gal 3:24).

Justification by Faith

For most of church history, salvation was seen as comprehending all of life: Christians believed in Christ, were baptized, and were nurtured in their salvation in the Church. Key doctrines of the faith centered around the Holy Trinity, the Incarnation of the Son of God, the atonement.

In Western Europe during the sixteenth century and before, however, justifiable concern arose among the Reformers over a prevailing understanding that salvation depended on human works of merit, and not on the grace and mercy of God. Their rediscovery of Romans 5 lead to the slogan sola fides: justification by faith alone.

This Reformation debate in the West raised the question for the Orthodox East: Why this new polarization of faith and works? It had been settled since the apostolic era that salvation was granted by the mercy of God to righteous men and women. Those baptized into Christ were called to believe in Him and do good works. An opposition of faith versus works was unprecedented in Orthodox thought.

The Orthodox understanding of justification differs from the Protestant in several ways.

1. Justification and the new covenant. When Orthodox Christians approach the doctrine of salvation, the discussion centers around the new covenant. Justification—being or becoming righteous—by faith in God is part of being brought into a covenant relationship with Him. Whereas Israel was under the old covenant, in which salvation came through faith as revealed in the law, the Church is under the new covenant. Salvation comes through faith in Christ, who fulfills the law. We receive the gift of the Holy Spirit, who dwells in us, leading us to the knowledge of God the Father. Rather than justification as a legal acquittal before God, Orthodox believers see justification by faith as a covenant relationship with Him, centered in union with Christ (Rom 6:1–6).
2. Justification and God's mercy. Orthodoxy emphasizes it is first God's mercy—not our faith—that saves us. "Therefore, having been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom also we have access by faith into this grace in which we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God" (Rom 5:1, 2). It is God who initiates or makes the new covenant with us.
3. Justification by faith is dynamic, not static. For Orthodox Christians, faith is living, dynamic, continuous—never static or merely point-in-time. Faith is not something a Christian exercises only at one critical moment, expecting it to cover all the rest of his life. True faith is not just a decision, it's a way of life. Thus, the Orthodox Christian sees salvation in at least three aspects: (a) I have been saved, being joined to Christ in Holy Baptism; (b) I am being saved, growing in Christ through the sacramental life of the Church; and (c) I will be saved, by the mercy of God at the Last Judgment.

Justification by faith, though not the major New Testament doctrine for Orthodox as it is for Protestants, poses no problem. But justification by faith alone brings up an objection. It contradicts Scripture, which says, "You see then that a man is justified by works, and not by faith only" (Jam 2:24). We are "justified by faith apart from the deeds of the law" (Rom 3:28), but nowhere does the Bible say we are justified by faith "alone." On the contrary, "faith by itself, if it does not have works, is dead" (Jam 2:17).

As Christians we are no longer under the demands of the Old Testament law (Rom 3:20), for Christ has fulfilled the law (Gal 2:21; 3:5, 24). By God's mercy, we are brought into a new covenant relationship with Him. We who believe are granted entrance into His Kingdom by His grace. Through His mercy, we are justified by faith and empowered by God for good works or deeds of righteousness that bring glory to Him.

6:1–14 Opponents of St. Paul twisted his summary of God's past dealings with humanity, and instead applied it to individuals. They accused him of saying, "Sin increases grace, so let us increase sin!" (3:8 paraphrased). This argument misses the fact that a person must be allied with one side or the other. If one is willfully living in sin, he cannot experience union with God. Even if grace is increasing, he is destroying himself, and for that he is responsible. Increase of grace honors God when its power leads us to become dead to sin.

6:2 To have died to sin does not mean our human nature has died. Rather, it means we are no longer held captive by it. We are to be immovable towards sin as something dead would be.

6:3, 4 Freedom from sin is grounded in the sacrament of holy baptism. Ignorance of what happens when we are baptized is a great enemy. Through this ignorance, many are defeated in their battle against sin. What Christ accomplished on the Cross—an actual death to sin—baptism accomplishes in us: an actual death to sin and our liberation from its power. Because our baptism into Christ gives us power over sin, it is an exact likeness of His death. Baptism does not merely "stand for" this truth, but is itself our death to sin.

📖 6:3–11 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday, the Saturday before Pascha (Easter).

6:5 United together with Christ refers to being planted and growing together in Him, clearly implying the expectation of fruit. In the likeness of His death means baptism causes a real unity with Christ's death. We also shall be in the likeness of His resurrection is literally translated, "we shall be of the resurrection," referring both to the new life of baptism in this world and to eternal life in the age to come.

6:6 Knowing this refers to our understanding that baptism is a reality, not merely an outward symbol. Old man does not refer to human nature as such, but to the power of sin in fallen man that once held sway over us. The body of sin is not the human body, but all iniquity. "Just as he calls the whole sum of wickedness 'old man,' again the wickedness which is made of the different parts of iniquity he calls 'the body'" (JohnChr). Thus, it is sin itself that is crucified with Him, and not some kind of "sinful nature," for sin is what we do, not what we are.

6:7 A physical body, once it is dead, makes no response to its environment. So we who died with Christ in baptism must not respond to the promptings of sin, for we are freed from sin.

6:8 When bondage to sin has died, it must be replaced with something else. For those who are baptized, the replacement is Christ's resurrected life. We shall also live with Him means both a righteous life on earth after baptism and eternal life in the Kingdom to come.

6:10 Christ was never under the control of death or sin, yet He chose voluntarily to die to sin for our sake. In Christ, we too can voluntarily die to sin through baptism. As Christ's death is once for all, so also for us there is never a second baptism. Constant repentance renews our baptism as we grow in our relationship with God.

6:11 A shift in emphasis comes here, from what Christ has done for us (vv. 1–10) to our response to Him (vv. 11–14). Reckon is an action verb, relating to faith: we lay hold of our union with Christ and thereby lay hold of every virtue.

6:12 The command to not let sin reign proves that sin's power over man is not absolute. Rather, it is something we allow by our free will. Man's will was the first aspect of human nature damaged through sin, and therefore it is the first thing Christ heals. His healing allows us to make true choices against sin. While sin continues to plague humanity, those who are baptized into Christ have the power to overcome sin through their union with Him. Lusts refers to all the passions of the flesh and spirit that make demands on the will. In Christ, a person can resist and defeat these lusts through righteous exercise of the will.

6:13 Instruments (lit. "weapons of war") are in this case various aspects of human nature, especially the body. Though God created our members good, we may use them to serve either of two rulers, sin or God. For those who live out their baptism, the choice is clear.

6:15 Having completed his references to baptism, Paul initiates another discussion: Christians are no longer to sin as those who sinned during the period of the law. Those under law did not have the power of baptism. The law exhorted people to battle sin; the grace of baptism gives people the power to battle sin and win.

6:16 Though we choose our master freely, we are always a slave to someone or something. Only obedience to God leads us to righteousness, making us heirs of salvation rather than slaves of sin (8:14–17).

6:17 Baptism frees us from being slaves of sin if we continue in obedience to God. The form of doctrine refers to the apostolic teachings of the Church (see 2Ti 1:13).

6:18 Set free from sin: See vv. 1–14 and notes. Slaves of righteousness: See note for v. 16.

6:19 Human *terms are the images of slavery by which Paul expresses the fallen human condition, for God does not want us as slaves but as children (see 8:14–17). If previously we served sin so well, certainly we are now empowered to serve righteousness even more effectively.

6:20 Free: See note on v. 16.

6:21 While one is enslaved to sin, one does not know enough even to be ashamed of it. But having received the gospel, one realizes how shameful the life of sin is and can clearly see its end: death.

6:22 Slavery to God, initiated by baptism, is actually freedom (see note at v. 19). Only this freedom can bear the fruit of holiness and everlasting life.

6:23 Wages are something earned; thus death is earned by man through his sins. Eternal life is never earned, but is a gift. No human actions, no matter how good or noble they may seem, can earn eternal life, for it is only through the grace and love of God that life everlasting is given to us.

Holy Baptism

What is baptism? Simply put, baptism is our death, burial, and resurrection in union with Jesus Christ. It is a rite of passage, given by Christ to the Church as an entrance into the Kingdom of God and eternal life.

The apostle Paul describes the promise of God in this "mystery," as most Orthodox call it, most succinctly when he writes, "Therefore we were buried with Him through baptism into death, that just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life" (Rom 6:4). To baptize (Gr. baptizo) literally means "to immerse, to put into." Historically, the Orthodox Church has baptized by triple immersion, "in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit" (Mt 28:19).

In the Old Testament, baptism was pictured by the passage of God's people with Moses through the Red Sea (1Co 10:1, 2). John the Baptist, the last prophet of the old covenant, baptized in water for repentance (Mk 1:4; Acts 19:4). Jesus received John's baptism, thereby transforming the water and baptism itself. In the new covenant, baptism is the means by which we enter the Kingdom of God (Jn 3:5), are joined to Christ (Rom. 6:3), and are granted the remission of our sins and the gift of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:38).

What results from baptism? From the start, the Church has understood baptism as:

1. A first and second dying. Our first dying with Christ in baptism was our death with Him on the Cross. In the fourth century, St. Cyril of Jerusalem instructed his new converts, "You were led by the hand to the holy pool of divine baptism . . . and each of you was asked if he believed in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. And you made that saving confession, you descended into the water and came up again three times. In the very same moment you died and were born."

   The second death of baptism is continual—dying to sin daily as we walk in newness of life. St. Paul writes to the Colossians concerning baptism (Col 2:12) and concludes by saying,

"Therefore put to death your members which are on the earth: fornication, uncleanness, passion, evil desire, and covetousness, which is idolatry" (Col 3:5).

2. The resurrection of righteousness. This is our life in Christ, our new birth and entrance into God's Kingdom (Jn 3:3), our "newness of life" (Rom 6:4). It is our being joined to Christ in His glorified humanity and indwelt by God Himself (Jn 14:23). Our relationship with God is not something static, a legal fiction given to us by a Divine Judge. Rather, this is a dynamic and real life in Christ, holding the promise of everlasting life. Our resurrection to new life now forms a prelude to the resurrection of our body at Christ's second coming.
3. An intimate and continual communion with God. We are raised to new life for a purpose: union and communion with God. In this sense, baptism is the beginning of eternal life. For this reason, Peter writes that baptism now saves us (1Pt 3:21)—it is not the mere removal of dirt from our bodies, but provides us with "a good conscience toward God."

Because of these promises, the priest prays for the newly baptized, thanking God, "who have given us, unworthy though we be, blessed purification through holy water, and divine sanctification through life-giving chrismation, and who now also have been pleased to bring new life to Your servant newly illuminated by water and the Spirit, and granted remission of sins—voluntary and involuntary."

7:1–4 Paul has affirmed that justification, our ongoing communion with God, comes by faith in Christ and not by following the works of the law. These verses use examples from the law to prove our ultimate need to be free from the law. Under the Law of Moses, only death releases a person from marriage (v. 2), while divorce does not (v. 3). Likewise, Christ's death brings about our death to the law so that we can be married to another, that is, to Christ (v. 4).

7:5, 6 Flesh here refers to unredeemed man under the power of sin and death. In this condition, sinful passions are awakened when man faces the demands of the law (see vv. 7–10). Aroused by is more properly translated "aroused through." The law merely brings to light our bondage to sin; it does not cause us to sin.

Christian believers, on the other hand, live in a new mode of existence by the power of the Holy Spirit. As we have been liberated from the ways of the flesh, in our marriage to Christ (v. 4) we bear fruit to God. Letter (v. 6) refers to the Mosaic Law.

7:7–12 The law was intended to reveal the depth of humanity's sin so that we would turn to Christ in repentance and faith. The law also had the effect of increasing rebellion and sin in many people. This is not because the law itself is bad, but because unredeemed humanity craves to do what is forbidden.

7:13–17 The passions driving us to sin get even stronger when we fight against them on our own, and the clarity of right and wrong found in the law increases the passions all the more. Only Christ's healing power can save us in this battle.

7:17 Man is not sinful by nature. The Orthodox Church rejects any teaching that man has a "sin nature" or that man's nature is depraved to the core. This passage clearly shows that sin is something distinct from our nature. Because we are created in the image of God (Gn 1:26), there is an indelible goodness in our nature that can never be undone. While we can become immersed in sin, we know that it is still not part of our nature, but a foreign force that dwells in us. Thus, sin is what we do, not what we are. See also v. 20.

7:18–23 Paul clarifies the distinction between the will of the soul and the will of the flesh. Because the soul is reborn in baptism, it can strive to follow the law of God (v. 22). Yet our flesh remains corrupt in this world, and it often fights against our will to do good.

7:20 See note for v. 17.

7:24 This question is answered in 8:1–4. The term body of death refers to our corrupted state in this world; it does not imply that the body is evil, for the body is good. In this world, however, it remains in need of final redemption.

7:25 The conclusion is far from hopeless, for the final blame is not to be found in man's nature, nor in the law, but in sin itself.

8:1 Repentant sinners will have no condemnation if they remain in Christ Jesus through faith and baptism and if they walk in the power of the Spirit.

8:3, 4 The law of Moses failed because of the weakness of human nature. The term sinful flesh does not imply our nature is inherently sinful, but that our flesh has become corrupt and given over to all manner of sin (see 7:17). Christ fulfilled both the law and human nature by becoming flesh Himself. Christ did not sin, for He came in the likeness of our sinfulness, but did not succumb to it. In doing so, He condemned sin itself, destroying its power over mankind. In Christ, human nature has final victory over sin.

8:5–8 The mind here is far more than intellectual capacity. It is the highest knowing faculty of the soul (Gr. nous), the spirit and understanding behind all we think and do. Thus, it follows that repentance literally means to have a "change of mind," a change not only of intellect but of all our being.

To be carnally minded (v. 6) means to choose to have one's whole being captivated by sin. This decision against God puts us at enmity with Him (v. 7), and thus we have no lasting peace. To be spiritually minded means to accept liberation by the Spirit, so that one's whole being—body, mind, and soul—becomes directed by and is led to the Holy Spirit.

8:9 The Spirit of Christ declares the intimacy between the Son and the Holy Spirit. The Son becomes incarnate by the Holy Spirit (Mt 1:20) and in turn sends the Holy Spirit from the Father into the world (Jn 15:26; 16:7).

8:10 Though the body is dead (it is mortal) because of sin, the Holy Spirit gives new life, both now in this world and in the promised final resurrection.

8:13 The gift of new life requires the reception and cooperation of the believer through faith and obedience to God. We are His children (v. 14) as He leads us by the power of the Spirit. In this new life, the body becomes the follower, not the leader. In choosing the way of the Holy Spirit, we put to death sinful passions expressed through our thoughts, words, and deeds.

8:14–17 Christians are adopted as children of God (v. 16) and therefore heirs (v. 17) of the same Kingdom Christ inherited when He ascended in the flesh into heaven. This standing is given by grace; what Christ inherited by His own nature, we receive as a gift. Our adoption (v. 15) is a fact of our baptism. Yet it rests on us to receive the love of this adoption by continuing in faith and turning constantly toward God. The experience of this adoption allows us to address God with the intimate term Abba, which means "Papa" (v. 15; see Gal 4:5–7).

8:15 The spirit of bondage refers to a return to the law. Israel feared God as a slave would fear a strong master. Under the new covenant, we are no longer slaves but by adoption are part of God's family, the Church.

8:17 Joint heirs with Christ reveals that everything Christ is by nature, the Father gives to us by grace. See the article, "Deification" at 2 Peter.

8:18 Note the contrast between sufferings and glory. As Christians, we have God's glory in us, though His glory is not fully revealed (see also Col 3:3, 4). In the Orthodox Church, the icon of the Incarnation, the Virgin Mary holding the Christ Child, is on the left side of the door to the altar, while the icon of Christ as Ruler is placed on the right side. Thus we proclaim that Christ has come first in the Incarnation and will come again in glory as Ruler and Judge. We learn that we live in a tension between our present and future experience of the Kingdom, one marked by both sufferings and glory.

8:21 Glorious liberty is the resurrected life the children of God will experience in the age to come. Then our wills, free from the corruption of the flesh, will be at liberty to follow God completely.

8:24 Hope is more than wishful thinking, more than optimism. It is settled confidence concerning things to come. This hope is so sure that we can patiently endure suffering in anticipation of Christ's Kingdom.

8:26 Believers do not know how to pray effectively. The guidance of the Spirit in prayer aids in overcoming our weaknesses by teaching us how to pray and by interceding directly for us when our own prayers are inadequate. The Fathers identify three stages of prayer: (1) saying the words of prayers; (2) saying the words with meaning and concentration; (3) praying without the words, when one is so filled with the Holy Spirit that human words become inadequate, the highest form of prayer.

8:28–30 The Scriptures and man's experience both bear witness that all things work together for good to those who love God. Setbacks and difficulties there will be, but God turns them into "light affliction" (2Co 4:17, 18; 12:9, 10). God has foreknowledge of all things.

Predestined must not be understood as overpowering man's free response, for man's free will is a gift from God. Nor does the term apply to individuals. Rather this term (which can also be translated "preordained") means that God has a specific calling for His people from before the beginning of the world. "God does not will evil to be done, nor does He force virtue" (JohnDm). Based on His foreknowledge, God assures, or predestines, that those who will choose to love Him will be conformed to the image of His Son, that is, glorified.

🕮 8:28–39 This passage is read on days commemorating martyrs and monk martyrs.

8:31–39 These verses summarize all that has preceded in the Epistle to the Romans. Because of (1) God's love for us, (2) His victory over sin and death, and (3) our life in His Kingdom, we can withstand all the assaults of the world and the devil and arise from these attacks as more than conquerors (v. 37). We conquer sin not by our own strength, but only through God.

8:38, 39 Angels, principalities, and powers are spirit beings of various angelic ranks. While nothing external can separate us from the love of God, we can choose to reject Him by our own free will. Nevertheless, even those who remain in eternal rebellion against God are still loved by Him. Even our rejection of God cannot take away His love for us.

9:1–5 St. Paul had many opponents who accused him of failing to love his fellow Israelites.

9:6–13 Jewish unbelief is illuminated by Paul's description of a twofold Israel: one spiritual and the other physical. God is faithful to all Israel, but the issue is this: Who is a true child of Abraham?

It is not Abraham's children of the flesh (v. 8), his natural or biological offspring, who are his true children. If this were the case, the children of Hagar (Gn 16:4, 15) and of Keturah (Gn 25:1–4) would be Israelites. Furthermore, not all those in Isaac's line are Israelites; otherwise Esau and the Edomites would be. Abraham's true children are the children of the promise (v. 8), that is, those who are in Isaac (v. 7), which means faithful believers. Because Isaac was miraculously conceived through God's promise, which Abraham believed (Gn 18:10–15; 21:1–7), it is those who continue in this faith who are Abraham's true offspring.

9:10–13 Both Jacob and Esau were born of Isaac and Rebecca, yet only Jacob is considered the seed of Abraham. Jacob's position is clearly not the result of mere human lineage, but is secured because he is the child of the promise. Both Jacob and Esau were called to salvation, for God loves all equally. Esau I have hated (v. 13): This does not mean God did not love Esau. Rather, God foresaw the wickedness Esau would choose and hated it. Likewise, God foresaw Jacob's faith and obedience and knew Jacob would serve His purposes.

9:14–18 At Mt. Sinai, some of the idolatrous Jews perished while others survived (Ex 32; 33), though God does not explain why He made this distinction. Likewise, Pharaoh opposed God, and thus God used his arrogance to accomplish the divine will. The actions of God's will are neither capricious nor vindictive, but are based in divine mercy and compassion. Even though mankind does not understand the basis of God's decisions (see Is 55:8, 9), we trust His grace and righteousness, upon which our salvation rests.

9:19–21 Man can have no complaint against God's sovereignty any more than clay can question the potter about how he fashions it. When we recognize our standing before God, the objections vanish (see Job 38:1–42:6). It is not only impossible to answer questions of this kind (vv. 22–24), but it is presumptuous to raise them (JohnChr).

9:22–24 After first instructing his hearers how presumptuous it is to question God's sovereign will

(vv. 19–21), Paul nevertheless gives an answer. The proof that God's judgment is based in mercy is shown by how long He endured with much longsuffering those who were in rebellion against Him. In other words, God gave his enemies every benefit and every opportunity to repent, though they deserved none. In this way, His wrath is justified and the glory He grants believers is complete. Vessels of wrath are unbelieving Jews and rebellious foreign nations (see vv. 14–17). The vessels of mercy are believing Jews and Gentiles.

9:25–29 The OT prophets had foreseen God's sovereignty and man's salvation in several ways: (1) He makes the outcasts (Gentiles) to be His people and sons (vv. 25, 26); (2) He saves only a remnant of the Jews (vv. 27, 28); and (3) He forbears to utterly destroy the unbelieving Jews on account of the faithful remnant (v. 29).

9:30–33 The first answer to the question of Jewish unbelief was from God's standpoint: His sovereign will (vv. 6–29). Here, Paul gives the second part of the answer, which is man's free response: faith. The Gentiles who had been unconcerned with righteousness now attain it through faith in Christ. God mercifully overlooks their former unrighteousness because it was practiced in ignorance (Acts 17:30). By contrast, the Jews fail to attain even the righteousness of the law, for they do not pursue the law by faith but by works (v. 32). Because they only saw the letter of the law, they missed both its spirit and its profession of Christ, the Lawgiver, who was to come. Because they saw the letter of the law as being greater than its fulfillment, Christ becomes their stumbling stone (v. 32).

Is God Faithful to Israel?

In the early chapters of Romans (1–8), Paul expounds the gospel of God's righteousness for the salvation of all who believe in Christ, both Jews and Gentiles. In the middle chapters of the epistle (9–11), he grapples with the perplexing theme of the Jews' unbelief in their own promised Messiah. This matter not only causes Paul great anguish, but also raises questions about God's faithfulness to the Jewish people.

An accusation was circulating in the first century that God had not kept His promises to Israel—that He had unjustly abandoned His chosen people in favor of idol-worshipping Gentiles. Although many Jews believed in Christ, the majority of the Jewish people adhered to their old leaders and traditions. Meanwhile, increasing numbers of Gentiles were becoming Christians.

How was one to view these developments? What was God's plan for Jews and Gentiles in this decisive period of the history of salvation? Why were most Jews unresponsive or opposed to the gospel while Gentiles were becoming the majority in the young Church?

Paul's letter to the Romans indicates how important such questions were to Christians in the sixth decade of the first century. Has God been fair to Israel? Paul's conclusion is yes: He has been faithful to Israel, and through them to the Gentiles. God's unchanging faithfulness is seen in several ways.

1. Through Paul (Rom 9:1–3). God miraculously saved the Jewish zealot Saul (Acts 9:1–22), who later, as Paul the Apostle, confesses, "I am indeed a Jew" (Acts 22:3). The faithfulness of God to Israel and to the Gentiles is witnessed "in the Holy Spirit" (Rom 9:1) through Paul, who is even willing to be "accursed from Christ" (9:3) if by that Israel could be saved.
2. Through Providence (Rom 9:4, 5). God the Father shows His sovereign care for both Israel and the Gentiles through bestowing on them His adoption, glory, covenants, law, service (Gr. latreia, a reference to proper worship) and promises. The gospel itself came to "the Jew first" (Rom 1:16) and then to the Gentile.
3. Through the patriarchs (Rom 9:6–13). God has been faithful to Israel and thus to the Gentiles through His servants Abraham (v. 7), Isaac (v. 10), and Jacob (v. 13). As Isaac's birth came by the promise of God (vv. 6–9), so the new birth comes to us by His promise. For just as it was possible to be in the nation of Israel but not truly a child of God, so being born into a Christian home, church, and culture does not de facto guarantee our faithfulness. We must, like Isaac, be born of God's promise. For the Christian this new birth comes from the watery womb of baptism, with the injunction that we grow to serve the Lord with all our heart, mind, and strength.

4. Through the prophets (Rom 9:14–29). Beginning with Moses (v. 15) and including Hosea (vv. 25, 26) and Isaiah (vv. 27–29), the prophets reveal God's faithfulness in His sovereign mercy and election of His faithful—Jew and Gentile alike. The "potter" has "power over the clay" (v. 21) "that He might make known the riches of His glory on the vessels of mercy" (v. 23).

We therefore conclude that God is faithful to Israel as He is to the Gentiles. But we also see that to benefit from His faithfulness to us, we must be faithful to Him.

10:1–3 Paul wishes nothing but good for Israel, but their zeal is not based in truth. If they had merely been ignorant in their rejection of Christ, then their offense would certainly be pardonable. However, theirs was more than ignorance, for it was not that they simply did not know Christ, but they were bent on establishing their own righteousness rather than submitting to the righteousness of God. In other words, they trusted in themselves and their works and rejected the way of faith when it was presented to them.

10:4 Christ has always been the way of salvation in both testaments. The law prepared people for Him, while His coming was the end of the law and the fulfillment of God's righteousness.

10:5–13 The way of the law and the way of faith are contrasted. Whereas mere obedience to the law has always failed, faith in Christ brings salvation. Faith does not doubt (vv. 6, 7), but trusts in Christ. Faith makes God near to the believer (v. 8). Faith transforms the whole person, heart, soul, mind, and body (vv. 9, 10).

10:9, 10 This confession and belief are more than simply mental acknowledgment that something is true. Rather, this belief refers to placing one's whole trust in the resurrected Christ and living with Jesus as one's Lord. Only the giving of the whole self to Christ is belief unto righteousness.

10:11–13 Belief and confession (vv. 9, 10) were both OT themes, Isaiah emphasizing the faith of the heart (v. 11), and Joel emphasizing the confession of the mouth (v. 13). Both prophets teach that grace and faith are universally offered to all people.

10:14–21 From 9:1–10:13, Paul left the Jews with no excuse for rejecting the gospel. Paul insists that God fulfilled His part completely, giving the Jews extraordinary opportunities to come to faith. God sent His message throughout all creation; Israel heard but did not believe (vv. 16, 18, 21). Therefore, God turned to the Gentiles, who heard and believed (vv. 19, 20). The Jews demanded signs, yet God had given them the continual sign of fulfilled prophecy.

11:1–10 Jewish unbelief in Christ raises the question of whether or not God cast away His people. The answer is, Certainly not! If He had done so, not one would have been saved. But Paul himself was being saved (v. 1), and there is a remnant (v. 5) of Jews who believed. Elijah prefigured this remnant when he thought that he alone followed God (vv. 2–4). As only a few heeded Elijah in his day, so only a few heed Jesus and His apostles. God's grace saves the willing. Israel is not willing, for she seeks (v. 7) righteousness on her own terms through works of the law and not through faith in Christ. God has given them a spirit of stupor (v. 8) as a result of their refusal to believe, not as the cause of it.

11:11–15 Though Israel has stumbled by her refusal to believe in Christ, it is not necessarily inevitable that she should fall permanently. The jealousy she feels toward the Gentiles has the potential to lead Israel to repentance and faith. Furthermore, Israel's fall has led to the conversion of the Gentiles, thus renewing the opportunity for Israel's own salvation.

11:16–22 Paul addresses the Gentile believers, reminding them not to be puffed up against the Jews, for (1) Israel's heritage is holy (v. 16); (2) the Gentiles have been grafted in to an existing tree, and thus owe gratitude toward the Jews (vv. 17, 18); and (3) the Gentiles are just as much at risk of falling away from grace through unbelief as the Jews (vv. 20, 21).

11:24 The tree which is wild by nature refers to the pagan and godless ways of the Gentiles before their encounter with Christ. The cultivated olive tree refers to the nation of Israel, which had been prepared for Christ through the law, and the remnant of the Jews that believed in Him.

11:25–27 The mystery which explains the unbelief of so many Jews is that the Gentiles are now being united to the remnant of the faithful Jews, and thus this body of believers together form the true Israel. (In Gal 6:15, 16, St. Paul calls those "in Christ Jesus" the "Israel of God," which is the Church.) This true Israel is not based on biological ancestry but on faithfulness to God's Deliverer, the Messiah. In this understanding, all Israel will be saved (v. 26).

11:30–32 Paul reminds the Gentiles that they have no superiority over the Jews, for both Jew and Gentile were subject to disobedience, and both receive salvation only through God's mercy.

11:36 This benediction ends the first part of Romans, which has laid the theological foundation of our communion with God in Christ and clarified the relationship between Jew and Gentile in Christ. From this point forward, Paul uses this doctrinal base to address pastoral issues facing believers in Rome in their attempts to live out this faith in daily life. Forever is literally "unto ages of ages."

12:1 See note for 11:36. Service (Gr. latreia, lit. "bow down") refers to liturgical service and is better translated "worship" (see 1:9, 25; Heb 9:14). Just as man's failure to worship God led to his downfall (1:20–25), so now true worship is the first expression of mankind's renewal. This true worship is:

(1) Physical: We are called to present our bodies for worship, meaning both the physical aspect of our nature and our whole human nature in general.

(2) Living: A contrast to the old covenant, under which sacrifices were put to death. Under the new covenant, to die sacrificially means also to be resurrected. Thus true worship is a living, dynamic expression of both the believer's faith and the community's faith.

(3) Holy: True worship is set apart from the world, both in its form and its expression. Worship that is acceptable is patterned after the Kingdom of Heaven (see Is 6:1–7; Heb 8:5) and filled with virtue that transcends earthly existence.

(4) Reasonable (Gr. logike): This term means more than "logical." As Jesus Christ is the Logos of God (Jn 1:1), true worship must be "Logos-like," which means it must be in Christ and according to Christ (see Jn 4:24). True worship is filled with the wisdom and truth of the Son of God, the Word made flesh. To worship reasonably means both to worship and to live according to Christ.

12:2 A faithful relationship to God changes our relationship to the world. To be conformed to this world is to stand for and pursue the world's values and pleasures. Mind (Gr. nous) here is more than the intellect; it is the highest faculty of human nature, encompassing the mind and heart. With this faculty one sees and comprehends God.

12:3–8 We live out our faithful relationship to God in the Church, the body of Christ, with humility (v. 3), sober thoughts (v. 3), and proper use of spiritual gifts (vv. 4–8). Ministry requires functioning together in diversity. The seven gifts mentioned here (vv. 6–8) should not be understood to be exhaustive; rather these gifts represent all the infinite gifts God has given to us.

12:9–16 While a believer is justified by faith (see article, "Justification by Faith" at ch. 5), this faith is intimately united to good works, which are genuine expressions of true faith. Faith and works cannot be separated.

12:19–21 Vengeance is perfect and righteous judgment, which only God is capable of carrying out. Evil is overcome only by good, which the Son of God Himself demonstrated on the Cross and which believers are called to emulate.

13:1–3 To defy the civil government is to defy God, for God works in and through the governing authorities. This principle holds true so long as the civil ordinance is not in opposition to God, but promotes good works. When civil rulers are in direct opposition to God, the believer must follow God (see Acts 4:19; 5:29).

13:4 Because the civil government is established by God, St. Paul calls a civil authority God's minister. He is responsible to protect those who are good and to execute punishment on those who practice evil.

13:5 Believers are commanded to be subject to civil authorities not only for fear of earthly punishment (because of wrath), but because they know that in obeying the authorities, they are obeying God (for conscience' sake).

13:9 See Mt 22:39, 40.

📖 13:11—14:4 This passage is read on the Sunday before Great Lent, called Cheese Fare Sunday or Forgiveness Sunday, and on June 24, the Feast of the Nativity of John the Baptist.

13:12 The night is life in this world, and especially life under the influence of sin and evil. The day refers to the presence of Christ's Kingdom, both in the Church now at hand and fulfilled completely in the age to come.

14:1 In Orthodox Christianity, there are things that cannot be compromised, and there are areas of flexibility. God is gracious and allows diversity in doubtful things (v. 1), matters not related to essential doctrines and moral teachings. The weak in the faith are people who assign primary importance to secondary matters. The two examples of flexible areas given here involve food restrictions (v. 2) and the observance of liturgical calendars (v. 5), things which the weak might try to use to judge others or to divide the Church. In both cases, we are commanded to give flexibility to others, just as God Himself does (v. 3).

This passage is read on the eve of Great Lent, reminding the faithful that the main focus of the season is not on the details of fasting restrictions, but rather on overcoming passions of the soul (13:14).

14:7–10 Because we are the Lord's, we have no business judging others' practices based on our own ideas, prejudices, or cultural heritage. These things cause us to lose sight of the fact that we are united in Christ, who is our one Lord and Judge.

14:13–21 A mature conscience in Christ knows that no food is unclean of itself, and also knows it must use discretion so as not to be a stumbling block to others. We behave righteously to be (1) acceptable to God and (2) approved by men (v. 18).

14:22, 23 Those who have strong faith can follow their conscience before God and avoid sin. According to St. John Chrysostom, those who are weak in faith may sin, not because the action is wrong in itself, but because in their hearts they think they are betraying God and proceed anyway. This action is sin because it does not come from that person's faith.

15:1–3 Bear with does not mean "to put up with," but rather "to carry together" (see Gal 6:2). It is in imitation of Christ, who bore all of humanity's weaknesses, that the strong in faith lovingly and joyfully identify with the weaker believers.

15:4 The bounty of mankind's hope can be found in the Scriptures. It is through the witness of the Scriptures that we learn of the patience not only of Israel and the Church, but of God. Likewise, it is through the promises, victories, and spiritual struggles recorded in the Scriptures that we find true comfort.

15:9–12 From the OT Scriptures, Paul demonstrates the unity in Christ between Jew and Gentile that was foretold.

15:14–16 Paul recognizes that his lengthy letter to Rome—a church he did not found—is bold in teaching and counsel. He seeks to soften possible offense by expressing confidence in the Romans' own gifts, and by referring to his special commission from God to be the apostle to the Gentiles, including those at Rome (see 1:13–15; Acts 23:11).

15:16 Minister is literally "liturgist" (Gr. leitourgos); ministering is doing the work of a priest. Offering (Gr. prosphora) is a reference to the eucharistic liturgy, in which bread is sanctified by the Holy Spirit. Paul uses this imagery to speak of the Gentiles themselves, who are being offered to God as the Body of Christ and are sanctified through that offering, just as the bread is sanctified in the liturgy.

15:18 The fulfillment of both preaching and faith is righteous works done by those obedient to God.

15:20–24 Paul's missionary work involved preaching mostly in virgin territories (v. 20). While the Church in Rome had been flourishing for some time, Spain (v. 24) was unevangelized.

15:27 The Jewish Christians have passed on to the Gentiles the great gift of the gospel. In return, the Gentiles are bound to share their material things with them (1Co 9:11).

16:1, 2 Phoebe was a leading Christian woman who was both a deaconess (servant here is lit. "deaconess") and involved in missionary work. St. John Chrysostom notes that Paul holds her in the highest esteem, as he names her first. "He has added her rank by mentioning her being 'deaconess,'" and he recognizes "her as being a saint."

16:3 Priscilla and Aquila were a married couple, Jewish business people, and Paul's coworkers (see Acts 18:18, 26).

📖 16:6–9 This passage is read on days commemorating the departed.

16:7 Prisoners: We know of no imprisonment of Paul in Corinth, where Romans was likely written. According to St. John Chrysostom, Paul is not referring to literal imprisonment, but to his subjection to all kinds of persecution and afflictions (2Co 6:4–10).

16:17–19 Those who serve their own belly are either selfish people or those who caused divisions over dietary rules (see 14:1–6). Simple (Gr. akakos; vv. 18, 19) does not mean unintelligent, but rather innocent, trusting, and truthful.

16:22 While Paul is the author of this epistle (1:1), Tertius wrote it down as Paul's secretary. Paul frequently dictated his epistles to a scribe (1Co 16:21; Col 4:18; 2Th 2:17; Phm 19).

16:25–27 Dismissals in Orthodox services are patterned after scriptural benedictions such as this one by Paul. Mystery here refers to God's plan of salvation revealed in Jesus Christ. Obedience to the faith is essential for all believers. Before the celebration of the Eucharist, the Creed is recited by all the faithful to demonstrate a unity of faith. Forever (v. 27) is literally "unto ages of ages"—a frequent refrain in Orthodox prayers and liturgy.

The First Book of the Corinthians

Author

St. Paul, the apostle to the Gentiles and the founder of the church at Corinth (Acts 18:1–11), is the undisputed author of this epistle.

Date

First Corinthians was probably written from Ephesus around AD 55, during Paul's third missionary journey (Acts 19:1–20:1).

Major Theme

Communion with God versus communion with darkness. We are created for communion (Gr. koinonia) with God and with each other. Koinonia is concretely experienced in the life of the Church, which is the Body of Christ and the temple of the Holy Spirit. But communion is not automatic; we pursue it. And while we may cooperate with evil, we are created to cooperate with God and with each other.

The subthemes of this epistle are found in the sections Paul writes to answer specific problems or concerns in the church.

(1) Factionalism (1:10–3:23)
(2) Civil lawsuits (4:1–21; 6:1–8)
(3) Sexual immorality (5:1–13; 6:9–7:40)
(4) Meat sacrificed to idols (8:1–9:27)
(5) Eucharistic theology and practice (10:1–11:34)
(6) Spiritual gifts (12:1–14:40)
(7) Resurrection life (15:1–16:24)

Background

There were a number of problems in the Corinthian church to which Paul responds in this letter. These problems include: (a) Church disunity. Many Corinthian Christians had broken into several factions based on improper loyalty to particular Christian leaders (1:12). (b) Doctrinal speculations. Erroneous teaching thrived in Corinth, particularly that of the gnostic variety. (c) Moral failure. The Corinthian church, free from persecution, became spiritually weak and succumbed to the moral failure the city was famous for. (d) Dealing with pagan religions. Christians in Corinth could not agree about how to respond to idolatry. (e) Self-centeredness and spiritual gifts. Corinth was brilliantly endowed with spiritual gifts, perhaps as the Holy Spirit's counter to the hedonism there. But the self-centeredness of the gifted ones brought dishonor to God.

The internal evidence of 1 and 2 Corinthians indicates Paul originally wrote two additional letters to the Corinthians which have now been lost: one before 1 Corinthians (see 5:9–11) and one between 1 and 2 Corinthians (the "sorrowful" letter; see 2Co 2:4–11; 7:8). The problems in Corinth were not quickly or easily solved.

Outline

I. Introduction (1:1–9)
  A. Greeting (1:1–3)
  B. Thanksgiving for spiritual gifts (1:4–9)
II. Response to Reports Received (1:10–6:20)
  A. The church is one (1:10–4:21)
  B. The church is holy (5:1–6:20)
III. Response to Questions Asked (7:1–15:58)
  A. The church is catholic (7:1–14:40)
  B. The church is apostolic: the Resurrection (15:1–58)
IV. Conclusion (16:1–24)
  A. Collection for the Jerusalem church (16:1–4)
  B. Paul's plans (16:5–12)
  C. Exhortations, greetings, and benediction (16:13–24)

1 Corinthians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, called to be an apostle of Jesus Christ through the will of God, and Sosthenes our brother,
2 To the church of God which is at Corinth, to those who are sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints, with all who in every place call on the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, both theirs and ours:
3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Spiritual Gifts at Corinth

4 I thank my God always concerning you for the grace of God which was given to you by Christ Jesus, 5 that you were enriched in everything by Him in all utterance and all knowledge,
6 even as the testimony of Christ was confirmed in you,
7 so that you come short in no gift, eagerly waiting for the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ,
8 who will also confirm you to the end, that you may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.
9 God is faithful, by whom you were called into the fellowship of His Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

Sectarianism Is Sin

10 Now I plead with you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.
11 For it has been declared to me concerning you, my brethren, by those of Chloe's household, that there are contentions among you.
12 Now I say this, that each of you says, "I am of Paul," or "I am of Apollos," or "I am of Cephas," or "I am of Christ." 13 Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you baptized in the name of Paul?

14 I thank God that I baptized none of you except Crispus and Gaius, 15 lest anyone should say that I had baptized in my own name.
16 Yes, I also baptized the household of Stephanas. Besides, I do not know whether I baptized any other.
17 For Christ did not send me to baptize, but to preach the gospel, not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of no effect.

Christ the Power and Wisdom of God

(cf. Is. 29:14)

18 For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.
19 For it is written:

> "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise,
> And bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent."[a] 20 Where is the wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the disputer of this age? Has not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?

21 For since, in the wisdom of God, the world through wisdom did not know God, it pleased God through the foolishness of the message preached to save those who believe.
22 For Jews request a sign, and Greeks seek after wisdom;
23 but we preach Christ crucified, to the Jews a stumbling block and to the Greeks[b] foolishness,
24 but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God.
25 Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

Glory Only in the Lord

26 For you see your calling, brethren, that not many wise according to the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called.
27 But God has chosen the foolish things of the world to put to shame the wise, and God has chosen the weak things of the world to put to shame the things which are mighty;
28 and the base things of the world and the things which are despised God has chosen, and the things which are not, to bring to nothing the things that are,

29 that no flesh should glory in His presence.
30 But of Him you are in Christ Jesus, who became for us wisdom from God—and righteousness and sanctification and redemption—
31 that, as it is written, "He who glories, let him glory in the LORD."[c]

1 Corinthians 2

Christ Crucified

1 And I, brethren, when I came to you, did not come with excellence of speech or of wisdom declaring to you the testimony[a] of God.
2 For I determined not to know anything among you except Jesus Christ and Him crucified.
3 I was with you in weakness, in fear, and in much trembling.
4 And my speech and my preaching were not with persuasive words of human[b] wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power,
5 that your faith should not be in the wisdom of men but in the power of God.

Spiritual Wisdom

6 However, we speak wisdom among those who are mature, yet not the wisdom of this age, nor of the rulers of this age, who are coming to nothing.
7 But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, the hidden wisdom which God ordained before the ages for our glory,
8 which none of the rulers of this age knew; for had they known, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.
9 But as it is written:

> "Eye has not seen, nor ear heard,
> Nor have entered into the heart of man
> The things which God has prepared for those who love Him."[c]

10 But God has revealed them to us through His Spirit. For the Spirit searches all things, yes, the deep things of God.
11 For what man knows the things of a man except the spirit of the man which is in him? Even so no one knows the things of God except the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might know the things that have been freely given to us by God.

13 These things we also speak, not in words which man's wisdom teaches but which the Holy[d] Spirit teaches, comparing spiritual things with spiritual.

14 But the natural man does not receive the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him; nor can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

15 But he who is spiritual judges all things, yet he himself is rightly judged by no one.

16 For "who has known the mind of the LORD that he may instruct Him?"[e] But we have the mind of Christ.

1 Corinthians 3

Sectarianism Is Carnal

1 And I, brethren, could not speak to you as to spiritual people but as to carnal, as to babes in Christ.

2 I fed you with milk and not with solid food; for until now you were not able to receive it, and even now you are still not able;

3 for you are still carnal. For where there are envy, strife, and divisions among you, are you not carnal and behaving like mere men?

4 For when one says, "I am of Paul," and another, "I am of Apollos," are you not carnal?

Watering, Working, Warning

5 Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers through whom you believed, as the Lord gave to each one?

6 I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase.

7 So then neither he who plants is anything, nor he who waters, but God who gives the increase.

8 Now he who plants and he who waters are one, and each one will receive his own reward according to his own labor.

9 For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, you are God's building.

10According to the grace of God which was given to me, as a wise master builder I have laid the foundation, and another builds on it. But let each one take heed how he builds on it.

11For no other foundation can anyone lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12Now if anyone builds on this foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw, 13each one's work will become clear; for the Day will declare it, because it will be revealed by fire; and the fire will test each one's work, of what sort it is.

14If anyone's work which he has built on it endures, he will receive a reward.

15If anyone's work is burned, he will suffer loss; but he himself will be saved, yet so as through fire.

16Do you not know that you are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwells in you?

17If anyone defiles the temple of God, God will destroy him. For the temple of God is holy, which temple you are.

Avoid Worldly Wisdom

18Let no one deceive himself. If anyone among you seems to be wise in this age, let him become a fool that he may become wise.

19For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, "He catches the wise in their own craftiness";[a]

20and again, "The LORD knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are futile."[b]

21Therefore let no one boast in men. For all things are yours:

22whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas, or the world or life or death, or things present or things to come—all are yours.

23And you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

1 Corinthians 4

Stewards of the Mysteries of God

1Let a man so consider us, as servants of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God.

2 Moreover it is required in stewards that one be found faithful.

3 But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged by you or by a human court.[a] In fact, I do not even judge myself.

4 For I know of nothing against myself, yet I am not justified by this; but He who judges me is the Lord.

5 Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord comes, who will both bring to light the hidden things of darkness and reveal the counsels of the hearts. Then each one's praise will come from God.

Fools for Christ's Sake

6 Now these things, brethren, I have figuratively transferred to myself and Apollos for your sakes, that you may learn in us not to think beyond what is written, that none of you may be puffed up on behalf of one against the other.

7 For who makes you differ from another? And what do you have that you did not receive? Now if you did indeed receive it, why do you boast as if you had not received it?

8 You are already full! You are already rich! You have reigned as kings without us—and indeed I could wish you did reign, that we also might reign with you!

9 For I think that God has displayed us, the apostles, last, as men condemned to death; for we have been made a spectacle to the world, both to angels and to men.

10 We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ! We are weak, but you are strong! You are distinguished, but we are dishonored!

11 To the present hour we both hunger and thirst, and we are poorly clothed, and beaten, and homeless.

12 And we labor, working with our own hands. Being reviled, we bless; being persecuted, we endure;

13 being defamed, we entreat. We have been made as the filth of the world, the offscouring of all things until now.

Paul's Paternal Care

14 I do not write these things to shame you, but as my beloved children I warn you.

15 For though you might have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet you do not have many fathers; for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the gospel.

16 Therefore I urge you, imitate me.

17 For this reason I have sent Timothy to you, who is my beloved and faithful son in the Lord, who will remind you of my ways in Christ, as I teach everywhere in every church.

18 Now some are puffed up, as though I were not coming to you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, if the Lord wills, and I will know, not the word of those who are puffed up, but the power.

20 For the kingdom of God is not in word but in power.

21 What do you want? Shall I come to you with a rod, or in love and a spirit of gentleness?

1 Corinthians 5

Immorality Defiles the Church

1 It is actually reported that there is sexual immorality among you, and such sexual immorality as is not even named[a] among the Gentiles—that a man has his father's wife!

2 And you are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, that he who has done this deed might be taken away from among you.

3 For I indeed, as absent in body but present in spirit, have already judged (as though I were present) him who has so done this deed.

4 In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, when you are gathered together, along with my spirit, with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ,

5 deliver such a one to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.[b]

6 Your glorying is not good. Do you not know that a little leaven leavens the whole lump?

7 Therefore purge out the old leaven, that you may be a new lump, since you truly are unleavened. For indeed Christ, our Passover, was sacrificed for us.[c]

8 Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

Immorality Must Be Judged

9 I wrote to you in my epistle not to keep company with sexually immoral people.
10 Yet I certainly did not mean with the sexually immoral people of this world, or with the covetous, or extortioners, or idolaters, since then you would need to go out of the world.
11 But now I have written to you not to keep company with anyone named a brother, who is sexually immoral, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner—not even to eat with such a person.
12 For what have I to do with judging those also who are outside? Do you not judge those who are inside?
13 But those who are outside God judges. Therefore "put away from yourselves the evil person."[d]

1 Corinthians 6

Do Not Sue the Brethren

1 Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unrighteous, and not before the saints?
2 Do you not know that the saints will judge the world? And if the world will be judged by you, are you unworthy to judge the smallest matters?
3 Do you not know that we shall judge angels? How much more, things that pertain to this life?
4 If then you have judgments concerning things pertaining to this life, do you appoint those who are least esteemed by the church to judge?
5 I say this to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you, not even one, who will be able to judge between his brethren?
6 But brother goes to law against brother, and that before unbelievers!
7 Now therefore, it is already an utter failure for you that you go to law against one another. Why do you not rather accept wrong? Why do you not rather let yourselves be cheated?
8 No, you yourselves do wrong and cheat, and you do these things to your brethren!
9 Do you not know that the unrighteous will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived. Neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor homosexuals,[a] nor sodomites, 10 nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners will inherit the kingdom of God.

11 And such were some of you. But you were washed, but you were sanctified, but you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus and by the Spirit of our God.

Glorify God in Body and Spirit

12 All things are lawful for me, but all things are not helpful. All things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.

13 Foods for the stomach and the stomach for foods, but God will destroy both it and them. Now the body is not for sexual immorality but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God both raised up the Lord and will also raise us up by His power.

15 Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ and make them members of a harlot? Certainly not!

16 Or do you not know that he who is joined to a harlot is one body with her? For "the two," He says, "shall become one flesh."[b]

17 But he who is joined to the Lord is one spirit with Him.

18 Flee sexual immorality. Every sin that a man does is outside the body, but he who commits sexual immorality sins against his own body.

19 Or do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you, whom you have from God, and you are not your own?

20 For you were bought at a price; therefore glorify God in your body[c] and in your spirit, which are God's.

1 Corinthians 7

Principles of Marriage

1 Now concerning the things of which you wrote to me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Nevertheless, because of sexual immorality, let each man have his own wife, and let each woman have her own husband.

3 Let the husband render to his wife the affection due her, and likewise also the wife to her husband.

4 The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does. And likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does.

5 Do not deprive one another except with consent for a time, that you may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again so that Satan does not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

6 But I say this as a concession, not as a commandment.

7 For I wish that all men were even as I myself. But each one has his own gift from God, one in this manner and another in that.

8 But I say to the unmarried and to the widows: It is good for them if they remain even as I am;

9 but if they cannot exercise self-control, let them marry. For it is better to marry than to burn with passion.

Keep Your Marriage Vows

10 Now to the married I command, yet not I but the Lord: A wife is not to depart from her husband.

11 But even if she does depart, let her remain unmarried or be reconciled to her husband. And a husband is not to divorce his wife.

12 But to the rest I, not the Lord, say: If any brother has a wife who does not believe, and she is willing to live with him, let him not divorce her.

13 And a woman who has a husband who does not believe, if he is willing to live with her, let her not divorce him.

14 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband; otherwise your children would be unclean, but now they are holy.

15 But if the unbeliever departs, let him depart; a brother or a sister is not under bondage in such cases. But God has called us to peace.

16 For how do you know, O wife, whether you will save your husband? Or how do you know, O husband, whether you will save your wife?

Live as You Are Called

17 But as God has distributed to each one, as the Lord has called each one, so let him walk. And so I ordain in all the churches.

18 Was anyone called while circumcised? Let him not become uncircumcised. Was anyone called while uncircumcised? Let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing and uncircumcision is nothing, but keeping the commandments of God is what matters.

20 Let each one remain in the same calling in which he was called.

21 Were you called while a slave? Do not be concerned about it; but if you can be made free, rather use it.

22 For he who is called in the Lord while a slave is the Lord's freedman. Likewise he who is called while free is Christ's slave.

23 You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men.

24 Brethren, let each one remain with God in that state in which he was called.

To the Unmarried and Widows

25 Now concerning virgins: I have no commandment from the Lord; yet I give judgment as one whom the Lord in His mercy has made trustworthy.

26 I suppose therefore that this is good because of the present distress—that it is good for a man to remain as he is:

27 Are you bound to a wife? Do not seek to be loosed. Are you loosed from a wife? Do not seek a wife.

28 But even if you do marry, you have not sinned; and if a virgin marries, she has not sinned. Nevertheless such will have trouble in the flesh, but I would spare you.

29 But this I say, brethren, the time is short, so that from now on even those who have wives should be as though they had none,

30 those who weep as though they did not weep, those who rejoice as though they did not rejoice, those who buy as though they did not possess,

31 and those who use this world as not misusing it. For the form of this world is passing away.

32 But I want you to be without care. He who is unmarried cares for the things of the Lord—how he may please the Lord.

33 But he who is married cares about the things of the world—how he may please his wife.

34 There is[a] a difference between a wife and a virgin. The unmarried woman cares about the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and in spirit. But she who is married cares about the things of the world—how she may please her husband.

35 And this I say for your own profit, not that I may put a leash on you, but for what is proper, and that you may serve the Lord without distraction.

36 But if any man thinks he is behaving improperly toward his virgin, if she is past the flower of youth, and thus it must be, let him do what he wishes. He does not sin; let them marry.

37Nevertheless he who stands steadfast in his heart, having no necessity, but has power over his own will, and has so determined in his heart that he will keep his virgin,[b] does well.

38So then he who gives her[c] in marriage does well, but he who does not give her in marriage does better.

39A wife is bound by law as long as her husband lives; but if her husband dies, she is at liberty to be married to whom she wishes, only in the Lord.

40But she is happier if she remains as she is, according to my judgment—and I think I also have the Spirit of God.

1 Corinthians 8

Be Sensitive to Conscience

1Now concerning things offered to idols: We know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffs up, but love edifies.

2And if anyone thinks that he knows anything, he knows nothing yet as he ought to know.

3But if anyone loves God, this one is known by Him.

4Therefore concerning the eating of things offered to idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is no other God but one.

5For even if there are so-called gods, whether in heaven or on earth (as there are many gods and many lords), 6yet for us there is one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we for Him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom are all things, and through whom we live.

7However, there is not in everyone that knowledge; for some, with consciousness of the idol, until now eat it as a thing offered to an idol; and their conscience, being weak, is defiled.

8But food does not commend us to God; for neither if we eat are we the better, nor if we do not eat are we the worse.

9But beware lest somehow this liberty of yours become a stumbling block to those who are weak.

10For if anyone sees you who have knowledge eating in an idol’s temple, will not the conscience of him who is weak be emboldened to eat those things offered to idols?

11 And because of your knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?
12 But when you thus sin against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, you sin against Christ.
13 Therefore, if food makes my brother stumble, I will never again eat meat, lest I make my brother stumble.

1 Corinthians 9

A Pattern of Self-Denial

1 Am I not an apostle? Am I not free? Have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord?
Are you not my work in the Lord?
2 If I am not an apostle to others, yet doubtless I am to you. For you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.
3 My defense to those who examine me is this:
4 Do we have no right to eat and drink?
5 Do we have no right to take along a believing wife, as do also the other apostles, the brothers of the Lord, and Cephas?
6 Or is it only Barnabas and I who have no right to refrain from working?
7 Who ever goes to war at his own expense? Who plants a vineyard and does not eat of its fruit? Or who tends a flock and does not drink of the milk of the flock?
8 Do I say these things as a mere man? Or does not the law say the same also?
9 For it is written in the law of Moses, "You shall not muzzle an ox while it treads out the grain."[a] Is it oxen God is concerned about?
10 Or does He say it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written, that he who plows should plow in hope, and he who threshes in hope should be partaker of his hope.
11 If we have sown spiritual things for you, is it a great thing if we reap your material things?
12 If others are partakers of this right over you, are we not even more?
Nevertheless we have not used this right, but endure all things lest we hinder the gospel of Christ.
13 Do you not know that those who minister the holy things eat of the things of the temple, and those who serve at the altar partake of the offerings of the altar?

14 Even so the Lord has commanded that those who preach the gospel should live from the gospel.

15 But I have used none of these things, nor have I written these things that it should be done so to me; for it would be better for me to die than that anyone should make my boasting void.

16 For if I preach the gospel, I have nothing to boast of, for necessity is laid upon me; yes, woe is me if I do not preach the gospel!

17 For if I do this willingly, I have a reward; but if against my will, I have been entrusted with a stewardship.

18 What is my reward then? That when I preach the gospel, I may present the gospel of Christ[b] without charge, that I may not abuse my authority in the gospel.

Serving All Men

19 For though I am free from all men, I have made myself a servant to all, that I might win the more;

20 and to the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might win Jews; to those who are under the law, as under the law,[c] that I might win those who are under the law;

21 to those who are without law, as without law (not being without law toward God,[d] but under law toward Christ[e]), that I might win those who are without law;

22 to the weak I became as[f] weak, that I might win the weak. I have become all things to all men, that I might by all means save some.

23 Now this I do for the gospel's sake, that I may be partaker of it with you.

Striving for a Crown

24 Do you not know that those who run in a race all run, but one receives the prize? Run in such a way that you may obtain it.

25 And everyone who competes for the prize is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a perishable crown, but we for an imperishable crown.

26 Therefore I run thus: not with uncertainty. Thus I fight: not as one who beats the air.

27 But I discipline my body and bring it into subjection, lest, when I have preached to others, I myself should become disqualified.

1 Corinthians 10

Old Testament Examples

[1]Moreover, brethren, I do not want you to be unaware that all our fathers were under the cloud, all passed through the sea,

[2]all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea,

[3]all ate the same spiritual food,

[4]and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Christ.

[5]But with most of them God was not well pleased, for their bodies were scattered in the wilderness.

[6]Now these things became our examples, to the intent that we should not lust after evil things as they also lusted.

[7]And do not become idolaters as were some of them. As it is written, "The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play."[a]

[8]Nor let us commit sexual immorality, as some of them did, and in one day twenty-three thousand fell;

[9]nor let us tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed by serpents;

[10]nor complain, as some of them also complained, and were destroyed by the destroyer.

[11]Now all[b] these things happened to them as examples, and they were written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the ages have come.

[12]Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall.

[13]No temptation has overtaken you except such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not allow you to be tempted beyond what you are able, but with the temptation will also make the way of escape, that you may be able to bear it.

Flee from Idolatry

[14]Therefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry.

[15]I speak as to wise men; judge for yourselves what I say.

[16]The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

[17]For we, though many, are one bread and one body; for we all partake of that one bread.

18 Observe Israel after the flesh: Are not those who eat of the sacrifices partakers of the altar?

19 What am I saying then? That an idol is anything, or what is offered to idols is anything?

20 Rather, that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice they sacrifice to demons and not to God, and I do not want you to have fellowship with demons.

21 You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons; you cannot partake of the Lord's table and of the table of demons.

22 Or do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than He?

All to the Glory of God

(cf. Ps. 24:1)

23 All things are lawful for me,[c] but not all things are helpful; all things are lawful for me,[d] but not all things edify.

24 Let no one seek his own, but each one the other's well-being.

25 Eat whatever is sold in the meat market, asking no questions for conscience' sake;

26 for "the earth is the LORD*'s, and all its fullness.*"[e]

27 If any of those who do not believe invites you to dinner, and you desire to go, eat whatever is set before you, asking no question for conscience' sake.

28 But if anyone says to you, "This was offered to idols," do not eat it for the sake of the one who told you, and for conscience' sake;[f] for "the earth is the LORD*'s, and all its fullness.*"[g]

29 "Conscience," I say, not your own, but that of the other. For why is my liberty judged by another man's conscience?

30 But if I partake with thanks, why am I evil spoken of for the food over which I give thanks?

31 Therefore, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God.

32 Give no offense, either to the Jews or to the Greeks or to the church of God,

33 just as I also please all men in all things, not seeking my own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved.

1 Corinthians 11

[1]Imitate me, just as I also imitate Christ.

Head Coverings

[2]Now I praise you, brethren, that you remember me in all things and keep the traditions just as I delivered them to you.
[3]But I want you to know that the head of every man is Christ, the head of woman is man, and the head of Christ is God.
[4]Every man praying or prophesying, having his head covered, dishonors his head.
[5]But every woman who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered dishonors her head, for that is one and the same as if her head were shaved.
[6]For if a woman is not covered, let her also be shorn. But if it is shameful for a woman to be shorn or shaved, let her be covered.
[7]For a man indeed ought not to cover his head, since he is the image and glory of God; but woman is the glory of man.
[8]For man is not from woman, but woman from man.
[9]Nor was man created for the woman, but woman for the man.
[10]For this reason the woman ought to have a symbol of authority on her head, because of the angels.
[11]Nevertheless, neither is man independent of woman, nor woman independent of man, in the Lord.
[12]For as woman came from man, even so man also comes through woman;
but all things are from God.
[13]Judge among yourselves. Is it proper for a woman to pray to God with her head uncovered?
[14]Does not even nature itself teach you that if a man has long hair, it is a dishonor to him?
[15]But if a woman has long hair, it is a glory to her; for her hair is given to her[a] for a covering.
[16]But if anyone seems to be contentious, we have no such custom, nor do the churches of God.

Conduct at the Lord's Supper

[17]Now in giving these instructions I do not praise you, since you come together not for the better but for the worse.

18For first of all, when you come together as a church, I hear that there are divisions among you, and in part I believe it.

19For there must also be factions among you, that those who are approved may be recognized among you.

20Therefore when you come together in one place, it is not to eat the Lord's Supper.

21For in eating, each one takes his own supper ahead of others; and one is hungry and another is drunk.

22What! Do you not have houses to eat and drink in? Or do you despise the church of God and shame those who have nothing? What shall I say to you? Shall I praise you in this? I do not praise you.

Institution of the Lord's Supper

23For I received from the Lord that which I also delivered to you: that the Lord Jesus on the same night in which He was betrayed took bread;

24and when He had given thanks, He broke it and said, "Take, eat;[b] this is My body which is broken[c] for you; do this in remembrance of Me."

25In the same manner He also took the cup after supper, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in My blood. This do, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of Me."

26For as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the Lord's death till He comes.

Examine Yourself

27Therefore whoever eats this bread or drinks this cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be guilty of the body and blood[d] of the Lord.

28But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of the bread and drink of the cup.

29For he who eats and drinks in an unworthy manner[e] eats and drinks judgment to himself, not discerning the Lord's[f] body.

30For this reason many are weak and sick among you, and many sleep.

31For if we would judge ourselves, we would not be judged.

32But when we are judged, we are chastened by the Lord, that we may not be condemned with the world.

33 Therefore, my brethren, when you come together to eat, wait for one another.

34 But if anyone is hungry, let him eat at home, lest you come together for judgment. And the rest I will set in order when I come. The Eucharist

1 Corinthians 12

Spiritual Gifts: Unity in Diversity

1 Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I do not want you to be ignorant:

2 You know that[a] you were Gentiles, carried away to these dumb idols, however you were led.

3 Therefore I make known to you that no one speaking by the Spirit of God calls Jesus accursed, and no one can say that Jesus is Lord except by the Holy Spirit.

4 There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.

5 There are differences of ministries, but the same Lord.

6 And there are diversities of activities, but it is the same God who works all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to each one for the profit of all:

8 for to one is given the word of wisdom through the Spirit, to another the word of knowledge through the same Spirit,

9 to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healings by the same[b] Spirit,

10 to another the working of miracles, to another prophecy, to another discerning of spirits, to another different kinds of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues.

11 But one and the same Spirit works all these things, distributing to each one individually as He wills.

Unity and Diversity in One Body

(cf. Eph. 4:1–16)

12 For as the body is one and has many members, but all the members of that one body, being many, are one body, so also is Christ.

13 For by one Spirit we were all baptized into one body—whether Jews or Greeks, whether slaves or free—and have all been made to drink into[c] one Spirit.

14For in fact the body is not one member but many.

15If the foot should say, “Because I am not a hand, I am not of the body,” is it therefore not of the body?

16And if the ear should say, “Because I am not an eye, I am not of the body,” is it therefore not of the body?

17If the whole body were an eye, where would be the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where would be the smelling?

18But now God has set the members, each one of them, in the body just as He pleased.

19And if they were all one member, where would the body be?

20But now indeed there are many members, yet one body.

21And the eye cannot say to the hand, “I have no need of you”; nor again the head to the feet, “I have no need of you.”

22No, much rather, those members of the body which seem to be weaker are necessary.

23And those members of the body which we think to be less honorable, on these we bestow greater honor; and our unpresentable parts have greater modesty,

24but our presentable parts have no need. But God composed the body, having given greater honor to that part which lacks it, 25that there should be no schism in the body, but that the members should have the same care for one another.

26And if one member suffers, all the members suffer with it; or if one member is honored, all the members rejoice with it.

27Now you are the body of Christ, and members individually.

28And God has appointed these in the church: first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, administrations, varieties of tongues.

29*Are* all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Are all workers of miracles?

30Do all have gifts of healings? Do all speak with tongues? Do all interpret?

31But earnestly desire the best[d] gifts. And yet I show you a more excellent way.

1 Corinthians 13

The Greatest Gift

1 Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I have become sounding brass or a clanging cymbal.
2 And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing.
3 And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned,[a] but have not love, it profits me nothing.
4 Love suffers long and is kind; love does not envy; love does not parade itself, is not puffed up;
5 does not behave rudely, does not seek its own, is not provoked, thinks no evil;
6 does not rejoice in iniquity, but rejoices in the truth;
7 bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.
8 Love never fails. But whether there are prophecies, they will fail; whether there are tongues, they will cease; whether there is knowledge, it will vanish away.
9 For we know in part and we prophesy in part.
10 But when that which is perfect has come, then that which is in part will be done away.
11 When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things.
12 For now we see in a mirror, dimly, but then face to face. Now I know in part, but then I shall know just as I also am known.
13 And now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

1 Corinthians 14

Prophecy and Tongues

1 Pursue love, and desire spiritual gifts, but especially that you may prophesy.
2 For he who speaks in a tongue does not speak to men but to God, for no one understands him; however, in the spirit he speaks mysteries.

3But he who prophesies speaks edification and exhortation and comfort to men.

4He who speaks in a tongue edifies himself, but he who prophesies edifies the church.

5I wish you all spoke with tongues, but even more that you prophesied; for[a] he who prophesies is greater than he who speaks with tongues, unless indeed he interprets, that the church may receive edification.

Tongues Must Be Interpreted

6But now, brethren, if I come to you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you unless I speak to you either by revelation, by knowledge, by prophesying, or by teaching?

7Even things without life, whether flute or harp, when they make a sound, unless they make a distinction in the sounds, how will it be known what is piped or played?

8For if the trumpet makes an uncertain sound, who will prepare for battle?

9So likewise you, unless you utter by the tongue words easy to understand, how will it be known what is spoken? For you will be speaking into the air.

10There are, it may be, so many kinds of languages in the world, and none of them is without significance.

11Therefore, if I do not know the meaning of the language, I shall be a foreigner to him who speaks, and he who speaks will be a foreigner to me.

12Even so you, since you are zealous for spiritual gifts, let it be for the edification of the church that you seek to excel.

13Therefore let him who speaks in a tongue pray that he may interpret.

14For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays, but my understanding is unfruitful.

15What is the conclusion then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will also pray with the understanding. I will sing with the spirit, and I will also sing with the understanding.

16Otherwise, if you bless with the spirit, how will he who occupies the place of the uninformed say “Amen” at your giving of thanks, since he does not understand what you say?

17For you indeed give thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18I thank my God I speak with tongues more than you all;

19yet in the church I would rather speak five words with my understanding, that I may teach others also, than ten thousand words in a tongue.

Tongues a Sign to Unbelievers

[20]Brethren, do not be children in understanding; however, in malice be babes, but in understanding be mature.

[21]In the law it is written:

> "With men of other tongues and other lips
> I will speak to this people;
> And yet, for all that, they will not hear Me,"[b] says the Lord.

[22]Therefore tongues are for a sign, not to those who believe but to unbelievers; but prophesying is not for unbelievers but for those who believe.

[23]Therefore if the whole church comes together in one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those who are uninformed or unbelievers, will they not say that you are out of your mind?

[24]But if all prophesy, and an unbeliever or an uninformed person comes in, he is convinced by all, he is convicted by all.

[25]And thus[c] the secrets of his heart are revealed; and so, falling down on his face, he will worship God and report that God is truly among you.

Order in Church Meetings

[26]How is it then, brethren? Whenever you come together, each of you has a psalm, has a teaching, has a tongue, has a revelation, has an interpretation. Let all things be done for edification.

[27]If anyone speaks in a tongue, let there be two or at the most three, each in turn, and let one interpret.

[28]But if there is no interpreter, let him keep silent in church, and let him speak to himself and to God.

[29]Let two or three prophets speak, and let the others judge.

[30]But if anything is revealed to another who sits by, let the first keep silent.

[31]For you can all prophesy one by one, that all may learn and all may be encouraged.

[32]And the spirits of the prophets are subject to the prophets.

[33]For God is not the author of confusion but of peace, as in all the churches of the saints.

[34]Let your[d] women keep silent in the churches, for they are not permitted to speak; but they are to be submissive, as the law also says.

35And if they want to learn something, let them ask their own husbands at home; for it is shameful for women to speak in church.

36Or did the word of God come originally from you? Or was it you only that it reached?

37If anyone thinks himself to be a prophet or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things which I write to you are the commandments of the Lord.

38But if anyone is ignorant, let him be ignorant.[e]

39Therefore, brethren, desire earnestly to prophesy, and do not forbid to speak with tongues.

40Let all things be done decently and in order.

1 Corinthians 15

The Risen Christ, Faith's Reality

(cf. Mark 16:9–20)

1Moreover, brethren, I declare to you the gospel which I preached to you, which also you received and in which you stand, 2by which also you are saved, if you hold fast that word which I preached to you—unless you believed in vain.

3For I delivered to you first of all that which I also received: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures,

4and that He was buried, and that He rose again the third day according to the Scriptures, 5and that He was seen by Cephas, then by the twelve.

6After that He was seen by over five hundred brethren at once, of whom the greater part remain to the present, but some have fallen asleep.

7After that He was seen by James, then by all the apostles.

8Then last of all He was seen by me also, as by one born out of due time.

9For I am the least of the apostles, who am not worthy to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.

10But by the grace of God I am what I am, and His grace toward me was not in vain; but I labored more abundantly than they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me.

11Therefore, whether it was I or they, so we preach and so you believed.

The Risen Christ, Our Hope

(cf. 1 Thess. 4:13–18)

12 Now if Christ is preached that He has been raised from the dead, how do some among you say that there is no resurrection of the dead?
13 But if there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ is not risen.
14 And if Christ is not risen, then our preaching is empty and your faith is also empty.
15 Yes, and we are found false witnesses of God, because we have testified of God that He raised up Christ, whom He did not raise up—if in fact the dead do not rise.
16 For if the dead do not rise, then Christ is not risen.
17 And if Christ is not risen, your faith is futile; you are still in your sins!
18 Then also those who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished.
19 If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men the most pitiable.

The Last Enemy Destroyed

20 But now Christ is risen from the dead, and has become the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep.
21 For since by man came death, by Man also came the resurrection of the dead.
22 For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ all shall be made alive.
23 But each one in his own order: Christ the firstfruits, afterward those who are Christ's at His coming.
24 Then comes the end, when He delivers the kingdom to God the Father, when He puts an end to all rule and all authority and power.
25 For He must reign till He has put all enemies under His feet.
26 The last enemy that will be destroyed is death.
27 For "He has put all things under His feet."[a] But when He says "all things are put under Him," it is evident that He who put all things under Him is excepted.
28 Now when all things are made subject to Him, then the Son Himself will also be subject to Him who put all things under Him, that God may be all in all.

Effects of Denying the Resurrection

29 Otherwise, what will they do who are baptized for the dead, if the dead do not rise at all? Why then are they baptized for the dead?

30 And why do we stand in jeopardy every hour?

31 I affirm, by the boasting in you which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 If, in the manner of men, I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantage is it to me? If the dead do not rise, "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!"[b]

33 Do not be deceived: "Evil company corrupts good habits."

34 Awake to righteousness, and do not sin; for some do not have the knowledge of God. I speak this to your shame.

A Glorious Body

35 But someone will say, "How are the dead raised up? And with what body do they come?"

36 Foolish one, what you sow is not made alive unless it dies.

37 And what you sow, you do not sow that body that shall be, but mere grain—perhaps wheat or some other grain.

38 But God gives it a body as He pleases, and to each seed its own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one kind of flesh[c] of men, another flesh of animals, another of fish, and another of birds.

40 There are also celestial bodies and terrestrial bodies; but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.

41 There is one glory of the sun, another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for one star differs from another star in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power.

44 It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.

45 And so it is written, "The first man Adam became a living being."[d] The last Adam became a life-giving spirit.

46 However, the spiritual is not first, but the natural, and afterward the spiritual.

47 The first man was of the earth, made of dust; the second Man is the Lord[e] from heaven.

48 As was the man of dust, so also are those who are made of dust; and as is the heavenly Man, so also are those who are heavenly.

49 And as we have borne the image of the man of dust, we shall also bear[f] the image of the heavenly Man.

Our Final Victory

50 Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; nor does corruption inherit incorruption.

51 Behold, I tell you a mystery: We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed—

52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

54 So when this corruptible has put on incorruption, and this mortal has put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written:
"Death is swallowed up in victory."[g]

> 55 "O Death, where is your sting?[h]
> O Hades, where is your victory?"[i]

56 The sting of death is sin, and the strength of sin is the law.

57 But thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Therefore, my beloved brethren, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that your labor is not in vain in the Lord.

1 Corinthians 16

Collection for the Saints

1 Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given orders to the churches of Galatia, so you must do also:

2 On the first day of the week let each one of you lay something aside, storing up as he may prosper, that there be no collections when I come.

3 And when I come, whomever you approve by your letters I will send to bear your gift to Jerusalem.

4But if it is fitting that I go also, they will go with me.

Personal Plans

(cf. Acts 19:21)

5Now I will come to you when I pass through Macedonia (for I am passing through Macedonia).
6And it may be that I will remain, or even spend the winter with you, that you may send me on my journey, wherever I go.
7For I do not wish to see you now on the way; but I hope to stay a while with you, if the Lord permits.
8But I will tarry in Ephesus until Pentecost.
9For a great and effective door has opened to me, and there are many adversaries.
10And if Timothy comes, see that he may be with you without fear; for he does the work of the Lord, as I also do.
11Therefore let no one despise him. But send him on his journey in peace, that he may come to me; for I am waiting for him with the brethren.
12Now concerning our brother Apollos, I strongly urged him to come to you with the brethren, but he was quite unwilling to come at this time; however, he will come when he has a convenient time.

Final Exhortations

13Watch, stand fast in the faith, be brave, be strong.
14Let all that you do be done with love.
15I urge you, brethren—you know the household of Stephanas, that it is the firstfruits of Achaia, and that they have devoted themselves to the ministry of the saints—16that you also submit to such, and to everyone who works and labors with us.
17I am glad about the coming of Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus, for what was lacking on your part they supplied.
18For they refreshed my spirit and yours. Therefore acknowledge such men.

Greetings and a Solemn Farewell

19 The churches of Asia greet you. Aquila and Priscilla greet you heartily in the Lord, with the church that is in their house.
20 All the brethren greet you. Greet one another with a holy kiss.
21 The salutation with my own hand—Paul's.
22 If anyone does not love the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be accursed.[a] O
Lord, come![b]
23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.
24 My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Annotations for 1 Corinthians

1:1 Since Paul is called to be an apostle by the will of God, men cannot remove him as some were trying to do. A Sosthenes is also mentioned in Acts 18:17 as the ruler of the synagogue at Corinth. Probably this is he: there are stories of his spectacular conversion in early records, which also report that Sosthenes became bishop of Caesarea.

1:2 Despite disorder, disunity, and error among the Corinthians, the apostle still calls them the church of God, sanctified in Christ, and saints, those set apart to God. Baptized into Christ, united with Him, this Church by His mercy is one with the faithful everywhere.

1:3 Grace is God's unlimited, unconditional, uncreated love, freely given to those who do not deserve it. Peace is our reconciliation with God and with each other. "Peace to you," found repeatedly in the OT, is the common everyday greeting then and now throughout the Middle East. "Peace be to you" in the Orthodox Divine Liturgy is connected to the reading of the Gospel, the kiss of peace, and the Lord's Prayer. Jesus gave to the disciples the gift of peace, which is the presence of the Holy Spirit (Jn 14:27; 20:19).

1:4–9 Though he will later rebuke this church severely, Paul's assurance concerning their gifts and calling is sincere. For God's grace is given to the Church in every place, even in Corinth.

1:4 Nothing is so acceptable to God as our thankfulness for His grace, both to us and to others.

1:7 Revelation implies that although He is not seen, yet the Lord Jesus Christ is present even now, and then shall appear in glory. The Second Coming of Christ is a main point in Paul's teaching, for then our salvation will be clearly revealed and fully known.

1:10 Here for the first time Paul rebukes the Corinthians, pleading with them in the name of the Lord to put away divisions and maintain unity in the church.

1:11 Chloe was a prominent woman who hosted the Corinthian church in her home and who faithfully reported these contentions to Paul.

1:12 Apollos was a learned Jew from Alexandria, Egypt, "mighty in the Scriptures" (Acts 18:24). Originally a follower of "the baptism of John" (Acts 18:25), he was taught more fully about Christ by Priscilla and Aquila at Ephesus, and he later preached at Corinth, where some saw him as a rival to Paul. Tradition tells us Apollos became the first bishop of Crete (see Tts 3:13). Paul makes it plain that he and Apollos are partners in apostolic work and that Apollos would not approve of the factionalism in Corinth (3:4–6; 4:6; 16:12).

1:13 Is Christ divided? Or is the Church? The answer to all questions in this passage is no. One can leave the Church, but not divide it! Factionalism, however, brings great harm to the Church, for it seeks to give to the apostle a place only Christ should occupy (vv. 13–17). Many looked upon the apostles as teachers of philosophy rather than preachers of the Cross (1:18–2:5). The factious do not accept true wisdom, which is bestowed by the Spirit (2:6–3:4), and they misrepresent the apostles as rivals to each other rather than as fellow workers with Christ (3:5–23).

1:14 Crispus had been the ruler of the synagogue at Corinth (Acts 18:8). Converted through the preaching of Paul, then baptized, he was apparently succeeded as ruler by Sosthenes (Acts 18:17). Gaius was a resident of Corinth with whom Paul was staying when he wrote the Epistle to the Romans (Rom 16:23). The third epistle of John (see 3Jn 1) seems to have been directed to this same Gaius.

1:15–17 Paul's denial does not degrade baptism; he is simply emphasizing that baptizing is not his primary role. As an apostle, Paul's primary job is to preach the gospel (v. 17), teaching those seeking God to be baptized. The one who performs a baptism is God's instrument; the convert's loyalty must be to God alone.

1:17–25 Wisdom of words (v. 17) refers especially to philosophical thought and rhetorical devices. Such human wisdom by itself does not promote salvation or an understanding of how God works in the world and what He wishes us to do.

1:18 Why is the message of the cross . . . foolishness to unbelievers? "It is a mark of them that perish not to recognize the things which lead to salvation" (JohnChr). We who bear witness to Christ must not be discouraged when those outside of Him mock, for so did once even Paul himself. Being saved, present tense, refers to the process by which the Cross transforms us with the power of God.

🕮 1:18—2:2 This passage is read at Vespers of Great and Holy Friday, the Friday before Pascha (Easter).

🕮 1:18–24 This passage is read on September 14, the Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross.

1:22 To those who request a sign, the Church offers one: the Cross! The Cross is to be adored, for wherever the sign may be, there Jesus will be.

1:24 Since Christ is the power and wisdom of God the Father—the brightness of the Father's glory (Heb 1:3), the substantial and perfect Image of the invisible God—where He is, there is the uncreated and saving grace of God. His Cross restores man to immortality and stirs up desire for the things of heaven.

1:28 The base things of the world are "those persons who are considered to be nothing because of their great insignificance" (JohnChr). There is no such thing as a "no-account" Christian (v. 27; 2Co 12:9).

2:4, 5 Great preaching is not with "swelling words" (2Pt 2:18) but with (1) the anointing of the Holy Spirit and (2) the dynamic of God's power.

2:6, 7 The mature (Gr. teleioi) are the "spiritual" (Gr. pneumatikoi) of v. 15. Mystery here is the gospel of the Kingdom (see Rom 16:25; Eph 3:3, 4, 9; 6:19; Col 4:3; 1Ti 3:9, 16), which neither angels nor any other creature knew before it was revealed by Christ, even though the Incarnation of the Son was God's plan from eternity for transforming creation. Moreover, that Gospel is hidden from those who perish (2Co 4:3). Those who will not believe do not grasp what is clear to the faithful.

2:8 The Lord of glory demonstrates that the dignity and honor of Jesus is that of God the Father Himself (Ex 24:16–18). The incarnate Son of God, who clothes Himself "with light as with a garment" (Ps 103:2), stood naked before human judges, receiving blows from hands which He had formed. The Lord of Glory, the Son of the Father, was crucified in His humanity (Acts 2:36). They crucified God!

2:9 Paul seems to have collected phrases from several passages (Is 52:15; 64:3; 65:17; Jer 3:16; WSir 1:10), though this may have come from an early hymn.

2:10—3:4 We come to know God's wisdom through the Holy Spirit, for the Holy Spirit knows the things of God (v. 11), just as the spirit of the man knows what is in man. Note Paul's threefold classification of humanity:

(1) The natural man (lit. "soulish"; v. 14) is one not yet joined to Christ, unenlightened and unregenerate. For such people, divine things appear to be foolishness because they inquire into divine things by human and natural reasoning rather than receiving these by faith.

(2) The spiritual man (2:15) is filled with the Holy Spirit given at chrismation and is maturing in his knowledge of Christ.

(3) The carnal man (lit. "fleshly"; 3:1) is the person who, while in the Church, has his mind set on earthly things, still trying to satisfy personal wants and selfish desires.

We reveal our spiritual condition by our relationships with other Christians. The lesson is plain: Growth in our fellowship with God demands living in the overcoming strength of the Holy Spirit, who brings unity to the Church and great victory over petty, egocentric squabblings.

2:12–15 Enlightenment from God in itself is beyond all words, and even beyond evaluation by other men (v. 15). Nevertheless, the Holy Spirit speaks through spiritual people words that truly reflect the unspeakable knowledge of faith. This language of faith in turn leads spiritually minded people to know God better, although it baffles the natural man (v. 14).

2:16 The mind of Christ is enlightenment by the Holy Spirit (v. 10). He brings those chrismated into communion with Christ and others of like mind in His Body, the Church. The mind of Christ, then, is not private but is given to all: it is the mind of the Church.

3:1–4 Note the gospel was first communicated through the spoken word of the apostles. Since God inspires both oral (apostolic preaching) and written (scriptural) communication of His Word, oral and written Tradition form a seamless whole.

3:6–17 The Church is an organic whole: it is (1) planted (vv. 6–9), (2) a building (vv. 9–11), (3) a temple (vv. 16, 17). In vv. 16, 17 you is plural and refers to the whole Church. One who would break this unity would desecrate a sacred place.

3:9 Fellow workers (Gr. synergoi) refers to the biblical concept of synergism, shown here by the way the apostles work together with God in carrying out the ministry. So too, we as God's fellow workers cooperate with Him to do His will. By this cooperation or synergy with God, we do not mean a working together of equals, or a so-called fifty-fifty arrangement. Rather we mean that He is the Lord, and we His servants are called to participate obediently in His work.

3:18–20 The wisdom of this world (v. 19) is attractive and reasonable, and on the surface appears to be true. But such earthly wisdom denies God and leads us away from Him—not to fulfillment, but to death. True wisdom and life are found only in Christ, in our total abandonment to the love of God and neighbor.

3:21–23 Yours and you here are plural. They refer not to the individual but to the corporate Church. The Church possesses the whole, all things, because the Church is the Body of Christ—His perfect and glorified humanity—and Christ is God. Individual opinion in doctrine and private interpretation of Scripture that stand apart from those of the Church, or outside of apostolic tradition, are marks of worldly wisdom.

4:3 Here, as in 2:15, judge (Gr. anakrinein) is difficult to render in English. Anakrinein is comparable to the investigation that takes place before and during a trial and preceding judgment; krinein (v. 5; Mt 7:1), to rendering of a verdict. Many Corinthians prejudged Paul as an unfaithful steward; some denied his apostolic authority (see Introduction to 2 Corinthians). For Paul it is improper for them, or even for himself, to prejudge his life, for Christ is the Judge.

4:6 In the expression, beyond what is written, most likely Paul refers to the whole OT, reminding the Corinthians that all Scripture urges us not to be proud or contentious. Puffed up in Greek suggests the swollen inflammation around an infected wound; it may be rendered "arrogant" (vv. 18, 19; 5:2).

4:7 Paul directs a series of sharp questions to the Corinthians to deflate their pride. Nothing justifies thinking ourselves better than or above anyone else.

📖 4:9–16 This passage is read for the commemoration of apostles.

4:10 Irony and sarcasm are bitter medicine, and Paul uses them here (vv. 8–13) with full force. The three parallel statements we are fools, we are weak, we are dishonored are heaped upon each other in a stinging series. The relative comfort of the Corinthian Christians is contrasted with the persecuted, poverty-stricken and uncertain life of the apostles (vv. 11–13; see Mk 6:4; 9:35; 10:31).

4:12, 13 The apostles have endured all kinds of humiliation, being treated as filth, and instead of fighting back have responded with love toward their persecutors—all for the joy of serving Christ and reconciling the world to God.

4:14–16 Paul soothes the soreness of his rebuke by reminding them of his fatherhood (see the note on Mt 23:9, 10). As in a family, so in the Church, maturing children need parental guidance. The apostle to the Gentiles—thus to most Christians—writes imitate me because he imitates Christ (11:1).

4:18–20 Paul will soon visit Corinth and face those who prejudge him to see if any power (Gr. dunamis) lies behind their word. Citizenship in the kingdom of God, discovered in the Church, does not consist in mere talk, but is manifested in a growing life of grace.

5:1 Sexual immorality (Gr. porneia, from which we get "pornography") originally meant prostitution, later immorality in general. In this case of incest, his father's wife is not the man's own mother, but a stepmother. Even so, this sin is grievous among Jews and Gentiles alike.

5:2 The Greek word for mourned (pentheo) is also used in the Septuagint to refer to (1) grieving for the dead, and (2) sorrow over unrepentant sinners (see Neh 8:9; Is 24:4; Dan 10:2; Am 8:8). Taken away from among you refers to excommunication.

5:4 My spirit (Gr. pneuma) is Paul's human spirit, which is being sanctified by the Holy Spirit.

5:5 In the Church there is protection from the destructive power of Satan (Mt 16:18). This protection is here removed through excommunication in the hope that, having experienced the difference between God's rule and Satan's, this offender may repent and in the end be saved. The flesh (Gr. sarx) is not synonymous with "body" (Gr. soma; see v. 3). Paul is calling for the destruction not of the body but rather of the lusts of the flesh.

5:6–8 The Israelites were to remove the leaven (v. 7) from their houses in preparation for Passover (Ex 12:1–30), the remembrance of their freedom from Pharaoh's bondage. Christ, crucified and risen, is our Paschal lamb, our Passover. United to Him in baptism, our life becomes an unending deliverance from evil. Since our life in Christ includes keeping the feast (v. 8), Passover fulfilled in Eucharist, the old leaven of malice and wickedness must be continually removed from us personally and corporately.

5:9 My epistle to which Paul refers is apparently lost. There is evidence Paul wrote letters which were lost and not incorporated in the NT canon (see Col 4:16).

5:12, 13 Those . . . who are outside is an ancient Semitic expression for those outside the community of God (see WSir, Prologue; Mk 4:11; Col 4:5; 1Th 4:12; 1Ti 3:7).

6:1 Before the unrighteous refers to judges of secular courts at Corinth. Paul asks, why seek justice before the unjust and not before the saints, their fellow Christians? This is the biblical basis for church courts.

6:2, 3 Saints will judge the world (v. 2) and angels (v. 3) because in Christ, Christians share in His authority to judge (see Mt 19:28; Jn 5:22, 27; 2Pt 2:4; Jude 6; Rev 20:4). This being so, how much more are we able to judge the everyday concerns of this life (v. 3)?

6:7 Love of litigation is a love of greed, hatred, and retaliation. Christians ought to be possessed of generosity, mercy, and forgiveness. To let yourselves be cheated is to turn the other cheek (see Mt 5:39).

6:9, 10 As to those who will not inherit the kingdom of God, see 15:50; Gal 5:19–21; Eph 5:5; Rev 21:7, 8; 22:15.

6:11 Salvation includes being washed in Holy Baptism, sanctified through the giving of the Holy Spirit in the oil of chrismation, and justified through our faith. Such were some of you shows that in Christ we can be set free from the very worst of sins (see vv. 8–10).

6:12 All things are lawful for me may be a statement Paul made in Corinth sometime earlier (perhaps regarding the Mosaic cleanliness code) which the libertines took out of context as their slogan. The apostle sets the record straight: without discipline and discernment through obedience to Christ, freedom from law is slavery to sin.

📖 6:12–20 This passage is read on the third Sunday before Great Lent, called the Sunday of the Prodigal Son.

6:13 The libertines in Corinth—as some do today—argued that illicit sex (adultery and fornication) is as necessary for the body as eating, and both are irrelevant to the spiritual life. Paul contends the body belongs to God, and everything is relevant to the spiritual life. Therefore, dealing with sin means controlling our bodies. This is why in the Orthodox Church abstinence from foods is the first discipline of the Fast, which also includes prayer and charitable giving.

6:15 When Paul calls our bodies members of Christ (see 12:12; Rom 6:13; 12:4, 5), he is reminding us of our union with Christ in baptism (see Rom 6:3–10). Fornication is therefore a sin to be fled in horror, for it joins Christ to harlots. "We have many improper wishes, but we must repress them, for we can" (JohnChr).

6:19 Temple here refers to the individual Christian as a dwelling place of the Spirit.

7:1 Paul's personal preference is for celibacy, but he knows this is a "gift from God" (v. 7) that is not given to all.

7:4 The mutuality of marriage, the equality of commitment, that Paul enjoins here is unprecedented in his era. Speaking of husband and wife, St. John Chrysostom teaches neither "is master of himself . . . they are servants to each other."

7:5 While periodic ascetic practices, including temporary abstinence from sexual relations for the sake of prayer, are good, sexual abstinence by married people for other reasons and at other times is usually unwise.

7:8, 9 It is wise to consider marriage rather than to insist upon the virtue of chastity and fight a losing battle against sexual passion.

7:11 If a Christian couple cannot stay together, the two alternatives are to remain unmarried, that is, separated, or be reconciled. Divorce is hated by God (Mal 2:16), a last measure, a great calamity. Paul forbids remarriage while the first spouse is still living (v. 39).

7:14 In Judaism the family was joined to the covenant through the father. But in the Church, the family is holy if either spouse is a believer (see also 2Ti 1:5). This does not mean that all are saved, but all are affected by the faith of a Christian spouse. The family is a spiritual unit: if one member is a Christian, the whole family is set apart by God's grace.

7:17–28 When the Lord has called (v. 17) us into His salvation, we do not change our ethnic identity (vv. 18, 19) or our occupations (vv. 20–23), and we certainly do not rush out and get married or divorced (vv. 25–28)—though Paul's counsel is a preferred option, not a command. Keeping the commandments of God *is what matters (v. 19).

7:26 The present distress probably refers to the trials and tribulations of life just before the glorious coming of Christ, which Paul perceived as imminent (vv. 29–33).

7:29–35 Paul expects an imminent end of this age. The time is short; it is better to minimize obligations in this age—without being irresponsible—in order to be prepared for the age to come.

7:36–38 It is not clear whether any man is the father or the fiancé of the virgin, but in any case the option of her marriage is left open.

7:39, 40 Though Paul once again recommends the unmarried state, he affirms the holiness of marriage and gives the widow a choice: to be married . . . in the Lord (v. 39), that is to another Christian, or to remain as she is (v. 40).

8:4–13 Throughout the Roman Empire, animals were sacrificed to pagan "gods" at feasts and public occasions. Part of each offering was used in a ceremonial meal or went to the donor; the remainder was often sold in public meat markets. Christians had a dilemma. Should they eat meat that had been offered before idols? The Jews had prohibitions, but the Christians believed an idol is nothing. Paul answers they are correct in principle (v. 8), but they must think about other people's consciences (vv. 9, 10). Love of God and of fellow Christians compels Paul not to eat such meat (v. 13).

8:6 Of whom and through whom do not speak of the divine nature, but of the relationship of the Father and the Son to us.

📖 8:8—9:2 This passage is read on the second Sunday before Great Lent, called Meat Fare Sunday, or Sunday of the Last Judgment.

9:1 Paul's apostleship is under attack; in this chapter he defends it.

9:2 The effectiveness of the clergy is certified by the spiritual condition of the sheep.

9:11 Clergy must be given material support to be free to sow spiritual things. God saw to this under the Old Covenant (vv. 8, 9), and Paul implies that most Christian pastors are similarly supported (vv. 5, 6).

📖 9:19–27 This passage is read on January 5, the Eve of the Feast of Theophany.

9:24–27 Using contemporary terms from the sports of running (vv. 24, 25) and boxing (vv. 26, 27), Paul shows the proper use of ascetic practices in the life of faith. They are valuable not in themselves, but for the sake of the goal of salvation. As training prepares an athlete, so spiritual discipline prepares a Christian to exercise faith and enter the Kingdom.

10:1 Paul often uses I do not want you to be unaware or a similar formula (Rom 11:25; 12:1; 2Co 1:8; Col 2:1; 1Th 4:13) to introduce a matter vital to the Christian faith.

📖 10:1–4 This passage is read on January 5, the Eve of the Feast of Theophany.

10:2–4 Israel's liberation from Egypt by Moses prefigures our liberation from sin by Christ. The cloud is a symbol of the Holy Spirit; the sea, of water and baptism; the Rock (v. 4), of the body of Christ, His humanity; and the spiritual drink, of Christ's blood. Jesus Himself linked these events of the Passover with the Eucharist when He established it (Mt 26:17–29).

10:5–8 In spite of her baptism in the Red Sea (v. 2) and her spiritual eating and drinking (vv. 3, 4), Israel still fell into idolatry and sexual immorality.

10:6 The lessons of the OT, here those surrounding the Passover (vv. 1–5), are examples for us, that we might not repeat the same mistakes.

10:16, 17 The English word communion (Gr. koinonia) is the correct translation; the alternative, "fellowship," is too weak. For at Communion, at the Eucharist, there is a real participation in the body and blood of Christ. Just as Christ's human body is united to Him, so we are united to Him. As many grains become one loaf, those who take this communion become one in Christ.

10:18 Israel after the flesh is the Israel of Judaism as contrasted to the true Israel, which is the Church, the Israel of God (see Gal 6:16).

10:19–22 All worship is sacramental, even false worship. To genuinely offer a sacrifice is to unite spiritually with the object of that offering. An idol (v. 19) by itself is nothing, but behind them lurk demons (v. 20) waiting for someone to partake of them. The Christian offering is the once-for-all sacrifice of Jesus Christ. We are not to engage in any worship contrary to or in competition with the Eucharist of Christ.

10:23, 24 Christians are obligated to obey only one law: the law of Christ, the law of love. This obligates us to what is helpful (v. 23) and edifying to the other's well-being (v. 24). We therefore continually seek the good of others in every way.

10:25–33 Since God created everything, everything is clean (v. 26), even what was once used in idolatrous worship (vv. 25, 27). However, offending a fellow Christian in nonessential matters breaks the law of love, the bond of unity (vv. 28–30). If we say that it affects no one but ourselves, yet we must do what is to the glory of God (v. 31), or else we offend God. The salvation of all is more important than the rights of the individual (v. 33). A right is never inalienable if it alienates us from others. Note that Paul assumes Christians say a prayer at meals (v. 30).

11:2 Remember is primarily a word of liturgical prayer: The Corinthians constantly pray for their apostle in their corporate prayers. Delivered (Gr. paredoka) refers to the passing on of authentic apostolic tradition. Keep the traditions refers to obedience to what has been delivered—God-given oral tradition, from which Paul taught. He makes no distinction between the authority of his written and his oral instruction.

11:17–19 When the Corinthians come together (v. 17) as the Church, they reveal the world, not heaven. For divisions (v. 18, Gr. schismata) and factions (v. 19, Gr. haireseis) are contrary to the Church, which is one and indivisible. Paul finds only one good thing in this ungodly disorder: God's approved (v. 19) faithful are shown to be trustworthy.

11:20–22 The agape meal held before or after the Lord's Supper (see vv. 33, 34; also 2Pt 2:13; Jude 12), was intended to build and unify the community in Christ. It gave the rich opportunity to serve the poor, for everyone brought food and shared it—an ancient potluck supper. When the Corinthians come together, however, they experience drunkenness and gluttony, not Christ and His Body, manifesting not God's love (Gr. agape) but self-love.

11:23–26 Received (Gr. parelabon) and delivered (v. 23) refer to the transmission of Holy Tradition. These words were part of the eucharistic celebration in the first century just as they are today. Remembrance (vv. 24, 25; Gr. anamnesis) is far more than thinking back about something; it is participation in it. In the Eucharist we participate in Christ's human nature, His body and His blood. The Jews were permitted to eat meat but not blood, for the life is in the blood (Lv 17:11), and life belongs to God. Now the Israel of God, the Church, breaks this fast and feasts, as it were, by eating Christ's body and drinking His blood in the Divine Liturgy. We proclaim the Lord's death till He comes (v. 26), for we presently celebrate the Eucharist in Christ's invisible presence, though one day we will feast with Him face to face in His Kingdom.

11:27 To receive Christ's body and blood in an unworthy manner means coming to Him with hidden immorality (6:18–20), disunity (v. 18), doctrinal heresy (v. 19), or disorder (vv. 21, 22), failing to see the gifts of God as holy things for holy people.

11:28 We prepare for the Eucharist by examining ourselves. This includes confessing our sins and being reconciled to one another in the sacrament of repentance (Mt 5:23–26). In the Orthodox Church this confession before God is done in the presence of a priest, who visibly represents Christ

(Mt 16:19; 18:18–20; Jn 20:23), and in general prayers of confession. Being "worthy" does not mean being sinless, but being cleansed. It is not legalism but commitment to walk in righteousness before God.

11:29, 30 There is such power in the body and blood of Christ communicated to us in the eating and drinking of His gifts (Jn 6:54–56) that to do so in willful disregard of the Lord could result in sickness and even death.

11:31, 32 God's promise is that if we judge ourselves we will not be condemned with the world (v. 32).

11:33, 34 The agape meal, connected to the Eucharist, was conducted with the same dignity as the Eucharist. While the Corinthian church ate before Communion and present-day Orthodox Christians fast, the spirit of their eating was the same as our fasting: preparation.

The Eucharist

"For I received from the Lord that which I also delivered to you: that the Lord Jesus on the same night in which He was betrayed took bread; and when He had given thanks [Gr. eucharistesas], He broke it and said, 'Take, eat; this is My body which is broken for you; do this in remembrance of Me.' In the same manner He also took the cup after supper, saying, 'This cup is the new covenant in My blood. This do, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of Me'" (1Co 11:23–25).

With these words—quoting the words of Christ in Luke 22:19, 20—St. Paul instructs the Corinthians concerning the Eucharist, the giving of thanks. Some two thousand years after Jesus gave Himself "for the life of the world" (Jn 6:51), there are in Christendom at least three different interpretations of His words.

For the first thousand years of Christian history, when the Church was visibly one and undivided, the holy gifts of the Body and Blood of Christ were received as just that: His Body and Blood. The Church confessed this was a mystery: The bread is truly His Body, that which is in the cup is truly His Blood, but one cannot say how they become so.

The eleventh and twelfth centuries brought on the scholastic era, the Age of Reason in the West. The Roman Church, which had become separated from the Orthodox Church in 1054, was pressed by the rationalists to define how the transformation occurs. They answered with the word transubstantiation, meaning a change of substance. The elements are no longer bread and wine; they are physically changed into flesh and blood. The sacrament, which only faith can comprehend, was subjected to a philosophical definition. This second view was unknown in the ancient Church.

Not surprisingly, one of the points of disagreement between Rome and the sixteenth-century reformers was this issue of transubstantiation. Unable to accept this explanation of the sacrament, the radical reformers, who were rationalists themselves, took up the opposite point of view: the gifts are nothing but bread and wine, period. They only represent Christ's Body and Blood; they have no spiritual reality. This third, symbol-only view helps explains the infrequency with which some Protestants partake of the Eucharist.

What do the Scriptures teach concerning the Eucharist?

1. Jesus said, "This is My body . . . this is My blood" (Lk 22:19, 20). He never says these gifts merely symbolize His Body and Blood. Critics have charged that Jesus also said of Himself, "I am the door" (Jn 10:7), and He certainly is not a seven-foot wooden plank. The flaw in that argument is obvious: at no time has the Church ever believed He was a literal door. But she has always believed the consecrated gifts of bread and wine are truly His Body and Blood.
2. In the New Testament, those who receive Christ's Body and Blood unworthily are said to bring condemnation upon themselves. "For this reason many are weak and sick among you, and many sleep" (literally, "are dead"; 1Co 11:30). A mere symbol, a quarterly reminder, could hardly have the power to cause sickness and death!

3. Historically, from New Testament days on, the central act of worship, the very apex of spiritual sacrifice, took place "on the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread" (Acts 20:7). The Eucharist has always been that supreme act of thanksgiving and praise to God in His Church.

12:1 The Corinthians were ignorant not of the spiritual gifts but of how they were to be used in service to God.

12:2 It is possible to get carried away and led into error. For not all gifts are from the Holy Spirit. Demons lurk behind dumb idols (v. 2), speaking evil prophecies through the religious ecstasies of their priests (see Acts 16:16). Religious ecstasy or enthusiasm is no proof of spirituality.

12:3 The sign of the Holy Spirit speaking is when Christians say from the heart, Jesus is Lord. Every time we say the Nicene Creed sincerely at the Divine Liturgy, for example, we are gifted by the Holy Spirit to do so.

12:4–6 Every true gift and ministry in the Church manifests the Holy Trinity: the Spirit (v. 4), the Son, the Lord (v. 5) Jesus Christ, and the Father, God (v. 6). While the working out of our chrismation is primarily the grace of the Holy Spirit, it is the work of the Trinity as well. Note there are diversities or differences of gifts and activities; no two Christians are alike.

12:7 The purpose of spiritual gifts is the growth of the whole Church. "A charism is a gift of the Holy Spirit given for the benefit of others. But no person possesses all the gifts" (BasilG).

12:8–10 This list of nine gifts is not exhaustive (see 14:1–5; Rom 12:6–8; Eph 4:7–12).

12:12, 13 Paul here moves from the gifts in the Church to the members of the one body of Christ. Note how the many members are to work as one.

12:14–18 A remarkable passage that leaves no room for a spiritual inferiority complex (see also vv. 22–24). Every member of Christ's body is important to the overall life and work of the Church.

12:26 There is no such thing as an "individual" Christian. Being "knit together in love" (Col 2:2), we are called in Christ to suffer together, be honored together, and rejoice together.

📖 12:27—13:8 This passage is read on days commemorating unmercenary healers.

12:28–31 There is a hierarchy of honor in the Church of the NT as there is in the Church today. The apostolic work, that of the bishop, sets the pace for all the rest. When the oversight is in order, the rest of the Church is free to function at the optimal level. But even with all the gifts in place and operative, there is something more excellent (v. 31). It is the love of God, the true sign of the presence of the Holy Spirit.

13:1 St. Basil the Great teaches there are three reasons, all biblical and all God-given, that people follow the Lord: (1) fear (Pr 1:7); (2) obedience, a recognition that because He is God we must follow Him (Acts 5:29); and (3) love (1Jn 4:19). And while we must aim to do all things out of love, we also must not cease fearing God and obeying Him. To a church preoccupied with tongues, Paul teaches the ultimate gift: love.

13:2 Love outshines prophecy and all faith. It is of far greater value than the miraculous ability to remove mountains.

13:3 Jesus urges us to "give to the poor" (Mt 19:21) and to lay down our lives for others (Jn 15:13). But even such a selfless act done without love profits us nothing.

13:4–8 How do we know we are acting with love (v. 4)? This passage gives specific characteristics of love: (1) it suffers long, is patient (1Th 5:14); (2) it is kind, gentle, especially with those who hurt (Eph 4:32); (3) it does not envy, is not jealous of what others have (Pr 23:17); (4) it does not parade itself, put itself on display (Jn 3:30); (5) it is not puffed up, arrogant, proud (Gal 6:3); (6) it does not act rudely, brashly, mean-spiritedly, insulting others (Ecc 5:2); (7) it does not seek its own way, act pushy (10:24); (8) it is not provoked or angered (Pr 19:11); (9) it thinks no evil, does not keep score on others (Heb 10:17); (10) it rejoices not in iniquity, takes no pleasure when others fall into sin (Mk 3:5); (11) it rejoices in the truth, is joyful when righteousness prevails (2Jn 4); (12) it bears all things, handles the burdensome (Gal 6:2); (13) it believes all things, trusts in God no matter what (Pr 3:5); (14) it hopes all things, keeps looking up, does not despair (Php 3:13); (15) it endures all things, "puts up with everything" (JohnChr), does not wear out (Gal 6:9); (16) it never fails. The only thing love cannot do is fail (16:14).

13:8–13 The gifts of the Spirit, wonderful as they are, are temporary and incomplete. They are for this age, while we are "children" (v. 11). But love continues into the age to come: it is eternal, complete, and fulfilling.

13:11 The Scriptures differentiate between being dependent on God, or childlike (Mt 18:3), and being childish or immature.

14:1 We are to desire or want the gifts of the Spirit, but pursue the love of God. St. John Chrysostom notes the difference. "Chase" love, he writes. "Make every effort" to retain her. To find this love one "strains himself, and leaves not off until he lay hold of it."

14:2 In the Orthodox Church, what about one who speaks in a tongue? Historically, God judged the builders of the Tower of Babel (Gn 11:1–9), dividing their unity by confusing their language. At Pentecost Vespers we hear, "Of old there was confusion of tongues because of the boldness of the tower builders." Then, "God condemned the infidels." But at Pentecost, "the Spirit of Christ illuminated the fishermen." At Babel, there was "confusion of tongues." At Pentecost, "the vision of tongues has been renewed." In the Church, as in the NT, the gift of tongues is last on the list of the gifts (12:10, 28), temporary (13:8), primarily for the edification of the one who speaks (v. 4), and difficult to understand (vv. 11, 14). St. John Chrysostom concludes that tongues are "neither altogether useless, nor very profitable."

📖 14:20–25 This passage is read on days commemorating prophets.

14:22, 23 Spiritual gifts are for all men, Christians and non-Christians. But tongues do not edify most Christians and fail to convert unbelievers (v. 22), instead repelling them and suggesting that Christians are out of their mind (v. 23).

14:25–33 This is a compassionate exhortation to the one who claims to possess the gift of tongues. This passage explains why the practice of tongues is not a part of the Divine Liturgy, which is to be entered into as God's living word. In worship we know God is truly among us (v. 25) because we have His prophetic word in our ears and upon our lips. Paul is here guiding a church that is severely out of balance. God is not the author of confusion (v. 33), and the truly spiritual can control themselves (v. 32). True spirituality is manifested in preparedness, propriety and order, courtesy, and control. If the Spirit is truly moving, there is peace. This is already a tradition of the Church (v. 33).

14:34–36 An early tradition in the Church is that women shall keep silent and not talk during the Liturgy. While they are permitted to prophesy (11:5) they are not allowed to simply converse (see also 1Ti 2:12). With the spiritual gifts (12:12–27), all are equal in Christ, while the order of the original creation remains in the new creation.

14:37 One can picture Paul as he writes thinking back over his hard sayings in chs. 12–14. He is clear: this is God's word, not man's.

15:3 Paul delivered an apostolic tradition of Christ's Resurrection which is unchanging and sufficient for salvation (v. 2). How had Paul received his gospel? By direct experience with the risen Lord (v. 8), confirmed by his interactions with the original apostles (Gal 2:2–10) and the whole Church. It is impossible to decipher what he learned where; in Paul's mind, his gospel forms a seamless whole. "To receive" designates the passing on of tradition (see 11:2, 23; Gal 1:9; Php 4:9; 1Th 2:13; 4:1).

15:3, 4 This concise statement of the gospel is probably part of an early creed or catechism. (See Ps 16:9–12; Gal 1:4; 1Jn 2:2; 4:10.)

15:5–8 Paul lists those who would testify to the truth of the Resurrection, from the first witnesses to Paul himself.

15:12–19 What is Christianity without the resurrection—both Christ's and ours? His death does us no good without it. What use is forgiveness if we remain dead? His disciples were transformed by His Resurrection, and this they preached above all. On Easter morning Orthodox Christians sing, "Christ is risen from the dead, trampling down death by death, and upon those in the tombs bestowing life."

15:20 As the firstfruits in the OT were consecrated to God as the representative and promise of later fruits (Ex 23:16), so the Resurrection of Jesus from the dead is the first offering of the resurrection of all who are His (v. 23).

📖 15:20–28, 39–57 This passage is read on days commemorating the departed.

15:22 All people share the same human nature, but Christians have two fathers: first Adam, who became the father of mortality and earthly life, and now Christ, the father of immortality and spiritual life.

15:24–28 The end is the consummation of the Kingdom when Christ's lordship over all will be fulfilled and He will offer creation up to God the Father (see Rom 8:19–23, 32–39). Although the Son (v. 28) shares the same divine nature and dignity as the Father, He is subject to the Father because only the Father is the source of divinity. God being all in all refers to the common lordship of the Trinity over all things, not to pantheism.

15:29 The meaning of baptized for the dead is much disputed. Many understand this as vicarious baptism of baptized Christians for deceased catechumens. St. John Chrysostom considered it a derisive comment about the practices of the Marcionite heretics. Epiphanius says it refers to a practice of the followers of Cerinthus, another gnostic teacher.

15:32 Fighting with beasts at Ephesus may refer to persecutions there (16:8, 9; Acts 19:21–31).

15:35–54 How will the dead rise? What is the resurrection body like? Paul's most basic contrast is that between the natural (lit. "soulish"; Gr. psychikon) and the spiritual (Gr. pneumatikon, v. 44), that is, between the present body and the deified body. Other contrasts are corruption vs. incorruption (v. 42), dishonor vs. glory (v. 43), weakness vs. power (v. 43), living "soul" (literal translation) vs. life-giving spirit (v. 45), of the earth vs. from heaven (v. 47), of dust vs. heavenly (v. 48), the mortal vs. the immortal (v. 54). This present body is only a seed (v. 38) of the body to come. The "spiritual" body is not a pale shadow of the material world we now know; the opposite is true. The resurrection body is the fulfillment of what God intends for our present body. It is the material fulfilled, not dematerialized.

15:45–49 Whose body is this? As our present body is Adam's, so the resurrection body is that of the last Adam, Christ.

15:50 Flesh and blood refers to human nature in its present weak and imperfect condition.

15:56 Our basic mortal condition is manifested in sin. We are born mortal; we then become sinful. Thus does death "sting" us before we die. Being a Christian is more than having one's sins forgiven or being good; it is being alive. The law is not sinful, but it exposes sin. And, since it does not provide the power to obey it, it increases sinfulness in unchanged humans (Rom 3:20; 4:15; 5:13, 20; 7:7; Gal 3:19–22).

15:58 The doctrine of the resurrection has a practical consequence: It is to move us to do the works that God would have us do, the work of the Lord.

16:1–4 See 2Co 8; 9.

16:17, 18 These men apparently were the carriers of the letter Paul answers in chs. 7–15 (7:1). Paul's displeasure with Corinth does not affect his joy for certain Corinthians.

16:19 Aquila and Priscilla were Jews who had been among those expelled from Rome by Claudius in AD 49–50. They had resided in Corinth for a while (Acts 18:2) and then moved to Ephesus (Acts 18:26).

16:21 Paul often dictated his letters to a secretary. The proof that he composed this letter is his closing signature.

The Second Book of the Corinthians

Author

St. Paul the Apostle is identified as the author in 1:1, and there is no reason to doubt his authorship.

Date

Second Corinthians was written the same year as 1 Corinthians (c. AD 55) from Macedonia, where Titus rejoined Paul with a report about the Corinthian church.

Major Theme

Reconciliation and communion. This theme is clearly seen in Paul's attempt to be reconciled to the Corinthian church. Other aspects of this theme include:

(1) The communion of saints. The Church is the Body of Christ: a corporate unity of all members in all things (see especially chs. 4–6).

(2) Apostleship and the Church. The faith and authority of properly ordained and recognized apostles is essential to the life of the Church. The relationship between the apostles and the laity is a communion of love.

(3) The unity of the Church. The collection for Jerusalem (chs. 8; 9) demonstrates the love and unity between the Gentile and the Judaic elements in the Church—manifested in sacrificial giving.

(4) The Church and the world. Christianity does not renounce and forsake the world, but renews it.

Background

For the historical setting of 2 Corinthians, see the Introduction to 1 Corinthians.

A major purpose of this second epistle is Paul's defense of his apostleship and his polemic against false apostles in Corinth. Outsiders have shown up in Corinth calling themselves "the most eminent apostles" (11:5; 12:11) or "super-apostles." They claim to be better than Paul, alleging that he does not measure up (13:5–7). They seek to prove Paul an impostor, bringing all kinds of outrageous charges against him. In their preaching they elevate themselves (4:5) and present a different gospel from Paul's (11:4). They teach that Christians must have exalted spiritual experiences and lead successful, painless lives, and should not be concerned about moral purity and holiness (6:14–7:1).

Paul perceives all this false teaching as a vain, earthly show, having nothing to do with God, the gospel, or the Kingdom (5:11–19). He reveals the false apostles as agents of Satan (4:3, 4; 6:15; 11:3, 13–15).

2 Corinthians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother,

To the church of God which is at Corinth, with all the saints who are in all Achaia:

2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Comfort in Suffering

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort,

4 who comforts us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort those who are in any trouble, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God.

5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also abounds through Christ.

6 Now if we are afflicted, it is for your consolation and salvation, which is effective for enduring the same sufferings which we also suffer. Or if we are comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation.

7 And our hope for you is steadfast, because we know that as you are partakers of the sufferings, so also you will partake of the consolation.

Delivered from Suffering

8 For we do not want you to be ignorant, brethren, of our trouble which came to us in Asia: that we were burdened beyond measure, above strength, so that we despaired even of life.

9 Yes, we had the sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not trust in ourselves but in God who raises the dead,

10 who delivered us from so great a death, and does[a] deliver us; in whom we trust that He will still deliver us,

11 you also helping together in prayer for us, that thanks may be given by many persons on our[b] behalf for the gift granted to us through many.

Paul's Sincerity

12For our boasting is this: the testimony of our conscience that we conducted ourselves in the world in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom but by the grace of God, and more abundantly toward you.

13For we are not writing any other things to you than what you read or understand. Now I trust you will understand, even to the end 14(as also you have understood us in part), that we are your boast as you also are ours, in the day of the Lord Jesus.

Sparing the Church

15And in this confidence I intended to come to you before, that you might have a second benefit—

16to pass by way of you to Macedonia, to come again from Macedonia to you, and be helped by you on my way to Judea.

17Therefore, when I was planning this, did I do it lightly? Or the things I plan, do I plan according to the flesh, that with me there should be Yes, Yes, and No, No?

18But as God is faithful, our word to you was not Yes and No.

19For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us—by me, Silvanus, and Timothy—was not Yes and No, but in Him was Yes.

20For all the promises of God in Him are Yes, and in Him Amen, to the glory of God through us.

21Now He who establishes us with you in Christ and has anointed us is God, 22who also has sealed us and given us the Spirit in our hearts as a guarantee.

23Moreover I call God as witness against my soul, that to spare you I came no more to Corinth.

24Not that we have dominion over your faith, but are fellow workers for your joy; for by faith you stand.

2 Corinthians 2

1But I determined this within myself, that I would not come again to you in sorrow.

2For if I make you sorrowful, then who is he who makes me glad but the one who is made sorrowful by me?

Forgive the Offender

3And I wrote this very thing to you, lest, when I came, I should have sorrow over those from whom I ought to have joy, having confidence in you all that my joy is the joy of you all.
4For out of much affliction and anguish of heart I wrote to you, with many tears, not that you should be grieved, but that you might know the love which I have so abundantly for you.
5But if anyone has caused grief, he has not grieved me, but all of you to some extent—not to be too severe.
6This punishment which was inflicted by the majority is sufficient for such a man,
7so that, on the contrary, you ought rather to forgive and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one be swallowed up with too much sorrow.
8Therefore I urge you to reaffirm your love to him.
9For to this end I also wrote, that I might put you to the test, whether you are obedient in all things.
10Now whom you forgive anything, I also forgive. For if indeed I have forgiven anything, I have forgiven that one[a] for your sakes in the presence of Christ,
11lest Satan should take advantage of us; for we are not ignorant of his devices.

Triumph in Christ

12Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christ's gospel, and a door was opened to me by the Lord, 13I had no rest in my spirit, because I did not find Titus my brother; but taking my leave of them, I departed for Macedonia.
14Now thanks be to God who always leads us in triumph in Christ, and through us diffuses the fragrance of His knowledge in every place.
15For we are to God the fragrance of Christ among those who are being saved and among those who are perishing.
16To the one we are the aroma of death leading to death, and to the other the aroma of life leading to life. And who is sufficient for these things?
17For we are not, as so many,[b] peddling the word of God; but as of sincerity, but as from God, we speak in the sight of God in Christ.

2 Corinthians 3

Christ's Epistle
(cf. Jer. 31:31–34)

1 Do we begin again to commend ourselves? Or do we need, as some others, epistles of commendation to you or letters of commendation from you?

2 You are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read by all men;

3 clearly you are an epistle of Christ, ministered by us, written not with ink but by the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of flesh, that is, of the heart.

The Spirit, Not the Letter

4 And we have such trust through Christ toward God.

5 Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think of anything as being from ourselves, but our sufficiency is from God,

6 who also made us sufficient as ministers of the new covenant, not of the letter but of the Spirit;[a] for the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life.

Glory of the New Covenant

7 But if the ministry of death, written and engraved on stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not look steadily at the face of Moses because of the glory of his countenance, which glory was passing away,

8 how will the ministry of the Spirit not be more glorious?

9 For if the ministry of condemnation had glory, the ministry of righteousness exceeds much more in glory.

10 For even what was made glorious had no glory in this respect, because of the glory that excels.

11 For if what is passing away was glorious, what remains is much more glorious.

12 Therefore, since we have such hope, we use great boldness of speech—

13 unlike Moses, who put a veil over his face so that the children of Israel could not look steadily at the end of what was passing away.

14 But their minds were blinded. For until this day the same veil remains unlifted in the reading of the Old Testament, because the veil is taken away in Christ.

15But even to this day, when Moses is read, a veil lies on their heart.
16Nevertheless when one turns to the Lord, the veil is taken away.
17Now the Lord is the Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.
18But we all, with unveiled face, beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image from glory to glory, just as by the Spirit of the Lord.

2 Corinthians 4

The Light of Christ's Gospel

1Therefore, since we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we do not lose heart.
2But we have renounced the hidden things of shame, not walking in craftiness nor handling the word of God deceitfully, but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.
3But even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are perishing, 4whose minds the god of this age has blinded, who do not believe, lest the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine on them.
5For we do not preach ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your bondservants for Jesus' sake.
6For it is the God who commanded light to shine out of darkness, who has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

Cast Down but Unconquered

7But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellence of the power may be of God and not of us.
8*We are* hard-pressed on every side, yet not crushed; we are perplexed, but not in despair;
9persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed—
10always carrying about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.
11For we who live are always delivered to death for Jesus' sake, that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh.

12So then death is working in us, but life in you.

13And since we have the same spirit of faith, according to what is written, “I believed and therefore I spoke,”[a] we also believe and therefore speak, 14knowing that He who raised up the Lord Jesus will also raise us up with Jesus, and will present us with you.

15For all things are for your sakes, that grace, having spread through the many, may cause thanksgiving to abound to the glory of God.

Seeing the Invisible

16Therefore we do not lose heart. Even though our outward man is perishing, yet the inward man is being renewed day by day.

17For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, is working for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory, 18while we do not look at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen. For the things which are seen are temporary, but the things which are not seen are eternal.

2 Corinthians 5

Assurance of the Resurrection

1For we know that if our earthly house, this tent, is destroyed, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

2For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed with our habitation which is from heaven,

3if indeed, having been clothed, we shall not be found naked.

4For we who are in this tent groan, being burdened, not because we want to be unclothed, but further clothed, that mortality may be swallowed up by life.

5Now He who has prepared us for this very thing is God, who also has given us the Spirit as a guarantee.

6So we are always confident, knowing that while we are at home in the body we are absent from the Lord.

7For we walk by faith, not by sight.

8We are confident, yes, well pleased rather to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lord.

The Judgment Seat of Christ

9Therefore we make it our aim, whether present or absent, to be well pleasing to Him.
10For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that each one may receive the things done in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad.
11Knowing, therefore, the terror of the Lord, we persuade men; but we are well known to God, and I also trust are well known in your consciences.

Be Reconciled to God

12For we do not commend ourselves again to you, but give you opportunity to boast on our behalf, that you may have an answer for those who boast in appearance and not in heart.
13For if we are beside ourselves, it is for God; or if we are of sound mind, it is for you.
14For the love of Christ compels us, because we judge thus: that if One died for all, then all died; 15and He died for all, that those who live should live no longer for themselves, but for Him who died for them and rose again.
16Therefore, from now on, we regard no one according to the flesh. Even though we have known Christ according to the flesh, yet now we know Him thus no longer.
17Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new.
18Now all things are of God, who has reconciled us to Himself through Jesus Christ, and has given us the ministry of reconciliation, 19that is, that God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself, not imputing their trespasses to them, and has committed to us the word of reconciliation.
20Now then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us: we implore you on Christ's behalf, be reconciled to God.
21For He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God in Him.

2 Corinthians 6

Marks of the Ministry

1 We then, as workers together with Him also plead with you not to receive the grace of God in vain.
2 For He says:

> "In an acceptable time I have heard you,
> And in the day of salvation I have helped you."[a]

Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.
3 We give no offense in anything, that our ministry may not be blamed.
4 But in all things we commend ourselves as ministers of God: in much patience, in tribulations, in needs, in distresses, 5 in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labors, in sleeplessness, in fastings;
6 by purity, by knowledge, by longsuffering, by kindness, by the Holy Spirit, by sincere love,
7 by the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left, 8 by honor and dishonor, by evil report and good report; as deceivers, and yet true;
9 as unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and behold we live; as chastened, and yet not killed; 10 as sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

Be Holy

11 O Corinthians! We have spoken openly to you, our heart is wide open.
12 You are not restricted by us, but you are restricted by your own affections.
13 Now in return for the same (I speak as to children), you also be open.
14 Do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers. For what fellowship has righteousness with lawlessness? And what communion has light with darkness?
15 And what accord has Christ with Belial? Or what part has a believer with an unbeliever?
16 And what agreement has the temple of God with idols? For you[b] are the temple of the living God. As God has said:

“I will dwell in them
And walk among them.
I will be their God,
And they shall be My people.”[c]

17 Therefore

“Come out from among them
And be separate, says the Lord.
Do not touch what is unclean,
And I will receive you.”[d] 18 “I will be a Father to you,
And you shall be My sons and daughters,
Says the LORD Almighty.”[e]

2 Corinthians 7

1 Therefore, having these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

The Corinthians’ Repentance

2 Open your hearts to us. We have wronged no one, we have corrupted no one, we have cheated no one.

3 I do not say this to condemn; for I have said before that you are in our hearts, to die together and to live together.

4 Great is my boldness of speech toward you, great is my boasting on your behalf. I am filled with comfort. I am exceedingly joyful in all our tribulation.

5 For indeed, when we came to Macedonia, our bodies had no rest, but we were troubled on every side. Outside were conflicts, inside were fears.

6 Nevertheless God, who comforts the downcast, comforted us by the coming of Titus,

7 and not only by his coming, but also by the consolation with which he was comforted in you, when he told us of your earnest desire, your mourning, your zeal for me, so that I rejoiced even more.

8 For even if I made you sorry with my letter, I do not regret it; though I did regret it. For I perceive that the same epistle made you sorry, though only for a while.

9 Now I rejoice, not that you were made sorry, but that your sorrow led to repentance. For you were made sorry in a godly manner, that you might suffer loss from us in nothing.
10 For godly sorrow produces repentance leading to salvation, not to be regretted; but the sorrow of the world produces death.
11 For observe this very thing, that you sorrowed in a godly manner: What diligence it produced in you, what clearing of yourselves, what indignation, what fear, what vehement desire, what zeal, what vindication! In all things you proved yourselves to be clear in this matter.
12 Therefore, although I wrote to you, I did not do it for the sake of him who had done the wrong, nor for the sake of him who suffered wrong, but that our care for you in the sight of God might appear to you.

The Joy of Titus

13 Therefore we have been comforted in your comfort. And we rejoiced exceedingly more for the joy of Titus, because his spirit has been refreshed by you all.
14 For if in anything I have boasted to him about you, I am not ashamed.
But as we spoke all things to you in truth, even so our boasting to Titus was found true.
15 And his affections are greater for you as he remembers the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling you received him.
16 Therefore I rejoice that I have confidence in you in everything.

2 Corinthians 8

Excel in Giving

1 Moreover, brethren, we make known to you the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia:
2 that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded in the riches of their liberality.
3 For I bear witness that according to their ability, yes, and beyond their ability, they were freely willing, 4 imploring us with much urgency that we would receive[a] the gift and the fellowship of the ministering to the saints.
5 And not only as we had hoped, but they first gave themselves to the Lord, and then to us by the will of God.

6So we urged Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also complete this grace in you as well.

7But as you abound in everything—in faith, in speech, in knowledge, in all diligence, and in your love for us—see that you abound in this grace also.

Christ Our Pattern

8I speak not by commandment, but I am testing the sincerity of your love by the diligence of others.

9For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that you through His poverty might become rich.

10And in this I give advice: It is to your advantage not only to be doing what you began and were desiring to do a year ago;

11but now you also must complete the doing of it; that as there was a readiness to desire it, so there also may be a completion out of what you have.

12For if there is first a willing mind, it is accepted according to what one has, and not according to what he does not have.

13For I do not mean that others should be eased and you burdened;

14but by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may supply their lack, that their abundance also may supply your lack—that there may be equality.

15As it is written, "He who gathered much had nothing left over, and he who gathered little had no lack."[b]

Collection for the Judean Saints

16But thanks be to God who puts[c] the same earnest care for you into the heart of Titus.

17For he not only accepted the exhortation, but being more diligent, he went to you of his own accord.

18And we have sent with him the brother whose praise is in the gospel throughout all the churches,

19and not only that, but who was also chosen by the churches to travel with us with this gift, which is administered by us to the glory of the Lord Himself and to show your ready mind,

20avoiding this: that anyone should blame us in this lavish gift which is administered by us—

[21]providing honorable things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men.

[22]And we have sent with them our brother whom we have often proved diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, because of the great confidence which we have in you.

[23]If anyone inquires about Titus, he is my partner and fellow worker concerning you. Or if our brethren are inquired about, they are messengers of the churches, the glory of Christ.

[24]Therefore show to them, and[d] before the churches, the proof of your love and of our boasting on your behalf.

2 Corinthians 9

Administering the Gift

[1]Now concerning the ministering to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you;

[2]for I know your willingness, about which I boast of you to the Macedonians, that Achaia was ready a year ago; and your zeal has stirred up the majority.

[3]Yet I have sent the brethren, lest our boasting of you should be in vain in this respect, that, as I said, you may be ready;

[4]lest if some Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, we (not to mention you!) should be ashamed of this confident boasting.[a]

[5]Therefore I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren to go to you ahead of time, and prepare your generous gift beforehand, which you had previously promised, that it may be ready as a matter of generosity and not as a grudging obligation.

The Cheerful Giver

[6]But this I say: He who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully.

[7]So let each one give as he purposes in his heart, not grudgingly or of necessity; for God loves a cheerful giver.

[8]And God is able to make all grace abound toward you, that you, always having all sufficiency in all things, may have an abundance for every good work.

9 As it is written:

> “He has dispersed abroad,
> He has given to the poor;
> His righteousness endures forever.”[b]

10 Now may[c] He who supplies seed to the sower, and bread for food, supply and multiply the seed you have sown and increase the fruits of your righteousness,
11 while you are enriched in everything for all liberality, which causes thanksgiving through us to God.
12 For the administration of this service not only supplies the needs of the saints, but also is abounding through many thanksgivings to God, 13 while, through the proof of this ministry, they glorify God for the obedience of your confession to the gospel of Christ, and for your liberal sharing with them and all men, 14 and by their prayer for you, who long for you because of the exceeding grace of God in you.
15 Thanks be to God for His indescribable gift!

2 Corinthians 10

The Spiritual War

1 Now I, Paul, myself am pleading with you by the meekness and gentleness of Christ—who in presence am lowly among you, but being absent am bold toward you.
2 But I beg you that when I am present I may not be bold with that confidence by which I intend to be bold against some, who think of us as if we walked according to the flesh.
3 For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war according to the flesh.
4 For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty in God for pulling down strongholds, 5 casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ,
6 and being ready to punish all disobedience when your obedience is fulfilled.

Reality of Paul's Authority

7 Do you look at things according to the outward appearance? If anyone is convinced in himself that he is Christ's, let him again consider this in himself, that just as he is Christ's, even so we are Christ's.[a] 8 For even if I should boast somewhat more about our authority, which the Lord gave us[b] for edification and not for your destruction, I shall not be ashamed—
9 lest I seem to terrify you by letters.
10 "For his letters," they say, "are weighty and powerful, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible." 11 Let such a person consider this, that what we are in word by letters when we are absent, such we will also be in deed when we are present.

Limits of Paul's Authority

12 For we dare not class ourselves or compare ourselves with those who commend themselves. But they, measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise.
13 We, however, will not boast beyond measure, but within the limits of the sphere which God appointed us—a sphere which especially includes you.
14 For we are not overextending ourselves (as though our authority did not extend to you), for it was to you that we came with the gospel of Christ; 15 not boasting of things beyond measure, that is, in other men's labors, but having hope, that as your faith is increased, we shall be greatly enlarged by you in our sphere, 16 to preach the gospel in the regions beyond you, and not to boast in another man's sphere of accomplishment.
17 But "he who glories, let him glory in the LORD."[c] 18 For not he who commends himself is approved, but whom the Lord commends.

2 Corinthians 11

Concern for Their Faithfulness

[1]Oh, that you would bear with me in a little folly—and indeed you do bear with me.

[2]For I am jealous for you with godly jealousy. For I have betrothed you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ.

[3]But I fear, lest somehow, as the serpent deceived Eve by his craftiness, so your minds may be corrupted from the simplicity[a] that is in Christ.

[4]For if he who comes preaches another Jesus whom we have not preached, or if you receive a different spirit which you have not received, or a different gospel which you have not accepted—you may well put up with it!

Paul and False Apostles

[5]For I consider that I am not at all inferior to the most eminent apostles.

[6]Even though I am untrained in speech, yet I am not in knowledge. But we have been thoroughly manifested[b] among you in all things.

[7]Did I commit sin in humbling myself that you might be exalted, because I preached the gospel of God to you free of charge?

[8]I robbed other churches, taking wages from them to minister to you.

[9]And when I was present with you, and in need, I was a burden to no one, for what I lacked the brethren who came from Macedonia supplied. And in everything I kept myself from being burdensome to you, and so I will keep myself.

[10]As the truth of Christ is in me, no one shall stop me from this boasting in the regions of Achaia.

[11]Why? Because I do not love you? God knows!

[12]But what I do, I will also continue to do, that I may cut off the opportunity from those who desire an opportunity to be regarded just as we are in the things of which they boast.

[13]For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into apostles of Christ.

[14]And no wonder! For Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light.

[15]Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also transform themselves into ministers of righteousness, whose end will be according to their works.

Reluctant Boasting

[16]I say again, let no one think me a fool. If otherwise, at least receive me as a fool, that I also may boast a little.

17 What I speak, I speak not according to the Lord, but as it were, foolishly, in this confidence of boasting.

18 Seeing that many boast according to the flesh, I also will boast.

19 For you put up with fools gladly, since you yourselves are wise!

20 For you put up with it if one brings you into bondage, if one devours you, if one takes from you, if one exalts himself, if one strikes you on the face.

21 To our shame I say that we were too weak for that! But in whatever anyone is bold—I speak foolishly—I am bold also.

Suffering for Christ

22 Are they Hebrews? So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they the seed of Abraham? So am I.

23 Are they ministers of Christ?—I speak as a fool—I am more: in labors more abundant, in stripes above measure, in prisons more frequently, in deaths often.

24 From the Jews five times I received forty stripes minus one.

25 Three times I was beaten with rods; once I was stoned; three times I was shipwrecked; a night and a day I have been in the deep;

26 in journeys often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of my own countrymen, in perils of the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren;

27 in weariness and toil, in sleeplessness often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness—

28 besides the other things, what comes upon me daily: my deep concern for all the churches.

29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is made to stumble, and I do not burn with indignation?

30 If I must boast, I will boast in the things which concern my infirmity.

31 The God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who is blessed forever, knows that I am not lying.

32 In Damascus the governor, under Aretas the king, was guarding the city of the Damascenes with a garrison, desiring to arrest me;

33 but I was let down in a basket through a window in the wall, and escaped from his hands.

2 Corinthians 12

The Vision of Paradise

[1]It is doubtless[a] not profitable for me to boast. I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord:

[2]I know a man in Christ who fourteen years ago—whether in the body I do not know, or whether out of the body I do not know, God knows—such a one was caught up to the third heaven.

[3]And I know such a man—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows—

[4]how he was caught up into Paradise and heard inexpressible words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter.

[5]Of such a one I will boast; yet of myself I will not boast, except in my infirmities.

[6]For though I might desire to boast, I will not be a fool; for I will speak the truth. But I refrain, lest anyone should think of me above what he sees me to be or hears from me.

The Thorn in the Flesh

[7]And lest I should be exalted above measure by the abundance of the revelations, a thorn in the flesh was given to me, a messenger of Satan to buffet me, lest I be exalted above measure.

[8]Concerning this thing I pleaded with the Lord three times that it might depart from me.

[9]And He said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for My strength is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore most gladly I will rather boast in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me.

[10]Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in needs, in persecutions, in distresses, for Christ’s sake. For when I am weak, then I am strong.

Signs of an Apostle

[11]I have become a fool in boasting;[b] you have compelled me. For I ought to have been commended by you; for in nothing was I behind the most eminent apostles, though I am nothing.

[12]Truly the signs of an apostle were accomplished among you with all perseverance, in signs and wonders and mighty deeds.

13For what is it in which you were inferior to other churches, except that I myself was not burdensome to you? Forgive me this wrong!

Love for the Church

14Now for the third time I am ready to come to you. And I will not be burdensome to you; for I do not seek yours, but you. For the children ought not to lay up for the parents, but the parents for the children.
15And I will very gladly spend and be spent for your souls; though the more abundantly I love you, the less I am loved.
16But be that as it may, I did not burden you. Nevertheless, being crafty, I caught you by cunning!
17Did I take advantage of you by any of those whom I sent to you?
18I urged Titus, and sent our brother with him. Did Titus take advantage of you? Did we not walk in the same spirit? Did we not walk in the same steps?
19Again, do you think[c] that we excuse ourselves to you? We speak before God in Christ. But we do all things, beloved, for your edification.
20For I fear lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I wish, and that I shall be found by you such as you do not wish; lest there be contentions, jealousies, outbursts of wrath, selfish ambitions, backbitings, whisperings, conceits, tumults;
21lest, when I come again, my God will humble me among you, and I shall mourn for many who have sinned before and have not repented of the uncleanness, fornication, and lewdness which they have practiced.

2 Corinthians 13

Coming with Authority

1This will be the third time I am coming to you. "By the mouth of two or three witnesses every word shall be established."[a]
2I have told you before, and foretell as if I were present the second time, and now being absent I write[b] to those who have sinned before, and to all the rest, that if I come again I will not spare—3since you seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, who is not weak toward you, but mighty in you.
4For though He was crucified in weakness, yet He lives by the power of God. For we also are weak in Him, but we shall live with Him by the power of God toward you.

5 Examine yourselves as to whether you are in the faith. Test yourselves. Do you not know yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you?—unless indeed you are disqualified.

6 But I trust that you will know that we are not disqualified.

Paul Prefers Gentleness

7 Now I[c] pray to God that you do no evil, not that we should appear approved, but that you should do what is honorable, though we may seem disqualified.

8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad when we are weak and you are strong. And this also we pray, that you may be made complete.

10 Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness, according to the authority which the Lord has given me for edification and not for destruction.

Greetings and Benediction

11 Finally, brethren, farewell. Become complete. Be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace will be with you.

12 Greet one another with a holy kiss.

13 All the saints greet you.

14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all. Amen.

Annotations for 2 Corinthians

1:3–11 The source of afflictions is the sin of humanity. The purpose of afflictions, if we use them properly, may be our comfort and salvation, as the Father Himself preserves us through them (v. 3). The means of facing our afflictions is a hope in God that allows us to enter into the afflictions of others in actual, experiential knowledge. In this case, this means people empathizing with their apostle's trials. The communion of saints, spiritual solidarity, is to begin now in the pains of this life.

1:6 The godly suffer, in part, so that having experienced God's comfort they in turn can comfort others. Thus, Paul shows the fallacy in his opponents' idea that Christians should never suffer and should be concerned only with their own salvation.

1:8 What this trouble is for Paul is not clear—perhaps a physical malady or persecution. But whatever its nature, it makes him more aware of death and of his dependence on God (v. 9)—and more appreciative of the fellowship of other Christians and of the power of the Church's corporate prayer (v. 11).

1:13 Paul was accused by the dissidents/schismatics in Corinth of speaking murkily, indirectly, by allusion and not by clear, direct statement.

1:15 Paul has changed his travel plans. (1) In his earlier letter, he planned to travel to Corinth, passing through Macedonia in northern Greece (1Co 16:5–7). (2) When he felt compelled to go to Corinth immediately, the "sorrowful visit," he planned to visit Corinth twice (vv. 15, 16); but he actually came only once. (3) In the "sorrowful" letter (now lost), written after that visit, he stated his plan to travel directly from Ephesus to Corinth. Instead, he traveled up through Macedonia (2:12, 13). This was perceived as vacillation by some in Corinth.

1:19 Silvanus is Silas, Paul's longtime coworker (Acts 15:40).

1:20 Christ is Yes. He affirms and fulfills God-given promises, though His ways may at times seem strange to men. Therefore, the Church may always affirm Amen to Him—which explains the repeated use of that response in liturgical practice.

1:21, 22 Note again the NT roots of Orthodox sacramental life. We are established in Christ (v. 21) through baptism and are anointed and sealed (v. 22) in the Spirit through chrismation.

1:23, 24 The real reason for Paul's change in itinerary is graciousness: to spare them a confrontation. The purpose of church discipline is never for the leader to exercise dominion or harsh authority; rather it is to call for repentance, reconciliation with the Church, and renewal in the joy (v. 24) of the Spirit.

2:4 True pastoral correction brings both agony for the overseer—affliction, anguish of heart, many tears—and abundant love to the one being disciplined (see Heb 12:5, 6, 11).

2:5–11 Church discipline must not be too severe; that is, it must not go farther than the sin. And not to forgive and comfort (v. 7) the one who repents is itself a sin. Undue separation from the Church through excessive and prolonged discipline increases tension (too much sorrow, v. 7) and even division. This pleases Satan (v. 11), the author of strife and discord; it does not please God.

2:14–17 Our triumph in Christ (v. 14), taken in an ancient Roman context, suggests a magnificent picture of unwilling captive soldiers paraded before the victorious commander's chariot while fragrant flowers are strewn along the way in celebration. The victor is Christ; the captives are the powers of darkness; His fragrance (v. 15) is the apostolic ministry, especially its preaching (v. 17). Christians are the winning forces who triumph through the hearing of the word of God (v. 17) and lead the great procession of thanksgiving leading to life (v. 16).

3:1 The outsiders who came to Corinth as prominent apostles demanded evidence of Paul's sincerity. They themselves carried forged epistles of commendation—letters Paul could not match. They maintained Paul was not a genuine apostle.

3:2, 3 Paul does not need a commendation in ink (v. 3), for the Corinthians have all experienced the fruit of his ministry; this fruit is of more value than any written epistle. Paul compares the difference between sterile epistles and living spiritual fruit to the difference between the Old Covenant, written on tablets of stone, and the New, written on tablets . . . of the heart. The impostors in Corinth are lifeless legalists. Paul is ministering Christ through the Spirit of God.

3:4–6 This passage holds great hope for the Christian ministry. "Who is sufficient for these things?" (2:16) —the one who places trust through Christ in God (v. 4). The minister gives his all in study and service, but ultimately human power is not sufficient for ministry or for salvation: we must depend utterly on God.

3:7–9 The Old Covenant was external, temporary, and powerless. Under it God was present, and it was glorious with the presence of God. But it was imperfect and imparted a ministry of death because men were unable to keep the Law. Israel had access to God but generally failed to apprehend it. The inner veil of the temple and the veil over the face of Moses spoke of the veil over the hearts of fallen human nature: men could neither adequately approach nor adequately see God. Many even fail to see the Godhead veiled in Jesus' flesh. By contrast, the New Covenant is internal, eternal, and powerful. Under it God is fully present as an unlimited, life-giving glory (v. 9), through the ministry of the Spirit (v. 8) and of righteousness (v. 9). Christians have bold access to God, for there is no veil to separate us (v. 16). The New Covenant is therefore more glorious (v. 8).

3:16–18 The Lord here is a title. In the NT Lord usually refers to the Son. The Father is sometimes called Lord (Mt 11:25; 22:44; Lk 1:32; 4:12, 18; 10:21; Acts 3:22; 4:26; Rev 11:15; 21:22), and the Spirit is referred to as Lord here (v. 17) and in the Nicene Creed: "I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord and giver of life."

There is difference of opinion as to which of the Divine Persons the Lord refers to in each usage here. But Orthodox interpreters all agree that: (1) The Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit are in no way confused here—Paul has in mind one Person or another. The Son, for example, cannot be the Holy Spirit. (2) The Spirit is a Divine Person, not an impersonal force—though elsewhere in the NT "spirit" occasionally refers to a realm or way of existence. (3) This title here describes how God reigns in the world. It does not describe the eternal relationship of the Persons of the Trinity: the Spirit, for instance, does not proceed from the Son.

Paul is transforming the Old Covenant understanding of one God, the Lord, into Jesus' New Covenant revelation of one God in three Persons, each of whom is Lord. So when one turns to the Lord (v. 16) he turns not just to the Father but also to the incarnate Son (v. 16), in the power of the Holy Spirit (v. 17).

3:17, 18 The work of the Holy Spirit brings liberty (v. 17), freeing us to behold God and have open access to Him. Created as the image of God, we see His uncreated image, the Son, the glory of the Lord (v. 18; see 4:4–6), in two ways: (1) through the Son's deified humanity (see 1Co 13:12; Jam 1:23–25) and (2) in the power of the Spirit. As we behold Him, we become what we were created to be. God is infinite; therefore, growing in His image and glory has no limits. We shall ever see God more clearly and ever be transformed into His likeness.

4:1 In the face of numerous onslaughts, challenges to his apostleship, and his responsibility "for all the churches" (11:28), Paul still writes, we do not lose heart (see v. 16). For he is preoccupied with the glories of the ministry of Christ and the mercy by which it is given to him.

4:3, 4 The veil is not over the gospel or the apostle, but over the hearts and minds of those who will not believe.

4:5 The goal in preaching is not to glorify ourselves, but Christ.

4:7 The treasure is the light of God's glory in Christ (v. 6); earthen vessels refers to our humanity. As this light shines in and through us, people will see that the power is of God and not of man.

4:8–12 This is victorious, but not trouble-free, Christianity. These trials "show both the power of God and, more, disclose His Grace" (JohnChr).

4:16 The Orthodox Faith teaches that salvation in Christ includes: (1) a passage from death to life, from darkness to light (Jn 3:1–6; Col 1:13, 14), through repentance, faith, and baptism ("I have been saved"); (2) a process of spiritual growth and maturation (2Pt 1:2–8) through ongoing repentance, faith, and communion, often called deification ("I am being saved"); and (3) a promise of eternal life (5:9–11; Jn 14:1–6), calling us to perseverance and righteousness ("I shall be saved"). It is this second element, the process of our salvation, that Paul describes here, saying that our inner life is being renewed day by day.

4:17 Despite Paul's hardships (vv. 8–12), he sees God's everlasting glory and calls his trials light affliction.

4:18 As part of our inner renewal in Christ (v. 16) we gain the gift of seeing the unseen, the things which are . . . eternal.

5:1–4 Fear of death is overcome by hope in the resurrection, faith in the Holy Trinity (vv. 5, 7), and the love of Christ and our union with Him (v. 14). Our earthly house (v. 1) is our present mortal body. The building from God, the one which is from heaven (v. 2), is the immortal, deified body we shall have in heaven (see 1Co 15). The soul is naked (v. 3), or unclothed (v. 4), when it departs the body, that is, when one dies. Paul longs not for death but for resurrection; he knows God created us not to die, but to be transformed from mortality to life (v. 4; see v. 5). So he speaks not of the bliss of the soul without a body, but of the union of the soul with the glorified body.

📖 5:1–10 This passage is read on days commemorating the departed.

5:5–8 Being always confident (v. 6) in the resurrection means we are being prepared by God the Father and the Spirit (v. 5) to join the Lord (v. 8), Jesus Christ.

5:10 Following his discourse on suffering, death, and resurrection (4:16–5:8), Paul now turns to the judgment. We must all appear, not only the unbelievers, to be judged according to what we have done. For Christians, right belief gives power and motivation for right behavior. Here again, the NT unifies faith and works.

5:11–15 In his gospel, Paul seeks to persuade men (v. 11) on two fronts: (1) by the terror of the Lord (v. 11), the possibility of judgment to eternal death; and (2) by the love of Christ (v. 14), the divine invitation to live for Christ (v. 15), to eternal life. The heart of Paul's gospel is baptism, where life and death meet: Christ died and rose for us that we might die and rise in Him.

5:16, 17 Paul did not know "the historical Jesus" as He voluntarily took on our mortality, lived on earth, and was known according to the flesh (v. 16). Nobody knows Jesus that way after His Ascension, for his mortal flesh has been transformed into an immortal body. Even so, our old bodies are transformed into a new creation (v. 17) in Christ. Because God created all things through Christ, He will transform and reunite all things—material as well as spiritual—to Himself through Christ.

5:18–21 How was Christ made to be* sin for us? He, the incarnate Son of God, voluntarily assumed the consequences of our sin—corruption and death—without sinning Himself. And He submitted to unjust suffering because of the sinful passions of men and of angels. This means salvation is far more than forgiveness of sins. It is new life: our reconciliation to God (vv. 18–20) and our becoming new creatures (v. 17), participants in the very righteousness of God (v. 21). This means our salvation is not just juridical (the static, legal pronouncement of a judge), but personal and relational (the dynamic, sacrificial love of a father for his child).

6:1–10 Here is an authentic apostle! His life demonstrates the paradox of God's strength working in human weakness, of renouncing the world in order to master it. The day of salvation is now (v. 2), always the present moment in the period before Christ's return.

📖 6:1–10 This passage is read on days commemorating female martyrs.

6:11—7:1 This passage is the spiritual perspective of the New Covenant holiness code: Love of God and His Church requires a spurning of immorality and false religions, and a devotion to perfecting holiness in the fear of God (7:1).

6:14 One important application of this passage is that the Church calls us to marriage between those of like faith.

6:17 This verse extends an invitation from God to come out of the world and false religion.

7:1 An escape from filthiness requires more than thinking repentant thoughts. For we are enmeshed in a spiritual war zone, entrenched in patterns of sin that become habitual. Often, darkness becomes imprinted in our souls and bodies so that even our wills are bypassed and we sin automatically. To cleanse ourselves means that by the promises of God, we embark on a sustained struggle for holiness. This cleansing includes genuine sorrow for our sins, confession, and repentance. It means a willful avoidance of sin-arousing situations, reconciliation with those we have wronged, the resolute practice of Christian virtue, and cleaving to God through faith and prayer. It calls us to participation in the holy sacraments. Is this too difficult for us humans? Yes. Thus it is the Holy Spirit, who cleanses us from every stain and heals our infirmities, who empowers us to live this life of peace with God and repentance before Him.

7:9–11 Feeling sorry is not enough. Heartfelt, godly sorrow produces repentance and diligence (v. 11). True repentance cleanses us from sin and alienation, and diligence zealously pursues holiness and reconciliation. We hereby continue on the path of salvation to eternal life. The sorrow of the world (v. 10) is feeling sorry we were caught. It centers on ourselves, on our embarrassment over the predicament we find ourselves in. It stops short of repentance and reconciliation to God.

8:1—9:15 The subject of this passage is a collection from the churches in Asia Minor for the church in Jerusalem. Beyond the material help Jerusalem needs, for Paul this appears to be an important theological matter as well. It (1) relates to the unity of Jew and Gentile in the Church, (2) underscores the messianic age as having indeed come in Christ, and (3) demonstrates that the charismatic effects of Pentecost are continuing and maturing in the Church.

Paul had given the Corinthians the same instruction he gave to Galatia, to contribute systematically to the fund (1Co 16:1–4). Titus is to make sure they actually have begun to do so (8:6). Paul has told the Macedonians that Corinth was exemplary in giving (9:2), but he has his doubts. So he sends Titus to Corinth to be sure the Corinthians will comply (9:3–5). Some in Corinth feel pressure, saying that Paul is "crafty"; he gets his way "by cunning" (12:16). Paul encourages the Corinthians by holding up the generosity of the poorer Macedonians as an example (8:1–5). The Corinthians actually do contribute to the fund, and Paul is pleased with them (Rom 15:25–28).

8:5 Note the progression: they first gave themselves to the Lord ("They offered up themselves"—JohnChr) and then to us, to the Church, to the apostles. If our lives are an offering to God, they will be an offering to His people as well.

8:9 What was Christ's poverty? He emptied Himself (Php 2:5–8) of His heavenly glory to join our humanity to His divinity, and to suffer and die on our behalf. He did not owe this to us, but did so by His grace, that we might become rich in His salvation.

8:24 The proof of God's love for us is that He gave us His Son through His Incarnation and death (Rom 5:8). The proof of our love for God is in the giving of our gifts to Him and the churches.

9:3 Paul has stuck his neck out. The Corinthians' "zeal" had caused many in Macedonia to give to Jerusalem (v. 2). Yet, to make sure Corinth will stay zealous, Paul has sent the brethren.

9:6–15 Here is Paul's landmark teaching on Christian stewardship. The metaphor is not the giving of money but the sowing of seed for a harvest. And where does the seed come from? God Himself (v. 10).

10:1 Paul replies to the charges of his opponents: far from being weak, he is extraordinarily strong. But strength in spiritual warfare sometimes appears as weakness to the world. The meekness and gentleness of Christ is sometimes communicated in a lowly or humble fashion, and sometimes boldly (see vv. 10, 11).

10:3 In the flesh refers to fallen human nature.

10:4–6 The battlefield of spiritual warfare includes entrenched spiritual fortresses (strongholds), human reason (arguments, v. 5), human and angelic powers (every high thing that exalts itself), ideas (thought), and the will (obedience). Our weapons include the Cross, prayer, and the Word of God. Both our thoughts (v. 5) and our actions (v. 6) are to be submissive to Christ. The Church is God's fortress, marching against the strongholds of disobedience.

10:7, 8 Some teachers in Corinth had claimed a special knowledge of or an esoteric relationship to Christ. Paul here counters their claim by boasting somewhat more of his authority—not because he wants to boast (11:1, 16–19; 12:1, 11), but because the boastfulness of his enemies must be shown to be not only empty, but ruinous for those who believe them.

10:12–18 Paul's opponents had stepped into his sphere (v. 13) after he had evangelized and established the church in Corinth. They then claimed they were responsible for raising up this church and commended themselves (v. 18) for doing so.

11:1–3 Paul compares the reality of the New Covenant to the Garden of Eden, where Christ is Adam and the Church is Eve, and where Satan is up to his same craftiness (v. 3). Paul's desire is to present a pure Church, a chaste virgin (v. 2), to Christ at the Second Coming.

11:4–6 The first element of a "chaste virgin" (v. 2) is the purity of orthodox doctrine. Not human persuasiveness (v. 6) but apostolic content is important. Paul is a part of the apostolic college (v. 5), which continues in line with the original twelve apostles.

11:7–12 Pure doctrine is taught out of pure motives. A mark of apostolic authenticity is the refusal of excessive money. The clergy draw their living from the Church, but not to the point of getting rich (see 1Co 9:4–18; 1Ti 6:3–10; Tts 1:11). Paul's opponents dared not make this claim.

11:13–15 Although Satan (v. 14) imitates the Kingdom of God, telltale signs such as nonapostolic doctrine (vv. 4–6) and a lucrative ministry (vv. 7–12) reveal his sham.

11:16–21 The Corinthians thought they were wise (v. 19) enough to evaluate church leaders. They had become enamored with false apostles who championed themselves using the methods and values of the world, full of outward show and crafty talk. They disparaged Paul, seeing him as a weakling without credentials. As a result they were in bondage (v. 20), defrauded and even brutalized. Paul, playing the devil's advocate, takes up the methods of these false apostles to show them as fools (v. 19). He satirizes them in the hope the Corinthians will thereby see through their charade.

📖 11:21—12:9 This passage is read on June 29, the Feast of the Apostles Peter and Paul.

11:22–33 Using his opponents' level of argument, Paul lists his Jewish and Christian credentials. If genealogy means anything, which it does to the Jews, Paul has it (v. 22). If "Christian experience" means anything, no one can compare with him in his sufferings (vv. 23–27), his compassionate, involved concern for his people (vv. 28, 29), or even his bizarre adventures (vv. 30–33).

12:1–6 Paul's opponents probably boasted of visions and revelations (v. 1), for Paul mentions one of his. Fourteen years ago would date the event before his missionary journeys. Paul employs two terms used by Jews to describe heavenly realms: the third heaven (v. 2) is the highest heaven; Paradise (v. 4), where God is surrounded by the assembly of the just, is the City of God.

12:7–10 Unlike his opponents, who publicly proclaimed their own greatness in their mystical experiences, Paul sees his thorn in the flesh (v. 7) as given to him precisely so he might not be exalted. What was this thorn? Perhaps a chronic physical problem, or deluded Christian leaders, or hard-hearted Israelites. Nevertheless, for Paul, his weakness (v. 9; see v. 5), not his mystical experiences (vv. 2–4), is the means of the power of Christ remaining in him.

12:11–13 By signs of an apostle (v. 12; see Rom 15:19; 1Co 2:4; 4:20; 12:28, 29; Heb 2:4) Paul seems to be referring to miracles that lead men to God and the Church, for with these signs and wonders (v. 12) the Corinthians are greatly impressed.

12:15 This is the experience through history of the godly shepherd.

12:20—13:4 Paul is more impressed with the miracle of unity and harmony than with physical miracles. He fears he may have to exercise the supreme apostolic power, that of excluding people who have not repented (v. 21) from the Church.

13:5 In this context, the test of being in Christ is a humble, virtuous life lived in communion with the Church.

13:12 The holy kiss, the kiss of peace, is an established liturgical tradition. Perhaps the final test of whether one is a Christian is whether one can give this kiss with an uncondemning conscience.

13:14 This Trinitarian blessing is also an ancient and contemporary liturgical practice.

The Book of Galatians

Author

St. Paul the Apostle.

Date

The references to time and place in Galatians are unclear; therefore its exact historical setting and date are uncertain.

Major Theme

The true gospel versus the false gospel. After initially believing in the gospel of Jesus Christ as a gift of God, many in Galatia had turned to the teaching of the Jewish legalizers, who claimed that Christians must also follow the laws of the Old Covenant. Paul writes to call them back to "the grace of Christ" (1:6). Subthemes include:

(1) A defense of Paul's apostolic authority (1:1–2:21)
(2) The gift of the Holy Spirit to the Church (5:1–6:18)
(3) The Cross of Christ
(4) The life of faith

Background

St. Paul had established churches in a number of cities in the Roman province of Galatia in Asia Minor. This is the only New Testament letter Paul addressed to a group of churches (1:2).

Outline

I. Introduction (1:1–10)
  A. Greeting (1:1, 2)
  B. The true gospel versus the false gospel (1:3–10)
II. The Apostolic Authority of the True Gospel (1:11–2:14)
  A. The call to apostleship (1:11–24)
  B. Apostles are guided by councils (2:1–10)
  C. Apostles are guided by conscience (2:11–14)
III. The Content of the True Gospel (2:15–4:31)
  A. Jesus Christ and faith (2:15–21)
  B. Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit (3:1–14)
  C. Jesus Christ and sonship (3:15–4:31)

IV. Living in the True Gospel (5:1–6:10)
   A. The liberty of the Spirit (5:1–12)
   B. Living in the love of the Spirit (5:13–6:10)
V. Concluding Remarks (6:11–18)
   A. The rule of faith (6:11–17)
   B. Benediction (6:18)

Galatians 1

Greeting

[1]Paul, an apostle (not from men nor through man, but through Jesus Christ and God the Father who raised Him from the dead),
[2]and all the brethren who are with me,
To the churches of Galatia:
[3]Grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ,
[4]who gave Himself for our sins, that He might deliver us from this present evil age, according to the will of our God and Father,
[5]to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

Only One Gospel

[6]I marvel that you are turning away so soon from Him who called you in the grace of Christ, to a different gospel,
[7]which is not another; but there are some who trouble you and want to pervert the gospel of Christ.
[8]But even if we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel to you than what we have preached to you, let him be accursed.
[9]As we have said before, so now I say again, if anyone preaches any other gospel to you than what you have received, let him be accursed.
[10]For do I now persuade men, or God? Or do I seek to please men? For if I still pleased men, I would not be a bondservant of Christ.

Call to Apostleship

(cf. Acts 9:1–25)

[11]But I make known to you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached by me is not according to man.
[12]For I neither received it from man, nor was I taught it, but it came through the revelation of Jesus Christ.
[13]For you have heard of my former conduct in Judaism, how I persecuted the church of God beyond measure and tried to destroy it.
[14]And I advanced in Judaism beyond many of my contemporaries in my own nation, being more exceedingly zealous for the traditions of my fathers.

15But when it pleased God, who separated me from my mother's womb and called me through His grace, 16to reveal His Son in me, that I might preach Him among the Gentiles, I did not immediately confer with flesh and blood, 17nor did I go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me; but I went to Arabia, and returned again to Damascus.

Contacts at Jerusalem

(cf. Acts 9:26–31)

18Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to see Peter,[a] and remained with him fifteen days.
19But I saw none of the other apostles except James, the Lord's brother.
20(Now concerning the things which I write to you, indeed, before God, I do not lie.)
21Afterward I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia.
22And I was unknown by face to the churches of Judea which were in Christ.
23But they were hearing only, "He who formerly persecuted us now preaches the faith which he once tried to destroy."
24And they glorified God in me.

Galatians 2

Defending the Gospel

(cf. Acts 15:1–21)

1Then after fourteen years I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and also took Titus with me.
2And I went up by revelation, and communicated to them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but privately to those who were of reputation, lest by any means I might run, or had run, in vain.
3Yet not even Titus who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised.
4And this occurred because of false brethren secretly brought in (who came in by stealth to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage), 5to whom we did not yield submission even for an hour, that the truth of the gospel might continue with you.

6 But from those who seemed to be something—whatever they were, it makes no difference to me; God shows personal favoritism to no man—for those who seemed to be something added nothing to me.

7 But on the contrary, when they saw that the gospel for the uncircumcised had been committed to me, as the gospel for the circumcised was to Peter

8 (for He who worked effectively in Peter for the apostleship to the circumcised also worked effectively in me toward the Gentiles),

9 and when James, Cephas, and John, who seemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that had been given to me, they gave me and Barnabas the right hand of fellowship, that we should go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised.

10 They desired only that we should remember the poor, the very thing which I also was eager to do.

No Return to the Law

11 Now when Peter[a] had come to Antioch, I withstood him to his face, because he was to be blamed;

12 for before certain men came from James, he would eat with the Gentiles; but when they came, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing those who were of the circumcision.

13 And the rest of the Jews also played the hypocrite with him, so that even Barnabas was carried away with their hypocrisy.

14 But when I saw that they were not straightforward about the truth of the gospel, I said to Peter before them all, "If you, being a Jew, live in the manner of Gentiles and not as the Jews, why do you[b] compel Gentiles to live as Jews?[c]

15 "We who are Jews by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles, 16 "knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law but by faith in Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Christ Jesus, that we might be justified by faith in Christ and not by the works of the law; for by the works of the law no flesh shall be justified.

17 "But if, while we seek to be justified by Christ, we ourselves also are found sinners, is Christ therefore a minister of sin? Certainly not!

18 "For if I build again those things which I destroyed, I make myself a transgressor.

19 "For I through the law died to the law that I might live to God.

20“I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me; and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me.

21“I do not set aside the grace of God; for if righteousness comes through the law, then Christ died in vain.”

Galatians 3

Justification by Faith

(cf. Rom. 4:1–25)

1O foolish Galatians! Who has bewitched you that you should not obey the truth,[a] before whose eyes Jesus Christ was clearly portrayed among you[b] as crucified?

2This only I want to learn from you: Did you receive the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?

3Are you so foolish? Having begun in the Spirit, are you now being made perfect by the flesh?

4Have you suffered so many things in vain—if indeed it was in vain?

5Therefore He who supplies the Spirit to you and works miracles among you, does He do it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?—

6just as Abraham “believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.”[c]

7Therefore know that only those who are of faith are sons of Abraham.

8And the Scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel to Abraham beforehand, saying, “In you all the nations shall be blessed.”[d]

9So then those who are of faith are blessed with believing Abraham.

The Law Brings a Curse

10For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse; for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who does not continue in all things which are written in the book of the law, to do them.”[e]

11But that no one is justified by the law in the sight of God is evident, for “the just shall live by faith.”[f]

12Yet the law is not of faith, but “the man who does them shall live by them."[g]

13 Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us (for it is written, "Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree"[h]), 14 that the blessing of Abraham might come upon the Gentiles in Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

The Changeless Promise

(cf. Gen. 12:1–3)

15 Brethren, I speak in the manner of men: Though it is only a man's covenant, yet if it is confirmed, no one annuls or adds to it.
16 Now to Abraham and his Seed were the promises made. He does not say, "And to seeds," as of many, but as of one, "And to your Seed,"[i] who is Christ.
17 And this I say, that the law, which was four hundred and thirty years later, cannot annul the covenant that was confirmed before by God in Christ,[j] that it should make the promise of no effect.
18 For if the inheritance is of the law, it is no longer of promise; but God gave it to Abraham by promise.

Purpose of the Law

19 What purpose then does the law serve? It was added because of transgressions, till the Seed should come to whom the promise was made;
and it was appointed through angels by the hand of a mediator.
20 Now a mediator does not mediate for one only, but God is one.
21 Is the law then against the promises of God? Certainly not! For if there had been a law given which could have given life, truly righteousness would have been by the law.
22 But the Scripture has confined all under sin, that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe.
23 But before faith came, we were kept under guard by the law, kept for the faith which would afterward be revealed.
24 Therefore the law was our tutor to bring us to Christ, that we might be justified by faith.
25 But after faith has come, we are no longer under a tutor.

Sons and Heirs

26For you are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus.
27For as many of you as were baptized into Christ have put on Christ.
28There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus.
29And if you are Christ's, then you are Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise.

Galatians 4

1Now I say that the heir, as long as he is a child, does not differ at all from a slave, though he is master of all,
2but is under guardians and stewards until the time appointed by the father.
3Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the elements of the world.
4But when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son, born[a] of a woman, born under the law, 5to redeem those who were under the law, that we might receive the adoption as sons.
6And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying out, "Abba, Father!"
7Therefore you are no longer a slave but a son, and if a son, then an heir of[b] God through Christ.

Fears for the Church

8But then, indeed, when you did not know God, you served those which by nature are not gods.
9But now after you have known God, or rather are known by God, how is it that you turn again to the weak and beggarly elements, to which you desire again to be in bondage?
10You observe days and months and seasons and years.
11I am afraid for you, lest I have labored for you in vain.
12Brethren, I urge you to become like me, for I became like you. You have not injured me at all.
13You know that because of physical infirmity I preached the gospel to you at the first.
14And my trial which was in my flesh you did not despise or reject, but you received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus.

15 What[c] then was the blessing you enjoyed? For I bear you witness that, if possible, you would have plucked out your own eyes and given them to me.

16 Have I therefore become your enemy because I tell you the truth?

17 They zealously court you, but for no good; yes, they want to exclude you, that you may be zealous for them.

18 But it is good to be zealous in a good thing always, and not only when I am present with you.

19 My little children, for whom I labor in birth again until Christ is formed in you, 20 I would like to be present with you now and to change my tone; for I have doubts about you.

Two Covenants

(Gen. 21:8–21; Is. 54:1)

21 Tell me, you who desire to be under the law, do you not hear the law?

22 For it is written that Abraham had two sons: the one by a bondwoman, the other by a freewoman.

23 But he who was of the bondwoman was born according to the flesh, and he of the freewoman through promise,

24 which things are symbolic. For these are the[d] two covenants: the one from Mount Sinai which gives birth to bondage, which is Hagar—

25 for this Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia, and corresponds to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children—

26 but the Jerusalem above is free, which is the mother of us all.

27 For it is written:

> "Rejoice, O barren,
> You who do not bear!
> Break forth and shout,
> You who are not in labor!
> For the desolate has many more children
> Than she who has a husband."[e]

28 Now we, brethren, as Isaac was, are children of promise.

29 But, as he who was born according to the flesh then persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit, even so it is now.

30 Nevertheless what does the Scripture say? “Cast out the bondwoman and her son, for the son of the bondwoman shall not be heir with the son of the freewoman.”[f]

31 So then, brethren, we are not children of the bondwoman but of the free.

Galatians 5

Christian Liberty

1 Stand fast therefore in the liberty by which Christ has made us free,[a] and do not be entangled again with a yoke of bondage.

2 Indeed I, Paul, say to you that if you become circumcised, Christ will profit you nothing.

3 And I testify again to every man who becomes circumcised that he is a debtor to keep the whole law.

4 You have become estranged from Christ, you who attempt to be justified by law; you have fallen from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit eagerly wait for the hope of righteousness by faith.

6 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but faith working through love.

Love Fulfills the Law

7 You ran well. Who hindered you from obeying the truth?

8 This persuasion does not come from Him who calls you.

9 A little leaven leavens the whole lump.

10 I have confidence in you, in the Lord, that you will have no other mind; but he who troubles you shall bear his judgment, whoever he is.

11 And I, brethren, if I still preach circumcision, why do I still suffer persecution? Then the offense of the cross has ceased.

12 I could wish that those who trouble you would even cut themselves off!

13 For you, brethren, have been called to liberty; only do not use liberty as an opportunity for the flesh, but through love serve one another.

14 For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”[b]

15 But if you bite and devour one another, beware lest you be consumed by one another!

Walking in the Spirit

16 I say then: Walk in the Spirit, and you shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.
17 For the flesh lusts against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary to one another, so that you do not do the things that you wish.
18 But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law.
19 Now the works of the flesh are evident, which are: adultery,[c] fornication, uncleanness, lewdness,
20 idolatry, sorcery, hatred, contentions, jealousies, outbursts of wrath, selfish ambitions, dissensions, heresies, 21 envy, murders,[d] drunkenness, revelries, and the like; of which I tell you beforehand, just as I also told you in time past, that those who practice such things will not inherit the kingdom of God.
22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness,
23 gentleness, self-control. Against such there is no law.
24 And those who are Christ's have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires.
25 If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.
26 Let us not become conceited, provoking one another, envying one another.

Galatians 6

Bear and Share Burdens

1 Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness, considering yourself lest you also be tempted.
2 Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.
3 For if anyone thinks himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceives himself.
4 But let each one examine his own work, and then he will have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another.

5For each one shall bear his own load.

Be Generous and Do Good

6Let him who is taught the word share in all good things with him who teaches.

7Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap.

8For he who sows to his flesh will of the flesh reap corruption, but he who sows to the Spirit will of the Spirit reap everlasting life.

9And let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart.

10Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith.

Glory Only in the Cross

11See with what large letters I have written to you with my own hand!

12As many as desire to make a good showing in the flesh, these would compel you to be circumcised, only that they may not suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.

13For not even those who are circumcised keep the law, but they desire to have you circumcised that they may boast in your flesh.

14But God forbid that I should boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom[a] the world has been crucified to me, and I to the world.

15For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision avails anything, but a new creation.

Blessing and a Plea

16And as many as walk according to this rule, peace and mercy be upon them, and upon the Israel of God.

17From now on let no one trouble me, for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.

18Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Annotations for Galatians

1:1, 2 The Judaizers invading Galatia argued that Paul was not a true apostle. Paul introduces himself with a threefold defense: (1) The source of his apostleship is God (v. 1). (2) He has witnessed the resurrected Christ (Acts 9:27), just as the eleven have. (3) His apostleship is confirmed by all the brethren (v. 2) with him. An additional proof of Paul's apostleship is that he founded the churches of Galatia (v. 2).

1:3–5 Paul's greeting encapsulates the true gospel, which he is defending in this epistle. Several points may be drawn from this greeting: (1) The true gospel comes from God Himself (v. 3). (2) Christ gave Himself for our sins not only in His death, but in every phase of His Incarnation, from conception to Ascension (see 2:20). (3) Christ delivers us from this present evil age (v. 4) to enter the age to come. (4) This deliverance is accomplished according to the will of our God (v. 4), the Son in His human nature cooperating with the divine will (Jn 5:30; 6:38). The Father's will is done by Jesus, and then by us, "on earth as it is in heaven" (Mt 6:10).

1:6–10 Different (Gr. heteros, v. 6) means different in kind, whereas another (Gr. allos, v. 7) means another of the same kind. Paul is saying that the teaching the Galatians are listening to is not a harmless variation of the truth, but a completely different, false gospel. This "gospel" (1) is a turning away from the grace of Christ (v. 6); (2) brings trouble to the faithful; (3) will pervert the gospel of Christ (v. 7)—it is a distortion of the truth, a mixture of truth and falsehood; (4) is accursed or anathematized by the Church (v. 8); and (5) is intended to please men (v. 10), not God.

Paul's warning about we, or an angel from heaven is not hypothetical. Angels can and have delivered the gospel to us: they announced Christ's conception (Lk 1:26–38), birth (Lk 2:9–15), Resurrection (Mt 28:5–7), and Ascension (Acts 1:9–11). But angelic messages are not necessarily true; they may come from fallen angels, who are accursed.

1:11—2:14 The true gospel is taught by true apostles, but many declare themselves to be apostles. How can we know true apostles from false?

(1) True apostles are called by God. They learn the gospel by revelation, either directly from the risen Son, as did the original apostles (1:11, 12), or by the revelation of apostolic tradition (2Ti 2:2). They are called by grace, not according to works or a "proper" background (1:13–17). A true apostle brings glory to God, not to himself (1:18–23).

(2) True apostles form one church government, holding the same doctrine and working by agreement reached in council (2:6–10).

(3) True apostles stand firm in matters of conscience and are correctable when mistaken (2:11–14). Thus, Paul rebukes Peter sharply in public for his hypocritical ethnic elitism.

1:11, 12 Apostolic tradition is grounded in divine revelation from Jesus Christ. Just as the Twelve were called by Christ, so was Paul (v. 1). Just as the Twelve received the gospel directly from Christ, so did Paul (Acts 9:3–6; 26:13–18). Just as the Twelve stood together as one, so Paul entered their unity in consensus and mutual submission.

1:13–17 People are called by God not according to former conduct (v. 13)—good or bad—but by God's grace (v. 15). Paul, whom God called in mercy, received grace from Ananias' hands and the waters of baptism (Acts 9:10–19). Separated me from my mother's womb (v. 15) refers not to Paul's physical birth but to God's calling Paul to apostolic ministry before he was born (see Ps 138:15, 16; Is 49:1; Jer 1:5; Lk 1:35, 43, 44, 48). As with Paul, God's intentions for a person may lie hidden for years.

1:18–20 As a true apostle, Paul submits himself to the Church and her apostles rather than elevating himself. Paul knows his encounter with Christ, instruction in the gospel, and call to apostleship are highly unusual—in a private revelation, the only other witness is God (v. 20). But he also knows he must teach the same gospel as the other apostles.

1:19 James is James the Just, the first bishop of Jerusalem and author of the Epistle of James. Brother also means cousin or close relation (see the Introduction to the Epistle of James).

1:24 Glory goes to God, not to the apostle.

2:2 Communicated (Gr. anatithemai) means "laid before" or "submitted." Paul submitted to the apostles

James, Peter, and John (v. 9) what he had been teaching among the Gentiles so that he might not run in vain, that is, teach error. He did so privately because the Judaizers were slandering him, giving apostolic honor only to those they considered of reputation, the original apostles.

2:4, 5 The false brethren are not those "of reputation" (v. 2) in the Church, but the Judaizers, whom no one had recognized as apostolic.

2:6 Seemed to be something is more correctly translated "were of reputation," as in v. 2. To the Judaizers, only the original apostles had valid authority. But the Judaizers were wrong. Paul is not putting down the Twelve; rather he is saying that it makes no difference that all his fellow apostles were formerly "blue collar" workers, not scholars like Paul himself. God does not show personal favoritism. As for correcting Paul's gospel, they added nothing to his teaching.

2:7 Peter and Paul were each responsible to reach one segment of the population in the central part of the Roman Empire: Peter the circumcised (Jews), Paul the uncircumcised (Gentiles). The others of the Twelve also did evangelistic work, as did the Seventy (see article, "The Seventy," at Luke 10).

2:8 One God gave one gospel through two apostles to two different ethnic groups.

2:9 The right hand of fellowship indicates consensus, not merely friendship. The apostles are united in preaching the same gospel.

2:10 Apostles are also united in caring for the poor, which in this case probably refers to the Jerusalem church (see Acts 11:27–30).

2:11 No individual apostle (or bishop or patriarch) is infallible. Even when he speaks officially (ex officio), he is correctable. Unchecked, Peter could have caused a schism.

2:12, 13 The men who came from James were probably trying to force the culture of the Jerusalem church on the Gentiles—and they were not necessarily representing James. Jerusalem was Jewish, but to impose that culture on Gentiles was hypocrisy (v. 13). And to mistake culture—any culture—for the gospel is even worse. God had already shown that Jewish dietary laws were obsolete (Acts 10:11–16), for the law is fulfilled in Christ.

2:14–21 Paul recounts the speech he gave in Antioch when he confronted Peter.

2:15 Gentiles were considered sinners by the Jews.

2:16—4:31 In this section, Paul gives the content of the true gospel by contrasting it with the false gospel, that of the Judaizers.

(1) The source of justification is faith, not the works of the law (2:16–21). (a) Works of the law deal with man in his fallen state, in his corruption; faith "crucifies" man's corrupt condition and deals with the new man in Christ. (b) Works of the law begin with the action of man; faith begins with the action of God. Every work of faith is the action of both God and man, a cooperation (synergy) between the divine and human wills. This faith and these actions find their source and fulfillment in God-made-Man, Christ. We experience them through our union with Christ brought about in baptism.

(2) The Holy Spirit gives us power for the ongoing life of righteousness in Christ, the life of blessing (3:1–14). (a) Father Abraham is the father of faith and of the blessing of the Spirit. (b) But Judaizers, who have based their righteousness on the works of the law, have received a curse, not the blessing of the Spirit.

(3) The status conferred by righteousness is sonship. We become children of God through union with God incarnate (3:15–4:31). (a) The source of sonship is God, not humanity; divine promise, not human deeds; faith, not works. (b) God introduced the works of the law to protect mankind until the time of divine sonship, the time when our union with the Son of God became possible. (c) The purpose of sonship is for us to become like God and to enter heaven.

2:16 What does it mean to be justified? See the article, "Justification by Faith," at Romans 5. Faith in Jesus Christ is grammatically parallel to the works of the law and should be translated "the faith of Jesus Christ." The faith of Christ is the gospel. As the source of works is the law, so the source of faith is Christ. It is the faith of Christ—His beliefs, His trust, His obedience—that justifies us, not our faith as such. Christ's faith is seen in His entire life on earth, not in just a few of His crucial works.

2:17 By Christ should be "in Christ." Justification is not merely legal but actual—effected by our real, personal union with Christ in His glorified human nature. That we could be found sinners shows this union never takes away our free will, and explains how some defected to Judaism.

2:18 Those things which I destroyed are "the works of the law" (v. 16). Paul destroyed them in the sense of proving their ineffectiveness for salvation. The real transgressor here is one who tries to reinstitute the Jewish Law.

2:19 We die through the law, not bypassing or dishonoring it, but by recognizing that it is holy; that we deserve its consequence, death; and that we voluntarily die to the law through our death with Christ. Being crucified with Christ through baptism, we come alive to the law of the Spirit, which perfects the intention of the OT law. There is no contradiction between law and gospel. The law is "holy and just and good" (Rom 7:12). However, the law is "weak" (Rom 8:3) and "obsolete" (Heb 8:13), for it is fulfilled in the gospel, in Christ Himself.

2:20 I have been crucified with Christ means our sinful "passions and desires" (5:24) have been crucified. This is not the crucifixion of human nature, but of the flesh, the corruption into which human nature has fallen. This crucifixion must be willingly and freely accepted, just as Christ freely accepted His death. Living in the flesh (Gr. en sarki) is contrasted with living "in the faith" (Gr. en pistei), translated here by faith. Just as living in the flesh involves the whole person, body and soul, so living "in the faith" involves the whole person. Justification therefore constitutes substantial union with Christ, not just an abstract position of the believer with respect to God.

While it is no longer I who live under the dominion of sinful passions and desires, I do live a crucified life in Christ. As we are not saved by works alone, nowhere does the NT say we are saved by faith alone. We are saved by faith, but not faith alone.

2:21 Set aside the grace of God is what Peter and Barnabas had done (vv. 12, 13). The faith of Christ is not opposed to the works of the law, but it is opposed to using works to justify oneself before God. As Moses himself looked ahead to Christ (Heb 11:26), so the law is a shadow, an icon, pointing toward Christ Himself, who brings us life.

3:1–5 The Galatians had believed in Jesus Christ (v. 1) and received the Spirit through the hearing of faith (v. 2). But they are foolish because they have rejected ongoing life in Christ and the Spirit, teaching instead that we are made perfect by the flesh (v. 3)—circumcision. Paul argues they do not understand righteousness, nor how men have always participated in it.

3:6–9 Who are the sons of Abraham? Those who are of faith (v. 7)—true Christians. Jews saw Abraham as their father. Paul shows that Abraham's righteousness (v. 6) does not consist in keeping the law, but in believing God (v. 9). Righteousness is a heart-centered belief in and obedience to God, with the blessing of the Holy Spirit.

Accounted (v. 6) in our day suggests keeping the books, ledgers, CPAs. To "account" here (Gr. logizomai) refers rather to faithful participation. When God "accounted" Abraham righteous, Abraham was participating with God in the fruit of the Holy Spirit and faith (v. 5).

With believing Abraham (v. 9) is literally "in the faith of Abraham," that which he believed and did. This shows that Jesus' words, "If you were Abraham's children, you would do the works of Abraham" (Jn 8:39), underscore the fact that separating faith from works is impossible. To justify (v. 8) means to make righteous and so to be righteous. Therefore, to be blessed (v. 9) in Abraham is to participate with him, body and soul, in communion with God and His goodness.

3:10 While the works of the law are good, those who are of the works of the law are cursed because they cannot become righteous by keeping the law. Even on their own premise they fail, for no one has kept all the law.

3:12 The law is not of faith because the law came before the true faith (v. 23). This is not to say that no one believed before Christ, or that the law cannot be obeyed out of faith. Abraham is the father of faith! But his faith was a type of the faith of Christ, for his faith is perfected in the faith of Christ.

3:13 Christ perfectly obeyed the law and accepted its curse. In Christ, we are redeemed from the curse and participate in His perfect faith and obedience.

3:14 How is God's promised blessing obtained? The Judaizers believed they were progressing toward perfection by obeying the law. Paul argues by contrast that the blessing comes through the promise of the Spirit through faith, a participation in the very life of God.

3:15–18 The Jews were blinded by the multitude of details of the law. They failed to see that their sonship was founded on God's promises (the covenant) made to Abraham (v. 16). Since a covenant that was confirmed (v. 17) cannot be added to, changed, or annulled, the law, which comes later (v. 17), cannot alter the covenant's promise (v. 15). The Jews thought they were sons of Abraham (seeds) through physical genealogy. They overlooked the fact that Seed (v. 16) is singular, referring to Christ.

3:19 Why was the law given then? Because Israel was transgressing what they knew of God's law through conscience and nature. So God put it in writing! The law was never a savior, but a tutor (v. 24) to convict Israel of transgressions and to lead her to Christ.

3:20 For Christ to be the mediator between God and man (see also 1Ti 2:5), He had to be both God and man. God is one is a reference to the one divine nature and does not deny the existence of three divine Persons. (Priests, by the way, are not seen as mediators between God and man; their role is to lead people to the Mediator.)

3:22–25 Faith in (v. 22) should be translated "faith of." Two faiths are cooperating: first and foremost, Christ's faith; secondarily, the faith of those who believe. While OT people had faith, they could not participate in Christ's faith, for Christ had not yet come.

📖 3:23–29 This passage is read on days commemorating nuns and female martyrs.

3:26, 27 Paul directly relates saving faith (v. 26) and being baptized, connecting them as the most intimate of friends. Verse 27 is the ancient hymn perhaps already being sung at Christian baptisms during the procession of the newly regenerated into the assembly—and sung at every Orthodox baptismal service to this day.

3:28, 29 We share one human nature in Christ. Therefore, valuing people based on opinions and ethnicity (neither Jew nor Greek), pride and social status (neither slave nor free), or gender (neither male nor female) has no place in the Church. All are one in nature, and so all are equal in dignity.

4:1, 2 Child refers not to age but to understanding. Guardians and stewards provide the special discipline and protection required for growth. Slave refers to one under the rule of a taskmaster, in this case, the law.

4:3 The elements of the world are the philosophies and traditions developed by humanity without regard to God (Col 2:8).

4:4, 5 Son refers to Christ as God by nature. God, then, is born of a woman, and so Mary is rightly called the mother of God (Theotokos). Since Jesus is born under the law, He can redeem those under the law. Jesus fulfilled the law as an infant by being circumcised on the eighth day and being presented in the temple forty days after His birth. Both of these events are remembered in the liturgical cycle of the Orthodox Church.

Why does God redeem those who were under the law? To fulfill His promise to Abraham. God owes no one anything—He certainly does not owe us salvation.

Whereas the Son is God by nature, we become sons of God by adoption. We cannot become members of the Godhead by nature because we are human by nature. But we do become members of His family by grace. In adoption we become everything God is, except that we do not share His nature. Because we are given new life, adoption is also called a new birth, being born again.

📖 4:4–7 This passage is read on December 25, the Feast of the Nativity of the Lord.

4:6, 7 The ongoing growth into adoption, being an heir of God (v. 7), is called deification (see the article, "Deification," at 2 Peter). This means we are becoming by grace what God is by nature. Each Person of the Trinity, Spirit, Son, and Father (v. 6), is involved in this process of transformation. Therefore, to become sons of God by grace, we must believe in and know the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

4:10 The Judaizers were making their holy-day calendar an end in itself. Although God gave Israel her holy days, they point beyond themselves to Christ and His Kingdom. The OT holy days are fulfilled in the great feasts of the Church. Passover becomes Easter, while Pentecost, the celebration of the giving of the Law on Mt. Sinai, becomes the descent of the Holy Spirit—a renewed calendar for a renewed creation.

4:13 The nature of Paul's physical infirmity is not known. Perhaps it was simply the sufferings of his work for the gospel.

4:14–19 The angel of God in the OT was a pre-incarnate appearance (theophany) of the Son, whom we know as Christ Jesus. A priest in the Church is called to be a manifestation of Christ and is to be received as Christ, but he is neither identical with Christ nor a mediator between a Christian and Christ.

He must both win the love of his people (v. 15) and adamantly confront bad behavior and wrong belief (vv. 16–18). A true priest seeks spiritual growth, deification, for his people (v. 19), even if his people do not want the truth (v. 16).

4:21–31 By saying that Abraham's two sons and related events are symbolic (v. 24, Gr. allegoreo), Paul is not implying that they are not historical. Rather he asserts that OT history is announcing something far greater than itself. Hagar and Mount Sinai symbolize earthly Jerusalem and the Jews under the law (v. 25). Sarah, the freewoman (vv. 22, 23), symbolizes the heavenly Jerusalem, that is, the Church (v. 26). The desolate are those in the Church, especially the Gentiles; she who has a husband is Israel (v. 27). Furthermore, Sarah is a type of Mary, the Mother of God, for Sarah's son was born through promise (v. 23), the promise of God.

Isaac "was the issue of bodies that were dead, and of a womb that was dead. His conception was not by the flesh, nor his birth by the seed, for the womb was dead both through age and barrenness. But the Word of God fashioned him. . . . He that was not according to the flesh was more honorable than he that was born after the flesh. Therefore let it not disturb you that you were not born after the flesh. For from the very reason that you are not so born, are you most of all Abraham's kindred" (JohnChr).

🕮 4:22–31 This passage is read on September 23, the Feast of the Conception of the John the Baptist, and on December 9, the Feast of the Conception of the Theotokos.

5:1–5 The yoke of bondage is the law. It mistakes the lesser reality, its rules and regulations, its externals, for the greater reality, God, who produced the law and to whom the externals point. The law in this sense includes: (1) the initiatory requirement to be circumcised (v. 2); (2) an obligation to perfectly obey the whole law (v. 3); (3) being justified by law—trying to establish one's own righteousness under the law (v. 4); (4) continuing bondage to sin (v. 1); (5) dependence on the "flesh," corrupt human nature; (6) alienation from Christ and from grace (v. 4), which Christ calls "labor" and being "heavy laden" (Mt 11:28).

By contrast, Christ's yoke is life in the Spirit, which includes: (1) the regeneration of baptism (3:27), the renewal of the entire human nature in Christ, the circumcision of the heart; (2) obedience to Christ and growth in perfection (Mt 5:48); (3) being justified by grace, God's righteousness which becomes ours; (4) freedom or liberty (v. 1) from the power of sin; (5) dependence upon the Spirit (v. 5) and access to the perfect and glorified human nature of Christ; (6) union with Christ and the grace of God. Christ calls this yoke "rest," for it is "easy" and "light" (Mt 11:30).

5:5 The hope of righteousness is the Kingdom of God.

5:6–12 To believe in Christ involves faith working through love (v. 6). Those who stop short of love, hindered by legalism (v. 7), miss the message of the Cross (v. 11). For by His death Christ abolished the law, and by His Resurrection He granted us sonship with God. For those who trouble you (v. 12) with circumcision, Paul wishes they would cut themselves off—referring to complete castration. Why does he speak so strongly? Christ broke the bonds of the law, not that our standard might be lowered, but that it might be exalted. We who are free from the law must not return to its bondage.

5:13–15 The way of life in the Spirit, the way of faith and love, is expressed through service to God and one another (v. 13). We must avoid at all costs competitive comparisons of each other's deeds.

5:16 By the flesh, Paul does not mean the body. The flesh here is a general term for evil actions, the depraved will, the earthly mind, the slothful and careless soul—things that are under one's control, not part of human nature. This flesh is crucified with Christ (v. 24). It is not human nature that is mortified, but its evil deeds.

🕮 5:22—6:2 This passage is read on days commemorating holy monks.

5:25 A walk in the Spirit comes from life in the Spirit.

6:1 To be able to administer correction with gentleness is a spiritual gift.

6:2 Paul admonishes us to bear one another's burdens. But moments later, he notes that "each one shall bear his own load" (v. 5). Both are true. We are called to initiate caregiving in the Church, and not to be needless burdens to others.

6:6 See Nm 31:47; 35:1–8; 1Co 9:14. The teacher and the taught form a bond, and the sharing here is in material blessings.

6:12 The legalizers choose to offend God that they may please human beings.

6:14 How does one boast . . . in the cross? Throughout the history of the Church, Christians have preached the Cross, displayed the Cross in their homes and altars, venerated the Cross in the liturgy, and signed themselves with the Cross in worship of the Holy Trinity and during times of fear or temptation.

6:15 The new creation is our way of life in Christ Jesus.

6:16 Paul calls the Church Israel.

6:17 Paul is no hypocrite or coward. He has persevered through much for what he is teaching, and he bears in his body the marks to prove it.

The Book of Ephesians

Author

Some have cited differences in style, vocabulary, and doctrinal emphasis between Ephesians and other Pauline epistles to dispute Paul's authorship of Ephesians. However, the epistle itself claims to be written by Paul (1:1), and the Church has recognized Paul as the author, writing under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. Because Paul dictated some of his letters, differences in content and style would be expected.

Date

Paul probably wrote Ephesians from Rome during his imprisonment in AD 61–63, as recorded in Acts 28:16–31.

Major Theme

The riches of Christ in the Church. The mystery of salvation in the Church, the body of Christ, is not only for all mankind but for all creation, affecting this age and the age to come. The body of Christ is the center and life of all. Subthemes include:

(1) The work of the Holy Trinity in our salvation (1:3–14, 17; 2:18, 22; 3:4, 5, 14–17, 20, 21; 4:3–6; 5:18–21)
(2) The blessings of Christ to the Church (1:1–3:21)
(3) Our response to God's grace (4:1–6:24)
(4) God's strength for spiritual warfare (1:19–2:10; 4:17–31; 6:10–18)

Background

Some of the early manuscripts do not have "in Ephesus" in verse 1. Further, the content of Ephesians is general, which gives it the character of a book rather than a letter. It includes no personal greetings, although it is addressed to a city where Paul had spent two and a half years in the midfifties AD (Acts 19:8, 10; 20:17, 31). It is probable, then, that this letter was intended not just for the Ephesians, but also for circulation among the churches of western Asia Minor that Paul had founded from Ephesus during his third missionary journey. It is possible Ephesians is the "letter to the Laodiceans" mentioned in Colossians 4:16.

Outline

I. Greeting (1:1, 2)
II. Praise of God's Plan for the World (1:3–23)
  A. The creative sovereignty of the Father (1:3–6)
  B. The redemptive administration of the Son (1:7–12)
  C. The perfecting faithfulness of the Spirit (1:13, 14)
  D. A prayer for revelation (1:15–23)
III. Theology of Christ and His Church (2:1–3:21)
  A. Salvation as a gift for all (2:1–10)
  B. The church as one household for all (2:11–22)
  C. The apostles as faithful messengers (3:1–13)
  D. A prayer for the deification of the Church (3:14–21)
IV. Conduct of the Body of Christ (4:1–6:20)
  A. As the body of Christ (4:1–16)
  B. As children of God (4:17–5:5)
  C. As partakers of light (5:6–21)
  D. As families in the Church (5:22–6:9)
  E. As soldiers of Christ (6:10–20)
V. Conclusion (6:21–24)

Ephesians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God,
To the saints who are in Ephesus, and faithful in Christ Jesus:
2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Redemption in Christ

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places in Christ,
4 just as He chose us in Him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before Him in love,
5 having predestined us to adoption as sons by Jesus Christ to Himself, according to the good pleasure of His will,
6 to the praise of the glory of His grace, by which He made us accepted in the Beloved.
7 In Him we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace
8 which He made to abound toward us in all wisdom and prudence,
9 having made known to us the mystery of His will, according to His good pleasure which He purposed in Himself,
10 that in the dispensation of the fullness of the times He might gather together in one all things in Christ, both[a] which are in heaven and which are on earth—in Him.
11 In Him also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestined according to the purpose of Him who works all things according to the counsel of His will,
12 that we who first trusted in Christ should be to the praise of His glory.
13 In Him you also trusted, after you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation; in whom also, having believed, you were sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise, 14 who[b] is the guarantee of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, to the praise of His glory.

Prayer for Spiritual Wisdom

15 Therefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus and your love for all the saints, 16 do not cease to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers:
17 that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Him, 18 the eyes of your understanding[c] being enlightened; that you may know what is the hope of His calling, what are the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the saints, 19 and what is the exceeding greatness of His power toward us who believe, according to the working of His mighty power 20 which He worked in Christ when He raised Him from the dead and seated Him at His right hand in the heavenly places, 21 far above all principality and power and might and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this age but also in that which is to come.
22 And He put all things under His feet, and gave Him to be head over all things to the church,
23 which is His body, the fullness of Him who fills all in all.

Ephesians 2

By Grace Through Faith

1 And you He made alive, who were dead in trespasses and sins, 2 in which you once walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit who now works in the sons of disobedience, 3 among whom also we all once conducted ourselves in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind, and were by nature children of wrath, just as the others.
4 But God, who is rich in mercy, because of His great love with which He loved us,
5 even when we were dead in trespasses, made us alive together with Christ
(by grace you have been saved),
6 and raised us up together, and made us sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus,
7 that in the ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.

[8]For by grace you have been saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God,

[9]not of works, lest anyone should boast.

[10]For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand that we should walk in them.

Brought Near by His Blood

[11]Therefore remember that you, once Gentiles in the flesh—who are called Uncircumcision by what is called the Circumcision made in the flesh by hands—

[12]that at that time you were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world.

[13]But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ.

Christ Our Peace

[14]For He Himself is our peace, who has made both one, and has broken down the middle wall of separation,

[15]having abolished in His flesh the enmity, that is, the law of commandments contained in ordinances, so as to create in Himself one new man from the two, thus making peace,

[16]and that He might reconcile them both to God in one body through the cross, thereby putting to death the enmity.

[17]And He came and preached peace to you who were afar off and to those who were near.

[18]For through Him we both have access by one Spirit to the Father.

Christ Our Cornerstone

[19]Now, therefore, you are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God,

[20]having been built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief corner*stone*,

[21]in whom the whole building, being fitted together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord,

22in whom you also are being built together for a dwelling place of God in the Spirit. “Works” in Paul’s Writing

Ephesians 3

The Mystery Revealed

1For this reason I, Paul, the prisoner of Christ Jesus for you Gentiles—2if indeed you have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God which was given to me for you, 3how that by revelation He made known to me the mystery (as I have briefly written already, 4by which, when you read, you may understand my knowledge in the mystery of Christ), 5which in other ages was not made known to the sons of men, as it has now been revealed by the Spirit to His holy apostles and prophets:
6that the Gentiles should be fellow heirs, of the same body, and partakers of His promise in Christ through the gospel, 7of which I became a minister according to the gift of the grace of God given to me by the effective working of His power.

Purpose of the Mystery

8To me, who am less than the least of all the saints, this grace was given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ,
9and to make all see what is the fellowship[a] of the mystery, which from the beginning of the ages has been hidden in God who created all things through Jesus Christ;[b] 10to the intent that now the manifold wisdom of God might be made known by the church to the principalities and powers in the heavenly places, 11according to the eternal purpose which He accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord, 12in whom we have boldness and access with confidence through faith in Him.
13Therefore I ask that you do not lose heart at my tribulations for you, which is your glory.

Appreciation of the Mystery

14 For this reason I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,[c] 15 from whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named,
16 that He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened with might through His Spirit in the inner man,
17 that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you, being rooted and grounded in love,
18 may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the width and length and depth and height—
19 to know the love of Christ which passes knowledge; that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.
20 Now to Him who is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that works in us, 21 to Him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus to all generations, forever and ever. Amen.

Ephesians 4

Walk in Unity

1 I, therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you to walk worthy of the calling with which you were called,
2 with all lowliness and gentleness, with longsuffering, bearing with one another in love,
3 endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.
4 There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called in one hope of your calling;
5 one Lord, one faith, one baptism;
6 one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you[a] all.

Spiritual Gifts

7 But to each one of us grace was given according to the measure of Christ's gift.
8 Therefore He says:

> "When He ascended on high,
> He led captivity captive,

And gave gifts to men."[b]

9(Now this, "He ascended"—what does it mean but that He also first[c] descended into the lower parts of the earth?
10He who descended is also the One who ascended far above all the heavens, that He might fill all things.)
11And He Himself gave some to be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers, 12for the equipping of the saints for the work of ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ,
13till we all come to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, to a perfect man, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ;
14that we should no longer be children, tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the trickery of men, in the cunning craftiness of deceitful plotting,
15but, speaking the truth in love, may grow up in all things into Him who is the head—Christ—
16from whom the whole body, joined and knit together by what every joint supplies, according to the effective working by which every part does its share, causes growth of the body for the edifying of itself in love.

The New Man

17This I say, therefore, and testify in the Lord, that you should no longer walk as the rest of[d] the Gentiles walk, in the futility of their mind, 18having their understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God, because of the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart;
19who, being past feeling, have given themselves over to lewdness, to work all uncleanness with greediness.
20But you have not so learned Christ,
21if indeed you have heard Him and have been taught by Him, as the truth is in Jesus:
22that you put off, concerning your former conduct, the old man which grows corrupt according to the deceitful lusts, 23and be renewed in the spirit of your mind, 24and that you put on the new man which was created according to God, in true righteousness and holiness.

Do Not Grieve the Spirit

25 Therefore, putting away lying, "Let each one of you speak truth with his neighbor,"[e] for we are members of one another.
26 "Be angry, and do not sin":[f] do not let the sun go down on your wrath, 27 nor give place to the devil.
28 Let him who stole steal no longer, but rather let him labor, working with his hands what is good, that he may have something to give him who has need.
29 Let no corrupt word proceed out of your mouth, but what is good for necessary edification, that it may impart grace to the hearers.
30 And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed for the day of redemption.
31 Let all bitterness, wrath, anger, clamor, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice.
32 And be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God in Christ forgave you. The Church

Ephesians 5

Walk in Love

1 Therefore be imitators of God as dear children.
2 And walk in love, as Christ also has loved us and given Himself for us, an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet-smelling aroma.
3 But fornication and all uncleanness or covetousness, let it not even be named among you, as is fitting for saints;
4 neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor coarse jesting, which are not fitting, but rather giving of thanks.
5 For this you know,[a] that no fornicator, unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, has any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God.
6 Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience.
7 Therefore do not be partakers with them.

Walk in Light

8 For you were once darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Walk as children of light
9 (for the fruit of the Spirit[b] is in all goodness, righteousness, and truth), 10 finding out what is acceptable to the Lord.
11 And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather expose them.
12 For it is shameful even to speak of those things which are done by them in secret.
13 But all things that are exposed are made manifest by the light, for whatever makes manifest is light.
14 Therefore He says:

> "Awake, you who sleep,
> Arise from the dead,
> And Christ will give you light."

Walk in Wisdom

15 See then that you walk circumspectly, not as fools but as wise, 16 redeeming the time, because the days are evil.
17 Therefore do not be unwise, but understand what the will of the Lord is.
18 And do not be drunk with wine, in which is dissipation; but be filled with the Spirit,
19 speaking to one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord, 20 giving thanks always for all things to God the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ,
21 submitting to one another in the fear of God.[c]

Marriage—Christ and the Church

(cf. Col. 3:18, 19)

22 Wives, submit to your own husbands, as to the Lord.
23 For the husband is head of the wife, as also Christ is head of the church;
and He is the Savior of the body.
24 Therefore, just as the church is subject to Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in everything.
25 Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for her,

[26]that He might sanctify and cleanse her with the washing of water by the word, [27]that He might present her to Himself a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing, but that she should be holy and without blemish.
[28]So husbands ought to love their own wives as their own bodies; he who loves his wife loves himself.
[29]For no one ever hated his own flesh, but nourishes and cherishes it, just as the Lord does the church.
[30]For we are members of His body,[d] of His flesh and of His bones.
[31]"For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh."[e]
[32]This is a great mystery, but I speak concerning Christ and the church.
[33]Nevertheless let each one of you in particular so love his own wife as himself, and let the wife see that she respects her husband. Marriage

Ephesians 6

Children and Parents
(Ex. 20:12; Deut. 5:16)

[1]Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right.
[2]"Honor your father and mother," which is the first commandment with promise:
[3]"that it may be well with you and you may live long on the earth."[a]
[4]And you, fathers, do not provoke your children to wrath, but bring them up in the training and admonition of the Lord.

Bondservants and Masters

[5]Bondservants, be obedient to those who are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in sincerity of heart, as to Christ;
[6]not with eyeservice, as men-pleasers, but as bondservants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart,
[7]with goodwill doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men,
[8]knowing that whatever good anyone does, he will receive the same from the Lord, whether he is a slave or free.

9 And you, masters, do the same things to them, giving up threatening, knowing that your own Master also[b] is in heaven, and there is no partiality with Him.

The Whole Armor of God

10 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might.
11 Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.
12 For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age,[c] against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places.
13 Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.
14 Stand therefore, having girded your waist with truth, having put on the breastplate of righteousness,
15 and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace; 16 above all, taking the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one.
17 And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God;
18 praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, being watchful to this end with all perseverance and supplication for all the saints—19 and for me, that utterance may be given to me, that I may open my mouth boldly to make known the mystery of the gospel, 20 for which I am an ambassador in chains; that in it I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

A Gracious Greeting

21 But that you also may know my affairs and how I am doing, Tychicus, a beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord, will make all things known to you;
22 whom I have sent to you for this very purpose, that you may know our affairs, and that he may comfort your hearts.
23 Peace to the brethren, and love with faith, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

[24]Grace be with all those who love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity. Amen.

Annotations for Ephesians

1:1, 2 Saints and faithful are biblical and historical references to Christian believers. Here, God (v. 2) refers to the Father, Lord (Gr. kyrios) refers to the Son. Early Christian usage of these words indicates an identity of nature but distinction of Persons between the Father and the Son.

1:3–14 In the original Greek, this is all one sentence. Paul's opening theme is the preeminence of God's initiative. We say, simply, "Blessed is the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit." Paul's doxology is more detailed: The Father has all power (vv. 3–6); the Son, all rule (vv. 7–12); the Spirit, all caretaking (vv. 13, 14).

1:3 God blesses and so is blessed. The Christian life is a response to God's initiative, especially that of the Father but also that of the Son, our Lord Jesus Christ. Spiritual blessing is primarily the work of the Spirit. The heavenly *places, where the risen and ascended Christ reigns, are experienced in Christ, that is, by the life that is begun when one is joined with Christ in baptism (see Rom 6:3–5).

1:4–6 Everything comes from God, and everything should be drawn back to Him. God's original intent for the Incarnation was not redemption from the Fall but adoption as sons of God (v. 5), that is, deification. For when God contemplated creating the world, He planned on bringing it into union with Himself through the Incarnation of His Son, that is, through the Son's union with human nature. That is why St. Athanasius can say, "God became man that man might become god."

The Father chose us (v. 4) in Him, the Son. Christ, who is God by nature, became Man by choice. If we choose Him, we, who are human by nature, become "gods" by grace. If we are in Christ, the Son of God, we are sons of God. Paul is not addressing individuals as such but us, the community, the Church. And he is not addressing the issue of human will in salvation but the will of God, which is that all are chosen (see Rom 11:32; 1Ti 2:4; 2Pt 3:9). But being predestined (v. 5) by God does not nullify human will: in everything, God is the originator, the initiator; we merely respond, but our response is necessary. Becoming a Christian is not so much inviting Christ into one's life as getting oneself into Christ's life. What is true of Christ must become true of one who is in Him.

1:7, 8 The sacraments of baptism (redemption) and the Eucharist (His blood) are alluded to as the necessary foundation for drawing near to God. Redemption has a technical meaning relative to the freeing of slaves. Here, the bondage is to sins; the act of releasing is forgiveness; the price of redemption is blood—the human life of Christ given over to death for the sake of new life. This beginning of life in Christ is not merely legal, nor instantaneous, but living and dynamic.

1:9, 10 The mystery is the plan of salvation, the gospel, the Kingdom of God, the Church. This mystery centers on Christ Himself (Col 2:2), from the Incarnation (1Ti 3:16), to the Cross (1Co 2:8), to the restoration and culmination of all things (v. 10). It is the fullness (v. 10) of all, not only for humanity but for the whole creation. Although it was announced by the prophets (Rom 16:25, 26), God revealed it through Christ, and it is made known to us through the apostles (3:1–5; 1Co 2:6, 7, 10–16; 4:1). The mystery is made manifest in history by the fact that Gentiles and Jews compose one body (3:6; Col 1:26–28). The mystery is experienced in the sacraments of the Church, which are called the "mysteries."

1:11–14 The gospel unites all humanity: the Jews (vv. 11, 12) and the Gentiles (vv. 13, 14). The Jews, especially those who trusted in Christ (v. 12)—one of whom was Paul, hence the use of we (v. 11)—were the first witnesses to the coming of the Messiah. In "the fullness of the times" (v. 10) they were joined by the Gentiles.

1:13, 14 The outpouring of the Holy Spirit was an evidence that the last times, the day of the Lord, had come. Hence, Pentecost was a proof to the Jews that Jesus indeed was the Messiah. And the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the Gentiles (Acts 10:44–48) was a proof they were equal to the Jews in this final age. After baptism one is sealed with the Holy Spirit, called "chrismation." (The word “seal” is repeated by Orthodox Christians as the priest or bishop anoints the newly baptized with oil.)

The guarantee (v. 14) is a first installment in kind, a down payment or earnest of what is later to be completed: we both are redeemed and shall be redeemed.

1:15–23 This is an intercessory prayer that Paul prayed often and repetitiously (v. 16). He asks that his hearers might understand the redemption he outlined in vv. 3–14. Like vv. 3–14, this section is also one long sentence in Greek.

1:15 This is a way of restating the two great commandments: love God and love man.

1:18 Understanding should be translated “heart.” The prayer that Orthodox Christians pray before the reading of the Gospel begins, “Illumine our hearts, O Master who love mankind, with the pure light of Your divine knowledge.”

1:21–23 Principality, power, might, and dominion (v. 21) are orders of angelic beings. Because Christ transcends all (v. 21), everything submits to Him (v. 22). Because He is intimately united with the church (v. 22) as a head to its body (v. 23), the Church has the greatest glory of all creation. The Church is God’s masterpiece (v. 23). Since Christ as God is infinite, the Church never ceases becoming “full.”

2:1–7 Two unequal kingdoms are at war. Each is spiritual in nature; each stamps its image on its subjects and requires strict obedience. Yet they are opposites. The king of the lesser realm is a created being, Satan. His domain is of the air (v. 2), neither fully of earth nor of heaven. He is the author of disobedience (v. 2), rebellion. The beginning of his rule is spiritual death (v. 1). The desires of his subjects are lustful, of the flesh and of the mind (v. 3). Their deeds are trespasses and sins (v. 1). The result of his rule is wrath (v. 3), and hence eternal death.

The King of the other Kingdom is uncreated, God the Father (v. 4). His realm is the heavenly *places (v. 6). He rules by mercy and love (v. 4). The beginning of His rule is redemption to eternal life (v. 5). The desires of His subjects are thankfulness and glorifying God. Their deeds are righteous, as is proper to those who reign with Christ. The result of His rule is exceeding riches and kindness (v. 7), and hence eternal life.

2:8–10 How can one get from the one kingdom to the other (vv. 1–7)? By the unity of grace, faith, and works (v. 9). Not that these are equal, for grace is uncreated and infinite, whereas our faith is limited and can grow; good works flow out of authentic faith. Works cannot earn us this great treasure—it is a pure gift—but those who receive this gift do good. We are not saved by good works, but for good works (v. 10).

2:11, 12 Since salvation involves the renewal of all mankind in Christ, the old distinction between Jew and Gentile no longer exists. This ethnic distinction was based on the flesh (v. 11), the Gentiles being uncircumcised and the Jews being circumcised. While Israel was especially blessed by God (v. 12), both Jews and Gentiles had to become true Israel (see vv. 13–18).

2:13–18 Man’s brokenness was twofold: man was separated from man, that is, Gentile from Jew (vv. 13–15); and man was separated from God (vv. 16–18). The healing is likewise twofold: the creation of a unified humanity, the Church, and the raising of this unified humanity to God. The Incarnation of the Son of God accomplished the former; His death and Resurrection did the latter. The whole Trinity, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, act together (v. 18; see v. 22).

The middle wall of separation (v. 14) probably refers to the barrier in the temple separating the Court of the Gentiles from the Court of the Jews. This barrier manifested the limitations of the Old Covenant. It did not heal humanity’s self-alienation; it actually increased human hostility. Now that this wall is broken down, both Gentiles and Jews are reconciled and one in Christ.

2:19–22 The Church, humanity unified and renewed through union with the incarnate Son of God (vv. 11–18), is built on a foundation of Jesus Christ and the apostles and prophets (v. 20). From this foundation come the Scriptures and all doctrine. In 4:11 these gifts are implied to be a continuing reality in the Church. And the spiritual building is one: the Church is designed to be united.

"Works" in Paul's Writing

St. Paul uses the term "works" extensively in his letters, especially in Romans, Galatians, and Ephesians. By this term, he means human activities which he generally classifies in two categories:

1. Dead works: These can be works that are evil, such as murder, adultery, idol worship, and robbery—which the Scriptures also call "works of the flesh" (Gal 5:19) and obviously condemn. But in addition, dead works can be works—even good works—done for the wrong reasons. These are works that are good in themselves—such as fasting, giving money, and feeding the poor—but are done to call attention to oneself or to gain standing in the community. Selfish motivation turns good works into dead works. (The solution to this problem is not to cease fasting, giving, or helping, but rather to turn from the sin of self-glorification.)
2. Living works: These are deeds that are both good in themselves and done for a good purpose: the glory of God. Good works the Scriptures commend. Paul teaches they are an outgrowth of our salvation when he writes, "For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand that we should walk in them" (Eph 2:10). They contribute to our faith, as James teaches, "You see then that a man is justified by works, and not by faith only [or alone]" (Jam 2:24). When we do living works, we rely on the strength and grace of God, and we seek to bring glory to Him and not to ourselves through what we do.

Some have erroneously interpreted Paul, particularly in Romans 4, to be condemning all works. A careful reading of Romans, however, reveals Paul is not putting down works in general, but dead works. St. Maximos the Confessor, writing in the seventh century, states clearly the view of the Church concerning dead works:

> Many human activities, good in themselves, are not good because of the motive for which they are done. For example, fasting, vigils, prayer, psalmody [the singing of hymns], acts of charity and hospitality are by nature good. But when performed for the sake of self-esteem [vainglory, self-glorification] they are not good. In everything we do, God searches out our purpose to see whether we do it for Him or for some other motive . . . quite clearly He bestows blessings only when something is done for the right purpose. For God's judgment looks not at the actions, but at the purpose behind them.

Thus, the Christian actively cultivates a habit of doing good works for the glory of God, and as a way of life. The writings of Paul are clear. If we are joined to Christ and cleansed from the dishonor of the past, we become "a vessel for honor, sanctified and useful for the Master, prepared for every good work" (2Ti 2:21). God sets us apart to Himself so we will be productive and useful to Him.

"Therefore, my beloved brethren," Paul tells the Corinthians, "be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that your labor is not in vain in the Lord" (1Co 15:58).

3:1–13 How does Paul fit into the cosmic plan described in 1:3–14 and 2:1–22? God has revealed this plan to him (vv. 1–6) so that he can reveal it to all, especially to the Gentiles (vv. 7–13).

3:1, 2 Prisoner (Paul is in prison in Rome as he writes this letter) is a title of honor and a mark of apostleship (Lk 21:12; 2Co 6:4, 5). Paul is not only an apostle (see v. 5), but one with a special role, a special dispensation (v. 2, Gr. oikonomia). All NT leaders, "apostles and prophets" (v. 5; 2:20), know the doctrine of the unity in the Church of Christ; Paul has received the special commission to extend this Church to the Gentiles (v. 8).

3:3 God's revelation to Paul began on the road to Damascus (Acts 22:3–21). God was gracious to Paul not for his own sake but for others (see Acts 9:15, 16).

3:5 The apostolate is the special bearer of divine revelation necessary for the life of the Church in this age.

3:6 This is the content of the revelation mentioned in v. 3: that through the gospel the Gentiles should be united with the Jews, so that a united and renewed humanity is brought to God.

3:8 Why did God choose a Jew to preach to the Gentiles? Because if God can redeem Saul, the persecutor of the Church and hater of Gentiles, then God can certainly redeem the Gentiles through Saul.

3:10 Not only did men not know of God's mystery (v. 5), neither did the angels. They hear of it from men. How can this be? Because the church affects all elements of creation, from the material to the immaterial. The united, renewed humanity made possible by Christ is the basis of the reconciliation of the heavens and the earth. Therefore, the Church ascends above the angels, the principalities and powers. The basis of such an astounding work by men is Christ's Resurrection and exaltation (v. 11).

3:12 The wonder of the mystery of God, surprising even to angels, is that mere humans, earthly creatures, can have boldness and confident access to God the Father.

3:13 Paul sees that even his sufferings are a part of his apostolic work. His tribulations are for you, that is, for the Church, for us. So our sufferings can be for others.

3:14–19 Paul picks up where he left off in v. 1, beginning a prayer for his hearers. I bow my knees shows his special earnestness, since standing would have been a more common posture for prayer. The whole Trinity is involved in our deification: Father (vv. 14, 15, 19–21), Son (vv. 14, 17, 19, 21), and Holy Spirit (v. 16).

3:15 Family or clan (Gr. patria) is a group descended from one ancestor. God the Father (Gr. pater, v. 14), is the ultimate source of every living being. As there is only one uncreated Father, so the whole of creation is called to form one family under the fatherhood of God.

3:18, 19 How do we comprehend (v. 18) and know (v. 19)? It is something other than a scientific fact or intellectual awareness. It is (1) a revelation, a divine gift that illumines and transforms our intellect; and (2) a reciprocal encounter, a personal bond with the personal God, who reveals Himself to us through communion with Him. This revelation and personal communion, this faith, is best known (1) with all the saints (v. 18), that is, in personal communion with the corporate Church; and (2) through an experience of the great gift of grace, the love of Christ (v. 19). Theological knowledge is first personal and experiential, and then thought out and verbalized. A theologian witnesses to what he knows through experience.

3:20, 21 A benediction that falls in the middle of the epistle acknowledges that God's work goes far beyond what we envision, above all that we ask or think. The goal of deification, "that you may be filled with all the fullness of God" (v. 19), is accomplished by the working together, the synergism, of our faith and love with God's power and Spirit in us (v. 20).

4:1 Paul implores his hearers to realize what has been given to them and to be in practice what they are in Christ. So he turns the focus of his letter from what God does for us to what we are to do in response. How you believe must affect how you live; creed must influence conduct.

4:2, 3 The basic characteristics of Christians are the virtues that contribute to unity: though we are many persons, we share one new nature. Though we are members of the most exalted body, the greatness is of God, not of ourselves. Even the cohesiveness of this body is God's work in the Spirit (v. 3). So there is no place for quarreling. To live in the heavenlies we are to walk in solidarity and humility on earth. Note that the one virtue listed not common to Greco-Roman philosophy is lowliness, taught in word and in deed by Jesus Himself.

4:4–6 Here is the manifold unity of the Church. Christian morality is not based on ideas but on a living reality: the life of the Holy Trinity in the Church. Paul combines the three Persons of the Trinity (one Spirit . . . one Lord . . . one God) with the Church, the sacrament of baptism (v. 5), and the theological virtues of hope (v. 4) and faith (v. 5) into one grand reality, the concrete basis for holy living. Each Person of the Trinity sanctifies, but the sanctification is one, because the baptism is one, and the grace of the sacrament is one.

4:7–16 While the Church is one in essence, it is diverse in gifts and function. Unity does not mean uniformity. Each member is unique before God, with gifts and roles granted by Him. Diversity in operation is (1) based on the ascent of the Son and the descent of the Spirit (vv. 8–10), (2) guided by specially gifted people (v. 11), and (3) for the sake of the maturity and stability of the body (vv. 12–16).

4:8–10 Paul's rabbinic way of intertwining the Ascension of Christ (He ascended) with the descent of the Spirit (gave gifts) reveals the relationship between the body of Christ and the gifts of the Spirit. The lower parts of the earth is either the earth itself, referring to the Incarnation; or burial or Hades, the place of the dead, referring to Christ's death and descent into hell (1Pt 3:19). Only Christ, as God and Man, can fill all things (v. 10), that is, reign over the unification and fulfillment of creation.

4:11–16 The gifts listed in v. 11 are limited to those who lead the Church. The Holy Spirit extends gifts to each person at chrismation, but the "ministry gifts" listed here form one leadership group responsible for equipping the laity for the work of ministry (v. 12).

Why is there a diversity of persons and giftings in the Church? For unity of service (vv. 12, 13), for the preservation of truth (v. 14), and for the operation of love (vv. 15, 16), the primary quality of Christian growth. The Church, in which Christian life develops, is not primarily an organization, but an organism whose parts or members receive their edifying power from Christ to grow up into Christ. Paul does not look at the Christian as an isolated individual walking toward perfection, but as a member of the body, striving to reach the perfect faith and full knowledge of the Son of God. Thus unity of faith cannot be separated from knowledge of the Son of God.

4:17–24 The process of Christian growth requires our free will commitment to walk in righteousness and holiness (v. 24). A child of the light can no longer act as a child of darkness. A change of lifestyle is possible because of Christ, the original new man (v. 24). So Christ must be learned (v. 20), and relationship with Him must be renewed (v. 23), a process implying intimate relationship. Further, Christ must be put on (v. 24), a clothing metaphor, an allusion to baptism and the baptismal robe. While spiritual grace makes man heavenly, righteousness is both a gift and a goal, a present reality and a promise to be striven for.

4:25—5:5 The way we live affects our relationship not only with God but also with each other—for in Christ we are members of one another (4:25). The moral standard for the new humanity is the life appropriate to a child of God (5:1)—of the Father (4:32–5:1), the Son (5:2), and the Holy Spirit (4:30). Such a child fulfills the two great commandments: (1) love of man, demonstrated in self-sacrificing service (given Himself for us, 5:2); and (2) love of God, manifested in worship (an offering and a sacrifice to God).

Paul especially emphasizes that Christians must avoid sexual immorality, not just the act but thinking and talking about it also (5:4); and greed, which treats things as if they were gods (5:5). Ungodly thoughts as well as behavior can keep believers out of the Kingdom.

4:25 Lying hurts the entire body of the Church. It is as if the eye were to see a trap and not tell the foot, or the tongue to taste poison and not spit it out.

4:26, 27 "If you fail to master your anger on the first day, then on the next day and even sometimes for a whole year you will still be dragging it out. . . . Anger will cause us to suspect that words spoken in one sense were meant in another. And we will even do the same with gestures and every little thing. . . . Be angry with the devil and not your own member. This is why God has armed us with anger. Not that we should thrust the sword against our own bodies, but that we should baptize the whole blade in the devil's breast" (JohnChr).

4:28 We are to work, not for personal gain and luxury, but in order to serve.

4:31, 32 "Cut off clamor and you will clip the wings of anger. . . . There is but one thing in which it is useful to cry aloud—in preaching and in teaching" (JohnChr).

4:32 We cannot be content only to root out the weeds mentioned in v. 31; we must plant good fruit as well.

The Church

One of the tragic aberrations of so-called modern religion is “Churchless Christianity.” The assertion is that it is Christ who saves us, not the Church, so “all you need is Jesus.”

Few who claim to be Christians would argue against the statement that it is Christ who saves. For He is the eternal Son of God who has assumed human flesh, and has done so “for us and for our salvation” (Nicene Creed). Thus Paul writes, “For there is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus” (1Ti 2:5).

But because this Mediator established the Church which is His body, we who are joined to Him are joined to His Church as well. To say we love Christ, who is Head of the Church, and at the same time reject His body is to deny New Testament teaching.

The Gospel and Acts. The first use of the word “church” (Gr. ecclesia) in the New Testament comes in the Gospel of Matthew, when our Lord gives His approval of Peter’s confession of faith and promises, “I will build My church” (Mt 16:18). Jesus Christ builds, and we cooperate with Him.

The Book of Acts amplifies what Jesus meant in Matthew 16. When Peter’s sermon on the Day of Pentecost concludes, those present ask for guidance toward salvation: “What shall we do?” (Acts 2:37). Following Peter’s word, they are baptized and join with the other believers, three thousand of them (Acts 2:38, 41).

Having been joined to Christ and His Church, these baptized believers begin living as the body of Christ. We find them looking after each other, using their personal resources for one another’s care, continuing together in prayer and in the Eucharist (Acts 2:42–47). From this point on “the Lord added to the church daily those who were being saved” (Acts 2:47), and throughout Acts, we see the Church being built as the Gospel of Christ spreads.

The Epistles. Paul’s instructions in his letters to the churches throughout the eastern Mediterranean clearly show what it means to be members of Christ: to be the Church and to be in the Church. Nowhere in the New Testament is Paul’s teaching on the Church more fully disclosed than in Ephesians 4. He instructs us that:

1. The Church is one, “endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (4:3). There is one Church, one God, one doctrine, one baptism.
2. The Church is people, men and women who are energized by the Holy Spirit. For “to each one of us grace was given according to the measure of Christ’s gift” (4:7). We are not all given the same gifts, but together we are equipped to do God’s will.
3. The Head of the Church is Christ, “from whom the whole body [is] joined and knit together” (4:16).
4. The Church is “the new man” (4:24), the new creation, made to be righteous and holy. We are no longer alienated from God (4:18); we are being renewed together (4:23), “members of one another” (4:25).

The Church, then, is that place established by Christ where we each may become what we are created to be, maturing and being perfected, while the Church receives what it needs from each of us, so that it too is being perfected. The Church as the body of Christ carries us beyond our petty and worldly personal concerns, stretching our vision to the eternal and the heavenly as we ascend together to worship the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

5:2–15 "Walk worthy of the calling," Paul says in 4:1 (see 2:10). Here he defines this walk: Walk in love (v. 2); walk in light (v. 8); walk in wisdom (v. 15). Walk implies a slow, steady pace; a daily effort; a marathon, not a sprint.

5:4 "Just as clamor was the fuel of wrath, so foul talk is the fuel of lust" (JohnChr).

5:6, 7 Paul's sharp contrast between the two ways, the way of darkness and the way of light, begins here. The animosity between the two ways is in thoughts, words (vv. 6–10), and actions (vv. 8–12).

5:8–10 We must judge what the world says is reasonable on the basis of what God says is true.

🕮 5:9–19 This passage is read on the Monday following Pentecost, called the Day of the Holy Spirit.

5:11–14 Besides separating from darkness, Christians are also to expose (v. 11) it. But we must first come out of hiding in order to be exposed ourselves. That is, we must confess our sins and repent of them (see Jn 3:19–21). Orthodox Christians do this before baptism, before the Eucharist, and also in a separate sacrament of repentance. The hymn in v. 14 is an early baptismal hymn: baptism is illumination (see Acts 26:18; 2Co 4:6; Heb 6:4; 10:32). To walk in the light is to walk in one's baptism.

5:15–17 The goal is not to abandon the world, but to keep oneself in Christ and salvage as much as possible from the evil world. Christians renounce the fallenness of the world, not creation itself.

5:18–20 Following repentance, a surge of life and joy wells forth. A distinctive spirit, a kind of elation, energizes both darkness and light. For those in darkness, this spirit is like drunkenness, artificial and temporary. For Christians, it is the Holy Spirit (v. 18), and the joy is New Covenant worship of the Holy Trinity, the Eucharist (giving thanks, v. 20): to the Father, through the Son incarnate (Lord in v. 19; Lord Jesus Christ in v. 20), in the Spirit (v. 18). He who is made drunk with wine totters and sways, but he who is inebriated with the Holy Spirit is rooted in Christ and gloriously sober.

5:19–21 Quoting Scripture and singing hymns are not spiritual if there is not also true humility, submission, and the fear of God (v. 21).

5:21—6:9 Verse 21 is a transition to the theme of the next section, where Paul applies the idea of mutual submission to the most basic human relationships—those in the household.

5:22–33 The model is Christ and the church (v. 32), which is then applied to marriage. Yet Christian marriage helps us to understand the mystery of the Church.

(1) For wives, concerning headship (vv. 22–24): In both the Church and marriage, there is one who acts as head, who leads. As Man, Christ is first among equals, not superior to us in nature; yet He alone is the head of the church (v. 23). Likewise, wives are called to submit to their husbands as equals.

(2) For husbands, concerning sacrificial love (vv. 25–31): Paul writes three sentences to wives, but writes at greater length to impress on husbands that they should love their wives. Just as the wife's submission is to accept the headship of the husband, the husband's submission to his wife is to sacrifice himself for her. In ancient Israel, the bride would bathe and dress and be escorted to the bridegroom by his friends. In the Church, baptism is that bathing and dressing in which we put on Christ (v. 26), and the groom Himself, Christ, escorts us (v. 27). In the Church, the baptized are one humanity, one flesh with Christ; in marriage, husband and wife are one flesh with each other.

Marriage

The Bible and human history begin and end with marriages. Adam and Eve come together in marital union in Paradise, before the Fall, revealing marriage as a part of God's eternal purpose for humanity in the midst of creation (Gn 2:22–25). History closes with the marriage of the Bride to the Lamb (Rev 19:7–9), earthly marriage being fulfilled in the heavenly, showing the eternal nature of the sacrament.

Between these bookend events of history are the accounts of numerous other unions of man and wife. In the centuries-old Christian wedding ceremony used to this day in the Orthodox Church, several of these historic marriages are remembered: Abraham and Sarah (Gn 11:29–23:20); Isaac and Rebecca (Gn 24); Joachim and Anna, the parents of the Virgin Mary; and Zacharias and Elizabeth (Lk 1:5–58).

The marriage most prominently featured in the wedding ceremony, however, is the one at Cana of Galilee, described in the Gospel passage read at every Orthodox wedding (Jn 2:1–11). In attending this wedding and performing His first miracle there, Jesus Christ, the Son of God, forever sanctified marriage. As with all the Christian sacraments, marriage is sacramental because it is blessed by God.

Parenthetically, we note that it is at this wedding at Cana that Mary first intercedes with Christ on behalf of others: "They have no wine" (Jn 2:3). Then she calls all humanity to obey Him: "Whatever He says to you, do it" (Jn 2:5).

In modern society, as well as in Christendom, a recurring debate concerns the tension between equality of the partners in marriage and office or order in marriage. Often, this tension has turned into a polarity between men and women, and sometimes even breeds hostility. Two elements in the Orthodox service of marriage serve to heal such tension, while making clear the teaching of the Church on the twin themes of equality and order concerning husband and wife.

As to equality, during the ceremony crowns are placed on the heads of the bride and groom. This act is symbolic of their citizenship in the Kingdom of God, where "there is neither male nor female" (Gal 3:28), and of their dying to each other (the crown is often a symbol of martyrdom; see Rev 2:10). The words of St. Paul on marital equality are clear: "The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does. And likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does" (1Co 7:4). Husband and wife belong to each other as martyrs, they belong to God as royalty, and they are called to treat each other accordingly.

But within marital equality there is also order. The epistle passage read at the sacrament of marriage is Ephesians 5:20–33, an exhortation to husbands and wives that begins with a call to submit to each other (v. 21). The husband is to serve God as head of his wife, as Christ is Head of the Church (v. 23). The wife is to be subject to her husband as the Church is subject to Christ (v. 24). There is nothing here to suggest the wife is oppressed in marriage, any more than one would call the Church oppressed in relationship to Christ. He who calls us "bretren" (Heb 2:11) and "friends" (Jn 15:15) exhorts the husband to love his wife, to nourish and cherish her as He Himself does the Church (vv. 28, 29).

Thus, marriage is a sacrament—holy, blessed, and everlasting in the sight of God and His Church. Within the bonds of marriage, husband and wife experience a union with one another in love. We pray for them the fruit of children and one day the joy of grandchildren. And within the bonds of marriage there is both a fullness of equality between husband and wife and a clarity of order, with the husband as the icon of Christ and the wife as the icon of the Church.

6:1–4 Children are expected to obey and respect their parents. The meaning of the Greek word for obey (hupakouo) begins with the idea of listening attentively. The caution regarding the fathers puts a restraint and a requirement of godly instruction on the parent.

6:5–8 As with marriage, Paul does not seek to alter the existing social structure. But he does insist that both marriage and the master-slave relationship (nowadays, employer-employee) are different when Christians are involved. The expectations for the slave are similar to those for a wife and for children: sincere obedience. Paul, however, unlike the culture around him, insists that, in God's eyes, the good done by a slave is the same as that done by a free man. Before Christ they are equal.

6:9 Masters are curtly warned against intimidation. They must remember their own Master, who is not biased in their favor just because they are earthly masters.

6:10–17 All who stand for good must wage a constant battle with the forces of evil. For the demons still have power in the world (v. 12) until Christ comes again in glory. This is clearly acknowledged in the prayers at the conclusion of Orthodox baptism. Christians fight back with God's arms, that is, His uncreated divine energy, given to us (1:19–23; 3:16–21) and actively used by us. The Christian has "put on" (4:24) at baptism all the qualities listed as armor in vv. 14–17. These qualities must be exercised in the conflict of growth: no struggle, no deification.

📖 6:10–17 This passage is read on days commemorating holy confessors.

6:18–20 Just as important as spiritual armor is a Christian's readiness and alertness: diligent prayer and watchfulness in submission to the Holy Spirit (see 1:16; 3:14–21; 5:20). Those on the "front lines," apostles and evangelists in this case, require the backup power of a praying Church.

6:21, 22 Tychicus presumably was the bearer of the letter.

6:23, 24 This final benediction parallels the greeting (1:3–14).

The Book of Philippians

Author

The early Church unanimously agreed that Paul wrote Philippians. Paul founded the church in Philippi, which was the first church in Europe, on his second missionary journey, AD 50–51 (Acts 16:11–40). On his third missionary journey he made two brief visits to Philippi, about AD 57–58 (Acts 20:1, 6).

Date

Paul probably wrote Philippians while he was under house arrest in Rome in about AD 61–63 (Acts 28:16–31). At that time he was free to receive visitors and to correspond by letter.

Major Theme

The dynamic of our life in Christ. Salvation is a dynamic, ongoing experience that is not merely personal, but shared among believers. St. Paul urges the believers in Philippi toward continued unity, humility, selfless generosity, and joy in Christ. Subthemes include alerting of the Philippian church to:

(1) Interference from self-serving evangelists (1:12–18)
(2) Persecution from the world (1:27–30; 2:14–18)
(3) Antagonism from heretics, particularly the legalistic Judaizers (3:1–11)

Background

The church in Philippi was noted for its generosity in support of the apostolic ministry (1:5, 4:15, 16; Acts 16:15, 40). Recently, it had sent Epaphroditus to visit Paul in prison with a financial gift for the apostle and with instructions that he remain there with Paul. But Epaphroditus apparently was so devoted to his work that he forgot his own physical health (2:30). The Philippian church heard this and was concerned for him. In the meantime, Paul's trial had started (1:7) and he hoped for an early release (1:25; 2:24). Thus, the apostle wrote this letter of thanks to Philippi with the comforting word that he would send Epaphroditus home (2:25–30) and that he would shortly dispatch Timothy to Philippi (2:19).

Philippians 1

Greeting

[1]Paul and Timothy, bondservants of Jesus Christ,

To all the saints in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi, with the bishops[a] and deacons:

[2]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thankfulness and Prayer

[3]I thank my God upon every remembrance of you,

[4]always in every prayer of mine making request for you all with joy,

[5]for your fellowship in the gospel from the first day until now,

[6]being confident of this very thing, that He who has begun a good work in you will complete it until the day of Jesus Christ;

[7]just as it is right for me to think this of you all, because I have you in my heart, inasmuch as both in my chains and in the defense and confirmation of the gospel, you all are partakers with me of grace.

[8]For God is my witness, how greatly I long for you all with the affection of Jesus Christ.

[9]And this I pray, that your love may abound still more and more in knowledge and all discernment,

[10]that you may approve the things that are excellent, that you may be sincere and without offense till the day of Christ, [11]being filled with the fruits of righteousness which are by Jesus Christ, to the glory and praise of God.

Christ Is Preached

[12]But I want you to know, brethren, that the things which happened to me have actually turned out for the furtherance of the gospel,

[13]so that it has become evident to the whole palace guard, and to all the rest, that my chains are in Christ;

[14]and most of the brethren in the Lord, having become confident by my chains, are much more bold to speak the word without fear.

[15]Some indeed preach Christ even from envy and strife, and some also from goodwill:

16 The former[b] preach Christ from selfish ambition, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my chains;

17 but the latter out of love, knowing that I am appointed for the defense of the gospel.

18 What then? Only that in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is preached; and in this I rejoice, yes, and will rejoice.

To Live Is Christ

19 For I know that this will turn out for my deliverance through your prayer and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ,

20 according to my earnest expectation and hope that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ will be magnified in my body, whether by life or by death.

21 For to me, to live is Christ, and to die is gain.

22 But if I live on in the flesh, this will mean fruit from my labor; yet what I shall choose I cannot tell.

23 For[c] I am hard-pressed between the two, having a desire to depart and be with Christ, which is far better.

24 Nevertheless to remain in the flesh is more needful for you.

25 And being confident of this, I know that I shall remain and continue with you all for your progress and joy of faith,

26 that your rejoicing for me may be more abundant in Jesus Christ by my coming to you again.

Striving and Suffering for Christ

27 Only let your conduct be worthy of the gospel of Christ, so that whether I come and see you or am absent, I may hear of your affairs, that you stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel, 28 and not in any way terrified by your adversaries, which is to them a proof of perdition, but to you of salvation,[d] and that from God.

29 For to you it has been granted on behalf of Christ, not only to believe in Him, but also to suffer for His sake,

30 having the same conflict which you saw in me and now hear is in me.

Philippians 2

Unity Through Humility

1 Therefore if there is any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any affection and mercy, 2 fulfill my joy by being like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.
3 Let nothing be done through selfish ambition or conceit, but in lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than himself.
4 Let each of you look out not only for his own interests, but also for the interests of others.

The Humbled and Exalted Christ

5 Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus, 6 who, being in the form of God, did not consider it robbery to be equal with God,
7 but made Himself of no reputation, taking the form of a bondservant, and coming in the likeness of men.
8 And being found in appearance as a man, He humbled Himself and became obedient to the point of death, even the death of the cross.
9 Therefore God also has highly exalted Him and given Him the name which is above every name, 10 that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of those in heaven, and of those on earth, and of those under the earth, 11 and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Light Bearers

12 Therefore, my beloved, as you have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling; 13 for it is God who works in you both to will and to do for His good pleasure.
14 Do all things without complaining and disputing, 15 that you may become blameless and harmless, children of God without fault in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among whom you shine as lights in the world, 16 holding fast the word of life, so that I may rejoice in the day of Christ that I have not run in vain or labored in vain.

17 Yes, and if I am being poured out as a drink offering on the sacrifice and service of your faith, I am glad and rejoice with you all.

18 For the same reason you also be glad and rejoice with me.

Timothy Commended

19 But I trust in the Lord Jesus to send Timothy to you shortly, that I also may be encouraged when I know your state.

20 For I have no one like-minded, who will sincerely care for your state.

21 For all seek their own, not the things which are of Christ Jesus.

22 But you know his proven character, that as a son with his father he served with me in the gospel.

23 Therefore I hope to send him at once, as soon as I see how it goes with me.

24 But I trust in the Lord that I myself shall also come shortly.

Epaphroditus Praised

25 Yet I considered it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother, fellow worker, and fellow soldier, but your messenger and the one who ministered to my need;

26 since he was longing for you all, and was distressed because you had heard that he was sick.

27 For indeed he was sick almost unto death; but God had mercy on him, and not only on him but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

28 Therefore I sent him the more eagerly, that when you see him again you may rejoice, and I may be less sorrowful.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness, and hold such men in esteem;

30 because for the work of Christ he came close to death, not regarding his life, to supply what was lacking in your service toward me.

Philippians 3

All for Christ

1 Finally, my brethren, rejoice in the Lord. For me to write the same things to you is not tedious, but for you it is safe.

2 Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of the mutilation!

3 For we are the circumcision, who worship God in the Spirit,[a] rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh,

4 though I also might have confidence in the flesh. If anyone else thinks he may have confidence in the flesh, I more so:

5 circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of the Hebrews; concerning the law, a Pharisee;

6 concerning zeal, persecuting the church; concerning the righteousness which is in the law, blameless.

7 But what things were gain to me, these I have counted loss for Christ.

8 Yet indeed I also count all things loss for the excellence of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and count them as rubbish, that I may gain Christ

9 and be found in Him, not having my own righteousness, which is from the law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness which is from God by faith;

10 that I may know Him and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings, being conformed to His death, 11 if, by any means, I may attain to the resurrection from the dead.

Pressing Toward the Goal

12 Not that I have already attained, or am already perfected; but I press on, that I may lay hold of that for which Christ Jesus has also laid hold of me.

13 Brethren, I do not count myself to have apprehended; but one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forward to those things which are ahead, 14 I press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus.

15 Therefore let us, as many as are mature, have this mind; and if in anything you think otherwise, God will reveal even this to you.

16 Nevertheless, to the degree that we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule,[b] let us be of the same mind.

Our Citizenship in Heaven

17 Brethren, join in following my example, and note those who so walk, as you have us for a pattern.

18For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ:
19whose end is destruction, whose god is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame—who set their mind on earthly things.
20For our citizenship is in heaven, from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, 21who will transform our lowly body that it may be conformed to His glorious body, according to the working by which He is able even to subdue all things to Himself.

Philippians 4

1Therefore, my beloved and longed-for brethren, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, beloved.

Be United, Joyful, and in Prayer

2I implore Euodia and I implore Syntyche to be of the same mind in the Lord.
3And[a] I urge you also, true companion, help these women who labored with me in the gospel, with Clement also, and the rest of my fellow workers, whose names are in the Book of Life.
4Rejoice in the Lord always. Again I will say, rejoice!
5Let your gentleness be known to all men. The Lord is at hand.
6Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God; 7and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

Meditate on These Things

8Finally, brethren, whatever things are true, whatever things are noble, whatever things are just, whatever things are pure, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are of good report, if there is any virtue and if there is anything praiseworthy—meditate on these things.
9The things which you learned and received and heard and saw in me, these do, and the God of peace will be with you.

Philippian Generosity

10But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly that now at last your care for me has flourished again; though you surely did care, but you lacked opportunity.
11Not that I speak in regard to need, for I have learned in whatever state I am, to be content:
12I know how to be abased, and I know how to abound. Everywhere and in all things I have learned both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need.
13I can do all things through Christ[b] who strengthens me.
14Nevertheless you have done well that you shared in my distress.
15Now you Philippians know also that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church shared with me concerning giving and receiving but you only.
16For even in Thessalonica you sent aid once and again for my necessities.
17Not that I seek the gift, but I seek the fruit that abounds to your account.
18Indeed I have all and abound. I am full, having received from Epaphroditus the things sent from you, a sweet-smelling aroma, an acceptable sacrifice, well pleasing to God.
19And my God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus.
20Now to our God and Father be glory forever and ever. Amen.

Greeting and Blessing

21Greet every saint in Christ Jesus. The brethren who are with me greet you.
22All the saints greet you, but especially those who are of Caesar's household.
23The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.[c] Amen.

Annotations for Philippians

1:1 This is the only epistle in which St. Paul includes the clergy, the bishops and deacons, in his address. St. John Chrysostom says this is because it was the clergy in Philippi who collected the funds Paul so badly needed, and sent them to him by Epaphroditus. Bishops are the leading presbyters. By the time this letter was written, around AD 63, not only were bishops present in Philippi, but James was presiding over the church in Jerusalem (Acts 15:13) and tradition reveals that Peter was bishop in Antioch—and later in Rome. (Tradition sometimes refers to the men Peter designated his successors in those places as the "first" bishops, affirming the difference between the apostles and the overseers they appointed.) Paul's pastoral epistles outline the qualifications for the office of bishop (1Ti 3:1–7; Tts 1:7–9).

1:5 Fellowship, the Greek word koinonia, is central to this epistle and to Orthodox Christianity in general. It implies true communion, a more fundamental community of life and worship than is usually conveyed by the word "fellowship."

1:9–11 And this I pray: This prayer of Paul shows his love and pastoral care for the Philippians. Their behavior makes him confident that God will continue to perfect them—and those who follow in their footsteps.

1:19–21 Our witness for Christ goes beyond the words of our mouths to the way we live and the way we die: the totality of what we are and do. St. Paul expects deliverance (v. 19), though not necessarily for his body (v. 20). His expectation and hope (v. 20) is of eternal life.

1:29 To suffer for His sake is a repeated theme in this epistle. Suffering not only bears witness to others, as Paul's chains have done (see vv. 7, 13), but also can serve to increase our faith. Suffering is a gift from Christ, as is faith: it is a participation in His grace.

2:3 Conceit, or vainglory, is a common and fatal vice. It hinders spiritual growth, for conceit causes us to despise those who have a different way of life, thinking we are better than they. "The spirit of despair exults at the sight of mounting vice, the spirit of vainglory at the sight of the growing treasures of virtue" (JohnCli). To be conceited is a form of idolatry. It captures those who say they want to please God, but secretly wish to please other people more.

2:5–11 This passage is a hymn already in use in the Church, quoted here by St. Paul because it calls us to ponder the humility of Christ, a truth necessary for suffering Christians to understand and live out. The passage has been incorporated into many hymns of the Orthodox Church. Christ is He who, being in the form of God, is also in the form of a bondservant (v. 7), in our likeness (see Gn 1:26), and is voluntarily subject to death. He who has died, God has exalted and given the name Lord (v. 11), a name God the Son shares with God the Father from all eternity.

🕮 2:5–11 This passage is read on the Feasts of the Theotokos: Nativity (September 8) and Dormition (August 15).

2:6 The form (Gr. morphe) of God, a concept parallel with "the image [Gr. eikon] of God" (Col 1:15), refers to the Son's sharing in full the divine nature. Robbery (Gr. harpagmon, lit. "prize" or "booty") refers to an object stolen and tightly clutched. Christ has equality with God not by seizure but by nature, and with absolute security. There is, therefore, no threat, loss, or any change in the divine nature of the Son of God when He takes our humanity to Himself and offers us salvation.

2:7, 8 Made Himself of no reputation (v. 7; lit. "emptied Himself") deals with the Son's will, not His nature. He emptied Himself not by laying down His divine nature or setting it aside, but by voluntarily taking on our human nature. To human beings He looks just like another human being, for being truly incarnate, He is fully man by nature. He took the form of a bondservant, voluntarily sharing our human condition except for one thing: sin. In His humanity, He showed the fullness of humility by His obedience to the death that has enslaved humanity. To die on a cross, the death of a criminal, was repulsive to the Romans and considered a curse by the Jews. But His death brings life to all who are joined to Him.

2:12, 13 Therefore, because of Christ's sacrifice, we are to take hold of what God offers, accepting His grace and working toward becoming mature in Christ. Note the cooperation: we work out our own salvation (v. 12) while it is God who works in us to do His will (v. 13).

2:17 Service is literally "liturgy." St. Paul sees himself being poured out as an offering, a participation in Christ's sacrifice, for he also participates in Christ's sufferings. In all this, we see the attitude that prevailed throughout the entire early Church: there is no separation between worship and life. They are one. To worship Christ is to live for Him and in Him.

2:19–30 These verses portray the leadership and the laity in the primitive Church working together. Paul is confident of his authority to send Timothy (v. 19) to Philippi, which demonstrates Paul's apostolic or episcopal role. Timothy is an apostle as well, sent to care for this church. Epaphroditus is a fellow worker and fellow soldier (v. 25) who earns high praise. Early tradition tells us Epaphroditus later became bishop of Philippi and died a martyr.

3:2, 3 The Judaizers were teaching that Christians needed to submit themselves to the Law of Moses, especially emphasizing the rite of circumcision (v. 3). Paul boldly tags them with the name they gave to Gentiles—dogs (v. 2)—and compares their circumcision to the self-inflicted mutilation (v. 3) of some pagan cults. True Israel, the Church, does not rely on outward observance of the law. She is the mystical body of Christ Jesus, composed of those who worship God in the Spirit (v. 3).

3:4–6 Though Paul could boast concerning his ancestry, his circumcision, his keeping of the law (v. 5)—he is a more zealous Jew than they are—he knows this is not true righteousness.

3:7–9 True righteousness is the knowledge of Christ Jesus (v. 8). He is the "pearl of great price" and eternal life (Jn 17:3). A faith that obeys Christ is the very content and meaning of life, and it is for this that we suffer the loss of all things (v. 8) and deny ourselves. Everything about us must be subordinated to Christ and His Kingdom (see Mt 6:19–34; 24:36–25:46).

3:9–11 Faith is the name of the relationship that gives us full participation in the life of Christ and in His resurrection (v. 10). Faith includes our assent to articles of belief, but it is also our openness to God's action in our lives. The meaning of our suffering comes in sharing in Christ's suffering and death, becoming like Him. Why? So that we may be with Him in glory.

3:12–16 What is the goal (v. 14) of the maturing Christian? For Paul it is that we be engaged in the struggle of faith, confident that Christ has made us His own, but knowing we are not yet perfected. Thus, we are zealous to press on (v. 12) toward the completion of our salvation, the prize of the upward call of God (v. 14)—the resurrection to eternal life.

3:17 Because St. Paul and other saints set an example for us, a pattern for us to follow, we do follow in their steps (tradition) and honor them in the process (veneration).

3:18–21 The enemies of the cross of Christ (v. 18) is a reference to those made captive to dietary laws, circumcision, and discipline. Christian spirituality, by contrast, is based in the age to come, knowing we have no glory in this age. The passage from humiliation to exaltation that Christ experienced (2:5–11) is promised to those Christians who follow Him in perseverance. Transform our lowly body (v. 21) implies a change not in substance but to His glorious body, a change from corruption to incorruption.

🕮 3:20—4:3 This passage is read on days commemorating hieromartyrs.

4:2 Euodia and Syntyche are two women who assisted Paul in his ministry in Philippi.

4:3 It is most likely this Clement, a disciple of Paul, who later became the bishop of Rome. A long letter, still in existence, to the Corinthian church is attributed to him.

4:4, 6 Paul often uses the word always in relation to prayer. Rejoicing always is a fruit of perseverance in daily prayers (see 1Th 5:16–18).

🕮 4:4–9 This passage is read on the Feast of the Entrance of the Lord into Jerusalem, also called Palm Sunday.

4:5–9 How do we handle the daily pressures of life? By (1) faith that the Lord is at hand, present with us (v. 5); (2) refusing to worry, being anxious for nothing (v. 6); (3) prayer (v. 6); (4) thanksgiving . . . to God (v. 6); (5) meditation on that which is virtuous (v. 8); and (6) imitating the godly (v. 9).

4:11–13 Here is the secret of contentment.

The Book of Colossians

Author

All early Church testimony credits Paul with the authorship of Colossians. Some of the vocabulary is unusual for Paul because he is combating first-century gnosticism using its own terminology—thereby deepening his own understanding of Christ.

Date

Colossians was written at the same time as Ephesians and Philemon. These letters, along with Philippians, were most likely composed during Paul's Roman captivity, about AD 61–63 (see 4:3, 10, 18; Eph 3:1; 4:1; 6:20; Phm 9, 10, 13).

Major Theme

Living by the will of God versus dying by false human schemes. The primary purpose of this epistle was to combat a form of gnosticism that was taking hold in the Colossian church. Paul preaches the true gospel to the Colossians once more, emphasizing those aspects the prevalent heresy disputed (see below).

Background

The Colossian heresy was a local blend of Jewish (perhaps Essene) and Oriental ideas. The heretics thought they were "supplementing" apostolic Christianity, which they saw as primitive, with greater knowledge and better access to spiritual things. They imagined that (a) the hierarchy of celestial powers (the "angels" in some Jewish thought) was supreme, rather than Christ; (b) Christ was not unique in His divine nature nor in His actions, for He was not God but one of several mediators; (c) sin resulted from a lack of knowledge (Gr. gnosis), a particular sort of knowledge in which the heretics were specialists; and (d) salvation consisted in having this gnosis imparted by a series of rituals and ascetic practices (among which Jewish rites were prized, but Christian baptism was considered a mere low-level initiation).

Colossians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother,
2 To the saints and faithful brethren in Christ who are in Colosse:
Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[a]

Their Faith in Christ

3 We give thanks to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you,
4 since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and of your love for all the saints;
5 because of the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, of which you heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel,
6 which has come to you, as it has also in all the world, and is bringing forth fruit,[b] as it is also among you since the day you heard and knew the grace of God in truth;
7 as you also learned from Epaphras, our dear fellow servant, who is a faithful minister of Christ on your behalf,
8 who also declared to us your love in the Spirit.

Preeminence of Christ

9 For this reason we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to ask that you may be filled with the knowledge of His will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding;
10 that you may walk worthy of the Lord, fully pleasing Him, being fruitful in every good work and increasing in the knowledge of God;
11 strengthened with all might, according to His glorious power, for all patience and longsuffering with joy;
12 giving thanks to the Father who has qualified us to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in the light.
13 He has delivered us from the power of darkness and conveyed us into the kingdom of the Son of His love, 14 in whom we have redemption through His blood,[c] the forgiveness of sins.

15 He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation.

16 For by Him all things were created that are in heaven and that are on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or powers. All things were created through Him and for Him.

17 And He is before all things, and in Him all things consist.

18 And He is the head of the body, the church, who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, that in all things He may have the preeminence.

Reconciled in Christ

19 For it pleased the Father that in Him all the fullness should dwell,

20 and by Him to reconcile all things to Himself, by Him, whether things on earth or things in heaven, having made peace through the blood of His cross.

21 And you, who once were alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now He has reconciled

22 in the body of His flesh through death, to present you holy, and blameless, and above reproach in His sight—

23 if indeed you continue in the faith, grounded and steadfast, and are not moved away from the hope of the gospel which you heard, which was preached to every creature under heaven, of which I, Paul, became a minister.

Sacrificial Service for Christ

24 I now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up in my flesh what is lacking in the afflictions of Christ, for the sake of His body, which is the church,

25 of which I became a minister according to the stewardship from God which was given to me for you, to fulfill the word of God,

26 the mystery which has been hidden from ages and from generations, but now has been revealed to His saints.

27 To them God willed to make known what are the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles: which[d] is Christ in you, the hope of glory.

28 Him we preach, warning every man and teaching every man in all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus.

29 To this end I also labor, striving according to His working which works in me mightily.

Colossians 2

Not Philosophy but Christ

1For I want you to know what a great conflict I have for you and those in Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my face in the flesh,

2that their hearts may be encouraged, being knit together in love, and attaining to all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the knowledge of the mystery of God, both of the Father and[a] of Christ,

3in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4Now this I say lest anyone should deceive you with persuasive words.

5For though I am absent in the flesh, yet I am with you in spirit, rejoicing to see your good order and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ.

6As you therefore have received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk in Him, 7rooted and built up in Him and established in the faith, as you have been taught, abounding in it[b] with thanksgiving.

8Beware lest anyone cheat you through philosophy and empty deceit, according to the tradition of men, according to the basic principles of the world, and not according to Christ.

9For in Him dwells all the fullness of the Godhead bodily;

10and you are complete in Him, who is the head of all principality and power.

Not Legalism but Christ

11In Him you were also circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, by putting off the body of the sins[c] of the flesh, by the circumcision of Christ,

12buried with Him in baptism, in which you also were raised with Him through faith in the working of God, who raised Him from the dead.

13And you, being dead in your trespasses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, He has made alive together with Him, having forgiven you all trespasses, 14having wiped out the handwriting of requirements that was against us, which was contrary to us. And He has taken it out of the way, having nailed it to the cross.

15Having disarmed principalities and powers, He made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them in it.

16 So let no one judge you in food or in drink, or regarding a festival or a new moon or sabbaths,
17 which are a shadow of things to come, but the substance is of Christ.
18 Let no one cheat you of your reward, taking delight in false humility and worship of angels, intruding into those things which he has not[d] seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind, 19 and not holding fast to the Head, from whom all the body, nourished and knit together by joints and ligaments, grows with the increase that is from God.
20 Therefore,[e] if you died with Christ from the basic principles of the world, why, as though living in the world, do you subject yourselves to regulations
21 "Do not touch, do not taste, do not handle," 22 which all concern things which perish with the using—according to the commandments and doctrines of men?
23 These things indeed have an appearance of wisdom in self-imposed religion, false humility, and neglect of the body, but are of no value against the indulgence of the flesh.

Colossians 3

Not Carnality but Christ

1 If then you were raised with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ is, sitting at the right hand of God.
2 Set your mind on things above, not on things on the earth.
3 For you died, and your life is hidden with Christ in God.
4 When Christ who is our life appears, then you also will appear with Him in glory.
5 Therefore put to death your members which are on the earth: fornication, uncleanness, passion, evil desire, and covetousness, which is idolatry.
6 Because of these things the wrath of God is coming upon the sons of disobedience,
7 in which you yourselves once walked when you lived in them.
8 But now you yourselves are to put off all these: anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy language out of your mouth.
9 Do not lie to one another, since you have put off the old man with his deeds,

10and have put on the new man who is renewed in knowledge according to the image of Him who created him, 11where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcised nor uncircumcised, barbarian, Scythian, slave nor free, but Christ is all and in all.

Character of the New Man

12Therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, put on tender mercies, kindness, humility, meekness, longsuffering; 13bearing with one another, and forgiving one another, if anyone has a complaint against another; even as Christ forgave you, so you also must do.
14But above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfection.
15And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to which also you were called in one body; and be thankful.
16Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord.
17And whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through Him.

The Christian Home

(cf. Eph. 5:21—6:9)

18Wives, submit to your own husbands, as is fitting in the Lord.
19Husbands, love your wives and do not be bitter toward them.
20Children, obey your parents in all things, for this is well pleasing to the Lord.
21Fathers, do not provoke your children, lest they become discouraged.
22Bondservants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh, not with eyeservice, as men-pleasers, but in sincerity of heart, fearing God.
23And whatever you do, do it heartily, as to the Lord and not to men, 24knowing that from the Lord you will receive the reward of the inheritance; for[a] you serve the Lord Christ.
25But he who does wrong will be repaid for what he has done, and there is no partiality.

Colossians 4

[1]Masters, give your bondservants what is just and fair, knowing that you also have a Master in heaven.

Christian Graces

[2]Continue earnestly in prayer, being vigilant in it with thanksgiving;
[3]meanwhile praying also for us, that God would open to us a door for the word, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in chains,
[4]that I may make it manifest, as I ought to speak.
[5]Walk in wisdom toward those who are outside, redeeming the time.
[6]Let your speech always be with grace, seasoned with salt, that you may know how you ought to answer each one.

Final Greetings

(cf. Eph. 6:21, 22)

[7]Tychicus, a beloved brother, faithful minister, and fellow servant in the Lord, will tell you all the news about me.
[8]I am sending him to you for this very purpose, that he[a] may know your circumstances and comfort your hearts,
[9]with Onesimus, a faithful and beloved brother, who is one of you. They will make known to you all things which are happening here.
[10]Aristarchus my fellow prisoner greets you, with Mark the cousin of Barnabas (about whom you received instructions: if he comes to you, welcome him),
[11]and Jesus who is called Justus. These are my only fellow workers for the kingdom of God who are of the circumcision; they have proved to be a comfort to me.
[12]Epaphras, who is one of you, a bondservant of Christ, greets you, always laboring fervently for you in prayers, that you may stand perfect and complete[b] in all the will of God.
[13]For I bear him witness that he has a great zeal[c] for you, and those who are in Laodicea, and those in Hierapolis.
[14]Luke the beloved physician and Demas greet you.
[15]Greet the brethren who are in Laodicea, and Nymphas and the church that is in his[d] house.

Closing Exhortations and Blessing

[16]Now when this epistle is read among you, see that it is read also in the church of the Laodiceans, and that you likewise read the epistle from Laodicea.

[17]And say to Archippus, “Take heed to the ministry which you have received in the Lord, that you may fulfill it.”

[18]This salutation by my own hand—Paul. Remember my chains. Grace be with you. Amen.

Annotations for Colossians

1:3–8 Giving thanks for the church in Colosse, Paul commends them with his faith, hope, love trilogy (vv. 4, 5). Note the gospel is the same in Colosse as in all the world (v. 6), indicating the catholic (universal) nature of the faith in the first century. Elements of this gospel include: (1) faith in Christ Jesus alone, no other (v. 4); (2) love for all the saints (v. 4); (3) hope in the Kingdom of heaven (v. 5); (4) true preaching (v. 6); and (5) godly ministry, as established by Epaphras (vv. 7, 8).

1:9–14 A summary of progress in a truly spiritual life: from discernment of God's will (v. 9) to doing God's will (v. 10) with divine energy and virtue (v. 11), within the Church, the baptized and eucharistic assembly. In the apostolic tradition, this life is open to all the saints, not just to a few.

1:12, 13 Being a Christian goes beyond changing masters from Satan to God, to a change of kingdoms as well—from that of darkness to the kingdom of the Son.

1:15–20 This passage is an ancient christological hymn, perhaps expanded upon by Paul, in two stanzas: (1) Christ the Head of creation (vv. 15–17) and (2) Christ the Head of the new creation (vv. 18–20). This hymn may have been part of the early baptismal liturgy; if so, Paul could be using it to bring the Colossians back to their original profession.

1:15 No clear distinction is made between Christ as God and Christ as Man, but the point of the verse is obvious. As God, Christ is eternally and consubstantially (of one essence) the image (Gr. eikon, "icon") of the Father. As Man, Christ is the image in which man was made and toward which man is moving. In both natures, He fully represents and manifests the Father. As God, Christ is the firstborn over all creation in that the Father created everything through Him, as the Only Begotten Son of God. As Man, Christ is the firstborn over all creation in that He has authority over creation. In either case, creation is fully subject to Him. Contrary to the Colossian heresy, in which He was considered one of the created mediators, Christ is the only Mediator and Lord of all.

1:16 Thrones, dominions, principalities, and powers are ranks of angels. Christ is not only the source (through Him) of creation—of all things, on earth and in heaven—but also its goal (for Him; see Eph 1:10).

1:18 The head and the body have one and the same nature. In this case the body comes from, submits to, and continues to exist in the head, so the one nature is the glorified humanity of Christ. As Christ has supreme and life-giving authority (the firstborn) over the original creation, where life is temporary, so He has supreme and life-giving authority over the new creation, where life is eternal. But now He is Head through the body, the church. The Church, then, is the source of the restoration and fulfillment of creation in Christ.

1:19, 20 The fullness was a term used by the gnostic heretics to describe all the spiritual beings and forces they saw as intervening between man and God. Of these, Jesus was seen as but one mediator in one level of existence with one force. Paul differs, saying Christ is Himself the fullness. Jesus is everything, God in all fullness; and in His human nature, resurrected and ascended, He is the glorified Head of all creation. Jesus Christ ends the alienation between God and creation, bringing creation as a sacrament into a living union with God.

1:22 The body of His flesh is the mortal (capable of dying) humanity of Christ before His Resurrection. The heretics' angels cannot save us because they have not become one of us. We cannot be saved unless we become one with Christ by being united with Him in His death. Through His death, we die with Him.

1:24 Christ and the Church are so intimately united that, as we suffer and die with Him (beginning at baptism), so Christ suffers with us in our work of reconciliation. (See Mt 25:40; Lk 10:16; Jn 15:18–21; Acts 9:1, 4, 5; Rom 8:17; 2Co 1:5; 4:10; Php 1:20; 3:10.)

1:25 The Colossian church is bound not only to its confession of faith (vv. 15–20) but also to its divinely appointed apostle.

1:26 Mystery: See Eph 1:9, 10 and note; see also Glossary.

2:3 For those who seek the secrets of the universe, a desire the Colossian heretics fed upon, Paul assures us Christ knows everything. Most of this is hidden to us, so we must seek Christ alone, who is God's Wisdom. In the Incarnation He became for us a Servant, taking on our weak and mortal existence, but He always remains Lord of all.

2:8 The basic principles of the world include (1) the basic elements of matter; (2) the laws that regulate the universe, including those conditioning fallen human life, such as death, sin, the flesh, and the Mosaic Law; (3) the spirits who use these conditions to oppose Christ and are at the core of the pagan cults and systems of knowledge; and (4) human traditions opposed to God's tradition.

🕮 2:8–12 This passage is read on January 1, the Feast of the Circumcision of Christ.

2:9, 10 See Jn 1:14. Do we need to rise through manifold levels of being to get to God? No! The incarnate Christ is fully God and fully Man—He fulfills human nature, and all levels of being submit to Him. Do we need to rise slowly through a humanly conceived spiritual bureaucracy to God? No! We go directly through Christ, for He is the sovereign power, the head over angelic beings.

2:11–14 Do we need to perform manmade rituals and works in order to gain a hearing before the Redeemer? No! We come through God's work, Holy baptism, to be joined to Christ. For Jesus Christ triumphs over the conditions of fallen existence—sin, death, the flesh, the law, and evil spirits—by His death and Resurrection. In the OT rite of circumcision only a small piece of flesh is removed; in the circumcision of Christ, our baptism, we die to the flesh and live to God.

2:15 Don't the dark powers still have the ability to take power over us? No! All of these created principalities and powers, the angels who are the hidden powers behind fallen human existence, are defeated by the Resurrection. Even the law has been fulfilled and thus transcended (v. 14). Christ triumphs, and He rides in triumphal procession, leading out the prisoners of war in chains before Him, while He follows behind in His glorious shining victor's chariot, the Cross.

2:16–23 Here Paul speaks against false worship (vv. 16, 17), false mysticism (vv. 18, 19), and false asceticism (vv. 20–23). He says, let no one judge you (v. 16) and do not submit to the basic principles of the world (v. 20; see v. 8 and note). For man does not live by shadow, the law, but by the substance (lit. "body") that produces the shadow (v. 17), which is the body of Christ, the Church. Man-centered superstitious ritualism is deadly. The fulfilling liturgy is that of the body of Christ, culminating in the Eucharist. (For Paul on liturgical worship, see 1Co 11–14.) Mystical experiences are not wrong in themselves, but we must beware of deception, pride, schism, and a mind controlled by passions and the body. (For Paul on mystical experiences, see 2Co 12; Eph 1; 3.) Ascetic practices—prayer, fasting, almsgiving—are taught by God (Mt 6), but enemies lie along that path as well. Submitting to created realities, heeding human traditions, the deception of feeding the flesh when you think you are denying it, are false asceticism and condemned as pride. (For Paul on asceticism, see 1Co 9; 1Ti 6:12; 2Ti 2:3–6).

3:1–17 Using baptism as his backdrop, Paul counters the practices of the heretics in Colosse (2:16–23) with the practices of the apostolic Church: true mysticism (vv. 1–4), true asceticism (vv. 5–14), and true liturgical experience (vv. 15–17).

3:1–4 True mysticism: Christians both have received Christ's exalted resurrection life in baptism, and need to keep on seeking the ultimate and spiritual glories of the age to come. Remember your baptism! Live according to His Resurrection! Seek your true life in Christ, awaiting the heavenly and glorious final revelation!

🕮 3:4–11 This passage is read on the second Sunday before Christmas, called the Sunday of the Holy Ancestors of Christ.

3:5–14 True asceticism: As baptized Christians, we are becoming in practice what we are already in spirit. As we died with Christ, so we must will to experience death daily by "killing" old sinful and disintegrating passions (vv. 5–9). As we were raised with Christ, so we must will to experience life daily by the virtuous and unifying desires of the new *man we all are in the body of Christ (vv. 10–14).

3:10 The new *man grows from one stage of perfection to another, becoming the image of Jesus Christ and throughout eternity remaining the image of Him who created him.

3:15–17 True liturgical experience: Note how the liturgy of worship can be experienced as divine through the unity and holiness of the Church—the one New Man in Christ. Worship is experienced in the word of Christ, including the Scriptures and their exposition; the hymns and spiritual songs; the Eucharist (giving thanks to God).

3:18—4:1 Life in the home is in the Lord; the family is a little church and is to live in the baptismal and eucharistic life of the Church. Duties are reciprocal, everyone having the same standing before the same Master. All authority is for the sake of loving service (all authority is humbling) and all submission is to God (all submission is glorious).

4:2–6 Paul expects the church to be at corporate prayer often. Not only are the apostles to speak the mystery of Christ, but every member of the church is to have speech . . . with grace so as to answer those seeking the true faith.

4:7–9 Tychicus is the courier for this letter as well as for those to the Ephesians (Eph 6:21) and to Philemon.

4:16 Paul expected his letters to be read aloud to the churches and at least sometimes to be sent on to neighboring churches. (Colosse and Laodicea are less than 15 miles apart.) Paul's letter coming from Laodicea probably is the one we know as Ephesians.

The First Book of the Thessalonians

Author

The greeting identifies Paul as the author and also mentions Silvanus (Silas) and Timothy. They were co-workers with Paul in establishing the church in Thessalonica on his second missionary journey (Acts 17:1–9).

Date

First Thessalonians was written in Corinth in AD 50–51, about six months after the church in Thessalonica was founded. It is probably the first of Paul's New Testament epistles, and perhaps the first of all the twenty-seven New Testament books to be written.

Major Theme

A holy life leads to eternal life. Paul calls believers to be holy (3:13; 4:3; 5:23), with particular calls to (a) continue as examples to others (1:7), (b) walk worthy of God's calling (2:12), (c) stand fast in the faith (3:8), and (d) maintain moral purity (4:3). The letter closes with instruction and comfort concerning the Second Coming of Christ (4:13–5:11), along with other exhortations concerning the spiritual life.

Background

The church in Thessalonica was founded in the summer of AD 50 during Paul's second missionary journey (Acts 15:36–18:22). Built on the Aegean Sea, Thessalonica was the most prominent city in the Roman province of Macedonia and served as a naval and commercial center. While many of the early churches were composed primarily of Jews who believed in Christ, the Thessalonian believers were mostly Gentiles, former idol worshipers (1:9). They experienced persecution by fellow citizens, stirred up by the Jews (1:6; 2:14; Acts 17:5–9), and had difficulty adhering to Christian values in a pagan setting.

1 Thessalonians 1

Greeting

1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy,

To the church of the Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[a]

Their Good Example

2 We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers,

3 remembering without ceasing your work of faith, labor of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ in the sight of our God and Father,

4 knowing, beloved brethren, your election by God.

5 For our gospel did not come to you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Spirit and in much assurance, as you know what kind of men we were among you for your sake.

6 And you became followers of us and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Spirit,

7 so that you became examples to all in Macedonia and Achaia who believe.

8 For from you the word of the Lord has sounded forth, not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place. Your faith toward God has gone out, so that we do not need to say anything.

9 For they themselves declare concerning us what manner of entry we had to you, and how you turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God,

10 and to wait for His Son from heaven, whom He raised from the dead, even Jesus who delivers us from the wrath to come.

1 Thessalonians 2

Paul's Conduct

(cf. Acts 17:1–9)

1For you yourselves know, brethren, that our coming to you was not in vain.

2But even[a] after we had suffered before and were spitefully treated at Philippi, as you know, we were bold in our God to speak to you the gospel of God in much conflict.

3For our exhortation did not come from error or uncleanness, nor was it in deceit.

4But as we have been approved by God to be entrusted with the gospel, even so we speak, not as pleasing men, but God who tests our hearts.

5For neither at any time did we use flattering words, as you know, nor a cloak for covetousness—God is witness.

6Nor did we seek glory from men, either from you or from others, when we might have made demands as apostles of Christ.

7But we were gentle among you, just as a nursing mother cherishes her own children.

8So, affectionately longing for you, we were well pleased to impart to you not only the gospel of God, but also our own lives, because you had become dear to us.

9For you remember, brethren, our labor and toil; for laboring night and day, that we might not be a burden to any of you, we preached to you the gospel of God.

10You are witnesses, and God also, how devoutly and justly and blamelessly we behaved ourselves among you who believe;

11as you know how we exhorted, and comforted, and charged[b] every one of you, as a father does his own children, 12that you would walk worthy of God who calls you into His own kingdom and glory.

Their Conversion

13For this reason we also thank God without ceasing, because when you received the word of God which you heard from us, you welcomed it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which also effectively works in you who believe.

14For you, brethren, became imitators of the churches of God which are in Judea in Christ Jesus. For you also suffered the same things from your own countrymen, just as they did from the Judeans, 15who killed both the Lord Jesus and their own prophets, and have persecuted us; and they do not please God and are contrary to all men,

16 forbidding us to speak to the Gentiles that they may be saved, so as always to fill up the measure of their sins; but wrath has come upon them to the uttermost.

Longing to See Them

17 But we, brethren, having been taken away from you for a short time in presence, not in heart, endeavored more eagerly to see your face with great desire.
18 Therefore we wanted to come to you—even I, Paul, time and again—but Satan hindered us.
19 For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Is it not even you in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at His coming?
20 For you are our glory and joy.

1 Thessalonians 3

Concern for Their Faith

1 Therefore, when we could no longer endure it, we thought it good to be left in Athens alone,
2 and sent Timothy, our brother and minister of God, and our fellow laborer in the gospel of Christ, to establish you and encourage you concerning your faith,
3 that no one should be shaken by these afflictions; for you yourselves know that we are appointed to this.
4 For, in fact, we told you before when we were with you that we would suffer tribulation, just as it happened, and you know.
5 For this reason, when I could no longer endure it, I sent to know your faith, lest by some means the tempter had tempted you, and our labor might be in vain.

Encouraged by Timothy

6 But now that Timothy has come to us from you, and brought us good news of your faith and love, and that you always have good remembrance of us, greatly desiring to see us, as we also to see you—7 therefore, brethren, in all our affliction and distress we were comforted concerning you by your faith.

8For now we live, if you stand fast in the Lord.
9For what thanks can we render to God for you, for all the joy with which we rejoice for your sake before our God, 10night and day praying exceedingly that we may see your face and perfect what is lacking in your faith?

Prayer for the Church

11Now may our God and Father Himself, and our Lord Jesus Christ, direct our way to you.
12And may the Lord make you increase and abound in love to one another and to all, just as we do to you,
13so that He may establish your hearts blameless in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all His saints.

1 Thessalonians 4

Plea for Purity

1Finally then, brethren, we urge and exhort in the Lord Jesus that you should abound more and more, just as you received from us how you ought to walk and to please God;
2for you know what commandments we gave you through the Lord Jesus.
3For this is the will of God, your sanctification: that you should abstain from sexual immorality;
4that each of you should know how to possess his own vessel in sanctification and honor,
5not in passion of lust, like the Gentiles who do not know God;
6that no one should take advantage of and defraud his brother in this matter, because the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also forewarned you and testified.
7For God did not call us to uncleanness, but in holiness.
8Therefore he who rejects this does not reject man, but God, who has also given[a] us His Holy Spirit.

A Brotherly and Orderly Life

9But concerning brotherly love you have no need that I should write to you, for you yourselves are taught by God to love one another;

10 and indeed you do so toward all the brethren who are in all Macedonia.
But we urge you, brethren, that you increase more and more;
11 that you also aspire to lead a quiet life, to mind your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you, 12 that you may walk properly toward those who are outside, and that you may lack nothing.

The Comfort of Christ's Coming

13 But I do not want you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning those who have fallen asleep, lest you sorrow as others who have no hope.
14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so God will bring with Him those who sleep in Jesus.[b] 15 For this we say to you by the word of the Lord, that we who are alive and remain until the coming of the Lord will by no means precede those who are asleep.
16 For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.
17 Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And thus we shall always be with the Lord.
18 Therefore comfort one another with these words.

1 Thessalonians 5

The Day of the Lord

1 But concerning the times and the seasons, brethren, you have no need that I should write to you.
2 For you yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so comes as a thief in the night.
3 For when they say, "Peace and safety!" then sudden destruction comes upon them, as labor pains upon a pregnant woman. And they shall not escape.
4 But you, brethren, are not in darkness, so that this Day should overtake you as a thief.
5 You are all sons of light and sons of the day. We are not of the night nor of darkness.

6 Therefore let us not sleep, as others do, but let us watch and be sober.

7 For those who sleep, sleep at night, and those who get drunk are drunk at night.

8 But let us who are of the day be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love, and as a helmet the hope of salvation.

9 For God did not appoint us to wrath, but to obtain salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ,

10 who died for us, that whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with Him.

11 Therefore comfort each other and edify one another, just as you also are doing.

Various Exhortations

12 And we urge you, brethren, to recognize those who labor among you, and are over you in the Lord and admonish you,

13 and to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. Be at peace among yourselves.

14 Now we exhort you, brethren, warn those who are unruly, comfort the fainthearted, uphold the weak, be patient with all.

15 See that no one renders evil for evil to anyone, but always pursue what is good both for yourselves and for all.

16 Rejoice always,

17 pray without ceasing,

18 in everything give thanks; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you.

19 Do not quench the Spirit.

20 Do not despise prophecies.

21 Test all things; hold fast what is good.

22 Abstain from every form of evil.

Blessing and Admonition

23 Now may the God of peace Himself sanctify you completely; and may your whole spirit, soul, and body be preserved blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

24 He who calls you is faithful, who also will do it.

[25]Brethren, pray for us.
[26]Greet all the brethren with a holy kiss.
[27]I charge you by the Lord that this epistle be read to all the holy[a] brethren.
[28]The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

Annotations for 1 Thessalonians

1:1 In the first-century Greek world, there was a general pattern by which all letters were begun: name of sender(s), the addressee(s), the greeting itself. As with most of Paul's epistles, this pattern is followed here but Christianized.

1:2 Give thanks in NT Greek is eucharisto, from which we get our English word "Eucharist." A spirit of thanksgiving constantly pervades the prayers of Paul, as here when he specifically remembers the Christians in Thessalonica.

1:3 Remembering and without ceasing describe effective prayer (see 2:13; 5:16–18). Faith, hope, and love are three Christian virtues Paul links together in other letters (1Co 13:13; Col 1:4, 5). These virtues are connected to actions: faith works, love labors, hope produces patience, showing that salvation goes beyond attitudes to action.

1:6 Followers (lit. "imitators") of Christ also imitate spiritual leaders—pastors, bishops, in this case the apostles—even in their suffering. "Let [others] be instructed by you, at least by your deeds. With their wrath you be mild, with their boastful speech you be humble-minded, with their abuse you offer prayers, with their deceit you be firm in faith, with their cruelty you be gentle, not eager to imitate them" (IgnAnt). The joy of the Holy Spirit is not an easy emotional high, but comes with the struggle proper to spiritual life, including persevering through affliction. The one who suffers is the one who is comforted.

1:7–10 What a tribute to the Thessalonian believers. People everywhere were speaking of them!

1:10 The early Christians expected Christ to return in their lifetime. This hope helped purge their lives of sin.

2:1–16 Paul defends his apostolic work, claiming he has served with courage (vv. 1, 2), humility (vv. 3–6), love (vv. 7, 8), financial integrity (v. 9), and godly authority (vv. 10–12). Following this example, the Thessalonians can manifest similar holiness amidst hostility (vv. 13–16).

2:2 Christians are repeatedly challenged in the NT to be bold in confessing Christ before others (see Acts 4:29–31; Rom 1:16).

2:4–6 Paul has been accused of seeking his own glory, but he knows God does not share His glory with any other (Is 48:11). As His servants, we must step outside the circle of world-pleasers and into the arena of pleasing God, whatever the cost.

2:7, 8 Spreading the gospel means putting our lives on the line for those we seek to reach, as a mother sacrifices herself for her children. Thus, the holy martyrs gave their lives with great joy for Christ and His Church.

2:11 Note the three verbs Paul uses to describe his apostolic preaching to the Thessalonians: (1) exhorted, which can also mean encouraged; (2) comforted; and (3) charged or implored. These elements are just as important for preaching today!

2:14, 15 While the persecution in Thessalonica comes primarily from Greeks, Paul, a Jew, is frank concerning his countrymen of that day who reject their Messiah, noting that they (1) killed . . . the Lord Jesus (v. 15), (2) killed their own prophets, (3) persecuted the apostles, (4) do not please God, and (5) act with hostility to all men. This is a strong indictment. But Paul's love for the Jews never wavers. He wishes himself to be cursed if that could cause his fellow Jews to turn to Christ for salvation (Rom 9:3; 10:1).

2:18 Though unable to prevail against the Church (Mt 16:18) or overcome the faithful (Eph 6:11–13; Rev 12:11), the enemy at times is permitted to hinder faithful Christians. It is here that we enact God's promise: "Resist the devil and he will flee from you" (Jam 4:7).

2:19, 20 This passage shows that all the trials and disappointments of the Christian life and ministry are worthwhile.

3:1–5 As healthy as the Thessalonian church is, Paul takes nothing for granted. Even well-grounded, deeply committed Christians need constant encouragement, instruction, and prayer.

3:2 Minister is from the Greek diakonon, from which we get "deacon." Fellow laborer is Greek synergon, from which we get "synergy." As ministers, we not only represent God, we work together with Him and our fellow Christians.

3:6 Always and remembrance probably speak of prayer life.

3:13 Paul's goal here is for all Christians.

4:1–12 Holiness includes sexual purity (vv. 3–8), mutual love (vv. 9, 10), and honest labor (vv. 11, 12). As for knowing God's will, this passage comes through in brilliant simplicity. God's will is our sanctification (v. 3), our being set apart to the Lord as His special possession. We are being sanctified as we walk with Him in faith and obedience.

4:4 His own vessel speaks of the entire human being (Rom 9:20–23; 2Co 4:7; 2Ti 2:20, 21)—probably one's own self, perhaps one's wife (or husband). In either case one's vessel must be possessed with purity, self-control, and chastity.

4:11 The bedrock practicality of the Scriptures: In Paul's time and ours, we are to live quietly, mind our own business, and work hard.

4:13–18 One of the clearest NT passages on the Second Coming of Christ. The first-century document, The Didache, lists three signs that will mark the return of the Lord: (1) "the sign spread out in the heavens"—Christ and His hosts; (2) "the sign of the trumpet"; and (3) "the resurrection of the dead." For the righteous, the return of Christ is a comfort (v. 18), not a threat.

📖 4:13–17 This passage is read on days commemorating the departed.

5:1–11 The Thessalonian Christians had been speculating about the return of the Lord and making their own predictions. Paul tells them, you have no need (v. 1) for that kind of information (indeed, it is not available!). Does a thief in the night (v. 2) announce his coming? The disciples had gotten the same kind of answers to their questions on the Second Coming from Christ Himself (Mt 24:36; Acts 1:6, 7). And suppose we know the end; what is this to us? Christians are called not to set dates but to make themselves ready to meet the Lord by being watchful and sober (v. 6). Our place is to be ceaselessly aware of the primacy of God's Kingdom and to have full control over our spiritual faculties.

5:12 The Greek term for over you has a liturgical connotation. It refers to the leader of the congregation in the eucharistic assembly. To recognize is a weaker translation of "to know" (see 4:5). In a healthy church, the people recognize their pastor as their leader in Christ and willingly follow his admonitions.

5:12–22 The requirements of harmonious life in community include the honoring of sacramental leadership (vv. 12–14), pursuit of good works (v. 15), continual prayer and thanksgiving in worship (vv. 16–18), and proper regard for the prophetic gift and spiritual discernment (vv. 19–22).

5:15 When is it proper to return evil for evil? From the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5:44) to the end of the NT, the answer is, "Never."

In Paul's writings, words such as rejoice, always (v. 16), without ceasing or "constantly" (v. 17), and give thanks (v. 18) refer primarily to prayer. The spiritual Fathers of the Church teach that unceasing prayer is a proper goal, for spiritual growth comes through such discipline. For centuries, Christian people have used the "Jesus Prayer" as a way to pray unceasingly from the heart: "O Lord Jesus Christ, Son of God, have mercy on me, a sinner."

5:19–22 The Holy Spirit is to be actively present in the life of the Church. But there is constant need of discernment and testing so as to avoid being misled (see 1Co 12–14).

5:23–27 Note the liturgical overtones with regard to the corporate meetings. There is (1) the benediction (v. 23), (2) intercessory prayer (v. 25), (3) the kiss of peace (v. 26), and (4) the public reading of the Scriptures (v. 27). The practice of a holy kiss (v. 26)very early became a part of the worship liturgy (see Rom 16:16; 1Co 16:20; 2Co 13:12; 1Pt 5:14). Just prior to Communion, the faithful would exchange the kiss of peace, on one cheek and then the other, to show their reconciliation in Christ. Thus, Christ is in our midst and ever shall be!

5:27 The Bible is to be read aloud during corporate worship.

The Second Book of the Thessalonians

Author

Silvanus (Silas) and Timothy are named with the author, Paul (as they are at the opening of 1 Thessalonians), because they were his co-laborers in establishing the Thessalonian church (see Acts 17:1–9).

Date

This epistle was written in AD 51, probably from Corinth.

Major Theme

Stand fast by means of apostolic teaching. Some of the Thessalonians had been shaken in their faith by speculations on Christ's return; some even said the day of the Lord had already come (2:2). As a result, these people had lost holiness of life. Paul counters such traditions of men with apostolic tradition (2:15; 3:6). Subthemes include Paul's gratitude for the people's faithfulness (1:3; 2:13) and for God's faithfulness to His people (3:3).

Background

Paul had not paid a return visit to Thessalonica since the establishment of the church a year earlier. St. John Chrysostom observes he was "filling up by his writings what was lacking of his presence." But a few months after writing 1 Thessalonians, Paul received another report. The Thessalonians' faith amidst persecution was still firm, but speculations concerning the Second Coming were increasing, claiming to be based on Paul's teaching (2:2). Some became so excited about the end times that they abandoned their jobs and lived off the charity of the church (3:6–13). Others grew despondent and wavered in hope (2:13–17). Paul writes to encourage them to stand fast.

2 Thessalonians 1

Greeting

[1]Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy,

To the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

[2]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

God's Final Judgment and Glory

[3]We are bound to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is fitting, because your faith grows exceedingly, and the love of every one of you all abounds toward each other,

[4]so that we ourselves boast of you among the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that you endure,

[5]which is manifest evidence of the righteous judgment of God, that you may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which you also suffer;

[6]since it is a righteous thing with God to repay with tribulation those who trouble you,

[7]and to give you who are troubled rest with us when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven with His mighty angels,

[8]in flaming fire taking vengeance on those who do not know God, and on those who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

[9]These shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord and from the glory of His power,

[10]when He comes, in that Day, to be glorified in His saints and to be admired among all those who believe,[a] because our testimony among you was believed.

[11]Therefore we also pray always for you that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of His goodness and the work of faith with power, [12]that the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and you in Him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 Thessalonians 2

The Great Apostasy

[1]Now, brethren, concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our gathering together to Him, we ask you,

[2]not to be soon shaken in mind or troubled, either by spirit or by word or by letter, as if from us, as though the day of Christ[a] had come.

[3]Let no one deceive you by any means; for that Day will not come unless the falling away comes first, and the man of sin[b] is revealed, the son of perdition,

[4]who opposes and exalts himself above all that is called God or that is worshiped, so that he sits as God[c] in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God.

[5]Do you not remember that when I was still with you I told you these things?

[6]And now you know what is restraining, that he may be revealed in his own time.

[7]For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only He[d] who now restrains will do so until He[e] is taken out of the way.

[8]And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will consume with the breath of His mouth and destroy with the brightness of His coming.

[9]The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of Satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders,

[10]and with all unrighteous deception among those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth, that they might be saved.

[11]And for this reason God will send them strong delusion, that they should believe the lie, [12]that they all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

Stand Fast

[13]But we are bound to give thanks to God always for you, brethren beloved by the Lord, because God from the beginning chose you for salvation through sanctification by the Spirit and belief in the truth, [14]to which He called you by our gospel, for the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

[15]Therefore, brethren, stand fast and hold the traditions which you were taught, whether by word or our epistle.

16 Now may our Lord Jesus Christ Himself, and our God and Father, who has loved us and given us everlasting consolation and good hope by grace, 17 comfort your hearts and establish you in every good word and work.

2 Thessalonians 3

Pray for Us

1 Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may run swiftly and be glorified, just as it is with you, 2 and that we may be delivered from unreasonable and wicked men; for not all have faith.
3 But the Lord is faithful, who will establish you and guard you from the evil one.
4 And we have confidence in the Lord concerning you, both that you do and will do the things we command you.
5 Now may the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God and into the patience of Christ.

Warning Against Idleness

6 But we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you withdraw from every brother who walks disorderly and not according to the tradition which he[a] received from us.
7 For you yourselves know how you ought to follow us, for we were not disorderly among you;
8 nor did we eat anyone's bread free of charge, but worked with labor and toil night and day, that we might not be a burden to any of you, 9 not because we do not have authority, but to make ourselves an example of how you should follow us.
10 For even when we were with you, we commanded you this: If anyone will not work, neither shall he eat.
11 For we hear that there are some who walk among you in a disorderly manner, not working at all, but are busybodies.
12 Now those who are such we command and exhort through our Lord Jesus Christ that they work in quietness and eat their own bread.
13 But as for you, brethren, do not grow weary in doing good.
14 And if anyone does not obey our word in this epistle, note that person and do not keep company with him, that he may be ashamed.

15 Yet do not count him as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

Benediction

16 Now may the Lord of peace Himself give you peace always in every way. The Lord be with you all.
17 The salutation of Paul with my own hand, which is a sign in every epistle; so I write.
18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

Annotations for 2 Thessalonians

1:3–10 This passage on God's judgment teaches that (1) suffering is redemptive for the Christian (v. 5); (2) God promises to return tribulation to our enemies (vv. 6, 8); (3) punishment of the wicked is everlasting (v. 9); and (4) God's glory will be displayed in His saints (v. 10), for as Christ was transfigured, so will be His faithful (see Mt 13:43; Col 3:4).

Why does God reveal His dread judgment and His glory to us? To help us toward righteousness. "If the fear of an earthly king withdraws us from so many evils, how much more the fear of the King Eternal!" (JohnChr). How we bear up under unjust persecution now is manifest evidence (v. 5) of how we will stand at the final judgment.

1:11, 12 Some say Paul and James contradict each other, but here is the essence of James 2. Paul teaches that God's calling and the work of faith are a unity through our cooperation with God's power.

2:3–12 While we are warned against predicting the Day of the Lord (Mt 24:36; Acts 1:7; 1Th 5:1), there will be signs preceding His Coming. Paul instructs the Thessalonians concerning two such signs: (1) a general falling away (v. 3; apostasy) from Christ and the Church and (2) the revealing of the man of sin, the son of perdition (v. 3), who is the Antichrist of 1 and 2 John, similar to the Dragon and the Beast of Rev 13. This lawless one is described in the OT (Dan 7:25; 8:25; 11:36), mentioned by Christ (Mt 24:15), and discussed by Paul on his first visit to Thessalonica (v. 5). The devil incites divisions among people so they will readily receive the Antichrist when he comes. The man of sin is a counterfeit messiah with a counterfeit kingdom. He (1) exalts himself above God (v. 4), (2) performs deceptive miracles and wonders through satanic power (v. 9), (3) will fool the unrighteous into following him (vv. 10–12), and (4) will be removed from power by Christ Himself at His Second Coming (v. 8).

Paul instructs that when the world gets worse, Christians must not be distressed or deceived (vv. 11, 12), but rather persevere as good stewards (vv. 13–17).

2:15; 3:6 In the NT we read of two types of traditions: (1) The tradition of men (Mt 15:1–9; Col 2:8) is soundly condemned. Jesus (quoting Is 29:13) describes this as "teaching as doctrines the commandments of men" (Mt 15:9). (2) The tradition of the apostles or "Holy Tradition," by contrast, is to be preserved by the Church, for God is its source. Holy Tradition is that which Jesus taught to the apostles, and which they in turn taught the Church under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit in (a) their instructions as they visited the churches and (b) their writings. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit we adhere to Holy Tradition as it is present in the apostles' writings and as it is resident in the Church to which the truth is promised (Jn 16:13).

3:6 See 2:15.

3:13 A warning filled with great wisdom. While sin is burdensome, we can also grow tired and fatigued by doing good. Paul, as our spiritual director, cautions us not to cease or tire of good works.

3:17 Paul's authorship is emphasized here because of the fraudulent letters mentioned in 2:2.

The First Book of Timothy

Author

The apostle Paul. St. Ignatius, Polycarp, Tertullian, and St. Clement of Alexandria are all among the early Church writers who speak of St. Paul's authorship.

Date

Probably AD 64–65. The Pastoral Epistles, 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus, appear to have been written after the events of Acts 28. If so, 1 Timothy was written before Paul's second imprisonment in Rome, perhaps from Macedonia (1:3).

Major Theme

Pastoral care of the faithful. The Church is to manifest the kingdom of God on earth. Therefore, how the Church is run relates to both apostolic doctrine (1:1–20; 3:14–4:5) and worship (2:1–15). Subthemes include:

(1) The role of clergy
(2) Combating heresy
(3) Care for women, widows, and slaves
(4) Money and ministry

Background

First Timothy is both personal and pastoral. Whereas most of Paul's letters are addressed to the Church in a particular location, the pastoral epistles are written to instruct specific leaders—in this case Timothy, Bishop of Ephesus. Paul speaks as an experienced mentor instructing his student, his "son," as apostle to younger apostle or bishop to youthful bishop.

In Ephesus, some church members were promoting a variety of theological opinions—from the irrelevant to the dangerously heretical (1:3–7; 4:1, 2, 7; 6:3–5). These heterodox ideas were a mosaic of Jewish (1:4, 7), ascetic (4:1–5), gnostic (4:4, 5), and docetic (2:5; 3:16; 6:13) thought. The Church was also dealing with external pressures of Hellenistic piety, the mystery religions, which made much use of the terms "salvation" and "savior," and with the cult of emperor worship, according to which Caesar is "Lord."

These letters hold incomparable insight into the historical workings of the early Church as guided by the Holy Spirit and are a foundational source for pastoral theology, for clergy and their relationship to the Church.

1 Timothy 1

Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ, by the commandment of God our Savior and the Lord Jesus Christ, our hope,
2 To Timothy, a true son in the faith:
Grace, mercy, and peace from God our Father and Jesus Christ our Lord.

No Other Doctrine

3 As I urged you when I went into Macedonia—remain in Ephesus that you may charge some that they teach no other doctrine, 4 nor give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which cause disputes rather than godly edification which is in faith.
5 Now the purpose of the commandment is love from a pure heart, from a good conscience, and from sincere faith,
6 from which some, having strayed, have turned aside to idle talk, 7 desiring to be teachers of the law, understanding neither what they say nor the things which they affirm.
8 But we know that the law is good if one uses it lawfully, 9 knowing this: that the law is not made for a righteous person, but for the lawless and insubordinate, for the ungodly and for sinners, for the unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers, 10 for fornicators, for sodomites, for kidnappers, for liars, for perjurers, and if there is any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine, 11 according to the glorious gospel of the blessed God which was committed to my trust.

Glory to God for His Grace

(cf. Acts 8:1–3; 9:1–19)

12 And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord who has enabled me, because He counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry, 13 although I was formerly a blasphemer, a persecutor, and an insolent man;
but I obtained mercy because I did it ignorantly in unbelief.
14 And the grace of our Lord was exceedingly abundant, with faith and love which are in Christ Jesus.

15This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.

16However, for this reason I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might show all longsuffering, as a pattern to those who are going to believe on Him for everlasting life.

17Now to the King eternal, immortal, invisible, to God who alone is wise,[a] be honor and glory forever and ever. Amen.

Fight the Good Fight

18This charge I commit to you, son Timothy, according to the prophecies previously made concerning you, that by them you may wage the good warfare,

19having faith and a good conscience, which some having rejected, concerning the faith have suffered shipwreck, 20of whom are Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I delivered to Satan that they may learn not to blaspheme.

1 Timothy 2

Pray for All Men

1Therefore I exhort first of all that supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks be made for all men, 2for kings and all who are in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and reverence.

3For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior, 4who desires all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth.

5For there is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus, 6who gave Himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time,

7for which I was appointed a preacher and an apostle—I am speaking the truth in Christ[a] and not lying—a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and truth.

Men and Women in the Church

8 I desire therefore that the men pray everywhere, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting;
9 in like manner also, that the women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with propriety and moderation, not with braided hair or gold or pearls or costly clothing,
10 but, which is proper for women professing godliness, with good works.
11 Let a woman learn in silence with all submission.
12 And I do not permit a woman to teach or to have authority over a man, but to be in silence.
13 For Adam was formed first, then Eve.
14 And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived, fell into transgression.
15 Nevertheless she will be saved in childbearing if they continue in faith, love, and holiness, with self-control.

1 Timothy 3

Qualifications of Overseers

1 This is a faithful saying: If a man desires the position of a bishop,[a] he desires a good work.
2 A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, temperate, sober-minded, of good behavior, hospitable, able to teach;
3 not given to wine, not violent, not greedy for money,[b] but gentle, not quarrelsome, not covetous;
4 one who rules his own house well, having his children in submission with all reverence
5 (for if a man does not know how to rule his own house, how will he take care of the church of God?); 6 not a novice, lest being puffed up with pride he fall into the same condemnation as the devil.
7 Moreover he must have a good testimony among those who are outside, lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil.

Qualifications of Deacons

8 Likewise deacons must be reverent, not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not greedy for money,

9 holding the mystery of the faith with a pure conscience.
10 But let these also first be tested; then let them serve as deacons, being found blameless.
11 Likewise, their wives must be reverent, not slanderers, temperate, faithful in all things.
12 Let deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well.
13 For those who have served well as deacons obtain for themselves a good standing and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

The Great Mystery

14 These things I write to you, though I hope to come to you shortly;
15 but if I am delayed, I write so that you may know how you ought to conduct yourself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth.
16 And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness:

> God[c] was manifested in the flesh,
> Justified in the Spirit,
> Seen by angels,
> Preached among the Gentiles,
> Believed on in the world,
> Received up in glory. The Four "Orders" in Church Government

1 Timothy 4

The Great Apostasy

1 Now the Spirit expressly says that in latter times some will depart from the faith, giving heed to deceiving spirits and doctrines of demons,
2 speaking lies in hypocrisy, having their own conscience seared with a hot iron,
3 forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from foods which God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and know the truth.
4 For every creature of God is good, and nothing is to be refused if it is received with thanksgiving;

5 for it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.

A Good Servant of Jesus Christ

6 If you instruct the brethren in these things, you will be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished in the words of faith and of the good doctrine which you have carefully followed.
7 But reject profane and old wives' fables, and exercise yourself toward godliness.
8 For bodily exercise profits a little, but godliness is profitable for all things, having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come.
9 This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance.
10 For to this end we both labor and suffer reproach,[a] because we trust in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, especially of those who believe.
11 These things command and teach.

Take Heed to Your Ministry

12 Let no one despise your youth, but be an example to the believers in word, in conduct, in love, in spirit,[b] in faith, in purity.
13 Till I come, give attention to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.
14 Do not neglect the gift that is in you, which was given to you by prophecy with the laying on of the hands of the eldership.
15 Meditate on these things; give yourself entirely to them, that your progress may be evident to all.
16 Take heed to yourself and to the doctrine. Continue in them, for in doing this you will save both yourself and those who hear you.

1 Timothy 5

Treatment of Church Members

1 Do not rebuke an older man, but exhort him as a father, younger men as brothers,
2 older women as mothers, younger women as sisters, with all purity.

Honor True Widows

3 Honor widows who are really widows.

4But if any widow has children or grandchildren, let them first learn to show piety at home and to repay their parents; for this is good and[a] acceptable before God.

5Now she who is really a widow, and left alone, trusts in God and continues in supplications and prayers night and day.

6But she who lives in pleasure is dead while she lives.

7And these things command, that they may be blameless.

8But if anyone does not provide for his own, and especially for those of his household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.

9Do not let a widow under sixty years old be taken into the number, and not unless she has been the wife of one man, 10well reported for good works: if she has brought up children, if she has lodged strangers, if she has washed the saints' feet, if she has relieved the afflicted, if she has diligently followed every good work.

11But refuse the younger widows; for when they have begun to grow wanton against Christ, they desire to marry, 12having condemnation because they have cast off their first faith.

13And besides they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house, and not only idle but also gossips and busybodies, saying things which they ought not.

14Therefore I desire that the younger widows marry, bear children, manage the house, give no opportunity to the adversary to speak reproachfully.

15For some have already turned aside after Satan.

16If any believing man or[b] woman has widows, let them relieve them, and do not let the church be burdened, that it may relieve those who are really widows.

Honor the Elders

17Let the elders who rule well be counted worthy of double honor, especially those who labor in the word and doctrine.

18For the Scripture says, "You shall not muzzle an ox while it treads out the grain,"[c] and, "The laborer is worthy of his wages."[d]

19Do not receive an accusation against an elder except from two or three witnesses.

20Those who are sinning rebuke in the presence of all, that the rest also may fear.

21I charge you before God and the Lord Jesus Christ and the elect angels that you observe these things without prejudice, doing nothing with partiality.

22 Do not lay hands on anyone hastily, nor share in other people's sins;
keep yourself pure.
23 No longer drink only water, but use a little wine for your stomach's sake and your frequent infirmities.
24 Some men's sins are clearly evident, preceding them to judgment, but those of some men follow later.
25 Likewise, the good works of some are clearly evident, and those that are otherwise cannot be hidden.

1 Timothy 6

Honor Masters

1 Let as many bondservants as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honor, so that the name of God and His doctrine may not be blasphemed.
2 And those who have believing masters, let them not despise them because they are brethren, but rather serve them because those who are benefited are believers and beloved. Teach and exhort these things.

Error and Greed

3 If anyone teaches otherwise and does not consent to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which accords with godliness,
4 he is proud, knowing nothing, but is obsessed with disputes and arguments over words, from which come envy, strife, reviling, evil suspicions,
5 useless wranglings[a] of men of corrupt minds and destitute of the truth, who suppose that godliness is a means of gain. From such withdraw yourself.[b]
6 Now godliness with contentment is great gain.
7 For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain[c] we can carry nothing out.
8 And having food and clothing, with these we shall be content.
9 But those who desire to be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and harmful lusts which drown men in destruction and perdition.

10For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil, for which some have strayed from the faith in their greediness, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.

The Good Confession

11But you, O man of God, flee these things and pursue righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, gentleness.
12Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, to which you were also called and have confessed the good confession in the presence of many witnesses.
13I urge you in the sight of God who gives life to all things, and before Christ Jesus who witnessed the good confession before Pontius Pilate, 14that you keep this commandment without spot, blameless until our Lord Jesus Christ's appearing,
15which He will manifest in His own time, He who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings and Lord of lords, 16who alone has immortality, dwelling in unapproachable light, whom no man has seen or can see, to whom be honor and everlasting power. Amen.

Instructions to the Rich

17Command those who are rich in this present age not to be haughty, nor to trust in uncertain riches but in the living God, who gives us richly all things to enjoy.
18*Let them* do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to give, willing to share, 19storing up for themselves a good foundation for the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.

Guard the Faith

20O Timothy! Guard what was committed to your trust, avoiding the profane and idle babblings and contradictions of what is falsely called knowledge—21by professing it some have strayed concerning the faith. Grace be with you. Amen.

Annotations for 1 Timothy

1:1, 2 As with all of Paul's epistles, 1 Timothy begins with the traditional Greco-Roman format of greeting—addressed not to a church, but to a true son in the faith, Timothy. (The disciple of a rabbi was called his "son.") This relationship supports Paul's title "father" (1Co 4:15) and, by application, the use of "Father" for priests.

God the Father is called Savior (see 2:3; 4:10; Tts 1:3; 2:10; 3:4), for every work of the Trinity is the work of all three Persons in which each Person participates.

1:4 Paul's faithful are plagued by Jewish fables and endless genealogies, energetic disputation over myth and human tradition for argument's sake. "The Jews wasted their whole course on these unprofitable points [for] historical knowledge and research" (JohnChr).

1:7 The law is the Old Covenant Mosaic Law, not the commandments of Christ in the Gospels or the canons of the Church.

1:8 The law is good because God gave it (Rom 7:16). It was a schoolmaster for God's chosen people, to confront and control their sin until the Incarnation of His Son fulfills it; and a guide to lead all people to Christ.

🕮 1:8–18 This passage is read on days commemorating monk martyrs.

1:12–17 Paul, as a former rebel toward God and persecutor of the Church (Acts 9:1–3), gives glory to God for his calling as an apostle. Throughout the OT and NT and church history, the greatest sinners have often become most notable saints (Moses, Rahab, David, Photini—the woman at the well, Matthew, Paul, St. Mary of Egypt).

1:15 Used in Orthodox liturgical prayer and said by all approaching the chalice for Holy Communion.

1:20 If Paul is a recipient of God's grace, here are two who rejected this grace and stand as a warning to all.

2:1, 2 Intercessory prayers are to be offered for all without partiality, but special attention is given to prayer for those in authority. Thus, Orthodox Christians repeatedly pray for "all civil authorities."

🕮 2:1–7 This passage is read on September 1, the beginning of the Ecclesiastical New Year.

2:3–5 The religions of the Greek world were pluralistic and elite. In contrast, Paul teaches that there is one Savior, one God and one Mediator (v. 5). And God offers salvation equally to all, for He created us to share in His goodness, and for this end He became a Man like us.

2:5 Some who are opposed to the established Church use this verse to claim that "all you need is Jesus—not the Church, her clergy, and her sacraments." But the Son became the one Mediator by becoming Man through the Holy Spirit and a virgin—that is, through God and men. He "built" His humanity not from Himself alone but from another, the Virgin Mary. Likewise, as the Mediator He says, "I will build My church" (Mt 16:18); He establishes her leaders and her worship. As Mary gives us Christ in His humanity, the Church introduces us to Him, who alone is our Mediator.

2:6 Regarding ancient slaves, a ransom did not so much purchase them as free them from their bondage to experience liberty.

2:8 Prayer must be united with quiet and godly behavior. Does this contradict praying secretly, not to be seen by men (Mt 6:5, 6)? No. The warning is against spiritual showmanship, not congregational prayer. The secret "room" (Mt 6:6) is a person's innermost being, perfectly consistent with praying everywhere. In contrast to the Jewish emphasis on one primary earthly place for prayer (the temple in Jerusalem), Christians experience the fullness of prayer wherever they may be.

2:12 The Church's greatest saint is a woman, the Virgin Mary, Mother of God. Some women, including Mary Magdalene, are called "Equal to the Apostles," others serve as deacons (Rom 16:1). While sharing full equality in Christ, women are not ordained to the offices of bishop and presbyter.

2:15 If salvation is holistic, involving all of one's life, then women who have children are saved, in part, by motherhood, if they persevere in godliness. Our God-given role in life is the place of our salvation.

3:1 Bishop means “overseer,” an elder (4:14; 5:17). Later in the first century bishop came to designate a presiding elder.

3:2 St. John Chrysostom on blameless: “Every virtue is implied in this word. [The bishop’s] life should be unspotted so that all should look up to him, and make his life the model of their own.” In the early Church, a bishop could be married. Today married men may be ordained to the Orthodox priesthood. The Sixth Ecumenical Council (681) sanctioned celibate bishops, but only as a special dispensation relative to the feeling that it was not acceptable for a bishop to live with a woman. Married bishops are in accordance with the general teaching of Orthodox canon law.

3:8 For qualifications for the first deacons, see Acts 6:1–6.

3:11 Wives: Or perhaps “women,” referring to deaconesses.

🕮 3:13—4:5 This passage is read on January 4, the Synaxis of the Seventy Apostles.

3:15 While the Scriptures are the inspired truth of God in human words (2Ti 3:15–17), the Church is the pillar and ground of that truth.

3:16 Paul quotes an ancient Christian creed or hymn that is especially clear about the divinity of Jesus Christ. Another such creed is found in 2Ti 2:11–13. (See also 6:15, 16; Eph 1:3–14; 5:14; Php 2:6–11; Col 1:15–20.) Thus, when the early Councils met and issued creeds, they were well within the mark of biblical precedent.

The Four “Orders” in Church Government

The New Testament teaches that all four “orders” which form the government of the Church—laity, deacons, presbyters, and bishops—are necessary to the proper functioning of the body of Christ. All four are clearly visible in Paul’s first letter to Timothy.

1. The laity are also called “saints” (Rom 1:7; 2Co 1:1; 1Ti 5:10), the “faithful” (Eph 1:1), and “brethren” (Col 1:2). The laity (Gr. laos) are the people of God, the “priesthood” (1Pt 2:4–10). Technically, the term “laity” includes the clergy, though in our day the word usually refers to those in the Church who are not ordained. It is from among the laity that the other three orders emerge.
2. The deacons, literally “servants,” are ordained to serve the Church and must meet high qualifications (1Ti 3:8–13). The apostles were the first to take on the service tasks of deacons, and when the workload became too great they called for “seven men of good reputation, full of the Holy Spirit and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business” (Acts 6:3). Besides serving the material needs of the people, deacons occupy a crucial role in the liturgical life of the Church.
3. The presbyters, or elders, are visible throughout the New Testament. Their ministry from the start was to “rule,” “labor in the word,” and teach true “doctrine” (1Ti 5:17) in the local congregation. Paul “appointed elders in every church” (Acts 14:23) and later instructed his apostolic apprentice, Titus, to do the same in Crete (Tts 1:5). From the word “presbyter” came the shorter form “prest,” which finally became “priest.” In no way is the ordained Christian priesthood seen as a throwback to or a reenacting of the Old Testament priesthood. Rather, joined to Christ who is our High Priest “according to the order of Melchizedek” (Heb 5:6, 10), the Orthodox priest is likewise a minister of a new covenant that supersedes the old.
4. The bishop is the “overseer” of the congregation and clergy in a given area. Often the terms “bishop” and “elder” are used interchangeably in the New Testament (Acts 20:17, 28), with the bishop being the leader of the elders. The qualifications for bishop listed in 1 Timothy 3:1–7 and Titus 1:7–9 underscore this role. Nonetheless, the bishopric is a specific office both in the New Testament and in the early Church. The Twelve were the first to hold this office (in Acts 1:20

"office" could literally be translated "bishopric") and they in turn consecrated other bishops to follow them. For example, Timothy and Titus are clearly of a separate order from that of elder (see 1Ti 5:17–22; Tts 1:5). Early records show James was bishop of Jerusalem by AD 49 and functioned accordingly at the first council there (Acts 15:13–22). Peter is on record as the first bishop of Antioch prior to AD 53, and later first bishop of Rome, where he was martyred about AD 65.

Perhaps the strongest early reference outside the New Testament to the presence of the four orders in church government occurs in the writings of Ignatius, bishop of Antioch from AD 67–107, the very heart of the New Testament era. To the church at Philadelphia (see Rev 3:7–13) he writes of "Christians [laity] at one with the bishop and the presbyters and the deacons" (italics added).

In the Orthodox Church, authority is resident in all four orders, with the bishop providing the center of unity. His authority is not over the Church, but within the Church. He is an icon of Jesus Christ, "the Shepherd and Overseer [lit., bishop] of your souls" (1Pt 2:25). Church leadership does not consist of one or more of the orders functioning without the others. Rather the Church, with Christ as Head, is conducted like a symphony orchestra, a family, the body of Christ, where all the members in their given offices work together as the dwelling place of the Holy Trinity.

4:2 A conscience seared with a hot iron describes the reality that repeated willful sin blunts our sensitivity to good and evil. A grim warning to all Christians to reject evil in all forms and thereby maintain a softness of heart toward God.

4:3–5 Whereas sexual abstinence and fasting are important factors in spiritual discipline, we control our passions not because the material world is evil, but because we are corrupt and tend to sin. Sex and food are not unclean, but willful disobedience, an unthankful disposition, and uncontrolled desires are. The Church is here to bring the whole world back to God.

4:5, 6 The word (Gr. logos) of God is the Son (Jn 1:1; Heb 4:12; 1Pt 1:23; 1Jn 1:1; Rev 19:13). A word of God in the NT can be God's creative will (2Pt 3:5, 7), the OT (Mk 7:13), a blessing using God's name (as here), the gospel itself (Acts 4:31; 6:7; 13:5, 26; 15:7, 36; 1Th 2:13), or a special message from God. The Son is the ultimate reference for every other word of God. Sometimes it is difficult to tell whether "word" refers to Christ Himself or words about Him (Col 1:25). To spread the word of God is to spread Christ Himself. (The Greek rema is identically translated as "word" whether it refers to the gospel [Heb 6:5; 1Pt 1:25], a message from God [1Pt 1:25], or an act of God [Heb 11:3].) Words of faith (v. 6) means speech consonant with the gospel. Doctrine, or "teaching," is the content of the gospel. Thus, the rich and manifold speech concerning salvation serves our communion with Christ, the Word of God. He is the reason these words are vital and powerful. Using words without the Word is vain.

4:7, 8 Paul is no stranger to physical exercise and its benefits (see 1Co 9:24–27), but he prefers spiritual exercise, for it leads to life eternal.

4:13 Give attention to reading, whether personal reading or the public reading of Scripture during worship, is tied with exhortation (preaching) and doctrine (teaching). The early Christians had a liturgical worship structure—including the reading of Scripture and the homily—the roots of which were in the synagogue.

4:14 This refers to Timothy's ordination as presbyter (priest), which was conferred by the apostles, as it is by the bishop today (2Ti 1:6; see Acts 6:6). In 5:22 Paul gives Timothy instructions for ordination. In continuity with the NT, Orthodox ordination to the diaconate and priesthood comes through the laying on of hands by the bishop.

5:3–16 Specific advice on caring for widows. If there are no family members to do this, care belongs to the parish, for a widow has God as her guardian (Dt 10:18; Ps 67:6; Ps 145:9). A "real" widow (vv. 3, 5, 16), however, in turn cares for the parish through prayer (v. 5) and works of compassion (v. 10) while maintaining a pure and holy life (vv. 6, 7, 11–16). Special qualifications are given for those who are on the register of widows (vv. 9, 10); perhaps this was an "order" for charitable service. Widows have from the start constituted a definable group within the Church (Acts 6:1; 9:39, 41).

5:18 The laborer is worthy of his wages (Mt 10:10; Lk 10:7) may be the first use of the Gospels as Scripture.

5:23 Timothy's physical problems—perhaps from strict water-fasts—are not miraculously overcome, and Paul does not suggest breaking the fasts, only decreasing their rigor.

6:11–16 A remarkable challenge for all who serve God, especially the ordained clergy.

6:11 The beginning of repentance is to flee from sin and to abstain from passions.

6:12 Confessed the good confession is a reference to Timothy's words at his baptism or ordination.

6:20 The faith and worship of the Church is a sacred trust, to be preserved intact, without personal-preference changes and without personal gain.

The Second Book of Timothy

Author

St. Paul the Apostle. By the second half of the second century the whole Church accepted 2 Timothy as Pauline and canonical.

Date

AD 65–67. This letter was written from Rome (1:17) when Paul was chained, suffering, and near his execution.

Major Theme

Overcoming hardship in the ministry. Ordained ministers use their spiritual gifts in the Church to keep and pass on her living tradition (1:13, 14; 2:2, 8, 11–13, 15; 3:14–17; 4:3). Through living tradition—the Bible and the ongoing life of the Holy Spirit in the body of Christ—the Church remains essentially as she was at her inception.

Background

Paul has been a prisoner in Rome for some time. Although no one stood with him at his first hearing, he successfully defended himself and "was delivered out of the mouth of the lion" (4:16, 17). Nonetheless, he has no hope for acquittal. He knows his end is at hand (4:6–8). Worse, friends have turned against him (1:15; 4:16–18); only Luke is assisting him. Paul longs to see Timothy once more.

This is probably Paul's last letter. He knows his martyrdom is near and looks forward to being with the Lord (4:8). Paul was martyred under Emperor Nero about AD 67.

Outline

I. Greeting (1:1, 2)
II. Ministry: Exhortation to Strength (1:3–2:13)
  A. To the bishop, Timothy: be bold! (1:3–18)
  B. To other faithful men (2:1–13)
III. Orthodoxy: Exhortation to Faith and Practice (2:14–4:8)
  A. Against false teachers (2:14–26)
  B. In the face of persecution (3:1–4:8)
IV. Conclusion (4:9–22)

A. Fellow workers and evil workers (4:9–15)
B. Paul’s first defense (4:16–18)
C. Greetings and benediction (4:19–22)

2 Timothy 1

Greeting

[1]Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ[a] by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,

[2]To Timothy, a beloved son:

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

Timothy's Faith and Heritage

[3]I thank God, whom I serve with a pure conscience, as my forefathers did, as without ceasing I remember you in my prayers night and day,

[4]greatly desiring to see you, being mindful of your tears, that I may be filled with joy,

[5]when I call to remembrance the genuine faith that is in you, which dwelt first in your grandmother Lois and your mother Eunice, and I am persuaded is in you also.

[6]Therefore I remind you to stir up the gift of God which is in you through the laying on of my hands.

[7]For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind.

Not Ashamed of the Gospel

[8]Therefore do not be ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me His prisoner, but share with me in the sufferings for the gospel according to the power of God,

[9]who has saved us and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works, but according to His own purpose and grace which was given to us in Christ Jesus before time began,

[10]but has now been revealed by the appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ, who has abolished death and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel,

[11]to which I was appointed a preacher, an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.[b]

[12]For this reason I also suffer these things; nevertheless I am not ashamed, for I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep what I have committed to Him until that Day.

Be Loyal to the Faith

13 Hold fast the pattern of sound words which you have heard from me, in faith and love which are in Christ Jesus.
14 That good thing which was committed to you, keep by the Holy Spirit who dwells in us.
15 This you know, that all those in Asia have turned away from me, among whom are Phygellus and Hermogenes.
16 The Lord grant mercy to the household of Onesiphorus, for he often refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain; 17 but when he arrived in Rome, he sought me out very zealously and found me.
18 The Lord grant to him that he may find mercy from the Lord in that Day —and you know very well how many ways he ministered to me[c] at Ephesus.

2 Timothy 2

Be Strong in Grace

1 You therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.
2 And the things that you have heard from me among many witnesses, commit these to faithful men who will be able to teach others also.
3 You therefore must endure[a] hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.
4 No one engaged in warfare entangles himself with the affairs of this life, that he may please him who enlisted him as a soldier.
5 And also if anyone competes in athletics, he is not crowned unless he competes according to the rules.
6 The hardworking farmer must be first to partake of the crops.
7 Consider what I say, and may[b] the Lord give you understanding in all things.
8 Remember that Jesus Christ, of the seed of David, was raised from the dead according to my gospel, 9 for which I suffer trouble as an evildoer, even to the point of chains; but the word of God is not chained.
10 Therefore I endure all things for the sake of the elect, that they also may obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.

11 This is a faithful saying:

For if we died with Him,
We shall also live with Him.
12 If we endure,
We shall also reign with Him.
If we deny Him,
He also will deny us.
13 If we are faithless,
He remains faithful;
He cannot deny Himself.

Approved and Disapproved Workers

14 Remind them of these things, charging them before the Lord not to strive about words to no profit, to the ruin of the hearers.

15 Be diligent to present yourself approved to God, a worker who does not need to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

16 But shun profane and idle babblings, for they will increase to more ungodliness.

17 And their message will spread like cancer. Hymenaeus and Philetus are of this sort, 18 who have strayed concerning the truth, saying that the resurrection is already past; and they overthrow the faith of some.

19 Nevertheless the solid foundation of God stands, having this seal: "The Lord knows those who are His," and, "Let everyone who names the name of Christ[c] depart from iniquity."

20 But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and silver, but also of wood and clay, some for honor and some for dishonor.

21 Therefore if anyone cleanses himself from the latter, he will be a vessel for honor, sanctified and useful for the Master, prepared for every good work.

22 Flee also youthful lusts; but pursue righteousness, faith, love, peace with those who call on the Lord out of a pure heart.

23 But avoid foolish and ignorant disputes, knowing that they generate strife.

24 And a servant of the Lord must not quarrel but be gentle to all, able to teach, patient,

25 in humility correcting those who are in opposition, if God perhaps will grant them repentance, so that they may know the truth, 26and that they may come to their senses and escape the snare of the devil, having been taken captive by him to do his will.

2 Timothy 3

Perilous Times and Perilous Men

1But know this, that in the last days perilous times will come:
2For men will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, 3unloving, unforgiving, slanderers, without self-control, brutal, despisers of good,
4traitors, headstrong, haughty, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, 5having a form of godliness but denying its power. And from such people turn away!
6For of this sort are those who creep into households and make captives of gullible women loaded down with sins, led away by various lusts, 7always learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.
8Now as Jannes and Jambres resisted Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, disapproved concerning the faith;
9but they will progress no further, for their folly will be manifest to all, as theirs also was.

The Man of God and the Word of God

10But you have carefully followed my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, longsuffering, love, perseverance, 11persecutions, afflictions, which happened to me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra—what persecutions I endured. And out of them all the Lord delivered me.
12Yes, and all who desire to live godly in Christ Jesus will suffer persecution.
13But evil men and impostors will grow worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived.
14But you must continue in the things which you have learned and been assured of, knowing from whom you have learned them, 15and that from childhood you have known the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make you wise for salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.

16 All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, 17 that the man of God may be complete, thoroughly equipped for every good work.

2 Timothy 4

Preach the Word

1 I charge you therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who will judge the living and the dead at[a] His appearing and His kingdom:
2 Preach the word! Be ready in season and out of season. Convince, rebuke, exhort, with all longsuffering and teaching.
3 For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but according to their own desires, because they have itching ears, they will heap up for themselves teachers;
4 and they will turn their ears away from the truth, and be turned aside to fables.
5 But you be watchful in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, fulfill your ministry.

Paul's Valedictory

6 For I am already being poured out as a drink offering, and the time of my departure is at hand.
7 I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith.
8 Finally, there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give to me on that Day, and not to me only but also to all who have loved His appearing.

The Abandoned Apostle

9 Be diligent to come to me quickly;
10 for Demas has forsaken me, having loved this present world, and has departed for Thessalonica—Crescens for Galatia, Titus for Dalmatia.
11 Only Luke is with me. Get Mark and bring him with you, for he is useful to me for ministry.

12 And Tychicus I have sent to Ephesus.
13 Bring the cloak that I left with Carpus at Troas when you come—and the books, especially the parchments.
14 Alexander the coppersmith did me much harm. May the Lord repay him according to his works.
15 You also must beware of him, for he has greatly resisted our words.
16 At my first defense no one stood with me, but all forsook me. May it not be charged against them.

The Lord Is Faithful

17 But the Lord stood with me and strengthened me, so that the message might be preached fully through me, and that all the Gentiles might hear. Also I was delivered out of the mouth of the lion.
18 And the Lord will deliver me from every evil work and preserve me for His heavenly kingdom. To Him be glory forever and ever. Amen!

Come Before Winter

19 Greet Prisca and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus.
20 Erastus stayed in Corinth, but Trophimus I have left in Miletus sick.
21 Do your utmost to come before winter. Eubulus greets you, as well as Pudens, Linus, Claudia, and all the brethren.

Farewell

22 The Lord Jesus Christ[b] be with your spirit. Grace be with you. Amen.

Annotations for 2 Timothy

1:6 The gift of God is the grace of the Holy Spirit, or charism, given Timothy at his ordination. This grace fills up what is lacking and gives authenticity to the priesthood. But it is not automatic. We must stir up and rekindle it.

1:7 While any Christian may be persecuted (Jn 15:20; see Mt 5:11, 12 and note), we reject feelings of fear or timidity. We do not "quench the Spirit" (1Th 5:19), but act with power and courage (2:12; see Mt 10:33; Lk 9:26).

1:9 Our salvation and calling are based on His grace and love, not on anything we have done to merit God's favor (Eph 2:8–10; Tts 3:5, 6).

1:10 "He submitted [to suffering] so that he might break the power of Death and demonstrate the resurrection from the dead—thus it was necessary for him to be manifested in flesh. Also [he submitted] so that he might fulfill the promise to the fathers and, while he was preparing the new people for himself and while he was still on earth, to prove that after he has brought about the resurrection he will judge" (Barn 5:6, 7).

1:13, 14 The pattern of sound words (v. 13) is oral apostolic tradition which you have heard. It holds the same weight as written apostolic tradition (see 2:2; 2Th 2:5). Oral or written, this Holy Tradition is rooted in Christ Jesus (v. 13) and kept by the Holy Spirit who dwells in us (v. 14).

1:18 Perhaps Onesiphorus is dead. The Church has never hesitated to pray for her departed that they may find mercy from God on the Day of the Lord. (The first Lord in the verse refers to the Son, the second to the Father.)

📖 2:1–10 This passage is read on days commemorating a martyr and for the Finding of the Head of John the Baptist (February 24 and May 29).

2:2 Paul establishes a clear chain of witnesses to oral tradition. Christian tradition is for all believers; it is "catholic," belonging to the whole Church, and needs to be passed down to others unhindered. This stands in clear contrast to the elitism of the major religions of the first-century Roman world, including gnosticism and the various mystery religions.

2:3–6 Faithful ministry requires discipline: obedience, self-denial, and struggle. Our icons (examples) here are the soldier (vv. 3, 4), the athlete (v. 5), and the farmer (v. 6).

2:8–13 Verses 11–13 may be an early baptismal hymn. Ministry is based on union with Christ and immovable loyalty to Him. The end, for the minister and his hearers, is life with Christ in the eternal Kingdom.

2:15 The last phrase of this verse is quoted in an Orthodox liturgical prayer for the bishops.

2:16 Profane and idle babblings (like nonsense syllables) is an apt description of heresy.

2:17, 18 What is the heresy of Hymenaeus and Philetus? Perhaps a superspiritual interpretation of the resurrection (v. 18) as affecting only the soul and not the whole person (Greek philosophy thought bodily resurrection absurd); thus resurrection is thought to be already past, having occurred at baptism. They use the language of baptism but in a non-Orthodox way. Let us not be naive: this sort of novel doctrine can spread through the community like cancer (v. 17).

2:20–23 Heresy corrupts: bad theology leads to bad behavior. The Church on earth is a mixture of wheat and tares sown together (vv. 19–21). Membership in the Church guarantees nothing—even the baptismal confession (quoted in v. 19) acknowledges the necessity of struggle.

2:24–26 Good theology helps us along the path to good behavior. Although the truth stands firm and unalterable and cannot tolerate the false (see 1Co 5:1–13; 2Co 6:14–18), it instills a reasonable patience and gentleness toward all, especially toward false teachers—while not losing sight of the fact that they are enemies and to be avoided (3:5).

3:1–9 While technically we have been in the last days since Christ walked the earth, the Church has seen this and other warnings as a reference to the days just before His coming again. A great decay in morals (see Mt 24; Mk 13; 2Th 2; 2Pt 2; compare Rom 1:28–32) will even infiltrate the Church (v. 5; see Mt 7:15–27; 1Co 5:1–5; 1Ti 4:1–11). Like the prominent men of Cain's city (Gn 4:16–24), these offenders willfully reject law and morals out of love of self and love of pleasure.

3:5 The form and power of godliness are intended to be inseparable. We normally do not have the power of godliness without the form. Charismatic power, however, can be twisted for evil and greed (Acts 8:9–20). Outward forms, even of liturgical worship, can be carried on without power or conviction (see Mt 7:15; 24:4, 5, 24). As faith without works is a form without substance (Jam 2:26), so is religion without power. This is a stern warning to those of us committed to proper form.

3:8 In Jewish tradition, Jannes and Jambres are the Egyptian magicians who opposed Moses in Ex 7.

3:10–13 Paul's life exhibits what the Lord taught: In this world, godliness elicits persecution (see Jn 15:20).

📖 3:10–15 This passage is read on the fourth Sunday before Great Lent, called the Sunday of the Publican and the Pharisee.

3:14–17 Having exhorted Timothy with the example of his own steadfastness (vv. 10–13), Paul now issues a reminder of the depth of Timothy's training, which combined both oral and written instruction (see Mt 28:16–20; 1Co 11:2; 2Th 2:15; 3:6). A part of this tradition is Scripture. Paul, of course, speaks of the OT, since the NT did not yet exist.

4:6 A drink offering is a wine, water, or oil offering poured over animal or grain sacrifices at the conclusion of both Jewish and pagan rites.

4:7 The race is the life and work that God gave Paul. The comparison of the spiritual life to an athletic contest (see 1Co 9:24–27) is common in the writings of the ascetic Fathers.

4:10 Demas provides a sobering footnote to Paul's ministry. He was Paul's companion in Rome, his co-laborer in apostleship, and a close friend of Luke (Col 4:14; Phm 24). Yet Demas—after these great and glorious years of service with the Apostle—forsook Paul, having loved this present world. It is in the face of tragedies such as this that the Scriptures, the Fathers, the prayers and hymns of the Church together call us repeatedly to a life of humility and repentance—that we should not think of ourselves more highly than we ought.

4:11 Paul is now reconciled with (John) Mark (see Acts 15:37–40). The sharp contention between Barnabas and Paul is forgotten, and the true love of Christ reigns.

4:21 "The blessed Apostles Peter and Paul, having founded and established the Church of Rome, handed over the office of bishop to Linus—of whom Paul makes mention in his second letter to Timothy" (Iren). Eusebius, writing in the fourth century, says the same.

The Book of Titus

Author

The greeting (1:1) and Holy Tradition both affirm that St. Paul is the author.

Date

AD 63–65. The circumstances, content, and organization of Titus are similar to those of 1 Timothy. The two books were probably written about the same time. Paul's work with Titus on Crete does not fit into the time covered by the Book of Acts, so it probably occurred after Paul's release from his first imprisonment in Rome.

Major Theme

Overseeing the Church according to the true faith. As the Church grew, it naturally developed theology and structure and encountered heresy and sub-Christian behavior among its members, as had been prophesied. Paul here advises Titus as he faces these issues.

Background

Titus was a Gentile converted to Christ by St. Paul (1:4). After Paul was released from prison in Rome about AD 63, he and Titus visited Crete (1:5). When Paul moved on, he appointed Titus as apostolic overseer there. After Paul left Titus in charge of consolidating and organizing the church on the island of Crete, he found theological problems there similar to those being confronted by Timothy in Asia Minor: elements of Judaism binding Christians, and early gnosticism. But the native culture of Crete was more vicious than those found in Asia Minor. Further, whereas Timothy was restoring order in established churches, Titus was establishing order in young churches.

Outline

I. Greeting (1:1–4)
II. Godly Government (1:5–16)
  A. Organization: ordination of sound presbyters (1:5–9)
  B. Danger and urgency concerning false teachers (1:10–16)
III. Godly People (2:1–3:11)
  A. Right behavior in the church and in the home (2:1–10)

B. The purity of the eternal kingdom (2:11–15)
C. Right behavior toward the government and society (3:1, 2)
D. Salvation by grace in baptism and chrismation (3:3–8)
E. Discipline of heretical and schismatic members (3:9–11)

IV. Conclusion: Requests, Greetings, and Benediction (3:12–15)

Titus 1

Greeting

1 Paul, a bondservant of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's elect and the acknowledgment of the truth which accords with godliness,
2 in hope of eternal life which God, who cannot lie, promised before time began,
3 but has in due time manifested His word through preaching, which was committed to me according to the commandment of God our Savior;
4 To Titus, a true son in our common faith:

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ[a] our Savior.

Qualified Elders

5 For this reason I left you in Crete, that you should set in order the things that are lacking, and appoint elders in every city as I commanded you—6 if a man is blameless, the husband of one wife, having faithful children not accused of dissipation or insubordination.
7 For a bishop[b] must be blameless, as a steward of God, not self-willed, not quick-tempered, not given to wine, not violent, not greedy for money, 8 but hospitable, a lover of what is good, sober-minded, just, holy, self-controlled,
9 holding fast the faithful word as he has been taught, that he may be able,
by sound doctrine, both to exhort and convict those who contradict.

The Elders' Task

10 For there are many insubordinate, both idle talkers and deceivers, especially those of the circumcision, 11 whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole households, teaching things which they ought not, for the sake of dishonest gain.
12 One of them, a prophet of their own, said, "Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, lazy gluttons."
13 This testimony is true. Therefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith,

14not giving heed to Jewish fables and commandments of men who turn from the truth.
15To the pure all things are pure, but to those who are defiled and unbelieving nothing is pure; but even their mind and conscience are defiled.
16They profess to know God, but in works they deny Him, being abominable, disobedient, and disqualified for every good work.

Titus 2

Qualities of a Sound Church

1But as for you, speak the things which are proper for sound doctrine:
2that the older men be sober, reverent, temperate, sound in faith, in love, in patience;
3the older women likewise, that they be reverent in behavior, not slanderers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things—
4that they admonish the young women to love their husbands, to love their children, 5to be discreet, chaste, homemakers, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God may not be blasphemed.
6Likewise, exhort the young men to be sober-minded,
7in all things showing yourself to be a pattern of good works; in doctrine showing integrity, reverence, incorruptibility,[a]
8sound speech that cannot be condemned, that one who is an opponent may be ashamed, having nothing evil to say of you.[b]
9*Exhort* bondservants to be obedient to their own masters, to be well pleasing in all things, not answering back, 10not pilfering, but showing all good fidelity, that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things.

Trained by Saving Grace

11For the grace of God that brings salvation has appeared to all men, 12teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in the present age, 13looking for the blessed hope and glorious appearing of our great God and

Savior Jesus Christ,

14 who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from every lawless deed and purify for Himself His own special people, zealous for good works.

15 Speak these things, exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no one despise you. The Second Coming of Christ

Titus 3

Graces of the Heirs of Grace

1 Remind them to be subject to rulers and authorities, to obey, to be ready for every good work,

2 to speak evil of no one, to be peaceable, gentle, showing all humility to all men.

3 For we ourselves were also once foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving various lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful and hating one another.

4 But when the kindness and the love of God our Savior toward man appeared,

5 not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us, through the washing of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Spirit,

6 whom He poured out on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Savior,

7 that having been justified by His grace we should become heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

8 This is a faithful saying, and these things I want you to affirm constantly, that those who have believed in God should be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable to men.

Avoid Dissension

9 But avoid foolish disputes, genealogies, contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and useless.

10 Reject a divisive man after the first and second admonition,

11 knowing that such a person is warped and sinning, being self-condemned.

Final Messages

12When I send Artemas to you, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me at Nicopolis, for I have decided to spend the winter there.

13Send Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their journey with haste, that they may lack nothing.

14And let our people also learn to maintain good works, to meet urgent needs, that they may not be unfruitful.

Farewell

15All who are with me greet you. Greet those who love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

Annotations for Titus

1:1 In the Roman world, a bondservant (Gr. doulos) was in an unenviable position: he had no name, rights, will, or even time of his own. But in the world of the OT, a bondservant was often the king's right-hand man—one of the most honored titles. Moses and other OT prophets were the bondservants of the Lord. Paul, of course, knew of both usages. An apostle, "one sent out," was a New Covenant equivalent to a bondservant.

Acknowledgment (Gr. epignosis) is deeper than mental knowledge; it is experiential, not theoretical. Knowledge (the truth) and action (godliness) are a unity; knowledge that does not change one's life does not save.

1:5 When Paul evangelized an area, he did not leave it unattended (1Co 3:6–10; Col 1:7).

1:5–9 All Christians are priests in Christ. Candidates for eldership, that is, for the special priesthood inside the general priesthood of all, should exhibit a wholesome and united family life (v. 6), control over passions and emotions (v. 7), loving and righteous relations with others (v. 8), and careful adherence to tradition (v. 9; see also 1Ti 3:1–16; 5:21; 2Ti 2:2).

1:9 Patmos: A small rocky island 40 miles off the western coast of modern Turkey, fifty miles south of Ephesus, to which the Romans exiled criminals. John's preaching must have been considered a seditious threat to the public interest if he was indeed a prisoner there.

1:10–16 False leaders also exhibit certain characteristics. They upset rather than reconcile (v. 11), have an eye for personal profit (v. 11), lack discipline and integrity (vv. 12, 13), misjudge reality—here setting up external laws when the uncleanness is internal (vv. 14, 15), and are immoral. Bad theology leads to bad behavior (v. 16).

2:1–10 Good theology helps lead us to good behavior. Various classes, distinguished here primarily by age and sex, have characteristic problems and responsibilities.

2:3–5 Note the opportunity for older women in the Church to be role models and teachers for young wives and mothers.

2:11–15 While Christian ethical teaching often appears similar to other systems—Paul uses both Roman and Jewish ethical terms—the basis of Christian ethics is unique. Christians are good not merely out of obedience to law or harmony with nature, or in order to gain immortal bliss for the soul. Rather, they are righteous in anticipation of the age to come, the eschaton, the age of the fullness of creation in the incarnate Son of God. Grace (v. 11) is the uncreated energy of God, the gift of the Holy Spirit, through which He gives His gifts to man in tender mercy and good will. It is a formative power, the rule of life of the eschaton, requiring our determined participation. To belong to God is to become like God. To be ransomed, or "owned," by God (v. 14) is not simply legal and static, but means to live in solidarity with Him: a blessed, victorious struggle.

2:13 The Church Fathers regard our great God and Savior Jesus Christ as a landmark statement of the divinity of Christ (see Rom 9:5; 2Pt 1:1). In Paul's thought, "God" refers usually to the Person of the Father, not to the divine nature.

As Paul grew older, it seems his sense of the difference between this age and the age to come deepened. In his earlier letters, he emphasized the present realization of God's power; now he speaks more of our future transfiguration.

The Second Coming of Christ

The Orthodox understanding of the second coming of Christ is clear: The Lord Jesus Christ truly will return. His second advent is not a myth nor an empty promise, nor is it a metaphor. In fact, each time the Divine Liturgy is celebrated, the priest makes a proclamation to the Father that reveals how the Church responds not only to the second coming of Christ, but to all of His work.

> Remembering this saving commandment [Jesus' command to eat His flesh and drink His blood] and all that has been done for us—the Cross, the Tomb, the Resurrection on the third day, the Ascension into heaven, the sitting at the right hand, and the second and glorious coming—we offer You Your own, from what is Your own, on behalf of all and for all.

Orthodox Christians also believe the New Testament revelation of the second coming of Christ is meant to stimulate our preparation for it, not our speculation about it. This explains the relative simplicity with which the Nicene Creed, the most universal confession of faith in all of Christendom, addresses Christ's return: "He . . . will come again, with glory, to judge the living and the dead, whose Kingdom shall have no end." The emphasis of historic Orthodoxy is that Jesus will come again, not when He will come again.

Thus, St. Paul writes, "denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in the present age, looking for the blessed hope and glorious appearing of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ, who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from every lawless deed and purify for Himself His own special people, zealous for good works" (Tts 2:12–14).

There are signs of Christ's coming, to be sure. Jesus prophesied many events that would take place in the world prior to His return (Mt 24; Lk 21:7–36). But even these Gospel passages close with Jesus' exhortation to virtue, righteousness, and preparation for the Judgment. Christ and His apostles issue severe warnings, implicit and explicit, against second-guessing the time of His coming (Mt 24:3–8, 36, 43, 44, 50; Lk 21:7–9, 34; Acts 1:7; 1Th 5:1–3; 2Pt 3:8–10).

Much of modern Christendom has succumbed to divisive speculation regarding Christ's return. We are divided into premillennial, postmillennial, and amillennial camps. Breaking it down even further, there are pre-tribulation, mid-tribulation, and post-tribulation adherents. Christians part ways and new denominations spring up around interpretations of events that have not yet even come to pass!

Throughout history the Orthodox Church has steadfastly insisted on the reality of the second coming of Christ as a settled belief, but has always granted liberty on the question of when it will occur. In the last chapter of Revelation, Jesus speaks the words, "I am coming quickly," three different times (22:7, 12, 20). His coming will occur on a day and at an hour when it is not expected. The apostle John, the author of Revelation, concludes his book with a warning:

> For I testify to everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book: If anyone adds to these things, God will add to him the plagues that are written in this book; and if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the Book of Life, from the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book (Rev 22:18, 19).

To confess the return of Christ is to stand squarely within the apostolic tradition. To add "when" to the promise of His coming is warned against in the Scriptures. As members of the Bride of Christ, let us attend instead to being ready.

📖 3:4–7, 11–14 This passage is read on January 6, the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

3:5 The washing of regeneration, baptism, and renewing of the Holy Spirit, chrismation, form a unity in our salvation, clear throughout the NT. Jesus taught we are born from above through "water and the Spirit" (Jn 3:5); Peter preached salvation in Christ through being "baptized" and receiving "the gift of the Holy Spirit" (Acts 2:38). Now Paul calls us to the washing of the water and the renewing of the Holy Spirit.

3:7, 8 While Paul is painfully aware we are awaiting the consummation of the age to come (2:13), he knows we already participate in the eschatological community. Baptism and chrismation are the beginning, the rite of passage toward a progressive life of renewal in Christ (see 2Co 3:16–18).

3:10, 11 A divisive person is one who "picks" or "chooses from" the whole truth. A sect is a group that follows its own choices, independent of holy tradition. Incomplete or erroneous beliefs result in immoral behavior.

The Book of Philemon

Author

St. Paul. Paul often used an assistant to whom he dictated his letters (Rom 16:22; 1Co 16:21; Gal 6:11; Col 4:18; 2Th 3:17), but he wrote Philemon with his own hand (v. 19).

Date

AD 61–63. Philemon was written at the same time as Colossians, most likely from Rome during Paul's first Roman captivity.

Major Theme

No longer slaves, we are brothers and sisters in Christ.

Background

Philemon (Gr. "affectionate") had been converted by Paul (v. 19) and was a member of the church in Colosse (Col 4:9). Onesimus (Gr. "useful") had been an "unuseful" slave of Philemon, for he had run away, providing for his needs from the stolen treasury of his master—an offense punishable by death. Somehow Onesimus reached Paul, who brought him to Christ. He then became "useful" to Paul.

According to Roman law, Onesimus still belonged to Philemon. So Paul sent Onesimus back to Colosse with this letter under the care of Tychicus, who was also carrying the letters to the Colossians and the Ephesians. Paul urges Philemon to receive Onesimus with forgiveness as a brother in the Lord, and hints that he would not be displeased if Philemon released Onesimus from bondage in order to free him for service to Paul.

According to ancient tradition, Philemon was consecrated bishop of Colosse and later martyred. Onesimus may be the same Onesimus whom Ignatius mentions as bishop of Ephesus, forty years after this incident.

Philemon 1

Greeting

[1]Paul, a prisoner of Christ Jesus, and Timothy our brother,
To Philemon our beloved friend and fellow laborer,
[2]to the beloved[a] Apphia, Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the church in your house:
[3]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Philemon's Love and Faith

[4]I thank my God, making mention of you always in my prayers,
[5]hearing of your love and faith which you have toward the Lord Jesus and toward all the saints,
[6]that the sharing of your faith may become effective by the acknowledgment of every good thing which is in you[b] in Christ Jesus.
[7]For we have[c] great joy[d] and consolation in your love, because the hearts of the saints have been refreshed by you, brother.

The Plea for Onesimus

[8]Therefore, though I might be very bold in Christ to command you what is fitting,
[9]yet for love's sake I rather appeal to you—being such a one as Paul, the aged, and now also a prisoner of Jesus Christ—
[10]I appeal to you for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten while in my chains, [11]who once was unprofitable to you, but now is profitable to you and to me.
[12]I am sending him back.[e] You therefore receive him, that is, my own heart, [13]whom I wished to keep with me, that on your behalf he might minister to me in my chains for the gospel.
[14]But without your consent I wanted to do nothing, that your good deed might not be by compulsion, as it were, but voluntary.
[15]For perhaps he departed for a while for this purpose, that you might receive him forever, 16 no longer as a slave but more than a slave—a beloved brother, especially to me but how much more to you, both in the flesh and in the Lord.

Philemon's Obedience Encouraged

17 If then you count me as a partner, receive him as you would me.
18 But if he has wronged you or owes anything, put that on my account.
19 I, Paul, am writing with my own hand. I will repay—not to mention to you that you owe me even your own self besides.
20 Yes, brother, let me have joy from you in the Lord; refresh my heart in the Lord.
21 Having confidence in your obedience, I write to you, knowing that you will do even more than I say.
22 But, meanwhile, also prepare a guest room for me, for I trust that through your prayers I shall be granted to you.

Farewell

23 Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus, greets you, 24 as do Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke, my fellow laborers.
25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Annotations for Philemon

1 It is not known whether Philemon was yet ordained as a presbyter/bishop; he is recognized for his kindness, hospitality, and gracious spirit.

1–7 Paul's apostolic spirit is manifest in his affection, benevolence, and regular intercessions for his fellow laborers.

5 Love and faith go together. As true faith includes works, so true faith includes love. We cannot believe in God without loving others.

6 Faith unites a person not only to Christ but to all who are in Him—including those who have greatly wronged us, as Onesimus had wronged Philemon.

8, 9 Paul appeals not to his own apostolic authority (v. 8; see 2 Corinthians). Instead he appeals to his age, to his being a prisoner of Jesus Christ (v. 9)—for whom we should be quick to do all that we can, and to Philemon's Christian conscience (see v. 14).

10 Paul became Onesimus's spiritual father by convincing him of the truth of Christ (see 1Co 4:15; Gal 4:19).

11–13 Paul sees to it that Onesimus fulfills his legal responsibilities by returning him to his master, concerns about the justice of slavery notwithstanding.

14–17 While the master-slave relationship continues, it is transcended by brotherhood in Christ.

18 Onesimus stole from or otherwise wronged Philemon when he ran away. Put that on my account is reminiscent of how Christ has taken away our sins that we might go free (2Co 5:21; 8:9).

19 Paul had also brought Philemon to Christ.

21 Perhaps Paul hopes Philemon will not only receive Onesimus with forgiveness, but will also free him and return him to Paul.

The Book of Hebrews

Author

In the early centuries of the Church, several differing opinions circulated as to who wrote Hebrews. By the fourth century most witnesses ascribed Hebrews to St. Paul, including St. John Chrysostom (d. AD 407) and St. Athanasius (d. AD 373). Church historian Eusebius (d. c. AD 340) included Hebrews in his list of Paul's epistles, but noted that Rome rejected the letter because it was not Pauline. A Council at Carthage (AD 397) canonized Hebrews as one of fourteen epistles of Paul. All Orthodox lectionaries introduce Hebrews with "the reading from the Epistle of the Holy Apostle Paul to the Hebrews." Nevertheless, most biblical scholars today agree authorship of the letter is uncertain.

Date

The content of the epistle and the witness of the early Church argue for some time near AD 70.

Major Theme

Persevering faith in the incarnate Son. Jesus Christ is superior to the prophets, angels, Moses, and Aaron. He offers a better priesthood, sanctuary, and sacrifice, for in His worship we enter heaven. Therefore, we must faithfully hold fast to Him.

Background

Hebrews seems to be written to Greek-speaking Jewish Christians, perhaps in Palestine, who were being drawn back to Judaism. Indeed, some had returned to their roots, partly because of a low view of Jesus. Hence the subthemes: the superiority of Christ and His sacrifice over Judaism, and encouragement to continue in the Christian faith.

Hebrews 1

God's Supreme Revelation
(cf. John 1:1–4)

1 God, who at various times and in various ways spoke in time past to the fathers by the prophets,
2 has in these last days spoken to us by His Son, whom He has appointed heir of all things, through whom also He made the worlds; 3 who being the brightness of His glory and the express image of His person, and upholding all things by the word of His power, when He had by Himself[a] purged our[b] sins, sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, 4 having become so much better than the angels, as He has by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they.

The Son Exalted Above Angels

5 For to which of the angels did He ever say:

> "You are My Son,
> Today I have begotten You"?[c]

And again:

> "I will be to Him a Father,
> And He shall be to Me a Son"?[d]

6 But when He again brings the firstborn into the world, He says:

> "Let all the angels of God worship Him."[e]

7 And of the angels He says:

> "Who makes His angels spirits
> And His ministers a flame of fire."[f]

8 But to the Son He says:

> "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever;

A scepter of righteousness is the scepter of Your kingdom.
9*You have loved righteousness and hated lawlessness;*
Therefore God, Your God, has anointed You
With the oil of gladness more than Your companions.”[g]

10And:

“You, Lord, in the beginning laid the foundation of the earth,
And the heavens are the work of Your hands.
11*They will perish, but You remain;*
And they will all grow old like a garment;
12*Like a cloak You will fold them up,*
And they will be changed.
But You are the same,
And Your years will not fail.”[h]

13But to which of the angels has He ever said:

“Sit at My right hand,
Till I make Your enemies Your footstool”?[i]

14Are they not all ministering spirits sent forth to minister for those who will inherit salvation? The Priesthood—Earthly and Eternal

Hebrews 2

Do Not Neglect Salvation

1Therefore we must give the more earnest heed to the things we have heard, lest we drift away.
2For if the word spoken through angels proved steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just reward,
3how shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation, which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed to us by those who heard Him, 4God also bearing witness both with signs and wonders, with various miracles, and gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to His own will?

The Son Made Lower than Angels

(cf. Ps. 8:1–9)

5 For He has not put the world to come, of which we speak, in subjection to angels.
6 But one testified in a certain place, saying:

> "What is man that You are mindful of him,
> Or the son of man that You take care of him?
> 7 You have made him a little lower than the angels;
> You have crowned him with glory and honor,[a]
> And set him over the works of Your hands.
> 8 You have put all things in subjection under his feet."[b]

For in that He put all in subjection under him, He left nothing that is not put under him. But now we do not yet see all things put under him.
9 But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels, for the suffering of death crowned with glory and honor, that He, by the grace of God, might taste death for everyone.

Bringing Many Sons to Glory

10 For it was fitting for Him, for whom are all things and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons to glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings.
11 For both He who sanctifies and those who are being sanctified are all of one, for which reason He is not ashamed to call them brethren,
12 saying:

> "I will declare Your name to My brethren;
> In the midst of the assembly I will sing praise to You."[c]

13 And again:

> "I will put My trust in Him."[d]

And again:

> "Here am I and the children whom God has given Me."[e]

14 Inasmuch then as the children have partaken of flesh and blood, He Himself likewise shared in the same, that through death He might destroy him who had the power of death, that is, the devil, 15 and release those who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.
16 For indeed He does not give aid to angels, but He does give aid to the seed of Abraham.
17 Therefore, in all things He had to be made like His brethren, that He might be a merciful and faithful High Priest in things pertaining to God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people.
18 For in that He Himself has suffered, being tempted, He is able to aid those who are tempted.

Hebrews 3

The Son Was Faithful

1 Therefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our confession, Christ Jesus, 2 who was faithful to Him who appointed Him, as Moses also was faithful in all His house.
3 For this One has been counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as He who built the house has more honor than the house.
4 For every house is built by someone, but He who built all things is God.
5 And Moses indeed was faithful in all His house as a servant, for a testimony of those things which would be spoken afterward, 6 but Christ as a Son over His own house, whose house we are if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm to the end.[a]

Be Faithful
(Ps. 95:7–11)

7 Therefore, as the Holy Spirit says:

> "Today, if you will hear His voice,
> 8 Do not harden your hearts as in the rebellion,
> In the day of trial in the wilderness,
> 9 Where your fathers tested Me, tried Me,

And saw My works forty years.
10*Therefore I was angry with that generation,*
And said, 'They always go astray in their heart,
And they have not known My ways.'
11*So I swore in My wrath,*
'They shall not enter My rest.' "[b]

12Beware, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God;
13but exhort one another daily, while it is called "Today," lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.
14For we have become partakers of Christ if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast to the end, 15while it is said:

"Today, if you will hear His voice,
Do not harden your hearts as in the rebellion."[c]

Failure of the Wilderness Wanderers

16For who, having heard, rebelled? Indeed, was it not all who came out of Egypt, led by Moses?
17Now with whom was He angry forty years? Was it not with those who sinned, whose corpses fell in the wilderness?
18And to whom did He swear that they would not enter His rest, but to those who did not obey?
19So we see that they could not enter in because of unbelief.

Hebrews 4

The Promise of Rest

1Therefore, since a promise remains of entering His rest, let us fear lest any of you seem to have come short of it.
2For indeed the gospel was preached to us as well as to them; but the word which they heard did not profit them,[a] not being mixed with faith in those who heard it.
3For we who have believed do enter that rest, as He has said:

“So I swore in My wrath,
‘They shall not enter My rest,’ ”[b]

although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.
4For He has spoken in a certain place of the seventh day in this way: “And God rested on the seventh day from all His works”;[c]
5and again in this place: “They shall not enter My rest.”[d]
6Since therefore it remains that some must enter it, and those to whom it was first preached did not enter because of disobedience, 7again He designates a certain day, saying in David, “Today,” after such a long time, as it has been said:

“Today, if you will hear His voice,
Do not harden your hearts.”[e]

8For if Joshua had given them rest, then He would not afterward have spoken of another day.
9There remains therefore a rest for the people of God.
10For he who has entered His rest has himself also ceased from his works as God did from His.

The Word Discovers Our Condition

11Let us therefore be diligent to enter that rest, lest anyone fall according to the same example of disobedience.
12For the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the division of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.
13And there is no creature hidden from His sight, but all things are naked and open to the eyes of Him to whom we must give account.

Our Compassionate High Priest

14Seeing then that we have a great High Priest who has passed through the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our confession.
15For we do not have a High Priest who cannot sympathize with our weaknesses, but was in all points tempted as we are, yet without sin.
16Let us therefore come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need.

Hebrews 5

Qualifications for High Priesthood

1For every high priest taken from among men is appointed for men in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins.

2He can have compassion on those who are ignorant and going astray, since he himself is also subject to weakness.

3Because of this he is required as for the people, so also for himself, to offer sacrifices for sins.

4And no man takes this honor to himself, but he who is called by God, just as Aaron was.

A Priest Forever

5So also Christ did not glorify Himself to become High Priest, but it was He who said to Him:

> "You are My Son,
> Today I have begotten You."[a] 6As He also says in another place:

> "You are a priest forever
> According to the order of Melchizedek";[b]

7who, in the days of His flesh, when He had offered up prayers and supplications, with vehement cries and tears to Him who was able to save Him from death, and was heard because of His godly fear, 8though He was a Son, yet He learned obedience by the things which He suffered.

9And having been perfected, He became the author of eternal salvation to all who obey Him,

10called by God as High Priest "according to the order of Melchizedek," 11of whom we have much to say, and hard to explain, since you have become dull of hearing.

Spiritual Immaturity

12For though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you again the first principles of the oracles of God; and you have come to need milk and not solid food.

13For everyone who partakes only of milk is unskilled in the word of righteousness, for he is a babe.

14But solid food belongs to those who are of full age, that is, those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.

Hebrews 6

The Peril of Not Progressing

1Therefore, leaving the discussion of the elementary principles of Christ, let us go on to perfection, not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works and of faith toward God, 2of the doctrine of baptisms, of laying on of hands, of resurrection of the dead, and of eternal judgment.

3And this we will[a] do if God permits.

4For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted the heavenly gift, and have become partakers of the Holy Spirit,

5and have tasted the good word of God and the powers of the age to come,

6if they fall away,[b] to renew them again to repentance, since they crucify again for themselves the Son of God, and put Him to an open shame.

7For the earth which drinks in the rain that often comes upon it, and bears herbs useful for those by whom it is cultivated, receives blessing from God;

8but if it bears thorns and briers, it is rejected and near to being cursed, whose end is to be burned.

A Better Estimate

9But, beloved, we are confident of better things concerning you, yes, things that accompany salvation, though we speak in this manner.

10For God is not unjust to forget your work and labor of[c] love which you have shown toward His name, in that you have ministered to the saints, and do minister.

11And we desire that each one of you show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope until the end,

12that you do not become sluggish, but imitate those who through faith and patience inherit the promises.

God's Infallible Purpose in Christ

13 For when God made a promise to Abraham, because He could swear by no one greater, He swore by Himself, 14 saying, "Surely blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply you."[d]
15 And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.
16 For men indeed swear by the greater, and an oath for confirmation is for them an end of all dispute.
17 Thus God, determining to show more abundantly to the heirs of promise the immutability of His counsel, confirmed it by an oath, 18 that by two immutable things, in which it is impossible for God to lie, we might[e] have strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold of the hope set before us.
19 This hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which enters the Presence behind the veil, 20 where the forerunner has entered for us, even Jesus, having become High Priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

Hebrews 7

The King of Righteousness
(Gen. 14:17–20)

1 For this Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of the Most High God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings and blessed him, 2 to whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all, first being translated "king of righteousness," and then also king of Salem, meaning "king of peace," 3 without father, without mother, without genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but made like the Son of God, remains a priest continually.
4 Now consider how great this man was, to whom even the patriarch Abraham gave a tenth of the spoils.
5 And indeed those who are of the sons of Levi, who receive the priesthood, have a commandment to receive tithes from the people according to the law, that is, from their brethren, though they have come from the loins of Abraham;

6but he whose genealogy is not derived from them received tithes from Abraham and blessed him who had the promises.
7Now beyond all contradiction the lesser is blessed by the better.
8Here mortal men receive tithes, but there he receives them, of whom it is witnessed that he lives.
9Even Levi, who receives tithes, paid tithes through Abraham, so to speak, 10for he was still in the loins of his father when Melchizedek met him.

Need for a New Priesthood
(Ps. 110:4)

11Therefore, if perfection were through the Levitical priesthood (for under it the people received the law), what further need was there that another priest should rise according to the order of Melchizedek, and not be called according to the order of Aaron?
12For the priesthood being changed, of necessity there is also a change of the law.
13For He of whom these things are spoken belongs to another tribe, from which no man has officiated at the altar.
14For it is evident that our Lord arose from Judah, of which tribe Moses spoke nothing concerning priesthood.[a]
15And it is yet far more evident if, in the likeness of Melchizedek, there arises another priest 16who has come, not according to the law of a fleshly commandment, but according to the power of an endless life.
17For He testifies:[b]

> "You are a priest forever
> According to the order of Melchizedek."[c]

18For on the one hand there is an annulling of the former commandment because of its weakness and unprofitableness, 19for the law made nothing perfect; on the other hand, there is the bringing in of a better hope, through which we draw near to God.

Greatness of the New Priest

20And inasmuch as He was not made priest without an oath

21(for they have become priests without an oath, but He with an oath by Him who said to Him:

> “The Lord has sworn
> And will not relent,
> ‘You are a priest forever[d]
> According to the order of Melchizedek’ ”),[e]

22by so much more Jesus has become a surety of a better covenant.

23Also there were many priests, because they were prevented by death from continuing.

24But He, because He continues forever, has an unchangeable priesthood.

25Therefore He is also able to save to the uttermost those who come to God through Him, since He always lives to make intercession for them.

26For such a High Priest was fitting for us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and has become higher than the heavens;

27who does not need daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifices, first for His own sins and then for the people’s, for this He did once for all when He offered up Himself.

28For the law appoints as high priests men who have weakness, but the word of the oath, which came after the law, appoints the Son who has been perfected forever.

Hebrews 8

The New Priestly Service

1Now this is the main point of the things we are saying: We have such a High Priest, who is seated at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens, 2a Minister of the sanctuary and of the true tabernacle which the Lord erected, and not man.

3For every high priest is appointed to offer both gifts and sacrifices. Therefore it is necessary that this One also have something to offer.

4For if He were on earth, He would not be a priest, since there are priests who offer the gifts according to the law;

5who serve the copy and shadow of the heavenly things, as Moses was divinely instructed when he was about to make the tabernacle. For He said, "See that you make all things according to the pattern shown you on the mountain."[a] 6But now He has obtained a more excellent ministry, inasmuch as He is also Mediator of a better covenant, which was established on better promises.

A New Covenant

(Jer. 31:31–34)

7For if that first covenant had been faultless, then no place would have been sought for a second.

8Because finding fault with them, He says: "Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah—

9*"not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they did not continue in My covenant, and I disregarded them, says the LORD.*

10*"For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the LORD: I will put My laws in their mind and write them on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people.*

11*"None of them shall teach his neighbor, and none his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' for all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.*

12*"For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their lawless deeds*[b] I will remember no more."[c]

13In that He says, "A new covenant," He has made the first obsolete. Now what is becoming obsolete and growing old is ready to vanish away.

Hebrews 9

The Earthly Sanctuary

(cf. Ex. 25:10–40)

1Then indeed, even the first covenant had ordinances of divine service and the earthly sanctuary.

2For a tabernacle was prepared: the first part, in which was the lampstand, the table, and the showbread, which is called the sanctuary;

3and behind the second veil, the part of the tabernacle which is called the

Holiest of All,

4which had the golden censer and the ark of the covenant overlaid on all sides with gold, in which were the golden pot that had the manna, Aaron's rod that budded, and the tablets of the covenant;

5and above it were the cherubim of glory overshadowing the mercy seat. Of these things we cannot now speak in detail.

Limitations of the Earthly Service

6Now when these things had been thus prepared, the priests always went into the first part of the tabernacle, performing the services.

7But into the second part the high priest went alone once a year, not without blood, which he offered for himself and for the people's sins committed in ignorance;

8the Holy Spirit indicating this, that the way into the Holiest of All was not yet made manifest while the first tabernacle was still standing.

9It was symbolic for the present time in which both gifts and sacrifices are offered which cannot make him who performed the service perfect in regard to the conscience—

10*concerned* only with foods and drinks, various washings, and fleshly ordinances imposed until the time of reformation.

The Heavenly Sanctuary

11But Christ came as High Priest of the good things to come,[a] with the greater and more perfect tabernacle not made with hands, that is, not of this creation.

12Not with the blood of goats and calves, but with His own blood He entered the Most Holy Place once for all, having obtained eternal redemption.

13For if the blood of bulls and goats and the ashes of a heifer, sprinkling the unclean, sanctifies for the purifying of the flesh, 14how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered Himself without spot to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?

15And for this reason He is the Mediator of the new covenant, by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions under the first covenant, that those who are called may receive the promise of the eternal inheritance.

The Mediator's Death Necessary

16For where there is a testament, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator.

17For a testament is in force after men are dead, since it has no power at all while the testator lives.

18Therefore not even the first covenant was dedicated without blood.

19For when Moses had spoken every precept to all the people according to the law, he took the blood of calves and goats, with water, scarlet wool, and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book itself and all the people,

20saying, "This is the blood of the covenant which God has commanded you."[b]

21Then likewise he sprinkled with blood both the tabernacle and all the vessels of the ministry.

22And according to the law almost all things are purified with blood, and without shedding of blood there is no remission.

Greatness of Christ's Sacrifice

23Therefore it was necessary that the copies of the things in the heavens should be purified with these, but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.

24For Christ has not entered the holy places made with hands, which are copies of the true, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us;

25not that He should offer Himself often, as the high priest enters the Most Holy Place every year with blood of another—

26He then would have had to suffer often since the foundation of the world; but now, once at the end of the ages, He has appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself.

27And as it is appointed for men to die once, but after this the judgment, 28so Christ was offered once to bear the sins of many. To those who eagerly wait for Him He will appear a second time, apart from sin, for salvation.

Hebrews 10

Animal Sacrifices Insufficient

1For the law, having a shadow of the good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with these same sacrifices, which they offer continually year by year, make those who approach perfect.

2For then would they not have ceased to be offered? For the worshipers, once purified, would have had no more consciousness of sins.

3But in those sacrifices there is a reminder of sins every year.

4For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and goats could take away sins.

Christ's Death Fulfills God's Will

(cf. Ps. 40:6–8)

5Therefore, when He came into the world, He said:

> "Sacrifice and offering You did not desire,
> But a body You have prepared for Me.
> 6*In burnt offerings and sacrifices for sin*
> You had no pleasure.
> 7*Then I said, 'Behold, I have come—*
> In the volume of the book it is written of Me—
> To do Your will, O God.' "[a]

8Previously saying, "Sacrifice and offering, burnt offerings, and offerings for sin You did not desire, nor had pleasure in them" (which are offered according to the law), 9then He said, "Behold, I have come to do Your will, O God."[b] He takes away the first that He may establish the second.

10By that will we have been sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

Christ's Death Perfects the Sanctified

11And every priest stands ministering daily and offering repeatedly the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins.

12But this Man, after He had offered one sacrifice for sins forever, sat down at the right hand of God, 13from that time waiting till His enemies are made His footstool.

14For by one offering He has perfected forever those who are being sanctified.

15But the Holy Spirit also witnesses to us; for after He had said before,

16 “This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, says the LORD: I will put My laws into their hearts, and in their minds I will write them,”[c] 17 then He adds, “Their sins and their lawless deeds I will remember no more.”[d]
18 Now where there is remission of these, there is no longer an offering for sin.

Hold Fast Your Confession

19 Therefore, brethren, having boldness to enter the Holiest by the blood of Jesus,
20 by a new and living way which He consecrated for us, through the veil, that is, His flesh,
21 and having a High Priest over the house of God, 22 let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water.
23 Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for He who promised is faithful.
24 And let us consider one another in order to stir up love and good works, 25 not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as is the manner of some, but exhorting one another, and so much the more as you see the Day approaching.

The Just Live by Faith

26 For if we sin willfully after we have received the knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins, 27 but a certain fearful expectation of judgment, and fiery indignation which will devour the adversaries.
28 Anyone who has rejected Moses’ law dies without mercy on the testimony of two or three witnesses.
29 Of how much worse punishment, do you suppose, will he be thought worthy who has trampled the Son of God underfoot, counted the blood of the covenant by which he was sanctified a common thing, and insulted the Spirit of grace?
30 For we know Him who said, “Vengeance is Mine, I will repay,”[e] says the Lord.[f] And again, "The LORD will judge His people."[g]

31It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

32But recall the former days in which, after you were illuminated, you endured a great struggle with sufferings:

33partly while you were made a spectacle both by reproaches and tribulations, and partly while you became companions of those who were so treated;

34for you had compassion on me[h] in my chains, and joyfully accepted the plundering of your goods, knowing that you have a better and an enduring possession for yourselves in heaven.[i] 35Therefore do not cast away your confidence, which has great reward.

36For you have need of endurance, so that after you have done the will of God, you may receive the promise:

> 37*"For yet a little while,*
> And He[j] who is coming will come and will not tarry.
> 38*Now the*[k] just shall live by faith;
> But if anyone draws back,
> My soul has no pleasure in him."[l]

39But we are not of those who draw back to perdition, but of those who believe to the saving of the soul.

Hebrews 11

By Faith We Understand

1Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

2For by it the elders obtained a good testimony.

3By faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that the things which are seen were not made of things which are visible.

Faith at the Dawn of History

(Gen. 4:1–16; 5:18–24; 6:5—8:22)

4By faith Abel offered to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, through which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts; and through it he being dead still speaks.

5By faith Enoch was taken away so that he did not see death, "and was not found, because God had taken him";[a] for before he was taken he had this testimony, that he pleased God.

6But without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he who comes to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him.

7By faith Noah, being divinely warned of things not yet seen, moved with godly fear, prepared an ark for the saving of his household, by which he condemned the world and became heir of the righteousness which is according to faith.

Faithful Abraham

(Gen. 15:1–6; 21:1–7)

8By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to the place which he would receive as an inheritance. And he went out, not knowing where he was going.

9By faith he dwelt in the land of promise as in a foreign country, dwelling in tents with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise;

10for he waited for the city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God.

11By faith Sarah herself also received strength to conceive seed, and she bore a child[b] when she was past the age, because she judged Him faithful who had promised.

12Therefore from one man, and him as good as dead, were born as many as the stars of the sky in multitude—innumerable as the sand which is by the seashore.

The Heavenly Hope

13These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off were assured of them,[c] embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.

14For those who say such things declare plainly that they seek a homeland.

15And truly if they had called to mind that country from which they had come out, they would have had opportunity to return.

16But now they desire a better, that is, a heavenly country. Therefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for He has prepared a city for them.

The Faith of the Patriarchs

(Gen. 22:1–14; 48:8–16; 50:22–25)

17By faith Abraham, when he was tested, offered up Isaac, and he who had received the promises offered up his only begotten son, 18of whom it was said, “In Isaac your seed shall be called,”[d] 19concluding that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead, from which he also received him in a figurative sense.
20By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.
21By faith Jacob, when he was dying, blessed each of the sons of Joseph, and worshiped, leaning on the top of his staff.
22By faith Joseph, when he was dying, made mention of the departure of the children of Israel, and gave instructions concerning his bones.

The Faith of Moses

(Ex. 2:1–10; 12:31–51)

23By faith Moses, when he was born, was hidden three months by his parents, because they saw he was a beautiful child; and they were not afraid of the king’s command.
24By faith Moses, when he became of age, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh’s daughter, 25choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the passing pleasures of sin,
26esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in[e]
Egypt; for he looked to the reward.
27By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king; for he endured as seeing Him who is invisible.
28By faith he kept the Passover and the sprinkling of blood, lest he who destroyed the firstborn should touch them.
29By faith they passed through the Red Sea as by dry land, whereas the Egyptians, attempting to do so, were drowned.

By Faith They Overcame

30By faith the walls of Jericho fell down after they were encircled for seven days.
31By faith the harlot Rahab did not perish with those who did not believe, when she had received the spies with peace.

32 And what more shall I say? For the time would fail me to tell of Gideon and Barak and Samson and Jephthah, also of David and Samuel and the prophets:
33 who through faith subdued kingdoms, worked righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, 34 quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, became valiant in battle, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.
35 Women received their dead raised to life again. Others were tortured, not accepting deliverance, that they might obtain a better resurrection.
36 Still others had trial of mockings and scourgings, yes, and of chains and imprisonment.
37 They were stoned, they were sawn in two, were tempted,[f] were slain with the sword. They wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins, being destitute, afflicted, tormented—38 of whom the world was not worthy. They wandered in deserts and mountains, in dens and caves of the earth.
39 And all these, having obtained a good testimony through faith, did not receive the promise, 40 God having provided something better for us, that they should not be made perfect apart from us.

Hebrews 12

The Race of Faith

1 Therefore we also, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which so easily ensnares us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, 2 looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.

The Discipline of God
(Prov. 3:11, 12)

3 For consider Him who endured such hostility from sinners against Himself, lest you become weary and discouraged in your souls.

4 You have not yet resisted to bloodshed, striving against sin.
5 And you have forgotten the exhortation which speaks to you as to sons:

> "My son, do not despise the chastening of the LORD,
> Nor be discouraged when you are rebuked by Him;
> 6 For whom the LORD loves He chastens,
> And scourges every son whom He receives."[a]

7 If[b] you endure chastening, God deals with you as with sons; for what son is there whom a father does not chasten?
8 But if you are without chastening, of which all have become partakers, then you are illegitimate and not sons.
9 Furthermore, we have had human fathers who corrected us, and we paid them respect. Shall we not much more readily be in subjection to the Father of spirits and live?
10 For they indeed for a few days chastened us as seemed best to them, but He for our profit, that we may be partakers of His holiness.
11 Now no chastening seems to be joyful for the present, but painful; nevertheless, afterward it yields the peaceable fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it.

Renew Your Spiritual Vitality

(Gen. 25:29–34; 27:30–40)

12 Therefore strengthen the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees, 13 and make straight paths for your feet, so that what is lame may not be dislocated, but rather be healed.
14 Pursue peace with all people, and holiness, without which no one will see the Lord:
15 looking carefully lest anyone fall short of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up cause trouble, and by this many become defiled;
16 lest there be any fornicator or profane person like Esau, who for one morsel of food sold his birthright.
17 For you know that afterward, when he wanted to inherit the blessing, he was rejected, for he found no place for repentance, though he sought it diligently with tears.

The Glorious Company

18 For you have not come to the mountain that[c] may be touched and that burned with fire, and to blackness and darkness[d] and tempest, 19 and the sound of a trumpet and the voice of words, so that those who heard it begged that the word should not be spoken to them anymore.
20 (For they could not endure what was commanded: "And if so much as a beast touches the mountain, it shall be stoned[e] or shot with an arrow."[f] 21 And so terrifying was the sight that Moses said, "I am exceedingly afraid and trembling."[g])
22 But you have come to Mount Zion and to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, to an innumerable company of angels, 23 to the general assembly and church of the firstborn who are registered in heaven, to God the Judge of all, to the spirits of just men made perfect, 24 to Jesus the Mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling that speaks better things than that of Abel.

Hear the Heavenly Voice

25 See that you do not refuse Him who speaks. For if they did not escape who refused Him who spoke on earth, much more shall we not escape if we turn away from Him who speaks from heaven, 26 whose voice then shook the earth; but now He has promised, saying,
"Yet once more I shake[h] not only the earth, but also heaven."[i] 27 Now this, "Yet once more," indicates the removal of those things that are being shaken, as of things that are made, that the things which cannot be shaken may remain.
28 Therefore, since we are receiving a kingdom which cannot be shaken, let us have grace, by which we may[j] serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear.
29 For our God is a consuming fire.

Hebrews 13

Concluding Moral Directions

1 Let brotherly love continue.
2 Do not forget to entertain strangers, for by so doing some have unwittingly entertained angels.

3 Remember the prisoners as if chained with them—those who are mistreated—since you yourselves are in the body also.
4 Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled; but fornicators and adulterers God will judge.
5 Let your conduct be without covetousness; be content with such things as you have. For He Himself has said, "I will never leave you nor forsake you."[a] 6 So we may boldly say:

> "The LORD is my helper;
> I will not fear.
> What can man do to me?"[b]

Concluding Religious Directions

7 Remember those who rule over you, who have spoken the word of God to you, whose faith follow, considering the outcome of their conduct.
8 Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever.
9 Do not be carried about[c] with various and strange doctrines. For it is good that the heart be established by grace, not with foods which have not profited those who have been occupied with them.
10 We have an altar from which those who serve the tabernacle have no right to eat.
11 For the bodies of those animals, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned outside the camp.
12 Therefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood, suffered outside the gate.
13 Therefore let us go forth to Him, outside the camp, bearing His reproach.
14 For here we have no continuing city, but we seek the one to come.
15 Therefore by Him let us continually offer the sacrifice of praise to God, that is, the fruit of our lips, giving thanks to His name.
16 But do not forget to do good and to share, for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.
17 Obey those who rule over you, and be submissive, for they watch out for your souls, as those who must give account. Let them do so with joy and not with grief, for that would be unprofitable for you.

Prayer Requested

18 Pray for us; for we are confident that we have a good conscience, in all things desiring to live honorably.

19 But I especially urge you to do this, that I may be restored to you the sooner.

Benediction, Final Exhortation, Farewell

20 Now may the God of peace who brought up our Lord Jesus from the dead, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, 21 make you complete in every good work to do His will, working in you[d] what is well pleasing in His sight, through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

22 And I appeal to you, brethren, bear with the word of exhortation, for I have written to you in few words.

23 Know that our brother Timothy has been set free, with whom I shall see you if he comes shortly.

24 Greet all those who rule over you, and all the saints. Those from Italy greet you.

25 Grace be with you all. Amen.

Annotations for Hebrews

1:1–4 These verses provide an introductory summary to 1:1–10:18. The new covenant is superior to the old, for the old is incomplete and preparatory whereas the new is complete and final. In the new man enters into the heavenly realm through Christ and is glorified (see Php 2:5–11 for a close parallel).

1:1, 2 In time past and to the fathers (v. 1) are contrasted with in these last days and to us (v. 2). In OT times God spoke constantly through the Holy Spirit in the Law and the prophets, leading His people into greater truth. Now He speaks directly, through His own incarnate Son. The fathers are the leaders of Israel and representative of all the spiritual ancestors of New Israel.

📖 1:1–12 This passage is read on December 24, the Eve of the Nativity of the Lord.

1:2, 3 Through whom also He made the worlds (v. 2; see Jn 1:3) and upholding all things by the word of His power (v. 3; see Col 1:16, 17): These two phrases reveal the Son as God acting in the world. The Lord Jesus Christ is (1) the One who created the universe, together with the Father and the Holy Spirit, and is therefore (2) the One who sustains the Creation and has absolute authority over it. It is natural, then, that the Son, as both God and Man, is heir of all things (v. 2). If the sons of Abraham hoped to be heirs of the promised land, the sons of Christ can hope to be heirs of the whole universe.

The first half of v. 3 is quoted verbatim in the Liturgy of St. Basil the Great. The brightness of His glory expresses the Son's nature, His origin from and identity of nature with the Father. He is the Father's brightness because He is begotten from the Father beyond time and without change. Thus, the Nicene Creed speaks of "Light of Light." As the sun does not exist without radiating light, so the Father does not exist without His Son.

Thus, the Son reflects His Father's glory in this world. The unapproachable light of divinity, the divine energy (1Ti 6:16; 1Pt 2:9; 1Jn 1:7), is approachable only in the incarnate Christ (Jn 12:36). God's brightness, though it had been experienced at the burning bush (Ex 3:2–4), known by Israel (Ex 10:23; 13:21), and spoken of by the prophets (Ps 35:10; 103:2; Is 9:1; 10:17; Hab 3:4), is especially revealed in Christ's birth (Lk 1:79; 2:32; Jn 1:4–9), the Transfiguration (Mt 17:2) and the Resurrection.

The express image of His person (Gr. hypostasis) expresses the Son's Person as being distinct from the Father. The Son is the perfect and eternal "icon" of the Father. Thus, the personal distinction of God as Trinity is known only through Him (see Jn 14:9). No one knows the Father but through the Son.

Having conquered sin and death, the Son sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, a reference to the Father, showing Christ's exaltation as Man.

1:4 Having become so much better than the angels, with regard to their role in the old covenant, refers to Christ's human nature, not to His divine nature. The name inherited is an open declaration that this Man is the Son of God. In Hebrews this name is "Son"; in Php 2:11 it is "Lord."

1:5–14 Much of first-century Judaism believed angels were present at creation and had mediated the old covenant. By using the rabbinic method of demonstration, Hebrews proves to lovers of Judaism that even the OT argues for the superiority of the Son.

1:5 Christ is superior to the angels. They are, in some Judaic thought, only "the sons of God," whereas Christ is the Son of God. (The LXX at Dt 32:43, which Hebrews paraphrases in v. 6, literally reads "sons of God," not "angels of God.") While Christ is recognized as God's eternal Son at His Baptism and the Transfiguration, it is His enthronement in heaven that settles the matter (v. 4; see Rom 1:4). Begotten is a reference to the Son in His divine, eternal nature. The Nicene Creed states He is "begotten, not made, begotten from the Father before all time." Today is eternity. There never was a time when God the Son did not exist.

1:6 Christ is the firstborn (1) of God, in that He is His one and only eternal Son; (2) of all creation, in that He is the image (icon) by which creation was made and toward which creation is to move; and (3) of man, in that Christ incarnate is the model for man's creation and the goal of man's existence. The angels . . . worship Him because He is God.

1:8 Ps 44 (quoted in 1:8, 9) celebrates a royal enthronement and wedding. The groom is a king who has conquered for righteousness and is called "god" (Elohim), though the king is distinct from God. This celebration is fulfilled with the messianic enthronement and wedding in the Kingdom of God. The OT gives the title "god" to Moses, Samuel, descendants of David, and angels, but it is primarily the Messiah who embodies this title. Here, God the Father calls the Son "God."

1:10–12 In this quotation from Ps 101:26–28, God the Father (v. 9) is addressing Another as "Lord," that is, as God.

1:14 The role of angels is to minister for those who will inherit salvation. During the NT era, many Jews believed angels mediated the old covenant. Certainly they served the Angel of the Lord, the Son of God. In the new covenant, they serve Him in His humanity. Instead of ruling over man, angels are partners in service with us, our guardian angels.

The Priesthood—Earthly and Eternal

A major theme of the Book of Hebrews is the contrast between the earthly, or Levitical, priesthood and the eternal priesthood of Melchizedek, which is fulfilled in Christ.

The Levitical priesthood, established by Aaron of the tribe of Levi, is limited simply because those who fill it are ordinary human beings. The Levitical priests carry out God's instructions and assist the people in their worship, but they cannot ultimately reconcile people to God.

The mysterious figure of Melchizedek, on the other hand, represents an entirely different kind of priesthood. Melchizedek appears in Genesis 14:18–20, long before the establishment of the Levitical priesthood. He is given no genealogy, and nothing is said of his death. He receives tithes from Abraham, implying he is superior to Abraham in rank—and by extension, superior to Abraham's descendants, the Levites. Melchizedek is not only a priest but a king as well. In this dual office he is able to reconcile the justice of God (the business of a king) with His mercy (the business of a priest). His name means "King of Righteousness," and his title "King of Salem" means "King of Peace." He maybe a theophany—a preincarnate appearance of Christ; at the very least he is a type of Christ, as the author of Hebrews explains in detail.

There are several specific points of contrast between the Levitical priesthood and the priesthood of Melchizedek, which is fulfilled in Christ.

THE PRIESTHOOD OF LEVI

1. Genealogical requirement: The Levitical priesthood is limited to one tribe. It cannot transform mortal and corrupt humanity because it consists of mere men.

2. Ordination: The power given at ordination is incomplete. The Levitical priesthood is weak, its sacrifices have to be repeated, and it cannot perfect the worshipers. It cannot reconcile people to God nor give them the inner power to obey. The ordination is without

THE PRIESTHOOD OF MELCHIZEDEK

As Melchizedek was without earthly genealogy, so is Christ by virtue of His virgin birth. He is God incarnate, immortal and sinless, and therefore His priesthood is able to transform humanity.

The power given at ordination is strong and effective. The power of Christ's priesthood is perfect and draws us near to God. His sacrifice is offered once for all. The Father Himself ordains the Son.

direct confirmation from God.

3. Term of office: The Levitical priesthood is temporary. Since it is composed of mortal men, it requires many members.

Since Christ is immortal, the priesthood of Melchizedek needs only one, eternal priest.

4. Moral and spiritual requirements: These must be less than perfection, for the Levitical priests are all created beings subject to sin.

The requirement of perfect holiness is met in Christ, the only sinless One. He is more than mere man—He is the Son of God.

2:1–4 An admonition against willful negligence and carelessness by a slow process, a drift (v. 1), of attrition. If (v. 2) and how (v. 3) suggest a conditional statement or question. If Israel was expected to obey the words of created angels or suffer punishment, how much more must we heed what God Incarnate has said through His apostles—especially when the word has been confirmed (v. 3) by many miracles (v. 4) of the Spirit, proof that the Kingdom has come upon us? When we ask in the liturgy for "pardon and remission of our sins and transgressions" and a "good defense before the dread judgment seat of Christ," we affirm there is a just reward (v. 2) or retribution, a very real judgment.

📖 2:2–10 This passage is read on November 8, the Synaxis of Michael and All Angels.

2:5–18 The Jews expected the Messiah to be an earthly, conquering king—a political success story, not a failure. They would naturally ask, if Jesus is superior to the angels—indeed, a divine Being, as portrayed in ch. 1—why did He die, especially in such a degrading way? Hebrews answers that Christ's humiliation is only temporary (v. 9), it is the only means of redeeming mortal man (vv. 14–16), and it reestablishes man's God-intended dominion over all creation, including the angels (vv. 5–8).

2:6–8 Hebrews applies the discussion in Ps 8 about man to Jesus Christ, the perfect man.

2:9 See especially Php 2:5–11. Made a little lower than the angels refers to the Incarnation, the Son becoming Man. Christ's suffering and death have highly exalted Him. The Cross, which should have brought shame and reproach, has brought Christ glory and honor. All of this is not something God has owed to man; it is by the grace of God, His gift. Taste death means to experience it fully, to know it intimately. Christ's death was a real death. He died for everyone, for the whole world, not for the faithful only.

2:10, 11 To make . . . perfect through sufferings does not suggest there was imperfection in Christ before the cross. Rather He voluntarily took on human nature (all of one nature, v. 11), which can be saved and perfected only by the suffering of death. Christ is the pioneering captain of the narrow path to God in His suffering for sin, death, descent into hell, Resurrection, and Ascension. In salvation we take on Christ's way of sufferings. Our perfection requires a growth that is manifested in suffering.

📖 2:11–18 This passage is read on March 25, the Feast of the Annunciation to the Theotokos, and on December 26, the Synaxis of the Theotokos.

2:14 In the Incarnation, God did not come in appearance only; He truly assumed flesh and blood from the Virgin Mary, Mother of God, and became the same as we are so that He could truly enter death and bring us salvation. Christ destroyed the devil's power by using the devil's strongest weapon—death itself.

2:15 There is a relationship between sin and death: each one leads to the other. Sin causes death, and the fear of death leads one to sin and thus to bondage (Rom 5:12). Christ sets us free from this bondage of sin and death.

2:17, 18 In all things He had to be made like His brethren—Christ was even tempted—for what is not assumed is not healed, and what is united to God is saved. The Son is like us in His human nature; we do not become like Him in His divine nature. Hebrews moves without transition from Christ as sacrifice to Christ as High Priest, for He is the Offering and Offerer. He is merciful in behalf of those He serves and faithful in His ministry to God.

3:1 Christians are holy brethren; to be in Christ is a heavenly calling, one that separates those in Christ from those who have not heeded His call. As Apostle and High Priest, Christ is both God's representative to man and man's mediator before God. In Him the offices of prophet and priest—of Moses and Aaron—are combined.

3:3–6 The glory of the building goes to the architect rather than to the structure itself. Thus, Moses (v. 5) glorifies Christ, and the Church is consecrated to the glory of God, whose house we are (v. 6).

3:7–11 This reference is to the rebellion of those who left Egypt during the Exodus. Due to their unbelief, the whole generation (v. 10) was forbidden to enter into Canaan, the promised land, and thus could not enter God's rest (v. 11). Rest (Gr. sabbatismos) literally means a Sabbath rest or Sabbath observance.

There are three types of God's rest known to the Jews: (1) the Sabbath rest, the day on which God rested from His works (Gn 2:2, 3); (2) the rest from Egyptian bondage, which the Israelites coming out of Egypt experienced in Canaan; (3) the rest in the kingdom, the ultimate Sabbath rest in heaven established by Messiah. Hebrews uses this OT quote (Ps 94:7–11) concerning Canaan to refer to the rest in the Kingdom of heaven. Significantly, we experience this rest now as we ascend to God in worship (4:4–11).

3:12 Those in Christ are not immune to turning away from God. There is a temporary attractiveness in sin, which leads to a hardened heart and ultimately apostasy. We must take constant daily care not to be deceived and thus fall away (see Mk 4:5, 6, 16, 17).

3:14 Union with Christ belongs to those who persevere in their faith to the end, not to those who stop with a one-time profession of faith.

3:16–19 The five questions in this text demonstrate the consequences of Israel's disobedience and her failure to believe God in the wilderness. Once again, faith (v. 19) and works (v. 18) are distinguished but not separated. As the fundamental component of entering God's rest (v. 18) is faith, so the primary cause of failing to enter (v. 19) is unbelief.

4:1 Fear: Keep constant watch.

4:6 Faith (3:19) and obedience are inseparable. Lack of one is lack of the other. Lack of either bars entrance to rest.

4:8 Joshua and Caleb were the only two men who left Egypt and entered into Canaan (Nm 14:28–32; Dt 1:34–40). They had not participated in the disobedience of Egypt. The possession of Canaan under Joshua, though, was not the promised rest. Otherwise, David would not have spoken centuries later of a rest still remaining for us.

4:9 Rest here is a reference to the third type of rest (see note on 3:11), the perfect, final rest of the Kingdom of heaven.

4:11 Man must labor to enter the rest of God, for rest implies prior work.

4:12, 13 The word of God and the sword here are living and powerful. The phrase His sight (v. 13) tells us this reference is not to the written word, Holy Scripture, but to the Word of God Himself, our Lord Jesus Christ (see Jn 1:1–18). Nothing is able to escape the discernment of Christ, the Word of God.

4:14 Passed through the heavens refers to the Ascension of Christ. It is seen in the context of the Son sitting "at the right hand of the Majesty on high" (1:3). Christ has accomplished His work on earth and has entered into His Sabbath rest.

🕮 4:14–5:6 This passage is read on the third Sunday of Great Lent, called the Sunday of the Adoration of the Cross.

4:15 Christ's empathy with sinners rests on His being tempted in every way we are.

4:16 Christ, enthroned at the right hand of the Father, sits on a throne of grace rather than of judgment, granting mercy and grace to help in time of need. The normal position for a priest is standing, not sitting. There is significant power in our enthroned Priest, for He has accomplished and fulfilled the sacrificial offering.

5:1–4 To qualify as priest in the OT one must (1) be taken from among men (v. 1), i.e., be fully human; (2) be appointed for men (v. 1), specifically for liturgical service; (3) offer sacrifices (v. 1); (4) have compassion (v. 2); and (5) be called by God (v. 4). In the Aaronic priesthood a priest identified himself with humanity and had sympathy for his fellow men because he sinned as other men sinned. The sacrifices were vicarious offerings of animals.

🕮 5:4–10 This passage is read on days commemorating hieromartyrs.

5:5–11 Christ assumes and fulfills the OT priesthood (see 5:1–4): Like Melchizedek (v. 6; see 7:1–21; Gn 14:18–20), Jesus is both Priest and King. He does not sin; His sacrifice is the human sacrifice of Himself, and His perfect priesthood continues in the Church to this day.

5:7 Cries and tears is likely a reference to our Lord's agonizing prayer in the Garden of Gethsemane (Mt 26:36–46; Mk 14:32–42; Lk 22:39–46).

5:8, 9 Christ learned obedience in His human will, which continually and freely submitted to the divine will. In the agony of injustice and in physical pain He submits to the will of the Father. This perfecting of human activity in communion with God shows Christ alone to be the Savior (v. 9).

5:11–6:20 How can one understand and enter into the message of the Book of Hebrews? By (1) repenting of laziness (5:11; 6:12); (2) exercising one's spiritual senses, especially in doctrinal matters (5:12–6:8); (3) diligently doing good in all things, especially in loving service to others (6:9–12); and (4) firmly believing in Christ and the access He provides to God (6:13–20).

5:11–14 When Christians are not growing spiritually, doctrine is difficult to explain to them. Let us repent of being dull of hearing (v. 11)—a constant criticism Christ and the prophets had of God's people—and habitually and vigorously exercise ourselves in spiritual matters. The primary spiritual exercise is the study and knowledge of the Scriptures (JohnChr).

6:1–4 A glimpse at some features of oral apostolic tradition.

6:1 Perfection is Christian maturity, the result of spiritual growth. Dead works are done without God's grace and without faith. Works of the Law are dead to those who know the new covenant. Good works are done in faith toward God.

6:2 Baptisms are all the rites of washing, including those of the OT and of John the Baptist, fulfilled by Christ in the sacrament of holy baptism. Laying on of hands has several uses in the NT, such as for healing, prophetic commission, ordination, and reception of the Holy Spirit (chrismation).

6:4–6 This refers to those who have apostatized, that is, those who, after being baptized, have rejected Christ and His saving power. Historically, these verses have been used extensively in discussions of repentance. For example, Tertullian, the Montanists and other ancient schismatics used these verses to argue there is no repentance from apostasy. The Church holds that those who apostatize may repent and be brought back into the Church after a period of repentance (see Canons VIII, X, and XIV of I Nicea, Canon II of St. Gregory of Nyssa, and the Canons of the Council of Ancyra (AD 314). Nevertheless, such "second conversions" are difficult and rare—thus this sober warning.

6:4 The basic sacraments are crucial to salvation: One is once enlightened in baptism, which is unrepeatable and called the sacrament of illumination (see Eph 5:14). Tasted the heavenly gift (see 1Pt 2:3) may refer to the grace of baptism—Chrysostom says this gift is especially the forgiveness of sin experienced in baptism—and it most certainly refers to the Eucharist. Become partakers of the Holy Spirit refers to the fruit of chrismation, the experience of knowing the Holy Spirit.

6:5 Besides the sacraments (v. 4), belief and life experience are also essential: tasted the good word of God refers to the message of the gospel and the true doctrine of the Church, especially the confession of faith. The powers of the age to come are manifold: incorruption and eternal life, the presence of the future Kingdom here and now, and also miracles and spiritual gifts (Mt 7:22, 23; 12:28).

6:6 Those who revert to Judaism crucify Christ again—they become like those who hung Christ on the Cross, who denied His deity and His saving power. They put themselves in a position of needing to be baptized again, which is impossible, for baptism is death and the dead cannot be put to death. To deny one's baptism is to mock Christ's death. Such may not be renewed again to repentance.

6:7, 8 These verses are reminiscent of John the Baptist's and Jesus' images and parables of trees and their fruit (Mt 3:8–10; 7:16–20; 12:33; 21:19).

6:10 To minister is to serve someone else's will. It has a liturgical dimension. In part, ministry flows out of liturgical worship (see 2Co 9:12, where "the administration of this service" is more literally translated "the service of this worship"). Prayer leads to action: the supreme NT example is the collection for the church in Jerusalem (Rom 15:25, 31; 2Co 8:4).

6:12 For examples, see vv. 13–15 and ch. 11.

6:13–15 The promise made to Abraham was a son, an heir through whom God would greatly multiply (v. 14) him.

📖 6:13–20 This passage is read on days commemorating prophets.

6:18 The two immutable things are God's promise and God's oath (v. 17).

6:19 Behind the veil (see the note on 9:1–5) is heaven.

6:20 Melchizedek: The author picks up the argument from 5:10.

7:1–10 Persecuted Christians are encouraged not to apostatize to Judaism because the founding father of Christ's priesthood, Melchizedek, is superior to the OT priesthood of Levi.

Note the importance of the tithe: The desire to enter into the ministrations of a priesthood is fulfilled when such a liturgical offering is made. Throughout the OT, Israelites showed their continuing desire for God's priesthood by continuing to give a tenth of all they received.

📖 7:7–17 This passage is read on February 2, the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord in the Temple.

7:11–28 Not only is the founder of the new covenant priesthood superior to that of the old covenant, the rules of the new covenant's priestly order are also superior. Priesthood is so intertwined with a covenant that if the priesthood is changed, so is the covenant (vv. 11–15).

📖 7:26—8:2 This passage is read on days commemorating a hierarch.

8:1 Majesty is a biblical name for God the Father. A high priest sitting on the right hand of majesty would have to be both human and divine. Seated: No one but an equal sits in the presence of a king—much less in the presence of God.

8:6–13 Christ's covenant solves the problems that Moses' could not. Both covenants come from God's grace and require man's willed response. However, Moses' covenant (1) is external to man and cannot solve the root of man's problem, sin and death; (2) cannot reunite and reintegrate man's soul; (3) is learned by teaching; (4) is heeded with fearful compliance; and (5) gives imperfect forgiveness. Christ's covenant (1) is internal—it heals our nature; (2) unifies the inner man—heart and mind are joined in union with God; (3) is therefore grasped intuitively; (4) is heeded with willing cooperation (synergy); and (5) gives perfect forgiveness, even of those sins the old covenant was powerless to deal with.

📖 9:1–7 A description of the Mosaic tabernacle, which prefigures the heavenly altar. This passage is read during feasts of the Virgin Mary and Advent to describe the mystery of the Incarnation of the Son of God. Mary's womb was prepared to be Christ's tabernacle, the very dwelling place of God.

📖 9:1–7 This passage is read on November 21, the Feast of the Entrance of the Theotokos into the Temple.

9:2, 3 A most important detail in Hebrews is the inner veil, the second veil. It separates the holy place (v. 2, the sanctuary) from the most holy place (v. 3, the Holiest of All), which contains the ark of the covenant and into which only the high priest can enter and only once a year.

The inner veil forms the locus of the liturgical practice of the old covenant (vv. 6–10) and reveals its imperfection. The people could not draw near to God (see especially v. 8). At His death, Christ solved this alienation (Mt 27:51).

9:4 The ark of the covenant contained the relics, as it were, of Israel: the pot of manna, Aaron's rod, and the tablets of the Law.

9:5 God is enthroned upon the cherubim; hence, God's throne in Israel's midst, the mercy seat, has a cherub on each side (the Orthodox Christian altar is flanked by cherubim). These representations, along with the pictures of cherubim on the inner veil (Ex 26:31) and the beauty and detailed workmanship of everything made for the tabernacle, serve as the icons of the OT. This, and numerous other passages, held put to rest the fear that the Second Commandment (Ex 20:4–6) prohibits all imagery. God cannot be represented because divine nature is unknowable and hence cannot be depicted. However, when the Son becomes Man, the human nature of God the Son can be, and is, imaged.

9:6–10 While priests entered the holy place daily, only the high priest could enter the most holy place and only once a year, on the Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur). He entered with the animal blood of the atonement sacrifice, which was offered first for his own sins and then for the sins of the people. This annual sacrifice reveals the imperfect, temporary status of the old covenant, for (1) only one man can enter God's presence; (2) that man cannot enter continually; (3) he must enter occasionally to repeat the sacrifice for sins, a sacrifice good only for a limited time; (4) this sacrifice deals entirely with materials from this age, which are imperfect and impermanent—it cannot begin a participation in the age to come (v. 10, the time of reformation); (5) it deals mainly with the outer man—it is superficial and cannot purify man's heart and mind, let alone restore fallen human nature.

9:11–14 Christ, in contrast to the OT high priest (see note on 9:6–10), is high priest of the new covenant. He enters the heavenly sanctuary once for all (v. 12)—Christ's one sacrifice covers all sins by all people for all time—with the blood of Christ (v. 14), His own human blood, which heals our corrupt humanity (v. 13, the flesh), restores us to our proper relationship to God, pure (v. 14, cleanse your conscience) and holy, and draws us near to God in liturgical worship (v. 14, serve the living God). Dead works (see 6:1) are human activity in and of this age, participating in mortality and corruption (and normally even in sin). Liturgically, dead works are the actions of old covenant worship.

9:14 Eternal Spirit: Proof the Holy Spirit is fully God.

9:15–23 Hebrews contrasts the Day of Atonement (once every year for forgiveness) with the covenant ceremony (once at the beginning to establish the covenant). In Christ's one sacrificial offering, He effects what all the sacrifices of the old covenant did not. He even covers those saints departed under the old covenant, that they might enter God's presence as they had been promised.

The Greek word diatheke means both covenant (vv. 15, 18–20) and last will and testament (vv. 16, 17). As with a testament, a death (vv. 16, 17) is required to initiate its conditions. This death is a death to sinning; the new condition initiated by the testament is that of the resurrection, the reformation of our nature. As with a covenant, sprinkling with blood (v. 21) is necessary to consecrate all dedicated things into the covenantal reality. The locus of life is blood (Lv 17:11). So blood, our mortal life, is offered to God, who is life, and establishes us in a new relationship with Him (vv. 19–21).

9:21–23 Why was the earthly sanctuary sprinkled with consecrated blood? Because it had to be cleansed, being of this mortal and corrupt realm, and it needed to be consecrated to God. The heavenly sanctuary, of course, never was unclean, but it did need worship to be inaugurated there.

9:23–28 Hebrews moves back to the sacrificial act of the Day of Atonement (from vv. 11–14). The blood sprinkled here brings the life of the covenantal people into God's presence: it reconciles God and man. The final reconciliation, the eternal one, is the presentation of Christ's sacrificial blood (12:24) to God in heaven.

10:1 Worship in shadow has no power because it has no substance of its own and does not participate directly in the spiritual reality. Orthodox worship, however, is the very image (Gr. eikon—from which "icon" is derived) of the things. It is united with eternal realities and participates in the Kingdom to come. It does so by participating in the voluntary Passion and exaltation of the incarnate Son (v. 10), the only release from our mortal and corrupt existence.

10:2–7 Although OT sacrifices prefigured Christ's sacrifice, they were powerless in themselves. An effective sacrifice requires a body . . . prepared (v. 5), a righteous human being who voluntarily obeys the Father (v. 7).

10:8–10 A common prophetic theme throughout the OT (see 1Kg 15:22; Ps 50:8–15; Is 1:10–17; Jer 7:21–26; Hos 6:6). This is not in opposition to liturgical, sacramental worship, but a statement of priority: obedience comes before praise. Sacrifice pleasing to God requires voluntary human sacrifice, not the slaughter of dumb animals. The primary instance of this is Christ, who did God's will in a liturgical, sacramental act (v. 10).

10:11, 12 A priest stands; a king sits. Christ is both. OT priests stand daily and vainly repeat ineffectual sacrifices. Christ offers His one perfect sacrifice (v. 12) and sits. His work is completed. The Church repeatedly does certain things, but she does not repeat Christ's sacrifices; she participates in Christ's once-for-all sacrifice.

10:14–18 The completeness of Christ's sacrifice establishes the prophesied new covenant: Sacrifice for sin is complete, sanctification is perfect.

10:22 Full assurance of faith: With no doubts or second thoughts. Sprinkled . . . washed: A reference to a single action in the past, to baptism.

10:24 Love and good works go hand in hand, as attitude and action. They are almost synonymous.

10:25 Assembling: The assembly in the OT (Heb. koheleth) is translated ekklesia in Greek, which we translate as "church." God instructs the faithful not to forsake assembling as the church. Corporate worship on a daily basis, such as morning prayers or Matins, increases our expectation of the Day, the coming of the Kingdom.

10:26, 27 While many sins are willful, to sin willfully is defiant sin or a deliberate repudiation of God (see 5:2; 6:4–6). Christ is the offering for all sin—voluntary and involuntary—which demonstrates God's incomparable grace toward us. But if we deliberately and with full knowledge reject the sacrifice of Christ—which is all-encompassing and final—then where can we possibly turn to obtain forgiveness?

10:32 Illuminated: Illumination, or enlightenment, refers to baptism (see 6:4; Rom 6:4; Eph 5:14).

11:1 This is not so much a definition of faith as it is a description of how faith works, especially during hard times. It encourages Jewish Christians discouraged by persecution. Things hoped for and not seen, a vision of the future, have encouraged the people of God throughout history: the invisible is often more real than the visible. In the past, mighty works of faith were done by those whose faith was unfulfilled. How much more should those persevere who have inherited the promise, knowing God under the new covenant (vv. 39, 40)?

11:8–12 Faith is simple, but it becomes many-splendored in our lives. For Abraham and Sarah it became a venturesome action (v. 8); obedience (v. 8); patience (vv. 9, 10); trust (v. 11); and confidence (v. 11). Faith moves from the impermanence and discomfort of living in tents made by man (v. 9) to the permanence and solace of the city built by God (v. 10).

🕮 11:9, 10, 17–23, 32–40 This passage is read on the Sunday before Christmas, called the Sunday of the Holy Fathers.

11:21 Jacob prefigured the Cross when he venerated the top of the staff of Joseph (Gn 47:31) and when he blessed Joseph's sons with his hands crossed (Gn 48:14).

🕮 11:24–26 This passage is read on the first Sunday of Great Lent, called the Sunday of Orthodoxy.

🕮 11:33—12:2 This passage is read on December 17, the Feast of the Prophet Daniel; on August 1, the Procession of the Cross; and on the first Sunday after Pentecost, called the Sunday of All Saints.

11:37 Sawn in two: Some traditions say that Isaiah was killed in this manner by Manasseh. (See the pseudepigraphal Martyrdom of Isaiah; see also 2Ch 24:20–22; Jer 33:20–23; 2Mc 6:18–31; Mt 23:29–36.)

11:38 Caves: See 2Mc 6:11; 10:6.

11:40 See 9:15. Christ's Incarnation and all that He accomplished for us in the flesh redeems the OT saints, who by faith participate in His Resurrection and His Kingdom.

12:1–29 This entire passage (beginning with 10:19) is a progressive discourse imploring us to seek God's Kingdom first. Under the new covenant, we can ascend to this heavenly place in worship and in prayer. Christians experience this heavenly dimension fundamentally in the Divine Liturgy. We ascend to that place where we are surrounded by a great . . . cloud of witnesses (v. 1) This is not a physical place (v. 18) but a spiritual place, Mount Zion and the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem (v. 22), inhabited by God, the angels, and the spirits of just men made perfect (v. 23). Here, communion of the saints is established in the NT.

12:1 The cloud of witnesses includes not only the OT saints mentioned in ch. 11, but also the saints and martyrs of the Lord in all ages. If they made it, so can we. We persevere by getting rid of sin, the weight which keeps us from heeding the truth; setting as our destination the heavenly city, running the race of faith; and keeping our attention focused on Jesus Christ our Lord and King (12:2). This race is not a sprint but a marathon of endurance: it does not end until we fully enter the age to come (see 1Co 9:24–27).

12:2, 3 Christ is both the author, that is, the initiator, and the finisher, that is, the perfecter of faith. His joy was to do God's will. He endured the cross in that He voluntarily accepted humiliation and death. We are to imitate His determination and perseverance.

12:4–11 Unpleasant circumstances, which tempt us to complain, may be the chastening of the LORD (v. 5). If the loving discipline of our human fathers brought us to respect them, how much more deserving of respect is the discipline of the Father of spirits (v. 9), our Creator, whose breath gives us life (Gn 1:26; 2:7)?

12:13 Straight paths is a theme found throughout both the OT and the NT. See especially Is 40:3; Mt 7:13, 14.

12:14–17 An especially heavy "weight" (v. 1) is bitterness, a spirit of habitual complaining. Bitterness refuses God's chastening and defiles us before God. Esau became bitter about Jacob's easy, favored life in contrast to his own life of difficulty. Bitterness blinded him to what is truly valuable. It cut off his endurance, so he traded his family honor, his birthright, for one small meal (Gn 25:27–34). For this Esau is called a fornicator (v. 16), being unfaithful to God and uniting his spirit to this temporary age. Later, when he changed his mind, his father Isaac would not change his. Esau missed his blessing (Gn 27:30–40). Thus, our two clear choices for life are bitterness or blessing.

12:18–21 The mountain (v. 18) of the new covenant, Mt. Zion, is the fulfillment of the mountain of the old covenant, Mt. Sinai. Sinai is remembered as the place where God first called Israel to meet Him (Ex 19:9–23; 20:18–21; Dt 4:11, 12; 5:22–26). It was a place of fear, a place not to be approached and touched, out in the desert where Israel could not live permanently. Israel met God, and God spoke, but Israel could not fully enter into God's holiness.

12:22–24 We are encouraged to approach and touch the heavenly mountain, for we already participate in the Kingdom and dwell there. It is more like Mount Zion and Jerusalem (v. 22) than like Sinai (popular Jewish images at that time), for Jerusalem was a habitable place and Zion a place of God's holy presence. This Kingdom is not earthly but heavenly, inhabited by angels (v. 22) as well as men. There is an unending assembly (v. 23), the divinely instituted gathering of God's people of all ages, in which they know themselves as church. There everyone is firstborn (v. 23) and has inherited all. There blood (v. 24) cries not for vengeance and further death—as did Abel's (see 11:4; Gn 4:10)—but for mercy, forgiveness, atonement, and unending life. This is the blood of Christ given to us in the Eucharist.

Heaven is not a place of the separation of the soul from the body. There, soul and body together are transformed into a better (v. 24) reality. For the spirits of just men are made perfect (v. 23; see 11:40) in unity with their bodies: glorified, divinely energized, without the limitations we now experience. This passage is quoted in hymns for both the Trisagion and funeral services of the Orthodox Church. The blood of sprinkling (v. 24) is that of Christ, which effects the new covenant—real blood, effective for the physical people.

12:25 He who speaks from heaven is Christ at the right hand of the Father.

12:26–28 What can be shaken (v. 27) is that which is created: temporal, impermanent, imperfect—except for the final consummation of the kingdom (v. 28), which is unshakable. There, life is a eucharistic liturgy. Grace (v. 28) is gratefulness that leads to serving God and worshiping Him in an acceptable way, with proper reverence and godly fear.

🕮 12:28—13:8 This passage is read on the Saturday before Palm Sunday, called Lazarus Saturday.

In 9:11, 12 we saw Christ come to the greater and more perfect tabernacle, obtaining eternal redemption for us. In 12:22 this tabernacle is that same spiritual place, showing that we enter the holy place with Christ by virtue of our union with Him (10:19, 20). This is done fundamentally in corporate worship (10:25), by faith (11:1–3), and in order to show gratitude to God (12:28, 29). The content of this worship includes remembering the departed righteous (11:4–40; see also Ps 111:1–6; Pr 10:8).

13:1–3 Practical brotherly love is to be shown toward all Christians, but especially for the lowly, the powerless, and the victims of injustice. Strangers (v. 2) are travelers in need of hospitality. Abraham's hospitality is recalled (Gn 18:1–8; also 19:1–3). Prisoners (v. 3) are to be prayed for and aided if possible, for all those in the body of Christ, the Church, are members of one another (1Co 12:12–27).

13:7 Those who rule are especially the leaders of the sacraments (bishops and priests). These Christian leaders are not only to be prayed for (see v. 3) but followed as models of Christian life as well. The faith of Christian leaders is that faith they both teach and live by.

📖 13:7–16 This passage is read on days commemorating hieromartyrs.

13:8 Such a faith does not disappoint. Since Christ is God and does not change, His gospel does not change. If Christians in the past attained the eternal Kingdom through faith, so can we. Thus, the Church strives to keep her doctrine pure and without change.

13:9 Strange doctrines are "foreign" ones, those not coming from the One, Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic Church. In this case, the outside teaching is Jewish and legalistic. Kosher laws dealing with food do no spiritual good if grace is not at the heart of one's actions. Such has always been the teaching of the Church with regard to fasting (see 9:9, 10).

13:10 In the OT, priests were given part of most sacrifices for food, but lay people had no right to eat this food. Under the new covenant, all Christians may eat the food of the altar.

13:11, 12 On the only day of the year when the holy of holies could be entered, the Day of Atonement, only the high priest could come in, and then only with the blood of sin offerings. The bodies of these animals were not eaten but burned outside the camp. Christ identified with this supreme sacrifice of the OT in that He suffered and died outside the gate (v. 12). His blood was not carried into the temple in Jerusalem by another human, however. Rather, He carried His own blood into the heavenly most holy place in the eternal "today." This great entrance of Christ shows the Divine Liturgy is eternal and for all under the new covenant. We being members of our High Priest, Jesus Christ, may always enter in.

13:13, 14 The camp here is the old covenant, Israel and all its institutions and worship. The city (v. 14) is the earthly Jerusalem as the temple city of the Jews (see 11:10, 13–16; 12:22). One cannot follow both the new covenant and the old covenant. The early Church in Jerusalem (AD 30–70) retained its Jewish customs, even the religious traditions, but it was under only the new covenant and so bore the ire of Jews still under the old covenant. Likewise, every Christian must be prepared to bear men's scorn and see himself as in exile in this life. The heavenly city we seek is the one to which we have already come (12:22): such a tension is no problem for the author of Hebrews.

13:15–19 A summarizing exhortation: (1) We experience the heavenly city and the heavenly most holy place when we sacrifice our whole being, body and soul, in the Divine Liturgy—a mystery in which our part is that of praise consistent with true doctrine (vv. 15, 9–14). (2) Good works and life in community (to share, Gr. koinonias) must be united with worship (vv. 16, 1–6). (3) Priests and spiritual leaders must be respected and obeyed (vv. 17, 7, 8), a reference to "spiritual fatherhood" in the Church. They will give account of their ministry at the judgment. The author sees himself among the leaders and asks for prayer that he may live an exemplary life (see v. 7).

📖 13:17–21 This passage is read on days commemorating hierarchs.

13:20, 21 The benediction notes: (1) The sufficiency of the blood of Christ is realized in His Resurrection as Christ offers His blood in the eternal sanctuary and thereby inaugurates a new, everlasting covenant. (2) The everlasting covenant makes us complete as we cooperate with God (synergy) in all things and progress toward sainthood.

The Book of James

Author

The author identifies himself as “James, a bondservant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ” (1:1). Early Church tradition ascribes this letter to James, the “brother” or kinsman of our Lord and first bishop of Jerusalem, known as James the Just.

Date

AD 55–60. James the Just was martyred about AD 62. Some consider his letter the first New Testament book, written after the martyrdom of Stephen and the dispersion of Christians from Jerusalem (Acts 8:1).

Major Theme

The harmony of faith and works. The letter has many direct parallels with the Sermon on the Mount. James does not teach we are saved by works, but he does teach that a dead faith, one without works, does not save. This is an early polemic against invisible religion, wherein salvation by faith has no visible works, and against antinomianism, the teaching that moral behavior is irrelevant to salvation. James is clear: the human will is not bypassed in salvation; grace does not nullify personal responsibility.

Background

Unlike most New Testament letters, James does not address a particular church, or even a geographical region, but “the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad” (1:1). Though James was a Jewish Christian and assumes the recipients are familiar with the Old Testament, the letter is written in elegant Greek. There is no indication that it addresses only Jewish Christians. The people James addresses are experiencing various trials: persecution, deception, economic injustice and poverty, apostasy and personal fragmentations in the Church. James uses his authority as bishop to rekindle true living faith and encourage repentance, patience, and self-control.

Outline

I. Greeting (1:1)
II. Trials and Endurance: Love God! (1:2–27)
III. Faith and Works: Love Your Neighbor! (2:1–26)

IV. The Power of the Tongue (3:1–18)
V. Quarreling and Humility (4:1–12)
VI. Greed Versus Contentedness (4:13–5:12)
VII. Healing and Restoration (5:13–20)

James 1

Greeting to the Twelve Tribes

1 James, a bondservant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ,
To the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad:
Greetings.

Profiting from Trials

2 My brethren, count it all joy when you fall into various trials,
3 knowing that the testing of your faith produces patience.
4 But let patience have its perfect work, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking nothing.
5 If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach, and it will be given to him.
6 But let him ask in faith, with no doubting, for he who doubts is like a wave of the sea driven and tossed by the wind.
7 For let not that man suppose that he will receive anything from the Lord;
8 he is a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways.

The Perspective of Rich and Poor

9 Let the lowly brother glory in his exaltation,
10 but the rich in his humiliation, because as a flower of the field he will pass away.
11 For no sooner has the sun risen with a burning heat than it withers the grass; its flower falls, and its beautiful appearance perishes. So the rich man also will fade away in his pursuits.

Loving God Under Trials

12 Blessed is the man who endures temptation; for when he has been approved, he will receive the crown of life which the Lord has promised to those who love Him.
13 Let no one say when he is tempted, “I am tempted by God”; for God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does He Himself tempt anyone.
14 But each one is tempted when he is drawn away by his own desires and enticed.

15Then, when desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full-grown, brings forth death.
16Do not be deceived, my beloved brethren.
17Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and comes down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow of turning.
18Of His own will He brought us forth by the word of truth, that we might be a kind of firstfruits of His creatures.

Qualities Needed in Trials

19So then,[a] my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath;
20for the wrath of man does not produce the righteousness of God.

Doers—Not Hearers Only

21Therefore lay aside all filthiness and overflow of wickedness, and receive with meekness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls.
22But be doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves.
23For if anyone is a hearer of the word and not a doer, he is like a man observing his natural face in a mirror;
24for he observes himself, goes away, and immediately forgets what kind of man he was.
25But he who looks into the perfect law of liberty and continues in it, and is not a forgetful hearer but a doer of the work, this one will be blessed in what he does.
26If anyone among[b] you thinks he is religious, and does not bridle his tongue but deceives his own heart, this one's religion is useless.
27Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world.

James 2

Beware of Personal Favoritism

[1]My brethren, do not hold the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with partiality.

[2]For if there should come into your assembly a man with gold rings, in fine apparel, and there should also come in a poor man in filthy clothes,

[3]and you pay attention to the one wearing the fine clothes and say to him, "You sit here in a good place," and say to the poor man, "You stand there," or, "Sit here at my footstool,"

[4]have you not shown partiality among yourselves, and become judges with evil thoughts?

[5]Listen, my beloved brethren: Has God not chosen the poor of this world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which He promised to those who love Him?

[6]But you have dishonored the poor man. Do not the rich oppress you and drag you into the courts?

[7]Do they not blaspheme that noble name by which you are called?

[8]If you really fulfill the royal law according to the Scripture, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself,"[a] you do well;

[9]but if you show partiality, you commit sin, and are convicted by the law as transgressors.

[10]For whoever shall keep the whole law, and yet stumble in one point, he is guilty of all.

[11]For He who said, "Do not commit adultery,"[b] also said, "Do not murder."[c] Now if you do not commit adultery, but you do murder, you have become a transgressor of the law.

[12]So speak and so do as those who will be judged by the law of liberty.

[13]For judgment is without mercy to the one who has shown no mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgment.

Faith Without Works Is Dead

(cf. Gen. 22; Josh. 2)

[14]What does it profit, my brethren, if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can faith save him?

[15]If a brother or sister is naked and destitute of daily food,

[16]and one of you says to them, "Depart in peace, be warmed and filled," but you do not give them the things which are needed for the body, what does it profit?

[17]Thus also faith by itself, if it does not have works, is dead.

18 But someone will say, “You have faith, and I have works.” Show me your faith without your[d] works, and I will show you my faith by my[e] works.
19 You believe that there is one God. You do well. Even the demons believe —and tremble!
20 But do you want to know, O foolish man, that faith without works is dead?[f]
21 Was not Abraham our father justified by works when he offered Isaac his son on the altar?
22 Do you see that faith was working together with his works, and by works faith was made perfect?
23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which says, “Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.”[g] And he was called the friend of God.
24 You see then that a man is justified by works, and not by faith only.
25 Likewise, was not Rahab the harlot also justified by works when she received the messengers and sent them out another way?
26 For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

James 3

The Untamable Tongue

1 My brethren, let not many of you become teachers, knowing that we shall receive a stricter judgment.
2 For we all stumble in many things. If anyone does not stumble in word, he is a perfect man, able also to bridle the whole body.
3 Indeed,[a] we put bits in horses’ mouths that they may obey us, and we turn their whole body.
4 Look also at ships: although they are so large and are driven by fierce winds, they are turned by a very small rudder wherever the pilot desires.
5 Even so the tongue is a little member and boasts great things. See how great a forest a little fire kindles!
6 And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity. The tongue is so set among our members that it defiles the whole body, and sets on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire by hell.
7 For every kind of beast and bird, of reptile and creature of the sea, is tamed and has been tamed by mankind.

[8]But no man can tame the tongue. It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

[9]With it we bless our God and Father, and with it we curse men, who have been made in the similitude of God.

[10]Out of the same mouth proceed blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not to be so.

[11]Does a spring send forth fresh water and bitter from the same opening?

[12]Can a fig tree, my brethren, bear olives, or a grapevine bear figs? Thus no spring yields both salt water and fresh.[b]

Heavenly Versus Demonic Wisdom

[13]Who is wise and understanding among you? Let him show by good conduct that his works are done in the meekness of wisdom.

[14]But if you have bitter envy and self-seeking in your hearts, do not boast and lie against the truth.

[15]This wisdom does not descend from above, but is earthly, sensual, demonic.

[16]For where envy and self-seeking exist, confusion and every evil thing are there.

[17]But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy.

[18]Now the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by those who make peace.

James 4

Pride Promotes Strife

[1]Where do wars and fights come from among you? Do they not come from your desires for pleasure that war in your members?

[2]You lust and do not have. You murder and covet and cannot obtain. You fight and war. Yet[a] you do not have because you do not ask.

[3]You ask and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it on your pleasures.

[4]Adulterers and[b] adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Whoever therefore wants to be a friend of the world makes himself an enemy of God.

5 Or do you think that the Scripture says in vain, “The Spirit who dwells in us yearns jealously”?

6 But He gives more grace. Therefore He says:

> “God resists the proud,
> But gives grace to the humble.”[c]

Humility Cures Worldliness

7 Therefore submit to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you.

8 Draw near to God and He will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinners; and purify your hearts, you double-minded.

9 Lament and mourn and weep! Let your laughter be turned to mourning and your joy to gloom.

10 Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up.

Do Not Judge a Brother

11 Do not speak evil of one another, brethren. He who speaks evil of a brother and judges his brother, speaks evil of the law and judges the law. But if you judge the law, you are not a doer of the law but a judge.

12 There is one Lawgiver,[d] who is able to save and to destroy. Who[e] are you to judge another?[f]

Do Not Boast About Tomorrow

13 Come now, you who say, “Today or tomorrow we will[g] go to such and such a city, spend a year there, buy and sell, and make a profit”;

14 whereas you do not know what will happen tomorrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away.

15 Instead you ought to say, “If the Lord wills, we shall live and do this or that.”

16 But now you boast in your arrogance. All such boasting is evil.

17 Therefore, to him who knows to do good and does not do it, to him it is sin.

James 5

Rich Oppressors Will Be Judged

[1]Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you!

[2]Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten.

[3]Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have heaped up treasure in the last days.

[4]Indeed the wages of the laborers who mowed your fields, which you kept back by fraud, cry out; and the cries of the reapers have reached the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth.[a]

[5]You have lived on the earth in pleasure and luxury; you have fattened your hearts as[b] in a day of slaughter.

[6]You have condemned, you have murdered the just; he does not resist you.

Be Patient and Persevering

[7]Therefore be patient, brethren, until the coming of the Lord. See how the farmer waits for the precious fruit of the earth, waiting patiently for it until it receives the early and latter rain.

[8]You also be patient. Establish your hearts, for the coming of the Lord is at hand.

[9]Do not grumble against one another, brethren, lest you be condemned.[c] Behold, the Judge is standing at the door!

[10]My brethren, take the prophets, who spoke in the name of the Lord, as an example of suffering and patience.

[11]Indeed we count them blessed who endure. You have heard of the perseverance of Job and seen the end intended by the Lord—that the Lord is very compassionate and merciful.

[12]But above all, my brethren, do not swear, either by heaven or by earth or with any other oath. But let your “Yes” be “Yes,” and your “No,” “No,” lest you fall into judgment.[d]

Meeting Specific Needs

(cf. 1 Kin. 18:41–46)

[13]Is anyone among you suffering? Let him pray. Is anyone cheerful? Let him sing psalms.

[14]Is anyone among you sick? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith will save the sick, and the Lord will raise him up. And if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven.

16 Confess your trespasses[e] to one another, and pray for one another, that you may be healed. The effective, fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much.

17 Elijah was a man with a nature like ours, and he prayed earnestly that it would not rain; and it did not rain on the land for three years and six months.

18 And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth produced its fruit.

Bring Back the Erring One

19 Brethren, if anyone among you wanders from the truth, and someone turns him back,

20 let him know that he who turns a sinner from the error of his way will save a soul[f] from death and cover a multitude of sins. Healing

Annotations for James

1:1 James establishes his authority—not as a brother of Christ or bishop of Jerusalem—but as a bondservant (self-indentured slave) of God. For the Jews, God is the only ruler, and true honor comes from Him. God refers to the Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ to the Son of God incarnate. Scattered abroad (Gr. diaspora) refers to Jews in exile, but James applies it to the Church—Jewish and Gentile Christians alike—on pilgrimage.

1:2 Trials, the world's oppression, take place by God's permission. The issue is not trials but our response to them. Properly received, trials reveal where our hearts are. They are food for faith, which must grow or die. The godly reaction to trials is joy and perseverance (Mt 5:11, 12; Acts 5:41; Rom 5:2, 3; 8:18; Heb 12:11; 1Pt 2:19). Though unkind circumstances are from the evil one, to get angry at circumstances is to get angry at God, who permits them.

1:5 Wisdom, the practical and spiritual knowledge required for skilled living, comes to those who ask of God, who pray to Him. While James loves God's law, for him faith is not found in rules, as with the Pharisees, but in a relationship with God.

1:6–8 Prayer as petition is effective when it is done in faith, with no doubting (v. 6). We need an unquestioning loyalty to God along with the confidence that comes from a life stable in all its ways (v. 8). While James teaches the necessity of works, for him works demonstrate a living faith. By contrast, doubting (v. 6) means questioning God. Double-mindedness (v. 8) speaks of one who has two loyalties, love of the world competing with love for God (see Mt 6:24). Such unstable life deadens our conscience and turns us aside from the truth.

1:9–11 Note the reversal of the order of the world. The lowly (v. 9), those who have the least here, will have the most in the Kingdom of heaven (see 2:5; Mt 5:3; Lk 1:52), but they are tempted to be bitter and envious. The rich (v. 10) may perceive their goods as passing, but they are tempted to be greedy and arrogant and may thereby lose true wealth (see 5:1–12).

1:12 We are to rejoice even in temptations. They reveal whether or not we are prepared for heaven (see 1Co 9:25).

1:13 James has discussed outward trials (vv. 1–11). He now turns to inward temptations, which deceive us and lead us into sin. God tries us, but He never tempts us.

1:14, 15 The immediate origin of a temptation is our own sinful passions, which the devil energizes. Temptation begins with desires or lusts, then progresses to being conceived, a fixation on or delight in sinful desires, and ends as birth to sin, a consent to or acting out of sinful desires. We fall to temptation because we allow ourselves to do so. Neither God nor circumstances force us to yield.

1:17 As Father of lights, God reigns over both the visible and invisible creation. He is Creator of all and the giver of spiritual gifts. The first part of this verse is used in the Divine Liturgy, in the prayer before Christ's icon.

1:18 God provides our salvation of His own will, not of necessity. Brought us forth: He "begot" us, a reference to baptism, by which we become children of God by grace. The word of truth is the Gospel, the precious, unchanging doctrines of the faith. We are the firstfruits of His creatures: In salvation we benefit not by taking on the essence or nature of God, but by putting on a new humanity consecrated to God (as with firstfruits in the OT). Humanity is preeminent over all creation, and through our salvation all creation is likewise being changed. The first half of this verse appears in the Divine Liturgy in the prayer of thanksgiving after the faithful receive Communion.

1:19, 20 The wrath of man is unjust, ungracious, and severe. It proceeds from uncontrolled anger, not from God's judgment. For us to discern the righteousness of God requires patience, graciousness, and controlled passions.

1:21 While the word was implanted in baptism, Christians continue to receive Him throughout their lives.

1:25 James takes the Jewish notion of freedom—obedience to the Law—and applies it to Christ's law, His commandment to love others as He loved us. James uses the OT form in 2:8.

1:26, 27 Here are three examples of the relationship between faith and works. (1) Mastery over speech: What proceeds out of the mouth flows from the heart, for sooner or later our tongue will reveal the quality of our faith in God. (2) Ministry to the needy: Faithful Christians must be the guardians of the poor, especially of those orphans and widows who have lost their natural guardians. "Do not let the widows be neglected; after the Lord, you must be their guardian" (IgnAnt). (3) Moral purity in thought and deed: A traditional indicator of a working faith. "Let us make haste to wash away through fasting the filth of our transgressions, and through acts of mercy and compassion to the needy let us enter into the bridal chamber of the Bridegroom Christ, who grants to us great mercy" (Vespers, week before Lent).

2:1–4 Unjustly judging others is an example of fainthearted faith being manifested in unjust works. Favoring the rich over the poor is contrary to true faith. A person's dignity and worth come from God, not from fellow humans. So we must not judge others by the earthly standards of rank, wealth, attainments, and appearance.

2:5–7 God is not partial to anyone. The poor are more likely to repent and renounce this world for the sake of the kingdom, for they more easily see the emptiness of earthly things. The rich (v. 6), on the other hand, tend to prize earthly things, desire material things, and even hurt others to gain them (see Lk 6:21–25; 1Co 1:26–28). They may mock Christians for the name by which (v. 7) they are called, the name invoked at baptism.

2:8–13 The corrective standard of judgment is perfect faith manifested in perfect works. The royal law (v. 8), the law of liberty (v. 12; 1:25), is the second great commandment of Christ: love for neighbor (Jn 13:34). The standard by which we judge is that by which we will be judged; the mercy we give will be the mercy we receive. "God has shown mercy to us. Let us in our turn show mercy: let us feed the poor, and with the divine water of fasting let us wash the defilement from our souls. . . . O heavenly angels, entreat the Giver of good to accept in His infinite mercy our poor and mean repentance" (Matins, Friday before Lent).

2:14–19 The faith that saves is a complete faith, not just the mind and the tongue but the whole man trusting in the living God. This means our faith and our relationship with God—our justification—are dynamic and living. Our faith grows and affects our actions, or it dies. "Faith alone" (by itself, v. 17), static faith, does not save. We must nurture our faith in God and love for Him through our works. "Do not say you are the temple of the Lord, writes Jeremiah [see Jer 7:3]; nor should you say that faith alone in our Lord Jesus Christ can save you, for this is impossible unless you acquire love for Him through your works. As for faith by itself, 'the devils also believe, and tremble'" (MaxCon).

2:20–24 The faith of Abraham is living and active.

(1) In Gn 12:1–3, when Abraham is 75 years old, he receives a call to forsake all and follow God.

(2) In Gn 15:6, when Abraham is almost 85, after he has proven his faith through years of renouncing his land, family, property, and privileges, God promises him that he will ultimately regain everything he has given up. Abraham's faith in God's promise is "accounted to him for righteousness." God fulfills Abraham's faith by making a covenant with him, an OT liturgical and sacramental act.

(3) In Gn 22:1–19, Abraham is at least 110. He has been tested for years concerning God's promise of a son. Now, after the covenant sacrament of initiation (circumcision) has been given in Gn 17, comes Abraham's supreme test: the sacrifice of Isaac, his son of promise (Gn 15:6).

James reveals that Gn 15:6 is fulfilled in Gn 22. This is a crucial lesson for us in our understanding of justification by faith. Neither Abraham's faith nor his justification is merely momentary, static, or once-and-for-all. It is dynamic, a growth process that finds its natural and normal realization in good works. Far from being just point-in-time, Abraham's justification covered at least 25 years after God first declared him just. It is living and active faith that saves!

2:26 This summary of the organic relationship of faith and works (see Mt 7:21; 25:31–46; Jn 14:15; Gal 5:6) shows that only God can save.

3:1–12 What we say reveals what we are. If we can control what we say, we can control what we do (vv. 2–8). For James, this is a prime example of the relationship between faith and works, and a major locus of spiritual warfare. James even warns against becoming a Christian teacher (v. 1) and expresses astonishment at how hypocritical and contradictory our speech can be (vv. 9–12).

3:13–18 James is also leery about us counseling others, for what is offered as wisdom can be based on pride and other sinful passions. Self-centered faith will manifest itself in self-centered works, in this case "helping" others. True wisdom comes from God and proves itself by action (v. 13). Sensual (v. 15; Gr. psychike) means unspiritual, not possessing the spirit of God.

4:1–10 Wars and fights in the Church are another example of the result of faith without works. Such disputes come from desires for pleasure that war in our members, passions that bring disruption in the body of Christ. These passions are fragmenting (v. 1), self-centered (v. 3), of this world (v. 4), energized by Satan (v. 7), and therefore at enmity with God (v. 4). God does not answer prayers for our selfish desires (v. 3). Adulterers and adulteresses: The image of unfaithfulness in marriage is common throughout the OT for the faithlessness of God's people.

How do we conquer arrogant pleasure-seeking? (1) Stop praying for self-centered pleasures (vv. 2, 3). (2) Renounce the world and build a friendship with God (v. 4). (3) Yield to the Holy Spirit who dwells in us through chrismation (v. 5). In seeking the Holy Spirit we gain the Holy Trinity! (4) Be humble, recognizing that God resists the proud (v. 6). (5) Resist (be insubordinate to) Satan and submit to God (v. 7). (6) Approach God in worship (draw near). Take special care to cleanse your hands and purify your hearts through repentance in preparation for worship (vv. 8, 9). Never laugh off God's call to mourn for sin.

"The rewards for the toils of virtue are dispassion and spiritual knowledge. For these are the mediators of the kingdom of heaven, just as passions and ignorance are the mediators of eternal punishment. It is because of this that he who seeks these rewards for the sake of human glory and not for their intrinsic goodness is rebuked by the words of Scripture: 'You ask, and do not receive, because you ask wrongly'" (MaxCon).

4:11, 12 Belittling criticism of others is another case of pride coming out in what we say. It is a lack of faith united with evil works, an offense both to the person criticized and to God. God's will is to love others (2:8) with humility and mercy, even if they are in the wrong (see 3:13–18).

4:13–16 True faith depends completely on God and seeks ways to do good works. But to plan as if we knew exactly what will happen is arrogance.

5:1–6 The terrible fate of the unjust rich is that their wealth will condemn them.

5:7–12 The early and latter rain (v. 7) refers to the pattern of rainfall—at planting time and just before harvest—in Palestine. We are to put away grumbling at each other, and we must not demand that life be "fair." Patience, forbearance, and a right vision of the ultimate Judge are true works of living faith.

5:10, 11 The faithful prophets, true saints of God, are models or examples to us in how to practice suffering and patience. Consequently, Christians from the NT era even till today have honored or venerated the prophets—indeed, all the saints—counting them blessed.

📖 5:10–20 This passage is read on days commemorating prophets.

5:12 A polemic against a bad custom stemming from bad faith: the common practice of swearing by God or something that signifies God (as if swearing were a proof of truthfulness). We may swear when required to, but the solution to lack of trust is good faith—our integrity, truthfulness between a person and God. See Mt 5:33–37.

5:13–15 The sick person is to call for the elders (presbyters) for prayer. Salvation deals with the whole person, for each human being is a unity, body and soul. Hence, this sacrament has a double purpose: not only for healing but for forgiveness also. The presbyter (shortened form: priest) is given certain gifts of the ministry at ordination, the laying on of hands (see 1Ti 4:14). Prayer is combined with olive oil—not only the primary medicine of ancient times, but also a symbol of the Holy Spirit in the Church—in a single sacrament that effects a healing for the whole person. Thus, the elements of the sacrament of healing include (1) the presbyter or priest (v. 13); (2) the prayer of (the) faith that will save (v. 15), connected with (3) the work of Christ Himself, for the Lord will raise us up, and (4) the Holy Spirit, manifested in the oil; and (5) confession of sins just prior to the anointing with oil, which explains why James writes if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven (v. 15). In the Orthodox Church, this sacrament is granted anyone who is sick, whether in danger of dying or not.

5:16–18 Some allege that confessing sins to God before a priest is not biblical. The ancient Christian custom was to confess your trespasses to one another (v. 16). When a Christian was guilty of sin, the matter was confessed before the whole Church as an act of repentance. As the Church grew, and those not part of the community came to observe, the pressure in such public confession became so great that the priest, instead of the entire community, heard the confession, representing the people. What is not taught in Scripture is a private confession only to God, which refuses to acknowledge sin to the community (1Jn 1:8, 10). Thus, the Church has effected healing through such works of faith as confession of sins and the power of intercessory prayer.

5:19, 20 The work of faith in restoring the apostate.

Healing

"Is anyone among you sick? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord. And the prayer of faith will save the sick, and the Lord will raise him up. And if he has committed sins, he will be forgiven" (5:14, 15).

One of the great prophetic themes of the Old Testament concerning the promised Messiah is that the Father would send His Son "to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind" (Lk 4:18; see also Is 49:8; 61:1). The ministry of Christ was one of numerous healings of "all kinds of sicknesses and all kinds of disease" (Mt 4:23). In addition, Jesus healed darkened hearts and minds as He released people from demonic oppression.

Like their Master before them, the early apostles participated in God's work of healing as well, attributing their miracles to the risen and ascended Christ. "Jesus the Christ heals you," Peter told a newly restored man who had been bedridden for eight years (Acts 9:34). St. Paul identified healing as a gift of the Holy Spirit (1Co 12:9). Thus, the New Testament foundation was established for the healing ministry to be a part of the sacramental life of the Church (Jam 5:14, 15).

Healings throughout history. The Orthodox Church has never believed or behaved as though the gifts of the Spirit or the healing miracles of Christ have somehow passed away. Did not Jesus promise, "He who believes in Me, the works that I do he will do also; and greater works than these he will do, because I go to My Father" (Jn 14:12)?

St. Ireneaus, writing at the close of the second century, speaks of miracles in his day: "Some drive out devils . . . some have foreknowledge of the future . . . others heal the sick through the laying on of hands . . . and even the dead have been raised up before now and have remained with us for many years." The writings of other Church Fathers speak often of miracles within the Church.

Quite widely known are the supernatural healings Christ performs through St. Seraphim of Sarov, an eighteenth-century Russian monk. He was blessed with the gift of healing during his lifetime, and even after his departure many people have been restored to wholeness at his graveside.

The practice of the Church today. To this day, the Orthodox practice of prayer for the sick follows the New Testament instruction of St. James. The Orthodox Church has a special service of healing, which may be performed at any time. The presbyter prays for the ill person, anointing him with oil and saying, "O Lord Almighty, Healer of our souls and bodies, who put down and raise up, who chastise and heal also, visit now in Your mercy our brother or sister, N., who is ill. Stretch forth Your arm, which is full of healing and health, and raise (him/her) up from this bed, and cure this illness. Put away the spirit of disease and every malady and pain and fever. And if (he/she) has committed sins and transgressions, grant remission and forgiveness, because You love mankind.”

As Orthodox Christians we pray, neither commanding God to heal nor doubting His ability to heal, but pleading for His promised mercy on all who are ill.

The First Book of Peter

Author

After Peter had helped to establish the church in Antioch, he preached to Jews and converts to Judaism throughout northern Asia Minor (1:1). Later, in Rome, hearing the churches of Asia Minor were being persecuted, he wrote them this letter of encouragement.

Date

First Peter was composed at Rome (5:13) sometime in AD 50–67. The exact date Peter arrived in Rome is unclear; tradition says he was martyred there later in Nero's reign, c. AD 67.

Major Theme

Rejoice in sharing the sufferings of Christ. The First Epistle of Peter is an exhortation for Christians suffering persecution to remember and live in their baptism. As baptism is a death and a resurrection, so Christians must enter into unjust suffering with a spirit of death and resurrection. Our goal is the fulfillment of baptism—heaven. This requires unwavering commitment now to (a) holiness (1:3–2:10), (b) submission in the roles we have in life (2:11–3:12), (c) patient suffering in this age as we prepare for the age to come (3:13–4:19), and (d) disciplined unity in the Church (5:1–11).

Background

The dispersion of which Peter speaks (1:1) is unknown. After the martyrdom of Stephen (c. AD 33), many Christians fled from persecution in Jerusalem. Or Peter may be speaking more generally, of Christians at large, who were often ill-treated and forced into exile because of their faith. We are told these Christians live in five provinces of Asia Minor (1:1), located in the central and northern segments of the peninsula.

Outline

I. Greetings (1:1, 2)
II. Practical Meaning of Baptism (1:3–3:12)
  A. A life of faith and hope (1:3–12)
  B. A life of holiness (1:13–2:10)
  C. A life of honor (2:11–3:12)

III. Persecution and Suffering (3:13–5:11)
   A. Persecution for being righteous (3:13–22)
   B. The persecution of mockery (4:1–19)
   C. Suffering and the church (5:1–11)
IV. Conclusion (5:12–14)

1 Peter 1

Greeting to the Elect Pilgrims

1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ,

To the pilgrims of the Dispersion in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

2 elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, in sanctification of the Spirit, for obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ:

Grace to you and peace be multiplied.

A Heavenly Inheritance

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to His abundant mercy has begotten us again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and that does not fade away, reserved in heaven for you,

5 who are kept by the power of God through faith for salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.

6 In this you greatly rejoice, though now for a little while, if need be, you have been grieved by various trials,

7 that the genuineness of your faith, being much more precious than gold that perishes, though it is tested by fire, may be found to praise, honor, and glory at the revelation of Jesus Christ,

8 whom having not seen[a] you love. Though now you do not see Him, yet believing, you rejoice with joy inexpressible and full of glory, 9 receiving the end of your faith—the salvation of your souls.

10 Of this salvation the prophets have inquired and searched carefully, who prophesied of the grace that would come to you,

11 searching what, or what manner of time, the Spirit of Christ who was in them was indicating when He testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ and the glories that would follow.

12 To them it was revealed that, not to themselves, but to us[b] they were ministering the things which now have been reported to you through those who have preached the gospel to you by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven—things which angels desire to look into.

Living Before God Our Father

13 Therefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and rest your hope fully upon the grace that is to be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ;
14 as obedient children, not conforming yourselves to the former lusts, as in your ignorance;
15 but as He who called you is holy, you also be holy in all your conduct, 16 because it is written, "Be holy, for I am holy."[c] 17 And if you call on the Father, who without partiality judges according to each one's work, conduct yourselves throughout the time of your stay here in fear;
18 knowing that you were not redeemed with corruptible things, like silver or gold, from your aimless conduct received by tradition from your fathers, 19 but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot.
20 He indeed was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you 21 who through Him believe in God, who raised Him from the dead and gave Him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.

The Enduring Word

22 Since you have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit[d] in sincere love of the brethren, love one another fervently with a pure heart,
23 having been born again, not of corruptible seed but incorruptible, through the word of God which lives and abides forever,[e] 24 because

> "All flesh is as grass,
> And all the glory of man[f] as the flower of the grass.
> The grass withers,
> And its flower falls away,
> 25 But the word of the LORD endures forever."[g]

Now this is the word which by the gospel was preached to you.

1 Peter 2

1 Therefore, laying aside all malice, all deceit, hypocrisy, envy, and all evil speaking,
2 as newborn babes, desire the pure milk of the word, that you may grow thereby,[a]
3 if indeed you have tasted that the Lord is gracious.

The Chosen Stone and His Chosen People

(Ps. 118:22; Is. 28:16)

4 Coming to Him as to a living stone, rejected indeed by men, but chosen by God and precious, 5 you also, as living stones, are being built up a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.
6 Therefore it is also contained in the Scripture,

> "Behold, I lay in Zion
> A chief cornerstone, elect, precious,
> And he who believes on Him will by no means be put to > shame."[b]

7 Therefore, to you who believe, He is precious; but to those who are disobedient,[c]

> "The stone which the builders rejected
> Has become the chief cornerstone,"[d]

8 and

> "A stone of stumbling
> And a rock of offense."[e]

They stumble, being disobedient to the word, to which they also were appointed.
9 But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people, that you may proclaim the praises of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light;

10who once were not a people but are now the people of God, who had not obtained mercy but now have obtained mercy.

Living Before the World

11Beloved, I beg you as sojourners and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul, 12having your conduct honorable among the Gentiles, that when they speak against you as evildoers, they may, by your good works which they observe, glorify God in the day of visitation.

Submission to Government

(cf. Rom. 13:1–5)

13Therefore submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake, whether to the king as supreme, 14or to governors, as to those who are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers and for the praise of those who do good.
15For this is the will of God, that by doing good you may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men—16as free, yet not using liberty as a cloak for vice, but as bondservants of God.
17Honor all people. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.

Submission to Masters

(Is. 53:7–9)

18Servants, be submissive to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the harsh.
19For this is commendable, if because of conscience toward God one endures grief, suffering wrongfully.
20For what credit is it if, when you are beaten for your faults, you take it patiently? But when you do good and suffer, if you take it patiently, this is commendable before God.
21For to this you were called, because Christ also suffered for us,[f] leaving us[g] an example, that you should follow His steps:

> 22*"Who committed no sin,*
> Nor was deceit found in His mouth";[h]

23 who, when He was reviled, did not revile in return; when He suffered, He did not threaten, but committed Himself to Him who judges righteously; 24 who Himself bore our sins in His own body on the tree, that we, having died to sins, might live for righteousness—by whose stripes you were healed.
25 For you were like sheep going astray, but have now returned to the Shepherd and Overseer[i] of your souls.

1 Peter 3

Submission to Husbands

1 Wives, likewise, be submissive to your own husbands, that even if some do not obey the word, they, without a word, may be won by the conduct of their wives,
2 when they observe your chaste conduct accompanied by fear.
3 Do not let your adornment be merely outward—arranging the hair, wearing gold, or putting on fine apparel—4 rather let it be the hidden person of the heart, with the incorruptible beauty of a gentle and quiet spirit, which is very precious in the sight of God.
5 For in this manner, in former times, the holy women who trusted in God also adorned themselves, being submissive to their own husbands, 6 as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord, whose daughters you are if you do good and are not afraid with any terror.

A Word to Husbands

7 Husbands, likewise, dwell with them with understanding, giving honor to the wife, as to the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life, that your prayers may not be hindered.

Called to Blessing

8 Finally, all of you be of one mind, having compassion for one another; love as brothers, be tenderhearted, be courteous;[a] 9 not returning evil for evil or reviling for reviling, but on the contrary blessing, knowing that you were called to this, that you may inherit a blessing.
10 For

“He who would love life
And see good days,
Let him refrain his tongue from evil,
And his lips from speaking deceit.
11*Let him turn away from evil and do good;*
Let him seek peace and pursue it.
12*For the eyes of the* LORD are on the righteous,
And His ears are open to their prayers;
But the face of the LORD is against those who do evil.”[b]

Suffering for Right and Wrong

13And who is he who will harm you if you become followers of what is good?
14But even if you should suffer for righteousness’ sake, you are blessed. “And do not be afraid of their threats, nor be troubled.”[c]
15But sanctify the Lord God[d] in your hearts, and always be ready to give a defense to everyone who asks you a reason for the hope that is in you, with meekness and fear;
16having a good conscience, that when they defame you as evildoers, those who revile your good conduct in Christ may be ashamed.
17For it is better, if it is the will of God, to suffer for doing good than for doing evil.

Christ’s Suffering and Ours

18For Christ also suffered once for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us[e] to God, being put to death in the flesh but made alive by the Spirit, 19by whom also He went and preached to the spirits in prison,
20who formerly were disobedient, when once the Divine longsuffering waited[f] in the days of Noah, while the ark was being prepared, in which a few, that is, eight souls, were saved through water.
21There is also an antitype which now saves us—baptism (not the removal of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God), through the resurrection of Jesus Christ, 22who has gone into heaven and is at the right hand of God, angels and authorities and powers having been made subject to Him.

1 Peter 4

[1]Therefore, since Christ suffered for us[a] in the flesh, arm yourselves also with the same mind, for he who has suffered in the flesh has ceased from sin,

[2]that he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh for the lusts of men, but for the will of God.

[3]For we have spent enough of our past lifetime[b] in doing the will of the Gentiles—when we walked in lewdness, lusts, drunkenness, revelries, drinking parties, and abominable idolatries.

[4]In regard to these, they think it strange that you do not run with them in the same flood of dissipation, speaking evil of you.

[5]They will give an account to Him who is ready to judge the living and the dead.

[6]For this reason the gospel was preached also to those who are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

Serving for God's Glory

[7]But the end of all things is at hand; therefore be serious and watchful in your prayers.

[8]And above all things have fervent love for one another, for "love will cover a multitude of sins."[c]

[9]Be hospitable to one another without grumbling.

[10]As each one has received a gift, minister it to one another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

[11]If anyone speaks, let him speak as the oracles of God. If anyone ministers, let him do it as with the ability which God supplies, that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belong the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Suffering for God's Glory

[12]Beloved, do not think it strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened to you;

[13]but rejoice to the extent that you partake of Christ's sufferings, that when His glory is revealed, you may also be glad with exceeding joy.

[14]If you are reproached for the name of Christ, blessed are you, for the Spirit of glory and of God rests upon you.[d] On their part He is blasphemed, but on your part He is glorified.

15But let none of you suffer as a murderer, a thief, an evildoer, or as a busybody in other people's matters.

16Yet if anyone suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in this matter.[e]

17For the time has come for judgment to begin at the house of God; and if it begins with us first, what will be the end of those who do not obey the gospel of God?

18Now

> "If the righteous one is scarcely saved,
> Where will the ungodly and the sinner appear?"[f]

19Therefore let those who suffer according to the will of God commit their souls to Him in doing good, as to a faithful Creator.

1 Peter 5

Shepherd the Flock

1The elders who are among you I exhort, I who am a fellow elder and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that will be revealed:

2Shepherd the flock of God which is among you, serving as overseers, not by compulsion but willingly,[a] not for dishonest gain but eagerly;

3nor as being lords over those entrusted to you, but being examples to the flock;

4and when the Chief Shepherd appears, you will receive the crown of glory that does not fade away.

Submit to God, Resist the Devil

5Likewise you younger people, submit yourselves to your elders. Yes, all of you be submissive to one another, and be clothed with humility, for

> "God resists the proud,
> But gives grace to the humble."[b]

[6]Therefore humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time,

[7]casting all your care upon Him, for He cares for you.

[8]Be sober, be vigilant; because[c] your adversary the devil walks about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour.

[9]Resist him, steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same sufferings are experienced by your brotherhood in the world.

[10]But may[d] the God of all grace, who called us[e] to His eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after you have suffered a while, perfect, establish, strengthen, and settle you.

[11]To Him be the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Farewell and Peace

12By Silvanus, our faithful brother as I consider him, I have written to you briefly, exhorting and testifying that this is the true grace of God in which you stand.

[13]She who is in Babylon, elect together with you, greets you; and so does Mark my son.

[14]Greet one another with a kiss of love. Peace to you all who are in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Annotations for 1 Peter

1:1 Pilgrims, or "sojourners," are aliens, those who stay for a while in a strange place with no intention of permanently residing there. This is said of God's people in this world (see 2:11; Gn 23:4; Ps 38:13; Heb 11:13), for they are citizens of the heavenly world to come (Php 3:20).

1:2 Note the apostle's clear reference to all three divine Persons of the Holy Trinity.

God's foreknowledge does not preclude or bind human will. Rather, it has to do with His Providence, His sovereign control of history. Sanctification: See Glossary. The sprinkling of the blood connects OT sacramental rites with Christ and the New Testament. Through the blood sprinkled on the doorposts of their homes, the people of Israel escaped the power of Satan and death in Egypt (Ex 12:13). When the covenant between God and the Israelites was made at Sinai, Moses sprinkled the blood of the covenant upon the people, thereby empowering Israel to participate in the life of God (Ex 24:8). On the Day of Atonement, the blood of a goat was sprinkled on the mercy seat of the tabernacle (Lv 16:15). As people of the New Covenant, we enter into God's life more intimately: "Unless you . . . drink His blood, you have no life in you" (Jn 6:53). Through Christ's blood communicated to us in the Holy Eucharist (1Co 11:25), we are united with Him in His incorrupt human nature.

We are to be in obedience to Jesus Christ because of the obedience of Jesus Christ. In contrast to the disobedience of the first Adam, the second Adam, Christ, fulfilled the Law completely and performed all righteousness. Through His obedience, corrupt human nature will be transformed into incorrupt human nature.

1:3 We are begotten . . . again to a living hope in baptism. As Jesus told Nicodemus, we enter the Kingdom of God by being "born of water and the Spirit" (Jn 3:5). This new birth in baptism unites us with Christ and His resurrection (Rom 6:3). The words and actions of Peter also confirm this sacramental reality (see Acts 2:37, 38, 41; 10:43, 47, 48; see also the "washing of regeneration" in Tts 3:5, where baptism and God's mercy are coupled). Here the sacrament of baptism (vv. 3–6) is the power by which we suffer faithfully (vv. 7–9). Being regenerated, given new life in Christ, we have a hope by which to live. This grace of God sustains us in the trials of life. (Verses 3–12 in the original constitute one long sentence.)

1:4 Note the home for which we yearn, our inheritance, is also described in the context of baptism (1:3).

1:5 The incorruptible inheritance is reserved for those who have true faith, the faith that by God's grace perseveres to the end.

1:6, 7 To reach the joy and blessing of eternal life in Christ, we first experience the sadness of the passing world, along with the afflictions we must face here (see also Jam 1:1–12). To the watching world, the perseverance of the faithful during affliction appears foolish and even contemptible. But Peter shows that faith under trial is precious indeed, bearing more glory and honor as it continues to stand under trial (see Mt 25:31–46; 1Co 3:10–15).

1:8 Peter knew by experience the failure to perceive the truth until he saw it with his eyes (see Lk 24:8–12; Acts 10:39–43). Here he addresses those who believe Him whom they have not seen. This is the faith of baptism and the faith of eternal life.

1:10, 11 The prophets had supernatural knowledge of the events to come—even so far as the glories that would follow the sufferings of Christ, His Resurrection, Ascension, and Second Coming.

1:12 Even the angels desire to deepen their vision both of the uncreated glory and of what God has in store for creation (see 1Co 2:8). The angels beheld and worshipped Christ in His divine nature; what is new and amazing to them is His human nature.

1:13 The Israelites ate the original Passover with loins girded, that is, with their long outer garments tucked into their belts so as to free their legs for movement. Similarly, Christians are to live always in the spirit of Passover, prepared for the journey of obedience and virtue.

1:16 See Mt 5:48. The cleanliness code (Lv 11–15) instructed Israel how to prepare for worship (Lv 1–10).

Holiness belongs to God, and we, who cannot attain holiness on our own but receive it from Him, are called to live a holy life before Him. Indeed, Christians are called to holiness in every area of their lives. In the Lord's Prayer we say, "Hallowed be Your Name." It is not that we want God's name to be made holy by our prayers, but that His name may be made holy in us.

1:17 Why should we pray in fear? Because the Father we serve will judge us according to each one's work. While being certain of God's mercy, we conduct ourselves with care.

1:18, 19 Our salvation has been purchased by the infinitely precious blood of Christ (v. 19). We are not our own and are to conduct ourselves in a manner worthy of the price paid for our redemption (see 1Co 6:19, 20).

1:23 See Jn 1:12, 13. The Lord's suffering and death is incorruptible and abides forever, and is the foundation of our baptism through which we are born again (see Jn 3:1–6; Rom 6:3–5).

1:24, 25 This passage from Is 40:6–8 sets in sharp contrast the difference between human and divine seed. Our present human condition will have an end, of course, as witnessed by the ever-presence of corruption, and will meet that end in death. But in the glorified, incarnate Son, the word of the LORD (v. 25), we gain incorrupt and immortal humanity, both in body and in soul.

2:1 The duty, the necessity, for Christians to be holy in their conduct is the issue pursued in this passage. The apostle Paul has written that new (indeed, all!) Christians are to put off the old manner of life, corrupted by evil and deception (Eph 4:22). Similarly, those addressed here are to turn from the same.

2:2, 3 The pure milk of the word is apostolic doctrine (Acts 2:42), the basic teaching of the Church—both written (1:10–12) and spoken (1:25). These lead us to the meat of the word (1Co 3:2), the sacraments of the Church, and continual growth in the Christian life. We have tasted that the Lord is gracious and should long for this spiritual nourishment.

2:4–10 Peter likens the growth of the Church to the OT temple with its attending priesthood and its sacrifice and worship, Christ Himself being the fulfillment of this imagery. Thus, in Christ we become living stones, a spiritual house, a royal priesthood (v. 5; see Ex 19:5, 6), the people of God who have obtained mercy (v. 10; see Eph 2:19–22; 1Co 3:16, 17; 2Co 6:16). This is salvation in all its fullness.

2:5 In the true temple, one sacrifice is offered, the unrepeatable sacrifice of Christ. But in Him, in baptism, we also are sacrificed, "a living sacrifice" (Rom 12:1) acceptable to God. Our whole life is to be lived in this baptism as an offering to Christ our life. This is the spiritual offering of the Church in the Eucharist, the offering by which she lives.

2:9 In the true Temple there is one offerer, one priest, who, again, is Christ. In baptism we all are anointed with grace as priests in the Kingdom of God; for the spiritual Kingdom is also the spiritual priesthood. Moreover, as the body of Christ, we have a priestly ministry to the world, fulfilling the very priesthood and intercession of the Lord Himself, so that to the whole universe we may proclaim the praises of Him who called us out of darkness into His marvelous light.

2:11 To this point Peter has been addressing the whole of the Church, describing the benefits and challenges of salvation. Now he speaks to various groups of Christians—citizens, servants, wives, husbands, pastors—exhorting all to forsake sinful passions and to live as true sojourners and pilgrims in the world.

2:13–17 (See also Rom 13:1–7; Mt 22:21; Tts 3:1.) Peter urges his readers to be obedient to civil government. While Christians serve a higher authority, God Himself, it is God who calls us to submit to earthly leaders for the Lord's sake (v. 13). This is not a call to "separate" Church from state, but rather a call to cooperate with and enhance the state—realizing that at times Church and state have been at great odds. When ultimate loyalty and obedience to Christ and His gospel are at stake, Peter's actions show that we are to obey God rather than man, even to the point of prison or death (Acts 4:19, 20).

2:18–24 This advice to servants is applicable to all who are employed by another. Christ is our example for service and for our response to mistreatment. He is shown to be the Suffering Servant, offering Himself on our behalf, by whose stripes you were healed (v. 24; see Is 53).

2:22 No washing away of sins was necessary for Christ, who did no sin. His washing was done for us, who do sin. We should live, then, for Him who did not spare His own Son, that in His body He might crucify our passions. For Christ died for us that we might live in His renewed body.

2:25 Peter—according to tradition the first bishop of Antioch, the guiding church of the mission to the Eastern Mediterranean, and later of Rome, the leading church of the mission to the Western Mediterranean—the one charged by Christ to tend His sheep (Jn 20:16), sees all of us as sheep under the care of Christ, our universal Shepherd and Overseer (lit., "bishop"). Peter calls himself "a fellow elder" in 5:1, for bishops and priests are not two different orders in the NT.

3:1–7 A stunning call to contentment in Christian marriage, whether we live in the first century or the twenty-first. The dignity and modesty of a woman—and her good conduct—have the power to call her husband to faith and devotion. Husbands are not to take advantage of this superior conduct on the part of their wives, but are to reciprocate, indeed to give honor. Peter's image of marriage is one of sacramental union, not merely of legal contract. Contrary to the inheritance customs of the time, husband and wife are heirs together of the grace of life (v. 7). Failure to live with understanding with one's spouse even affects one's relationship with God (see Eph 5:22–33).

3:8–12 Our behavior today has consequences for the future. The Church as a corporate priesthood is to express God's graciousness to the entire world. As we have been blessed, so must we bless (see Mt 7:12).

3:13–17 As the royal priesthood follows Christ in His obedience and His mercifulness, so it follows Him in His suffering.

3:15 A challenge to all—clergy and laity alike—to answer when asked about our hope in Christ with meekness and fear.

3:17 Not all our suffering comes about because we have been righteous.

3:18–20 As Noah preached righteousness, suffered unjustly, and rescued those who were with him, so also does Christ. Christ descended to those in darkness and death that light might shine on them and He might deliver them from death. As Christ fearlessly faced His tormentors, death, and hell, so we through Him can confidently face mockers and tormentors—and, yes, bring His light to them.

3:21, 22 The Flood is an OT mystery of salvation of the human race. Noah was saved from a godless society—not so much saved from the water, as through the water from evil. For through the water of baptism the resurrected Christ, having taken His place in heaven itself, gives us a clean conscience.

4:1–5 Though Peter refers here to specific activities and vices prevalent in that day in Asia Minor—where excessive drinking along with unspeakable practices took place in connection with the worship of various deities—there can be no doubt of the direct application of this passage to our own day and the condition from which many of us have come into the Kingdom.

4:6 The dead are most likely those preached to "in prison" in Hades (3:19).

4:7–11 Whatever gifts God has given to His people are to be used for the glory of God and in a spirit of love (see Rom 12:4–10; 1Co 12–14).

4:12, 13 The fiery trial is the suffering of tribulations that tempt us to unfaithfulness, to the ruin of our faith. God's people have always suffered unjustly, but in baptism the sufferings in which we partake are those of Christ Himself, which will ultimately bring great joy (v. 13).

4:17–19 Slander and persecution purify the Church for judgment, but persecutors and the ungodly (v. 18) are heaping up condemnation for themselves. The severity of the present judgment of the righteous is evidence that the ungodly face a fearsome fate. Christians who suffer can always be confident that God is faithful (v. 19) and good.

5:1–4 (See Jn 21:15–17.) From Christ Himself and throughout the history of the Church, these words have been delivered in exhortation to the shepherds or leaders of the flock (v. 2). Pastoral work is to be undertaken willingly and cheerfully, with neither financial gain nor power in mind. For faithful service is rendered on behalf of Christ, the Chief Shepherd (v. 4), and awaits an eternal crown of glory.

5:3 (See Mk 10:42–45; 2Co 4:5.) Those entrusted to you (Gr. kleron) means those who have "the inheritance"; the word is the source of the English "clergy." In the OT the Levites were the kleros; their inheritance was the Lord. In the NT all are kleros, a royal priesthood, equally inheriting the Lord. While there are "orders" of clergy in the Church—bishops, presbyters, deacons—a separation or isolation between priests and laity is unknown in the NT.

5:5–7 Humility is the foundation of virtue; it is learned through submission and obedience to godly elders. In submitting to one another, we humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God (see 1Th 5:12, 13; Heb 13:7, 17).

📖 5:6–14 This passage is read on April 25, the Feast of St. Mark the Evangelist.

5:8, 9 The devil and his angels do explore us individually, looking for our weaknesses. The enemy offers appealing visions to our eyes, music to our ears, to each of our senses setting forth whatever might tempt us to sin. He arouses our tongues to speaking evil about others and urges our hands to injure them. He sets forth profits to be earned by shady and immoral means and holds out earthly honors and false values to be preferred to heavenly ones. When he is unable to tempt us, he brings forth a threat of persecution so that fear may cause us to betray the faith. Thus we are always alert for his many-faceted attacks, ready to resist him at every turn.

5:13 Babylon here is almost certainly a reference to ancient Rome, like the more ancient Babylon (itself of no significance in the days of the early Church) a source of confusion and tribulation for the people of God. Peter himself was martyred in Rome.

5:14 The kiss of love, or of peace, is here already a liturgical practice. In St. John Chrysostom's liturgy, the kiss of peace occurs between the Great Entrance and the Creed; historically the entire Church took part in it. This embrace signifies forgiveness, reconciliation, and banishment of every remembrance of injury. It recalls the command of Christ, "If you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you, leave your gift there before the altar, and go your way. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift" (Mt 5:23, 24).

The Second Book of Peter

Author

While the Orthodox Church is clear on the canonicity of 2 Peter, some modern scholars consider the letter to be pseudonymous, that is, written by someone else based on what Peter taught. However, internal evidence supports Peter's authorship.

Date

Given Peter's authorship, the date is likely AD 63–67, during Peter's imprisonment in Rome.

Major Theme

True knowledge versus false knowledge. Though the world disbelieves, deceives and mocks, Christians must maintain apostolic doctrine and an orthodox Christian way of life. We are to grow continually in holiness and virtue and pursue an entrance into "the everlasting kingdom" (1:11) which is to come.

Background

Of the 27 New Testament books, the canonicity of 2 Peter has been questioned most. However, there is unmistakable evidence it was known and used in the early Church, and its canonicity was settled in the fourth century.

Peter apparently wrote his second epistle from Roman imprisonment. The people addressed know the author (1:16) and seem to be Gentiles, former pagans, in territory evangelized by Paul (2:18, 20–22; 3:15, 16).

The Church has been infiltrated by gnostic-sounding, antinomian (lit., "against the law") teachers, who taught that faith saves apart from repentance, works, or virtue. They deny that the Second Coming is a physical, historical event and that morality is irrelevant to salvation. The whole Church is threatened, especially the new converts; some have already fallen away.

Outline

I. Greetings (1:1, 2)
II. True Knowledge Deifies Us (1:3–21)

B. The end of false teachers (2:4–9)
C. The character of false teachers (2:10–19)
D. The tragedy of apostasy (2:20–22)
IV. The Doctrine at Issue: The Second Coming (3:1–17)
A. Certainty of the Second Coming brings comfort (3:1–10)
B. Expectation of the Second Coming produces virtue (3:11–17)
V. Concluding Doxology (3:18)

2 Peter 1

Greeting the Faithful

1 Simon Peter, a bondservant and apostle of Jesus Christ,

To those who have obtained like precious faith with us by the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ:

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you in the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord,

3 as His divine power has given to us all things that pertain to life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him who called us by glory and virtue,

4 by which have been given to us exceedingly great and precious promises, that through these you may be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

Fruitful Growth in the Faith

5 But also for this very reason, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue, to virtue knowledge,

6 to knowledge self-control, to self-control perseverance, to perseverance godliness,

7 to godliness brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness love.

8 For if these things are yours and abound, you will be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 For he who lacks these things is shortsighted, even to blindness, and has forgotten that he was cleansed from his old sins.

10 Therefore, brethren, be even more diligent to make your call and election sure, for if you do these things you will never stumble;

11 for so an entrance will be supplied to you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Peter's Approaching Death

12 For this reason I will not be negligent to remind you always of these things, though you know and are established in the present truth.

13 Yes, I think it is right, as long as I am in this tent, to stir you up by reminding you,

14 knowing that shortly I must put off my tent, just as our Lord Jesus Christ showed me.
15 Moreover I will be careful to ensure that you always have a reminder of these things after my decease.

The Trustworthy Prophetic Word

(Matt. 17:5; Mark 9:7; Luke 9:35)

16 For we did not follow cunningly devised fables when we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of His majesty.
17 For He received from God the Father honor and glory when such a voice came to Him from the Excellent Glory: "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."
18 And we heard this voice which came from heaven when we were with Him on the holy mountain.
19 And so we have the prophetic word confirmed,[a] which you do well to heed as a light that shines in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star rises in your hearts;
20 knowing this first, that no prophecy of Scripture is of any private interpretation,[b]
21 for prophecy never came by the will of man, but holy men of God[c] spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit. Deification

2 Peter 2

Destructive Doctrines

1 But there were also false prophets among the people, even as there will be false teachers among you, who will secretly bring in destructive heresies, even denying the Lord who bought them, and bring on themselves swift destruction.
2 And many will follow their destructive ways, because of whom the way of truth will be blasphemed.
3 By covetousness they will exploit you with deceptive words; for a long time their judgment has not been idle, and their destruction does[a] not slumber.

Doom of False Teachers

[4]For if God did not spare the angels who sinned, but cast them down to hell and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved for judgment; [5]and did not spare the ancient world, but saved Noah, one of eight people, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood on the world of the ungodly;
[6]and turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them to destruction, making them an example to those who afterward would live ungodly;
[7]and delivered righteous Lot, who was oppressed by the filthy conduct of the wicked
[8](for that righteous man, dwelling among them, tormented his righteous soul from day to day by seeing and hearing their lawless deeds)— [9]then the Lord knows how to deliver the godly out of temptations and to reserve the unjust under punishment for the day of judgment, [10]and especially those who walk according to the flesh in the lust of uncleanness and despise authority. They are presumptuous, self-willed. They are not afraid to speak evil of dignitaries, [11]whereas angels, who are greater in power and might, do not bring a reviling accusation against them before the Lord.

Depravity of False Teachers

[12]But these, like natural brute beasts made to be caught and destroyed, speak evil of the things they do not understand, and will utterly perish in their own corruption,
[13]and will receive the wages of unrighteousness, as those who count it pleasure to carouse in the daytime. They are spots and blemishes, carousing in their own deceptions while they feast with you, [14]having eyes full of adultery and that cannot cease from sin, enticing unstable souls. They have a heart trained in covetous practices, and are accursed children.
[15]They have forsaken the right way and gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Beor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness; [16]but he was rebuked for his iniquity: a dumb donkey speaking with a man’s voice restrained the madness of the prophet.
[17]These are wells without water, clouds[b] carried by a tempest, for whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever.[c]

Deceptions of False Teachers

18For when they speak great swelling words of emptiness, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through lewdness, the ones who have actually escaped[d] from those who live in error.

19While they promise them liberty, they themselves are slaves of corruption; for by whom a person is overcome, by him also he is brought into bondage.

20For if, after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, they are again entangled in them and overcome, the latter end is worse for them than the beginning.

21For it would have been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than having known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered to them.

22But it has happened to them according to the true proverb: "A dog returns to his own vomit,"[e] and, "a sow, having washed, to her wallowing in the mire."

2 Peter 3

God's Promise Is Not Slack

(Gen. 6:5—8:22)

1Beloved, I now write to you this second epistle (in both of which I stir up your pure minds by way of reminder),

2that you may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us,[a] the apostles of the Lord and Savior,

3knowing this first: that scoffers will come in the last days, walking according to their own lusts,

4and saying, "Where is the promise of His coming? For since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of creation."

5For this they willfully forget: that by the word of God the heavens were of old, and the earth standing out of water and in the water, 6by which the world that then existed perished, being flooded with water.

7But the heavens and the earth which are now preserved by the same word, are reserved for fire until the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.

8 But, beloved, do not forget this one thing, that with the Lord one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.
9 The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some count slackness, but is longsuffering toward us,[b] not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance.

The Day of the Lord

10 But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a great noise, and the elements will melt with fervent heat; both the earth and the works that are in it will be burned up.[c] 11 Therefore, since all these things will be dissolved, what manner of persons ought you to be in holy conduct and godliness, 12 looking for and hastening the coming of the day of God, because of which the heavens will be dissolved, being on fire, and the elements will melt with fervent heat?
13 Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells.

Be Steadfast

14 Therefore, beloved, looking forward to these things, be diligent to be found by Him in peace, without spot and blameless; 15 and consider that the longsuffering of our Lord is salvation—as also our beloved brother Paul, according to the wisdom given to him, has written to you,
16 as also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things, in which are some things hard to understand, which untaught and unstable people twist to their own destruction, as they do also the rest of the Scriptures.
17 You therefore, beloved, since you know this beforehand, beware lest you also fall from your own steadfastness, being led away with the error of the wicked;
18 but grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To Him be the glory both now and forever. Amen.

Annotations for 2 Peter

1:1 Whereas, 1 Peter introduces the author simply as "Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ," 2 Peter adds Simon, the pre-Christian name of Peter, and a bondservant. God refers to Jesus Christ (as in Tts 2:13). What Peter teaches in this letter is apostolic consensus: like precious faith with us. He reminds and exhorts his hearers to full Christian belief and virtue.

1:2 Gnostics, who were infiltrating the church, taught they had access to a special knowledge, unknown by ordinary people. Peter teaches the true knowledge of God, and it is in the Church this knowledge is found.

1:3 Peter assures us we have no need for anything other than what we have received. For God has given us His energy (life) and His personal presence (godliness, or piety, devotion), both of which we may grow in. Virtue (Gr. arete) may also be translated as "excellence" or "power." It is spiritual and moral excellence attained by vigorous and courageous faith.

1:4 Being renewed by God's power, we become partakers of the divine nature. This does not mean we become divine by nature. If we participated in God's essence, the distinction between God and man would be abolished. What this does mean is that we participate in God's energy, described by a number of terms in scripture, such as glory, life, love, virtue, and power. We are to become like God by His grace, and truly His adopted children, but never become God by nature. According to some church fathers, this especially occurs through the Eucharist, for when Christ's Body and Blood become one with ours, we become Christ-bearers and partakers of the divine nature.

"We that are made worthy to participate in Him [the Holy Spirit] through faith in Christ are brought to perfection as participants of the divine nature, and are said to be born of God, and on that account are given the title gods, not flying up to the glory above us by grace alone, but as already having God indwelling and taking lodging in us, according to what is set forth in the Prophet, 'I shall dwell among them and walk about in their midst' (Lv 26:12; 2Co 6:16)" (CyrAl).

1:5–7 How do we who know Christ grow in our participation in the divine nature through grace? By the cultivation of a progression of spiritual realities. As in v. 3, virtue refers to the vigor and courage behind attaining moral excellence. Love (v. 7) is adjoined to brotherly kindness (affection among Christians), for love of God cannot be perfected except through love of one's neighbor (see 1Jn 4:20).

1:8 This knowledge (Gr. epignosis, as also in v. 1) is not primarily mental but spiritual and personal. It is experienced as we have faith and bear good fruit in the Lord Jesus Christ.

1:9 Gnostics claimed to know God without becoming godlike. Peter makes it plain this is not Christian, for we reach participation with God through the increase of spiritual virtues, not the absence of them. Here, as with all eschatological warnings in the NT, admittance to God's Kingdom is conditioned by a faith that exhibits perseverance and holiness.

🕮 1:10–19 This passage is read on August 6, the Feast of the Transfiguration of the Lord.

1:11 The primary truth with which Peter is dealing (which he has only indirectly touched upon to this point) is the second coming of Christ and His everlasting kingdom.

1:13 People live in a tent when on a journey or at war. As long as we are in this body, we live in "tents," which bear witness to the long journey of life and to the ongoing battle against enemy forces of darkness.

1:16–18 Peter has been an eyewitness to the majesty of Christ in many ways—and here reminds us especially that he was one of those present with the Lord on the Mount of Transfiguration (Mt 17:1–8). What Peter is going to repeat about the second coming is the common apostolic tradition, which is buttressed by the eyewitness testimony of the apostles. It is not an elaborate scheme of fables, such as the Gnostics propounded. In all the Gospel accounts, the Transfiguration is a proof and foretaste of the coming of Christ in glory.

1:19–21 The testimony of the apostles both confirms prophetic word (v. 19) concerning the second coming and shows us how to interpret prophecy. Just as Scripture (v. 20) was not written by the mere volition of men but by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit (v. 21), so Scripture is to be interpreted by holy men guided by the Holy Spirit. Heretics (ch. 2) and unstable Christians (3:16) interpret incorrectly. The apostles (the we of v. 19) are guided by the Holy Spirit, trusting in the promise of true interpretation (Jn 16:13). The Church, founded by the apostles, likewise receives the Holy Spirit. "For the apostles, like a rich man in a bank, deposited with her [the Church] most copiously everything which pertains to the truth. And everyone who wishes, draws from her the drink of life. For she is the entrance to life, while all the rest are thieves and robbers. That is why it is surely necessary to avoid them, while cherishing with the utmost diligence the things pertaining to the church, and to lay hold of the tradition of truth" (Iren).

Deification

Deification is the ancient theological word used to describe the process by which a Christian becomes more like God. St. Peter speaks of this process when he writes, "As His divine power has given to us all things that pertain to life and godliness . . . you may be partakers of the divine nature" (1:3, 4).

What does it mean to partake of the divine nature, and how do we experience this? To give an answer, let us first address what deification is not, and then describe what it is.

What deification is not. When the Church calls us to pursue godliness, to be more like God, this does not mean that human beings become divine. We do not become like God in His nature. That would not only be heresy, it would be impossible. For we are human, always have been human, and always will be human. We cannot take on the nature of God.

St. John of Damascus makes a remarkable observation. The word "God" in the Scriptures refers not to the divine nature or essence, for that is unknowable. "God" refers rather to the divine energies—the power and grace of God that we can perceive in this world. The Greek word for God, theos, comes from a verb meaning "run," "see," or "burn." These are energy words, so to speak, not essence words.

In John 10:34, Jesus, quoting Psalm 81:6, repeats the passage, "You are gods." The fact that He was speaking to a group of hypocritical religious leaders who were accusing Him of blasphemy makes the meaning doubly clear: Jesus is not using "god" to refer to divine nature. We are gods in that we bear His image, not His nature.

What deification is. Deification means we are to become more like God through His grace or divine energies. In creation, humans were made in the image and likeness of God (Gn 1:26) according to human nature. In other words, humanity by nature is an icon or image of deity: The divine image is in all humanity. Through sin, however, this image and likeness of God was marred, and we fell.

When the Son of God assumed our humanity in the womb of the blessed Virgin Mary, the process of our being renewed in God's image and likeness was begun. Thus, those who are joined to Christ, through faith, in Holy Baptism begin a process of re-creation, being renewed in God's image and likeness. We become, as St. Peter writes, "partakers of the divine nature" (1:4).

Because of the Incarnation of the Son of God, because the fullness of God has inhabited human flesh, being joined to Christ means that it is again possible to experience deification, the fulfillment of our human destiny. That is, through union with Christ, we become by grace what God is by nature—we "become children of God" (Jn 1:12). His deity interpenetrates our humanity.

Historically, deification has often been illustrated by the example of a sword in the fire. A steel sword is thrust into a hot fire until the sword takes on a red glow. The energy of the fire interpenetrates the sword. The sword never becomes fire, but it picks up the properties of fire.

By application, the divine energies interpenetrate the human nature of Christ. When we are joined to Christ, our humanity is interpenetrated with the energies of God through Christ's glorified flesh. Nourished by the Body and Blood of Christ, we partake of the grace of God—His strength, His righteousness, His love—and are enabled to serve Him and glorify Him. Thus we, being human, are being deified.

2:1–3 Peter now reaches his main concern: false teachers who are unholy and communicate heresy. They are arrogant, sensual, and greedy (he deals with them in much the same way as does Jude) but they deny accountability in their lives. Isolating themselves from apostolic doctrine concerning Christ, they hold their own "private interpretations," misconstruing doctrines about the second coming and the ultimate authority of Christ over us. But as deceivers, they teach as though they possess true apostolicity.

2:4–10 God's past judgments indicate what awaits the heretics: He will divide the holy from the unholy in the life to come. We already have the example of the angels who sinned (v. 4), imprisoned in the lowest part of hell (Gr. tartarus) while awaiting the final judgment. Verse 10 repeats the two main sins of heretics: (1) immorality, (2) disdain for authority, especially that of Christ.

Noah is a preacher of righteousness (v. 5), in part because by doing righteous deeds he showed to all who saw him how life ought to be lived (see Heb 11:7).

2:12–17 False teachers are condemned for both their words and their actions. Those who are natural cannot understand spiritual things (1Co 2:14) and will be destroyed, as false prophets have been in the past. For the story of Balaam (v. 15), see Nm 22:1–25:9; 31:8, 16; Dt 23:4, 5; Jos 13:22; Jude 11.

2:19 A common misunderstanding of liberty or freedom is to see it as standing apart from all moral restraints, to say there is no such thing as sin. But this results in slavery of the worst kind, bondage to egotistic and sensual passions. True Christian freedom begins with freedom from sin, freedom from immoral activity. A Christian is called to live in purity in an impure world.

3:4 "It is clear to all who love His coming that the mind must be controlled rather moderately in this conjecture. We must surmise neither that the aforesaid day of the Lord is near and will come quite quickly, nor again that it is coming too slowly. But we should be diligent in seeing to this alone: that whether it comes sooner or later, it may find us ready when it does come" (Bede).

3:9 These words are not just for the false teachers, but for us all. We are granted more time primarily to grant us fuller repentance. (See v. 15; 2Co 7:9, 10.)

3:10–12 Because this world will pass away, we ought to be holy (v. 11) and godly, living as citizens of the new heaven and earth. Christians can actually hasten the coming of that day. How? Through evangelism (Mt 24:14; Mk 13:10), prayer (especially the Lord's Prayer, "Thy Kingdom come"), holy living (1Pt 2:12), and repentance and obedience (Acts 3:19–21).

3:13 Not other heavens and earth, but the same ones transfigured for the better. For a beautiful prophetic description of the new heaven and earth, see Rev 21–22 and Is 65:17–25.

3:15 Longsuffering can be salvation only if our salvation in Christ includes a lifelong process of maturing.

3:16 The author knows of a collection of Paul's letters and regards it as equal in authority to Scripture, that is, to the OT. This is the first indication of the collection of an NT canon.

3:17, 18 The danger of deception is high for everyone. The defense against deception is to stay connected to the true apostles (v. 17) and to their doctrines, which encourage our growth in the knowledge of our Lord . . . Jesus Christ (v. 18).

The First Book of John

Author

John the Apostle (author of the Gospel of John). First John is so similar to the Gospel of John in language, style, and theology that few have ever disputed that the two books were written by the same man.

Date

The letter cannot be dated with certainty. Its similarity to John's Gospel, the presence among the recipients of a Christianized form of gnosticism, and the apparent age of its author suggest a time late in John's life, about the same time as he wrote his gospel (AD 90–95).

Major Theme

Tests of true Christian life. Jesus Christ, the Incarnate God, reveals the light (1:5–7), love (4:7–11), and life (5:11–13) of the Father, as contrasted with the darkness (1:6), hatred (2:9–11), and death (5:12) of the present world. First John is a commentary on the reality of baptism, chrismation, and the Eucharist in our lives. Subthemes include:

(1) Our communion with God and with each other
(2) The close relationship of faith, love, obedience, and life
(3) The close relationship between love of God and love of others
(4) The crucial importance of holding true faith
(5) A stark, eschatological contrast between the children of God and the children of the world

Background

First John is a polemic against two identifiable groups: (a) false teachers with a gnostic bent; and (b) former members of the Church who were a threat to the faith of those remaining (2:27; 3:7). The polemic is mostly pastoral and positive, to protect God's people. While the addressee is not mentioned, this may be an encyclical to John's diocese of Asia.

Outline

I. Introduction: The Apostolic Witness to the Incarnation (1:1–4)
II. Live in the Light (1:5–2:27)
  A. Walk in the light of confessed sin (1:5–2:2)

B. Keep Christ's commands of love (2:3–17)
C. Remain in the true teaching about Christ (2:18–27)

III. Live as God's Children (2:28–4:6)
A. Be righteous (2:28–3:9)
B. Love one another (3:10–24)
C. Confess that Jesus is God in the flesh (4:1–6)

IV. Live in Love and Faith (4:7–5:13)
A. God's love becomes our love (4:7–5:3)
B. Faith brings strength and life (5:4–13)

V. Summary: Live in God (5:14–21)
A. Pray according to God's will (5:14–17)
B. Separate from sin and evil (5:18, 19)
C. Live in Jesus Christ (5:20, 21)

1 John 1

What Was Heard, Seen, and Touched

(John 1:1–5)

1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, concerning the Word of life—
2 the life was manifested, and we have seen, and bear witness, and declare to you that eternal life which was with the Father and was manifested to us—3 that which we have seen and heard we declare to you, that you also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father and with His Son Jesus Christ.
4 And these things we write to you that your[a] joy may be full.

Fellowship with Him and One Another

5 This is the message which we have heard from Him and declare to you, that God is light and in Him is no darkness at all.
6 If we say that we have fellowship with Him, and walk in darkness, we lie and do not practice the truth.
7 But if we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanses us from all sin.
8 If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.
9 If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.
10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar, and His word is not in us. Confession

1 John 2

1 My little children, these things I write to you, so that you may not sin. And if anyone sins, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.
2 And He Himself is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the whole world.

The Test of Knowing Him

[3]Now by this we know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments.
[4]He who says, “I know Him,” and does not keep His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.
[5]But whoever keeps His word, truly the love of God is perfected in him. By this we know that we are in Him.
[6]He who says he abides in Him ought himself also to walk just as He walked.
[7]Brethren,[a] I write no new commandment to you, but an old commandment which you have had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word which you heard from the beginning.[b]
[8]Again, a new commandment I write to you, which thing is true in Him and in you, because the darkness is passing away, and the true light is already shining.
[9]He who says he is in the light, and hates his brother, is in darkness until now.
[10]He who loves his brother abides in the light, and there is no cause for stumbling in him.
[11]But he who hates his brother is in darkness and walks in darkness, and does not know where he is going, because the darkness has blinded his eyes.

Their Spiritual State

[12]I write to you, little children,
Because your sins are forgiven you for His name’s sake.
[13]I write to you, fathers,
Because you have known Him who is from the beginning.
I write to you, young men,
Because you have overcome the wicked one.
I write to you, little children,
Because you have known the Father.
[14]I have written to you, fathers,
Because you have known Him who is from the beginning.
I have written to you, young men,
Because you are strong, and the word of God abides in you,
And you have overcome the wicked one.

Do Not Love the World

15 Do not love the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him.
16 For all that is in the world—the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life—is not of the Father but is of the world.
17 And the world is passing away, and the lust of it; but he who does the will of God abides forever.

Deceptions of the Last Hour

18 Little children, it is the last hour; and as you have heard that the[c] Antichrist is coming, even now many antichrists have come, by which we know that it is the last hour.
19 They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would have continued with us; but they went out that they might be made manifest, that none of them were of us.
20 But you have an anointing from the Holy One, and you know all things.[d] 21 I have not written to you because you do not know the truth, but because you know it, and that no lie is of the truth.
22 Who is a liar but he who denies that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist who denies the Father and the Son.
23 Whoever denies the Son does not have the Father either; he who acknowledges the Son has the Father also.

Let Truth Abide in You

24 Therefore let that abide in you which you heard from the beginning. If what you heard from the beginning abides in you, you also will abide in the Son and in the Father.
25 And this is the promise that He has promised us—eternal life.
26 These things I have written to you concerning those who try to deceive you.
27 But the anointing which you have received from Him abides in you, and you do not need that anyone teach you; but as the same anointing teaches you concerning all things, and is true, and is not a lie, and just as it has taught you, you will[e] abide in Him.

The Children of God

28 And now, little children, abide in Him, that when[f] He appears, we may have confidence and not be ashamed before Him at His coming.

29If you know that He is righteous, you know that everyone who practices righteousness is born of Him.

1 John 3

1Behold what manner of love the Father has bestowed on us, that we should be called children of God![a] Therefore the world does not know us,[b] because it did not know Him.

2Beloved, now we are children of God; and it has not yet been revealed what we shall be, but we know that when He is revealed, we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is.

3And everyone who has this hope in Him purifies himself, just as He is pure.

Sin and the Child of God

4Whoever commits sin also commits lawlessness, and sin is lawlessness.

5And you know that He was manifested to take away our sins, and in Him there is no sin.

6Whoever abides in Him does not sin. Whoever sins has neither seen Him nor known Him.

7Little children, let no one deceive you. He who practices righteousness is righteous, just as He is righteous.

8He who sins is of the devil, for the devil has sinned from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil.

9Whoever has been born of God does not sin, for His seed remains in him; and he cannot sin, because he has been born of God.

The Imperative of Love

(Matt. 22:39)

10In this the children of God and the children of the devil are manifest: Whoever does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor is he who does not love his brother.

11For this is the message that you heard from the beginning, that we should love one another, 12not as Cain who was of the wicked one and murdered his brother. And why did he murder him? Because his works were evil and his brother's righteous.

13Do not marvel, my brethren, if the world hates you.

14We know that we have passed from death to life, because we love the brethren. He who does not love his brother[c] abides in death.

15Whoever hates his brother is a murderer, and you know that no murderer has eternal life abiding in him.

The Outworking of Love

16By this we know love, because He laid down His life for us. And we also ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.

17But whoever has this world's goods, and sees his brother in need, and shuts up his heart from him, how does the love of God abide in him?

18My little children, let us not love in word or in tongue, but in deed and in truth.

19And by this we know[d] that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before Him.

20For if our heart condemns us, God is greater than our heart, and knows all things.

21Beloved, if our heart does not condemn us, we have confidence toward God.

22And whatever we ask we receive from Him, because we keep His commandments and do those things that are pleasing in His sight.

23And this is His commandment: that we should believe on the name of His Son Jesus Christ and love one another, as He gave us[e] commandment.

The Spirit of Truth and the Spirit of Error

24Now he who keeps His commandments abides in Him, and He in him. And by this we know that He abides in us, by the Spirit whom He has given us.

1 John 4

1Beloved, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits, whether they are of God; because many false prophets have gone out into the world.

2By this you know the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is of God, 3and every spirit that does not confess that[a] Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is not of God. And this is the spirit of the Antichrist, which you have heard was coming, and is now already in the world.
4You are of God, little children, and have overcome them, because He who is in you is greater than he who is in the world.
5They are of the world. Therefore they speak as of the world, and the world hears them.
6We are of God. He who knows God hears us; he who is not of God does not hear us. By this we know the spirit of truth and the spirit of error.

Knowing God Through Love

(cf. John 3:16)

7Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God; and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God.
8He who does not love does not know God, for God is love.
9In this the love of God was manifested toward us, that God has sent His only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him.
10In this is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins.
11Beloved, if God so loved us, we also ought to love one another.

Seeing God Through Love

12No one has seen God at any time. If we love one another, God abides in us, and His love has been perfected in us.
13By this we know that we abide in Him, and He in us, because He has given us of His Spirit.
14And we have seen and testify that the Father has sent the Son as Savior of the world.
15Whoever confesses that Jesus is the Son of God, God abides in him, and he in God.
16And we have known and believed the love that God has for us. God is love, and he who abides in love abides in God, and God in him.

The Consummation of Love

17Love has been perfected among us in this: that we may have boldness in the day of judgment; because as He is, so are we in this world.

18There is no fear in love; but perfect love casts out fear, because fear involves torment. But he who fears has not been made perfect in love.

19We love Him[b] because He first loved us.

Obedience by Faith

20If someone says, “I love God,” and hates his brother, he is a liar; for he who does not love his brother whom he has seen, how can[c] he love God whom he has not seen?

21And this commandment we have from Him: that he who loves God must love his brother also.

1 John 5

1Whoever believes that Jesus is the Christ is born of God, and everyone who loves Him who begot also loves him who is begotten of Him.

2By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep His commandments.

3For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments. And His commandments are not burdensome.

4For whatever is born of God overcomes the world. And this is the victory that has overcome the world—our[a] faith.

5Who is he who overcomes the world, but he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God?

The Certainty of God’s Witness

6This is He who came by water and blood—Jesus Christ; not only by water, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit who bears witness, because the Spirit is truth.

7For there are three that bear witness in heaven: the Father, the Word, and the Holy Spirit; and these three are one.

8And there are three that bear witness on earth:[b] the Spirit, the water, and the blood; and these three agree as one.

9If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater; for this is the witness of God which[c] He has testified of His Son.

10 He who believes in the Son of God has the witness in himself; he who does not believe God has made Him a liar, because he has not believed the testimony that God has given of His Son.
11 And this is the testimony: that God has given us eternal life, and this life is in His Son.
12 He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life.
13 These things I have written to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, that you may know that you have eternal life,[d] and that you may continue to believe in the name of the Son of God.

Confidence and Compassion in Prayer

14 Now this is the confidence that we have in Him, that if we ask anything according to His will, He hears us.
15 And if we know that He hears us, whatever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we have asked of Him.
16 If anyone sees his brother sinning a sin which does not lead to death, he will ask, and He will give him life for those who commit sin not leading to death. There is sin leading to death. I do not say that he should pray about that.
17 All unrighteousness is sin, and there is sin not leading to death.

Knowing the True—Rejecting the False

18 We know that whoever is born of God does not sin; but he who has been born of God keeps himself,[e] and the wicked one does not touch him.
19 We know that we are of God, and the whole world lies under the sway of the wicked one.
20 And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us an understanding, that we may know Him who is true; and we are in Him who is true, in His Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God and eternal life.
21 Little children, keep yourselves from idols. Amen.

Annotations for 1 John

1:1–4 Contrary to heretics, who claim communion (koinonia) directly with God through "spiritual" (non-material) means, John teaches communion with God through the Incarnate Son. Especially in view here is the Eucharist, where the physicality of Christ is repulsive to the heretics.

1:1 We means the apostles. Their testimony is true, not that of the false apostles. While John makes a distinction between divine revelation (which was from the beginning, the Word of life) and human sensory perception (heard, seen, looked upon, handled), he has no problem connecting them. Note John's clarity of teaching on Christ's two natures: divine (from the beginning, the Word of life) and human (heard, seen, handled) (see Lk 24:39; Jn 1:14; 20:27, 28).

"When [John] says: 'which was from the beginning,' he touches upon the generation without beginning of the Son, who is coexistent with the Father. 'Was,' therefore, indicates eternity without beginning, just as the Word Himself, the Son, being one with the Father in regard to equality of substance, is eternal and uncreated. That the Word always existed is signified by the words: 'In the beginning was the Word [Jn 1:1]'" (ClemA).

1:2 The divinity of Jesus was manifested in His life, especially His teaching and His miracles (see Jn 2:11).

1:3 Koinonia (Gr.) is far more than fellowship. It is our personal participation with other believers in the life of Christ. Fellowship with us refers to communion—especially eucharistic communion—within the apostolic Church. It is inconceivable to John that the Church not be one and united (see Jn 17:11, 20, 21) or that fellowship not be founded on doctrine (the theological implication of with the Father and with His Son Jesus Christ) and on sacrament (the liturgical implication of koinonia).

1:4 See Jn 15:11; 16:24; 17:13; Php 2:2.

1:5 For John, light is divine energy manifested as truth (true doctrine), virtue and holiness (true behavior), and communion with God in the Church (true spirituality). The strongest of all weapons against darkness is our love for God, a strong, vibrant relationship with Him.

1:6—2:2 John addresses three false gnostic teachings on light. Their intertwined errors are that (1) union with God is indifferent to sin (vv. 6, 7); (2) sin does not exist (vv. 8, 9); and (3) one in union with God cannot sin (1:10–2:2).

John answers: (1) Faith must be evidenced by works, that is, must produce purity (practice the truth, v. 6, where truth is a right relationship with God manifested in a holy and righteous life). And faith must seek forgiveness and cleansing for sin (the blood of Jesus Christ . . . cleanses us from all sin, v. 7). (2) Sin does exist, and the practice of confession is the established basis for growth toward righteousness (v. 9). (3) Though we do sin, we should strive not to. Salvation in Christ is a process, in part toward not sinning (v. 7).

Confession

Perhaps the most misunderstood sacrament of the Christian Church is confession. How did it originate? What role does a priest play? Is there a special procedure for confession? The Scriptures hold answers to these questions.

Concerning our sins, God's Word gives a marvelous promise: "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1:9). The faithful are to bring their sins to God in repentance and receive cleansing and forgiveness.

The early Christian community had a specific practice in this regard. People would stand and confess their sins to God in the presence of the whole congregation! Had not Jesus encouraged His followers to walk in the light together, to confront problems corporately, to "tell it to the church" (Mt 18:17)? Thus, James writes, "Confess your trespasses to one another" (Jam 5:16). But as time went on and the Church grew in numbers, strangers came to visit and public confession became more difficult. Out of mercy, priests began to witness confessions of sin privately on behalf of the Church.

Jesus gave His disciples the authority to forgive sin. "If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained" (Jn 20:23; see also Mt 16:19). From the beginning, Christians understood that the grace of ordination endowed the shepherd of the flock with the discernment and compassion to speak the words of remission on behalf of Christ regarding the sins of those who confess and turn from sin. For God has promised to remove sin from us "as far as the east is from the west" (Ps 102:12).

"You did not choose Me," Jesus told the Twelve, "but I chose you and appointed [ordained] you" (Jn 15:16). To these same disciples He promised, "It is not you who speak, but the Holy Spirit" (Mk 13:11). Whom God calls, He equips. Paul writes to Timothy, "Stir up the gift of God which is in you through the laying on of my hands" (2Ti 1:6). It is the grace of the Holy Spirit that enables the priest to serve God and the people.

Thus, the Church has encouraged her faithful: If you know you have committed a specific sin, do not hide it but confess it before coming to the Holy Eucharist. St. Paul wrote, "Let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of the bread and drink of the cup" (1Co 11:28), and "If we would judge ourselves, we would not be judged" (1Co 11:31).

King David learned a lesson regarding his sin that is recorded for our benefit. For about a year, he had hidden his sins of adultery with Bathsheba and the murder of her husband (2Kg 11:1–12:13). Then, confronted by Nathan the prophet, David repented from his heart and confessed his sin in a psalm that is used for general confession to this day (Ps 50). The joy of salvation was restored to him.

People ask, "Can't I confess to God privately?" Certainly, though there is no clear biblical basis for it. Even general confession occurs in the Church. In His mercy, God provides the sacrament of confession (more properly called the sacrament of repentance) to give us deliverance from sin and from what psychologists call denial. It is easy to pray in isolation yet never come clean. It is far more effective to confess aloud to God before a priest and benefit from his guidance and help.

Thus, we come before the holy icon of Christ, to whom we confess, and are guided by our spiritual father in a cleansing inventory of our lives. When we tell God all, naming our sins and failures, we hear those glorious words of freedom that announce Christ's promise of forgiveness of all our sins. We resolve to "go and sin no more" (Jn 8:11).

2:3–11 The ancient gnostics held two false teachings on God's light: knowledge of God requires neither (1) obedience (vv. 3–8) nor (2) love of others (vv. 9–11). John answers:

(1) To know God is to obey Him. His commandments (vv. 3, 4) are not a legal code but life in Christ, the way of love (vv. 5, 6). Those outside of Christ will not become partakers of His life unless they, by God's grace, practice what He says. "In vain do we applaud Him whose commandments we do not keep" (Bede; see also Lk 9:23; Jam 2:19). The new commandment is Christ's (v. 7), that we love as Christ loved (Jn 13:34; 15:12, 17).

(2) To love God (to be in the light, vv. 9, 10) is also to love each other. "Anyone who comes hating his brother to the font of life where he is to be reborn, to the cup of that precious blood whereby he is to be redeemed, even though he may think he is enlightened by the Lord, is still in darkness. He cannot in any way have put off the darkness of his sins when he did not take care to put on the fundamentals of love" (Bede).

2:12–14 In this poem of comfort and encouragement, John addresses three stages of Christian growth.

(1) Little children are the newly converted (see Lk 10:21), who see clearly that their sins are forgiven (v. 12) and who know the Father (v. 13). (2) Fathers, the mature in understanding, have known Him who is from the beginning (vv. 13, 14). (3) Young men are those who war against the devil (vv. 13, 14), who are strong (v. 14) and who have the word of God (v. 14) living in them.

2:15 The world here is creation after the fall and under the dominion of Satan. It is creation no longer oriented toward God, but temporary and dominated by inordinate passions (see Mt 6:24; Lk 16:13; 1Co 7:29–31).

2:16 The world distorts every realm of God's good creation (see Jam 1:13, 14). There are (1) sensual pleasures of the flesh (physical passions), (2) intellectual attainments and capacities of the eyes (the soul's passions), and (3) inordinate possessions, power, and honors of life (the pride of human spirit). Biblical ascetic practices—prayer, fasting, almsgiving (see Mt 6:1–18)—help us overcome these distortions and live lives of virtue.

2:18 The last hour is the era of the New Covenant, the "eleventh hour" (Mt 20:6). The deceptions at hand, not a specific prediction of the end of the world, are in view. Many antichrists are the heretics, through whom the Antichrist of the end times (see 2Th 2) is doing his spadework.

Very early in the second century, on his way to martyrdom in Rome, Ignatius of Antioch wrote, "These are the last times [see 1Co 7:29]. Let us then be ashamed and fear God's patience so that it may not become condemnation for us. We should either fear the wrath to come or love the grace which is present, one of the two, just so that we may be found in Christ Jesus for true life [see Acts 17:30; 1Th 1:10]. Nothing should seem fitting to you apart from him in whom I bear my bonds as spiritual pearls. May I rise again in them by your prayer, in which I may always participate so that I may be found in the lot apportioned to the Ephesian Christians, who have always agreed with the apostles by the power of Jesus Christ."

2:19 Being on the roll of the Church, even receiving the sacraments, is not enough. We must continue in our belief and manifest the fruit of faith.

2:20, 21 Anointing (Gr. criso, hence "chrismation") recalls the coronation of kings and the ordinations of priests and prophets in the OT, which activated the spiritual gifts and energies needed for their offices. The NT anointing is the ongoing reality of the presence of the Holy Spirit, who works in every member of the Church to preserve her in the truth (Jn 14:26; 16:13–15). You is plural. Anointing is not for independent action but for the one holy Church.

2:22, 23 Theologically, the issues are: (1) Does God the Father have a consubstantial Son? (2) Is the Man Jesus the same Person as God the Son? These, of course, are the two basic issues of Christology: that Jesus Christ is one divine Person in two natures.

2:24–27 To abide in Christ involves not only mental assent to the doctrine of the Incarnation. It is a sacramental union with Him, effected in baptism and nourished in the Eucharist (Jn 6:53–59; 15:1–8). For John, apostolic teaching and writing (vv. 24–26) is identical with being taught of God (v. 27). Without both the work of the Spirit and apostolic doctrine, we would remain in darkness.

3:1 Bede says that at the Judgment, the people of the world "will say to one another, groaning and repenting, 'These are they whom we once held in derision and, as it were, a byword for taunts; witless we judged their life madness and their end without honor. How have they been numbered among the children of God, and is their lot among the saints?'" Christians, of course, are children of God by grace while remaining human by nature.

3:2 Made in God's image and likeness, we are fulfilled by becoming like Him, a process called sanctification or deification. Being "partakers of the divine nature" (2Pt 1:4), we are "transformed into the same image from glory to glory" (2Co 3:18). When we see Him as He is, in the fullness of His glory at the last day, this process will be supremely magnified. John had seen the foretaste of this glory on the Mount of Transfiguration (Mt 17:1–9; Mk 9:2–9; Lk 9:28–36).

How shall we see Him? Through our likeness to Him; our human nature will be glorified with the glorified humanity of the Son (see Col 3:3, 4) and through a knowledge of all three Persons of the Trinity. (Note Paul's expressions, "face to face" and "with unveiled face" in 1Co 13:12; 2Co 3:18).

3:4–9 John is talking in general terms, contrasting this world with the world to come. The Christian, though sinful, does not sin (v. 9; lit., "does not keep on sinning") as the world does. The Church lives under God's influence; the world, under Satan's lawlessness (v. 4), is living without law, in a hardened enmity to God. The devil (v. 8; lit., "slanderer" or "opposer") is a creature, a fallen archangel. From the beginning (v. 8) refers to Satan's ceaseless sinning since his fall.

3:12 We are to give our attention to deeds, not just to words. Abel showed himself righteous, a child of faith and love; Cain showed himself evil, self-centered and envious (see Gn 4:4, 8; Heb 11:4; 12:24).

3:15 "If then we wish to receive the Lord's blessings we should restrain not only the outward expression of anger, but also angry thoughts. More beneficial than controlling our tongue in a moment of anger and refraining from angry words is purifying our heart from rancor and not harboring malicious thoughts against our brethren. The Gospel teaches us to cut off the roots of our sins and not merely their fruits. When we have dug the root of anger out of our heart, we will no longer act with hatred or envy. 'Whoever hates his brother is a murderer' (3:15), for he kills him with the hatred in his mind. The blood of a man who has been slain by the sword can be seen by men, but blood shed by the hatred in the mind is seen by God, who rewards each man with punishment or a crown not only for his acts but for his thoughts and intentions as well. As God Himself says through the Prophet: 'Behold, I am coming to reward them according to their actions and their thoughts' [cf. WSir 11:24]; and the Apostle says: 'And their thoughts accuse or else excuse them in the day when God shall judge the secrets of men' [Rom 2:15, 16]. The Lord Himself teaches us to put aside all anger when He says: 'Whoever is angry with his brother shall be in danger of judgment' [Mt 5:22]. This is the text of the best manuscripts; for it is clear from the purpose of Scripture in this context that the words 'without a cause' were added later. The Lord's intention is that we should remove the root of anger, its spark, so to speak, in whatever way we can, and not keep even a single pretext for anger in our hearts. Otherwise we will be stirred to anger initially for what appears to be a good reason and then find that our incensive power is totally out of control" (JohnCas).

4:3 Antichrist is anyone who does not confess that the Son of God became man while remaining God.

4:6 We is the apostles and their followers.

4:7–11 God is love (v. 8) is not a definition of who God is, but rather describes His relationship to us as our Father. As the only begotten Son (v. 9) sacrificially gave Himself that we might live through Him (v. 9), so we are to give ourselves to Him and one another (v. 11).

4:10 What a statement of God's mercy and grace! (See also 4:19.)

4:12–16 How can we know God lives in us? John gives a fourfold answer: (1) if we love one another (v. 12); (2) if we have been given His Spirit (v. 13); (3) if we can confess Jesus is the Son of God (v. 15); and (4) if we abide in the love of God (v. 16).

🕮 4:12–19 This passage is read on September 26, the Feast of St. John the Theologian.

5:1, 2 Who is it that truly believes that Jesus is the Christ? Those who live in the way Christ commanded, who love others.

5:3 How is it that God's commandments are not burdensome? We live these commandments by faith and in God's love, which makes them light on our fallen nature. They are hard and rough only to those who are living a sinful life. That the Kingdom of heaven belongs to those who suffer makes even suffering sweet.

5:6–12 By water and blood (v. 6) is a reference both to the constancy of the Incarnate Son throughout His life and to the mingled water and blood that poured from Jesus' side (Jn 19:34), which is a type of baptism. Similarly the Spirit, the water, and the blood (v. 8) refers to the unity of the basic sacraments: chrismation, baptism, and the Eucharist.

5:13 When we know we have been given the gift of eternal life, we are to continue to believe and follow the Son of God.

5:16 What about those Christians who are not living righteously? Sin leading to death is willful, continual disbelief in the grace of the Holy Spirit toward us. (See Mt 12:28, 31, 32; Heb 6:4–6;

10:26–31.)

5:21 Idols are either false gods or things that turn us away from God (Col 3:5).

The Second Book of John

Author

John the Apostle. Although some in the third and fourth centuries doubted John's authorship, the early witnesses favor John and express no alternative.

Date

There is no firm evidence for fixing a date. The epistle's similarities to the Gospel of John, 1 John and 3 John suggest a date of composition close to that of these other books (AD 90–95).

Major Theme

Tests of true Christian care. The love of our Incarnate God brings promised victory over the antichrist.

Background

The epistle is addressed to "the elect lady" (v. 1), most likely a church under John's oversight. The Church, a feminine word in Greek, elsewhere is called the "bride" of Christ the Lord (kyrios), and thus she is easily called kyria, the feminine of kyrios.

John is warning his readers against the "deceivers" (v. 7), heretics who deny the Incarnation of the Son of God. These false apostles visited various churches, posing as true disciples and taking advantage of Christian hospitality.

Outline

I. Greeting and Benediction (vv. 1–3)
II. Follow the Law of Love (vv. 4–6)
III. Beware of Deceiving Heretics (vv. 7–11)
IV. John's Plans and Farewell (vv. 12, 13)

2 John 1

Greeting the Elect Lady

[1]The Elder,

To the elect lady and her children, whom I love in truth, and not only I, but also all those who have known the truth,

[2]because of the truth which abides in us and will be with us forever:

[3]Grace, mercy, and peace will be with you[a] from God the Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

Walk in Christ's Commandments

[4]I rejoiced greatly that I have found some of your children walking in truth, as we received commandment from the Father.

[5]And now I plead with you, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment to you, but that which we have had from the beginning: that we love one another.

[6]This is love, that we walk according to His commandments. This is the commandment, that as you have heard from the beginning, you should walk in it.

Beware of Antichrist Deceivers

[7]For many deceivers have gone out into the world who do not confess Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist.

[8]Look to yourselves, that we[b] do not lose those things we worked for, but that we[c] may receive a full reward.

[9]Whoever transgresses[d] and does not abide in the doctrine of Christ does not have God. He who abides in the doctrine of Christ has both the Father and the Son.

[10]If anyone comes to you and does not bring this doctrine, do not receive him into your house nor greet him;

[11]for he who greets him shares in his evil deeds.

John's Farewell Greeting

[12]Having many things to write to you, I did not wish to do so with paper and ink; but I hope to come to you and speak face to face, that our joy may be full.

[13]The children of your elect sister greet you. Amen.

Annotations for 2 John

1 John calls himself the elder, or presbyter, which confirms that in the NT there is not always a distinction between bishops and presbyters. He is confident those who stand against the apostolic Church are in the minority. He assumes the Church is one, a true, concrete unity, and that it follows one rule of faith, whereas the unorthodox agree mainly in their rejection of this common Faith.

3 Calling Christ the Son of the Father strongly refutes the deceivers and gnostics. Jesus is the Son; the Son is by nature what His Father is, and He does what His Father does (see Jn 5:19).

4–6 False teachers were introducing new, nontraditional practices and breaking the covenant of unity based on God's love—the heart of new covenant life.

7 The heretics here deny either Jesus' full humanity or His full divinity (or the full divinity of the Holy Spirit). The Jews were denying Jesus is the Christ, the Messiah. All these deny Jesus is our Archpriest in His human nature, and that He will come in His glorified human body to judge the dead and the living.

9 The Orthodox doctrine of the Incarnation (the doctrine of Christ) is, according to John, necessary for knowledge and communion with God. God is synonymous with the Father, but, according to the doctrine of Christ, the Son, Christ, is also God.

10, 11 It is reported that one day John went into a public bathhouse and found there the well-known gnostic heretic, Cerinthus. The apostle ran out, crying, "Let us get out of here, for fear the place falls in, now that Cerinthus, the enemy of the truth, is inside." (See Tts 3:10, 11.)

13 The children of your elect sister most likely refers to the church from which John is writing, namely Ephesus.

The Third Book of John

Author

Third John has the same author as 2 John. The language and style are the same. Both are closely related to 1 John and both are written by "the Elder," a name by which John the Apostle was known in Asia Minor in his old age.

Date

As with 2 John, there is no firm evidence for fixing a date. It is probable that all of John's letters were written about the same time (AD 90–95).

Major Theme

Genuine leadership versus false leadership. Third John exhorts the Church to persevere in the true faith which they have received. True Christian leaders will adhere to that faith and respect those who passed it on to them.

Background

One of the churches under John's oversight is having a jurisdictional dispute. Evangelists sent out by John have reported back to their home church, probably Ephesus, testifying that Gaius—full of love and loyalty—had liberally supported their mission. On the other hand, Diotrephes, apparently the local bishop or aspiring to be so, has vigorously opposed them and lorded over the church instead of leading it. He was resistant to apostolic oversight (v. 9) and forbade the welcoming of missionaries from John. It may be that Demetrius (v. 12) is another missionary whom John is intending to send that way and who also will be in need of hospitality. Thus, John writes to Diotrephes' church, but he does not trust Diotrephes with his letter (v. 9).

Outline

I. Greeting to Gaius (vv. 1–4)
II. Commendation of Gaius (vv. 5–8)
III. Condemnation of Diotrephes (vv. 9–11)
IV. Recommendation of Demetrius (v. 12)
V. Farewell (vv. 13, 14)

3 John 1

Greeting to Gaius

[1]The Elder,
To the beloved Gaius, whom I love in truth:
[2]Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers.
[3]For I rejoiced greatly when brethren came and testified of the truth that is in you, just as you walk in the truth.
[4]I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth.[a]

Gaius Commended for Generosity

[5]Beloved, you do faithfully whatever you do for the brethren and[b] for strangers,
[6]who have borne witness of your love before the church. If you send them forward on their journey in a manner worthy of God, you will do well,
[7]because they went forth for His name's sake, taking nothing from the Gentiles.
[8]We therefore ought to receive[c] such, that we may become fellow workers for the truth.

Diotrephes and Demetrius

[9]I wrote to the church, but Diotrephes, who loves to have the preeminence among them, does not receive us.
[10]Therefore, if I come, I will call to mind his deeds which he does, prating against us with malicious words. And not content with that, he himself does not receive the brethren, and forbids those who wish to, putting them out of the church.
[11]Beloved, do not imitate what is evil, but what is good. He who does good is of God, but[d] he who does evil has not seen God.
[12]Demetrius has a good testimony from all, and from the truth itself. And we also bear witness, and you know that our testimony is true.

Farewell Greeting

13I had many things to write, but I do not wish to write to you with pen and ink;

14but I hope to see you shortly, and we shall speak face to face. Peace to you. Our friends greet you. Greet the friends by name.

Annotations for 3 John

1 This is probably not the same Gaius mentioned in Rom 16:23 and 1Co 1:14, 15.

3, 4 Truth for John here is not doctrine or thought, but the Christian's manner of life. Like all good fathers, John finds his greatest pleasure in seeing his children walk in truth.

5 Strangers are probably the missionaries sent by John.

7 The missionaries went forth for the specific purpose of preaching the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

8 One way we may participate in ministry is by giving material help to those with spiritual gifts. The donor becomes a coworker in spiritual things (see Mt 10:41).

9, 10 Diotrephes means "nursed or nourished by Zeus." Early Christians kept their original name after their baptism. Diotrephes loved being preeminent—not the first among equals but peerless, with a passion for personal aggrandizement. This sin results in insubordination: Diotrephes slanders John, the last of the twelve apostles, by refusing to accept him as either an apostle or a presbyter. By rejecting John's missionaries he rejects John himself. And he disdains the apostolic, catholic ways of the Church, setting himself up as a petty tyrant.

12 Demetrius is either a member of Diotrephes' church, one of the emissaries already sent by John, or yet another emissary from John—perhaps the carrier of this letter.

The Book of Jude

Author

Jude, a relative of Jesus (called the "brother" of the Lord in Mt 13:55; Mk 6:3) and the brother of James the Just. This is not the Jude who was one of the Twelve, also called Thaddaeus or Lebbaeus (v. 17; see Mt 10:3; Mk 3:18; Lk 6:16; Acts 1:13).

Date

The date of the letter is uncertain, but sometime in the period AD 60–80 seems reasonable.

Major Theme

Contending earnestly for the faith. Jude is a polemic directed against false teachers within the Church who are jeopardizing the salvation of many. Jude bases his attack on examples from the Old Testament and the tradition of God dealing harshly with those who assault His people.

Background

To whom Jude writes is difficult to discern. Some scholars have suggested that the addressees are Christians from a Hellenistic Jewish background. The heresy Jude opposes seems to be an early form of gnosticism. These heretics are still members of the Church (vv. 4, 12, 22, 23), carrying on an aggressive campaign of propaganda and subversion. Jude's mode of attack is more ad hominem, that is, a censure of persons, than theological: We will know them by their fruits, he says. These heretics are obviously bad trees; they are not to be honored with a theological rebuttal.

Outline

I. Greeting (vv. 1, 2)
II. The Presence of False Teachers (vv. 3, 4)
III. The Judgment of Such False Teachers (vv. 5–7)
IV. The Character of False Teachers (vv. 8–16)
V. Resistance to False Teachers (vv. 17–23)
VI. Doxology (vv. 24, 25)

Jude 1

Greeting to the Called

1 Jude, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James,

To those who are called, sanctified[a] by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ:

2 Mercy, peace, and love be multiplied to you.

Contend for the Faith

3 Beloved, while I was very diligent to write to you concerning our common salvation, I found it necessary to write to you exhorting you to contend earnestly for the faith which was once for all delivered to the saints.

4 For certain men have crept in unnoticed, who long ago were marked out for this condemnation, ungodly men, who turn the grace of our God into lewdness and deny the only Lord God[b] and our Lord Jesus Christ.

Old and New Apostates

5 But I want to remind you, though you once knew this, that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed those who did not believe.

6 And the angels who did not keep their proper domain, but left their own abode, He has reserved in everlasting chains under darkness for the judgment of the great day;

7 as Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities around them in a similar manner to these, having given themselves over to sexual immorality and gone after strange flesh, are set forth as an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 Likewise also these dreamers defile the flesh, reject authority, and speak evil of dignitaries.

9 Yet Michael the archangel, in contending with the devil, when he disputed about the body of Moses, dared not bring against him a reviling accusation, but said, “The Lord rebuke you!”

10 But these speak evil of whatever they do not know; and whatever they know naturally, like brute beasts, in these things they corrupt themselves.

11 Woe to them! For they have gone in the way of Cain, have run greedily in the error of Balaam for profit, and perished in the rebellion of Korah.

Apostates Depraved and Doomed

12 These are spots in your love feasts, while they feast with you without fear, serving only themselves. They are clouds without water, carried about[c] by the winds; late autumn trees without fruit, twice dead, pulled up by the roots;
13 raging waves of the sea, foaming up their own shame; wandering stars for whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever.
14 Now Enoch, the seventh from Adam, prophesied about these men also, saying, "Behold, the Lord comes with ten thousands of His saints, 15 "to execute judgment on all, to convict all who are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have committed in an ungodly way, and of all the harsh things which ungodly sinners have spoken against Him."

Apostates Predicted

16 These are grumblers, complainers, walking according to their own lusts; and they mouth great swelling words, flattering people to gain advantage.
17 But you, beloved, remember the words which were spoken before by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ:
18 how they told you that there would be mockers in the last time who would walk according to their own ungodly lusts.
19 These are sensual persons, who cause divisions, not having the Spirit.

Maintain Your Life with God

20 But you, beloved, building yourselves up on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Spirit,
21 keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.
22 And on some have compassion, making a distinction;[d] 23 but others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire,[e] hating even the garment defiled by the flesh.

Glory to God

24 Now to Him who is able to keep you[f] from stumbling,
And to present you faultless
Before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy,

25 To God our Savior,[g]
Who alone is wise,[h]
Be glory and majesty,
Dominion and power,[i]
Both now and forever.
Amen.

Annotations for Jude

1 Preserved in Jesus Christ is a promise of God to all faithful. But not all are so faithful, as Jude will relate in this letter (see Jn 10:27–30; 2Ti 1:12; Heb 12:2).

3 Jude had intended to write a more general letter on salvation, but the danger of false teachers caused him to write a polemic instead. There is one salvation which is the same for all the elect, our common salvation. And this salvation is set in apostolic tradition once for all delivered to the saints; it cannot be changed.

4 This condemnation involves body and soul (see Jn 5:29). Only Lord God is better translated "only Sovereign" (Gr. despotes).

5–7 The recipients of this letter once knew this (v. 5), the mysteries of the faith, because the totality of that faith had already been delivered to them (v. 3). Jude gives three arresting examples of the danger of departing from truth and righteousness:

(1) In the Exodus from Egypt (v. 5), all were saved through the baptism of the Red Sea, but not all responded to their deliverance with ongoing deeds of repentance and godliness (Nm 14:26–37; see 1Co 10:1–13). The lesson for us as Christians is to keep walking in our union with Christ.

(2) The proper domain of the angels is in their likeness and proximity to God. Their own abode is heaven, though they may serve elsewhere. Those who left their proper place are confined far from God, having become bound to spiritual darkness. They await the judgment (see 2Pt 2:4), when bonds with God will be demolished forever. The lesson for Christians is that their proper domain is in being children of God by grace, and their own abode is in the one holy Church.

(3) The men in the plains around Sodom and Gomorrah lusted after angels because of their sin of immorality and homosexuality (Gn 19:1–29). The lesson for Christians is to live under God's call to a chaste and pure life.

8 Authority (lit., "lordships"; also translated "dominion"; see Eph 1:21; Col 1:16) and dignitaries (lit., "glories") refer to angels, perhaps in this case to fallen angels (see the parallel in 2Pt 2:10). Although, they are hostile to God, they are nonetheless to be treated dispassionately.

9 Apparently from the apocryphal book The Assumption of Moses (see Dt 34:5, 6 for the possibility of the assumption of Moses; also Zec 3:1, 2). The people of God are defended by holy angels. This is also a gracious warning to believers concerning vehement accusations against God's enemies: Let God judge. The archangel Michael showed this restraint (Zec 3:2) even though he was dealing with the devil himself.

10 Know naturally: That is, they know by their own natural instincts, apart from any specific revelation of the Holy Spirit. God has given all persons a measure of "common sense."

11 A threefold woe or warning of great sorrow, using a triad of Israel's most famous offenders: (1) Cain (Gn 4:3–24) sinned by faithlessness and envy, especially over an honor given to another. His sin led to murder (Gn 4:16–24). (2) Balaam (Nm 22–24) sinned by greed, which led to lying and an all-out assault upon the truth, which he knew as well. (3) Korah (Nm 16:1–35) sinned by ambition, pride, and arrogance, grasping for leadership against God's will. His sin led to blatant rebellion against God.

12 Jude has a gift for using graphic word pictures. Spots should be rendered "hidden reefs," those razor-sharp underwater growths that can damage and sink great ships. The love feast, or "agape," was a liturgical banquet tied to the Eucharist. Designed to be a peaceful, joyful meal, it was sabotaged by the false teachers, the hidden reefs in this peaceful ocean of loving friendship. Clouds without water are spiritually dry teachers who do not possess what they claim to have. Carried about by the winds is the effect of listening to the suggestions of invisible spirits and obeying their own passions. Twice dead means they were dead before they believed and dead a second time after they turned their backs on Christ.

If barrenness is worthy of being cast into the fire (Mt 3:10), how much worse is bearing rotten fruit (Mt 7:17–19). In contrast to the saints, who are firmly rooted in Christ (Eph 3:17; Col 2:7), the false teachers are pulled up by the roots and so cannot remain with Christ or in His Church (Mt 13:24–30; Jn 15:6).

13 Raging waves are perverse teachers—restless, dark, bitter, destructive, and persistent (Is 57:20, 21)—who are casting up as foam as they hit the breakwater of the Church. The higher they raise themselves, the more disorderly and dissipated they become: they crash and perish. In astronomy a wandering star is either (1) a planet that never rises or sets in the same place or (2) a "shooting star," an asteroid, which shines brilliantly but only briefly and then burns out in darkness. These are likely fallen angels, for in the Book of Enoch and other late Jewish apocalyptic literature, "star" often means "angel."

14, 15 Thus, has God always judged the wicked who dwell among the righteous.

16 Those who are consistently grumblers and complainers are often telegraphing a deeper problem, that is, walking according to one's own lusts. The more a person truly desires the fullness of life in Christ, the easier it becomes to renounce those things that are contrary to godliness.

19 Sensual (Gr. psychikoi) means operating by the powers of the human soul alone without the indwelling power of the Spirit, that which makes one "spiritual" (see 1Co 2:13–15; 15:44–46). Cause divisions: Having separated themselves from the way of the righteous and the life of the Spirit, the divisive "do not have the glue of charity" (Bede).

20, 21 Our chief safeguards against heresy are (1) growing in the faith of the Church—vital dependence upon God the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit; and (2) maintaining faith by praying.

24, 25 Jude is quoting an ancient Christian benediction or doxology probably taken from an early liturgical tradition.

The Book of the Revelation

Author

Traditionally, the Revelation (also called the Apocalypse) has been attributed to the apostle John.

Date

The vast majority of scholars hold that Revelation was composed during the fierce persecution in the latter part of the reign of Domitian (AD 81–96), when John was in exile on the Isle of Patmos.

Major Theme

Faithfulness in tribulation. "Revelation" (Gr. apokalypsis) means the uncovering of something that has been previously hidden, in this case the final triumph of the kingdom of God. Since this final triumph is assured, our faithfulness now—before its full revelation—will lead to ultimate victory. Subthemes include (1) divine judgment of human wickedness and (2) the symbolic presentation of most major New Testament teaching concerning eschatology, the study of the last things.

Background

The early Church was convinced the Second Coming was near (Acts 2:16, 17; Heb 1:1; 1Jn 2:18). John's vision was first of all a reminder from God to the churches not to give in to their adversaries, but to hold fast to their faith. The book can also be seen as prophecy addressing a time far distant from its era of composition, predicting actual future events; or as an exposition of the ongoing relationships and conflicts between God and His kingdom, humanity, and Satan. These three approaches are not contradictory but complementary; all are valid.

While seen as canonical and inspired by God, the Revelation is the only New Testament book not publicly read in the services of the Orthodox Church. This is partly because the book was only gradually accepted as canonical in many parts of Christendom. In addition, in the second and third centuries Revelation was widely twisted and sensationally misinterpreted, and the erroneous teachings brought troublesome confusion to Christians—a trend that continues to this day.

Revelation 1

Introduction and Benediction

1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave Him to show His servants —things which must shortly take place. And He sent and signified it by His angel to His servant John,
2 who bore witness to the word of God, and to the testimony of Jesus Christ, to all things that he saw.
3 Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written in it; for the time is near.

Greeting the Seven Churches

4 John, to the seven churches which are in Asia:
Grace to you and peace from Him who is and who was and who is to come, and from the seven Spirits who are before His throne, 5 and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn from the dead, and the ruler over the kings of the earth. To Him who loved us and washed[a] us from our sins in His own blood, 6 and has made us kings[b] and priests to His God and Father, to Him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.
7 Behold, He is coming with clouds, and every eye will see Him, even they who pierced Him. And all the tribes of the earth will mourn because of Him.
Even so, Amen.
8 "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End,"[c] says the Lord,[d] "who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty."

Vision of the Son of Man

9 I, John, both[e] your brother and companion in the tribulation and kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was on the island that is called Patmos for the word of God and for the testimony of Jesus Christ.
10 I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day, and I heard behind me a loud voice, as of a trumpet,
11 saying, "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last," and,[f]
"What you see, write in a book and send it to the seven churches which are in Asia:[g] to Ephesus, to Smyrna, to Pergamos, to Thyatira, to Sardis, to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea."

12Then I turned to see the voice that spoke with me. And having turned I saw seven golden lampstands, 13and in the midst of the seven lampstands One like the Son of Man, clothed with a garment down to the feet and girded about the chest with a golden band.

14His head and hair were white like wool, as white as snow, and His eyes like a flame of fire;

15His feet were like fine brass, as if refined in a furnace, and His voice as the sound of many waters;

16He had in His right hand seven stars, out of His mouth went a sharp two-edged sword, and His countenance was like the sun shining in its strength.

17And when I saw Him, I fell at His feet as dead. But He laid His right hand on me, saying to me,[h] "Do not be afraid; I am the First and the Last.

18"I am He who lives, and was dead, and behold, I am alive forevermore. Amen. And I have the keys of Hades and of Death.

19"Write[i] the things which you have seen, and the things which are, and the things which will take place after this.

20"The mystery of the seven stars which you saw in My right hand, and the seven golden lampstands: The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands which you saw[j] are the seven churches.

Revelation 2

The Loveless Church

1"To the angel of the church of Ephesus write,

'These things says He who holds the seven stars in His right hand, who walks in the midst of the seven golden lampstands:

2"I know your works, your labor, your patience, and that you cannot bear those who are evil. And you have tested those who say they are apostles and are not, and have found them liars;

3"and you have persevered and have patience, and have labored for My name's sake and have not become weary.

4"Nevertheless I have this against you, that you have left your first love.

5"Remember therefore from where you have fallen; repent and do the first works, or else I will come to you quickly and remove your lampstand from its place—unless you repent.

6 “But this you have, that you hate the deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

7 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes I will give to eat from the tree of life, which is in the midst of the Paradise of God.” ’

The Persecuted Church

8 “And to the angel of the church in Smyrna write,

‘These things says the First and the Last, who was dead, and came to life:

9 “I know your works, tribulation, and poverty (but you are rich); and I know the blasphemy of those who say they are Jews and are not, but are a synagogue of Satan.

10 “Do not fear any of those things which you are about to suffer. Indeed, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, that you may be tested, and you will have tribulation ten days. Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life.

11 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. He who overcomes shall not be hurt by the second death.” ’

The Compromising Church

12 “And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write,

‘These things says He who has the sharp two-edged sword:

13 “I know your works, and where you dwell, where Satan’s throne is. And you hold fast to My name, and did not deny My faith even in the days in which Antipas was My faithful martyr, who was killed among you, where Satan dwells.

14 “But I have a few things against you, because you have there those who hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to idols, and to commit sexual immorality.

15 “Thus you also have those who hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.[a] 16 “Repent, or else I will come to you quickly and will fight against them with the sword of My mouth.

17 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes I will give some of the hidden manna to eat. And I will give him a white stone, and on the stone a new name written which no one knows except him who receives it." '

The Corrupt Church

18 "And to the angel of the church in Thyatira write,

'These things says the Son of God, who has eyes like a flame of fire, and His feet like fine brass:

19 "I know your works, love, service, faith,[b] and your patience; and as for your works, the last are more than the first.

20 "Nevertheless I have a few things against you, because you allow[c] that woman[d] Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess, to teach and seduce[e] My servants to commit sexual immorality and eat things sacrificed to idols.

21 "And I gave her time to repent of her sexual immorality, and she did not repent.[f]

22 "Indeed I will cast her into a sickbed, and those who commit adultery with her into great tribulation, unless they repent of their[g] deeds.

23 "I will kill her children with death, and all the churches shall know that I am He who searches the minds and hearts. And I will give to each one of you according to your works.

24 "Now to you I say, and[h] to the rest in Thyatira, as many as do not have this doctrine, who have not known the depths of Satan, as they say, I will[i] put on you no other burden.

25 "But hold fast what you have till I come.

26 "And he who overcomes, and keeps My works until the end, to him I will give power over the nations—

> 27 'He shall rule them with a rod of iron;
> They shall be dashed to pieces like the potter's vessels'[j]— as I also have received from My Father;

28 "and I will give him the morning star.

29 "He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches." '

Revelation 3

The Dead Church

1 “And to the angel of the church in Sardis write,

‘These things says He who has the seven Spirits of God and the seven stars: “I know your works, that you have a name that you are alive, but you are dead.

2 “Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die, for I have not found your works perfect before God.[a]

3 “Remember therefore how you have received and heard; hold fast and repent. Therefore if you will not watch, I will come upon you as a thief, and you will not know what hour I will come upon you.

4 “You[b] have a few names even in Sardis who have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with Me in white, for they are worthy.

5 “He who overcomes shall be clothed in white garments, and I will not blot out his name from the Book of Life; but I will confess his name before My Father and before His angels.

6 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’

The Faithful Church

7 “And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write,

‘These things says He who is holy, He who is true, “He who has the key of David, He who opens and no one shuts, and shuts and no one opens”:[c]

8 “I know your works. See, I have set before you an open door, and no one can shut it;[d] for you have a little strength, have kept My word, and have not denied My name.

9 “Indeed I will make those of the synagogue of Satan, who say they are Jews and are not, but lie—indeed I will make them come and worship before your feet, and to know that I have loved you.

10 “Because you have kept My command to persevere, I also will keep you from the hour of trial which shall come upon the whole world, to test those who dwell on the earth.

11 “Behold,[e] I am coming quickly! Hold fast what you have, that no one may take your crown.

12 “He who overcomes, I will make him a pillar in the temple of My God, and he shall go out no more. I will write on him the name of My God and the name of the city of My God, the New Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven from My God. And I will write on him My new name.

13 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’

The Lukewarm Church

14 “And to the angel of the church of the Laodiceans[f] write,

‘These things says the Amen, the Faithful and True Witness, the Beginning of the creation of God:

15 “I know your works, that you are neither cold nor hot. I could wish you were cold or hot.

16 “So then, because you are lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot,[g] I will vomit you out of My mouth.

17 “Because you say, ‘I am rich, have become wealthy, and have need of nothing’—and do not know that you are wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked—

18 “I counsel you to buy from Me gold refined in the fire, that you may be rich; and white garments, that you may be clothed, that the shame of your nakedness may not be revealed; and anoint your eyes with eye salve, that you may see.

19 “As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten. Therefore be zealous and repent.

20 “Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him, and he with Me.

21 “To him who overcomes I will grant to sit with Me on My throne, as I also overcame and sat down with My Father on His throne.

22 “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’ ”

Revelation 4

The Throne Room of Heaven

(Is. 6:1–3)

1 After these things I looked, and behold, a door standing open in heaven. And the first voice which I heard was like a trumpet speaking with me, saying, “Come up here, and I will show you things which must take place after this.”

2 Immediately I was in the Spirit; and behold, a throne set in heaven, and One sat on the throne.

3 And He who sat there was[a] like a jasper and a sardius stone in appearance; and there was a rainbow around the throne, in appearance like an emerald.

4 Around the throne were twenty-four thrones, and on the thrones I saw twenty-four elders sitting, clothed in white robes; and they had crowns[b] of gold on their heads.

5 And from the throne proceeded lightnings, thunderings, and voices.[c] Seven lamps of fire were burning before the throne, which are the[d] seven Spirits of God.

6 Before the throne there was[e] a sea of glass, like crystal. And in the midst of the throne, and around the throne, were four living creatures full of eyes in front and in back.

7 The first living creature was like a lion, the second living creature like a calf, the third living creature had a face like a man, and the fourth living creature was like a flying eagle.

8 The four living creatures, each having six wings, were full of eyes around and within. And they do not rest day or night, saying:

> "Holy, holy, holy,[f]
> Lord God Almighty,
> Who was and is and is to come!"

9 Whenever the living creatures give glory and honor and thanks to Him who sits on the throne, who lives forever and ever,

10 the twenty-four elders fall down before Him who sits on the throne and worship Him who lives forever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying:

> 11 "You are worthy, O Lord,[g]
> To receive glory and honor and power;
> For You created all things,
> And by Your will they exist[h] and were created." Liturgy in the New Testament Church

Revelation 5

The Lamb Takes the Scroll

1 And I saw in the right hand of Him who sat on the throne a scroll written inside and on the back, sealed with seven seals.

[2]Then I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, “Who is worthy to open the scroll and to loose its seals?”
[3]And no one in heaven or on the earth or under the earth was able to open the scroll, or to look at it.
[4]So I wept much, because no one was found worthy to open and read[a] the scroll, or to look at it.
[5]But one of the elders said to me, “Do not weep. Behold, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has prevailed to open the scroll and to loose[b] its seven seals.”
[6]And I looked, and behold,[c] in the midst of the throne and of the four living creatures, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as though it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent out into all the earth.
[7]Then He came and took the scroll out of the right hand of Him who sat on the throne.

Worthy Is the Lamb

[8]Now when He had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, each having a harp, and golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints.
[9]And they sang a new song, saying:

> “You are worthy to take the scroll,
> And to open its seals;
> For You were slain,
> And have redeemed us to God by Your blood
> Out of every tribe and tongue and people and nation,
> [10]And have made us[d] kings[e] and priests to our God;
> And we[f] shall reign on the earth.”

[11]Then I looked, and I heard the voice of many angels around the throne, the living creatures, and the elders; and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands, [12]saying with a loud voice:

> “Worthy is the Lamb who was slain
> To receive power and riches and wisdom,
> And strength and honor and glory and blessing!”

13 And every creature which is in heaven and on the earth and under the earth and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, I heard saying:

"Blessing and honor and glory and power
Be to Him who sits on the throne,
And to the Lamb, forever and ever!"[g]

14 Then the four living creatures said, "Amen!" And the twenty-four[h] elders fell down and worshiped Him who lives forever and ever.[i]

Revelation 6

First Seal: The Conqueror

1 Now I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seals;[a] and I heard one of the four living creatures saying with a voice like thunder, "Come and see."
2 And I looked, and behold, a white horse. He who sat on it had a bow; and a crown was given to him, and he went out conquering and to conquer.

Second Seal: Conflict on Earth

3 When He opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature saying, "Come and see."[b]
4 Another horse, fiery red, went out. And it was granted to the one who sat on it to take peace from the earth, and that people should kill one another; and there was given to him a great sword.

Third Seal: Scarcity on Earth

5 When He opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, "Come and see." So I looked, and behold, a black horse, and he who sat on it had a pair of scales in his hand.
6 And I heard a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying, "A quart[c] of wheat for a denarius,[d] and three quarts of barley for a denarius; and do not harm the oil and the wine."

Fourth Seal: Widespread Death on Earth

7 When He opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature saying, "Come and see."

8 So I looked, and behold, a pale horse. And the name of him who sat on it was Death, and Hades followed with him. And power was given to them over a fourth of the earth, to kill with sword, with hunger, with death, and by the beasts of the earth.

Fifth Seal: The Cry of the Martyrs

9 When He opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the testimony which they held.
10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, “How long, O Lord, holy and true, until You judge and avenge our blood on those who dwell on the earth?”
11 Then a white robe was given to each of them; and it was said to them that they should rest a little while longer, until both the number of their fellow servants and their brethren, who would be killed as they were, was completed.

Sixth Seal: Cosmic Disturbances

12 I looked when He opened the sixth seal, and behold,[e] there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon[f] became like blood.
13 And the stars of heaven fell to the earth, as a fig tree drops its late figs when it is shaken by a mighty wind.
14 Then the sky receded as a scroll when it is rolled up, and every mountain and island was moved out of its place.
15 And the kings of the earth, the great men, the rich men, the commanders,[g] the mighty men, every slave and every free man, hid themselves in the caves and in the rocks of the mountains, 16 and said to the mountains and rocks, “Fall on us and hide us from the face of Him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb!
17 “For the great day of His wrath has come, and who is able to stand?”

Revelation 7

The Sealed of Israel

1 After these things I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, on the sea, or on any tree.

2 Then I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God. And he cried with a loud voice to the four angels to whom it was granted to harm the earth and the sea,

3 saying, “Do not harm the earth, the sea, or the trees till we have sealed the servants of our God on their foreheads.”

4 And I heard the number of those who were sealed. One hundred and forty-four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel were sealed:

5 of the tribe of Judah twelve thousand were sealed;[a] of the tribe of Reuben
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Gad
twelve thousand were sealed;
6 of the tribe of Asher
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Naphtali
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Manasseh
twelve thousand were sealed;
7 of the tribe of Simeon
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Levi
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Issachar
twelve thousand were sealed;
8 of the tribe of Zebulun
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Joseph
twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Benjamin
twelve thousand were sealed.

A Multitude from the Great Tribulation

9 After these things I looked, and behold, a great multitude which no one could number, of all nations, tribes, peoples, and tongues, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, with palm branches in their hands,

10and crying out with a loud voice, saying, “Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!”
11All the angels stood around the throne and the elders and the four living creatures, and fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, 12saying:

> “Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom,
> Thanksgiving and honor and power and might,
> Be to our God forever and ever.
> Amen.”

13Then one of the elders answered, saying to me, “Who are these arrayed in white robes, and where did they come from?”
14And I said to him, “Sir,[b] you know.” So he said to me, “These are the ones who come out of the great tribulation, and washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.
15“Therefore they are before the throne of God, and serve Him day and night in His temple. And He who sits on the throne will dwell among them.
16“They shall neither hunger anymore nor thirst anymore; the sun shall not strike them, nor any heat;
17“for the Lamb who is in the midst of the throne will shepherd them and lead them to living fountains of waters.[c] And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes.”

Revelation 8

Seventh Seal: Prelude to the Seven Trumpets

1When He opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.
2And I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and to them were given seven trumpets.
3Then another angel, having a golden censer, came and stood at the altar. He was given much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all the saints upon the golden altar which was before the throne.
4And the smoke of the incense, with the prayers of the saints, ascended before God from the angel's hand.

5 Then the angel took the censer, filled it with fire from the altar, and threw it to the earth. And there were noises, thunderings, lightnings, and an earthquake.

6 So the seven angels who had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound.

First Trumpet: Vegetation Struck

7 The first angel sounded: And hail and fire followed, mingled with blood, and they were thrown to the earth.[a] And a third of the trees were burned up, and all green grass was burned up.

Second Trumpet: The Seas Struck

8 Then the second angel sounded: And something like a great mountain burning with fire was thrown into the sea, and a third of the sea became blood.

9 And a third of the living creatures in the sea died, and a third of the ships were destroyed.

Third Trumpet: The Waters Struck

10 Then the third angel sounded: And a great star fell from heaven, burning like a torch, and it fell on a third of the rivers and on the springs of water.

11 The name of the star is Wormwood. A third of the waters became wormwood, and many men died from the water, because it was made bitter.

Fourth Trumpet: The Heavens Struck

12 Then the fourth angel sounded: And a third of the sun was struck, a third of the moon, and a third of the stars, so that a third of them were darkened. A third of the day did not shine, and likewise the night.

13 And I looked, and I heard an angel[b] flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, "Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the remaining blasts of the trumpet of the three angels who are about to sound!"

Revelation 9

Fifth Trumpet: The Locusts from the Bottomless Pit

1 Then the fifth angel sounded: And I saw a star fallen from heaven to the earth. To him was given the key to the bottomless pit.
2 And he opened the bottomless pit, and smoke arose out of the pit like the smoke of a great furnace. So the sun and the air were darkened because of the smoke of the pit.
3 Then out of the smoke locusts came upon the earth. And to them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.
4 They were commanded not to harm the grass of the earth, or any green thing, or any tree, but only those men who do not have the seal of God on their foreheads.
5 And they were not given authority to kill them, but to torment them for five months. Their torment was like the torment of a scorpion when it strikes a man.
6 In those days men will seek death and will not find it; they will desire to die, and death will flee from them.
7 The shape of the locusts was like horses prepared for battle. On their heads were crowns of something like gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.
8 They had hair like women's hair, and their teeth were like lions' teeth.
9 And they had breastplates like breastplates of iron, and the sound of their wings was like the sound of chariots with many horses running into battle.
10 They had tails like scorpions, and there were stings in their tails. Their power was to hurt men five months.
11 And they had as king over them the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, but in Greek he has the name Apollyon.
12 One woe is past. Behold, still two more woes are coming after these things.

Sixth Trumpet: The Angels from the Euphrates

13 Then the sixth angel sounded: And I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which is before God, 14 saying to the sixth angel who had the trumpet, "Release the four angels who are bound at the great river Euphrates." 15 So the four angels, who had been prepared for the hour and day and month and year, were released to kill a third of mankind.
16 Now the number of the army of the horsemen was two hundred million; I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision: those who sat on them had breastplates of fiery red, hyacinth blue, and sulfur yellow; and the heads of the horses were like the heads of lions; and out of their mouths came fire, smoke, and brimstone.

18 By these three plagues a third of mankind was killed—by the fire and the smoke and the brimstone which came out of their mouths.

19 For their power[a] is in their mouth and in their tails; for their tails are like serpents, having heads; and with them they do harm.

20 But the rest of mankind, who were not killed by these plagues, did not repent of the works of their hands, that they should not worship demons, and idols of gold, silver, brass, stone, and wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk.

21 And they did not repent of their murders or their sorceries[b] or their sexual immorality or their thefts.

Revelation 10

The Mighty Angel with the Little Book

1 I saw still another mighty angel coming down from heaven, clothed with a cloud. And a rainbow was on his head, his face was like the sun, and his feet like pillars of fire.

2 He had a little book open in his hand. And he set his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the land,

3 and cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roars. When he cried out, seven thunders uttered their voices.

4 Now when the seven thunders uttered their voices,[a] I was about to write; but I heard a voice from heaven saying to me,[b] "Seal up the things which the seven thunders uttered, and do not write them."

5 The angel whom I saw standing on the sea and on the land raised up his hand[c] to heaven

6 and swore by Him who lives forever and ever, who created heaven and the things that are in it, the earth and the things that are in it, and the sea and the things that are in it, that there should be delay no longer,

7 but in the days of the sounding of the seventh angel, when he is about to sound, the mystery of God would be finished, as He declared to His servants the prophets.

John Eats the Little Book

8 Then the voice which I heard from heaven spoke to me again and said, "Go, take the little book which is open in the hand of the angel who stands on the sea and on the earth."
9 So I went to the angel and said to him, "Give me the little book." And he said to me, "Take and eat it; and it will make your stomach bitter, but it will be as sweet as honey in your mouth."
10 Then I took the little book out of the angel's hand and ate it, and it was as sweet as honey in my mouth. But when I had eaten it, my stomach became bitter.
11 And he[d] said to me, "You must prophesy again about many peoples, nations, tongues, and kings."

Revelation 11

The Two Witnesses

1 Then I was given a reed like a measuring rod. And the angel stood,[a] saying,
"Rise and measure the temple of God, the altar, and those who worship there.
2 "But leave out the court which is outside the temple, and do not measure it, for it has been given to the Gentiles. And they will tread the holy city underfoot for forty-two months.
3 "And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy one thousand two hundred and sixty days, clothed in sackcloth."
4 These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands standing before the God[b] of the earth.
5 And if anyone wants to harm them, fire proceeds from their mouth and devours their enemies. And if anyone wants to harm them, he must be killed in this manner.
6 These have power to shut heaven, so that no rain falls in the days of their prophecy; and they have power over waters to turn them to blood, and to strike the earth with all plagues, as often as they desire.

The Witnesses Killed

7 When they finish their testimony, the beast that ascends out of the bottomless pit will make war against them, overcome them, and kill them.

[8]And their dead bodies will lie in the street of the great city which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our[c] Lord was crucified.

[9]Then those from the peoples, tribes, tongues, and nations will see their dead bodies three-and-a-half days, and not allow[d] their dead bodies to be put into graves.

[10]And those who dwell on the earth will rejoice over them, make merry, and send gifts to one another, because these two prophets tormented those who dwell on the earth.

The Witnesses Resurrected

[11]Now after the three-and-a-half days the breath of life from God entered them, and they stood on their feet, and great fear fell on those who saw them.

[12]And they[e] heard a loud voice from heaven saying to them, "Come up here." And they ascended to heaven in a cloud, and their enemies saw them.

[13]In the same hour there was a great earthquake, and a tenth of the city fell. In the earthquake seven thousand people were killed, and the rest were afraid and gave glory to the God of heaven.

[14]The second woe is past. Behold, the third woe is coming quickly.

Seventh Trumpet: The Kingdom Proclaimed

[15]Then the seventh angel sounded: And there were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdoms[f] of this world have become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and ever!"

[16]And the twenty-four elders who sat before God on their thrones fell on their faces and worshiped God,

[17]saying:

> "We give You thanks, O Lord God Almighty,
> The One who is and who was and who is to come,[g]
> Because You have taken Your great power and reigned.
> [18]The nations were angry, and Your wrath has come,
> And the time of the dead, that they should be judged,
> And that You should reward Your servants the prophets and > the saints,
> And those who fear Your name, small and great,
> And should destroy those who destroy the earth."

19Then the temple of God was opened in heaven, and the ark of His covenant[h] was seen in His temple. And there were lightnings, noises, thunderings, an earthquake, and great hail.

Revelation 12

The Woman, the Child, and the Dragon

[1]Now a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a garland of twelve stars.

[2]Then being with child, she cried out in labor and in pain to give birth.

[3]And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great, fiery red dragon having seven heads and ten horns, and seven diadems on his heads.

[4]His tail drew a third of the stars of heaven and threw them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman who was ready to give birth, to devour her Child as soon as it was born.

[5]She bore a male Child who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron. And her Child was caught up to God and His throne.

[6]Then the woman fled into the wilderness, where she has a place prepared by God, that they should feed her there one thousand two hundred and sixty days.

Satan Thrown Out of Heaven

[7]And war broke out in heaven: Michael and his angels fought with the dragon; and the dragon and his angels fought,

[8]but they did not prevail, nor was a place found for them[a] in heaven any longer.

[9]So the great dragon was cast out, that serpent of old, called the Devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world; he was cast to the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

[10]Then I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, “Now salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of His Christ have come, for the accuser of our brethren, who accused them before our God day and night, has been cast down.

[11]“And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives to the death.

[12]“Therefore rejoice, O heavens, and you who dwell in them! Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and the sea! For the devil has come down to you, having great wrath, because he knows that he has a short time."

The Woman Persecuted

13 Now when the dragon saw that he had been cast to the earth, he persecuted the woman who gave birth to the male Child.
14 But the woman was given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness to her place, where she is nourished for a time and times and half a time, from the presence of the serpent.
15 So the serpent spewed water out of his mouth like a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away by the flood.
16 But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed up the flood which the dragon had spewed out of his mouth.
17 And the dragon was enraged with the woman, and he went to make war with the rest of her offspring, who keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.[b]

Revelation 13

The Beast from the Sea

1 Then I[a] stood on the sand of the sea. And I saw a beast rising up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns,[b] and on his horns ten crowns, and on his heads a blasphemous name.
2 Now the beast which I saw was like a leopard, his feet were like the feet of a bear, and his mouth like the mouth of a lion. The dragon gave him his power, his throne, and great authority.
3 And I saw one of his heads as if it had been mortally wounded, and his deadly wound was healed. And all the world marveled and followed the beast.
4 So they worshiped the dragon who gave authority to the beast; and they worshiped the beast, saying, "Who is like the beast? Who is able to make war with him?"
5 And he was given a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies, and he was given authority to continue[c] for forty-two months.
6 Then he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme His name, His tabernacle, and those who dwell in heaven.

7 It was granted to him to make war with the saints and to overcome them.
And authority was given him over every tribe,[d] tongue, and nation.
8 All who dwell on the earth will worship him, whose names have not been written in the Book of Life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.
9 If anyone has an ear, let him hear.
10 He who leads into captivity shall go into captivity; he who kills with the sword must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints.

The Beast from the Earth

11 Then I saw another beast coming up out of the earth, and he had two horns like a lamb and spoke like a dragon.
12 And he exercises all the authority of the first beast in his presence, and causes the earth and those who dwell in it to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.
13 He performs great signs, so that he even makes fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men.
14 And he deceives those[e] who dwell on the earth by those signs which he was granted to do in the sight of the beast, telling those who dwell on the earth to make an image to the beast who was wounded by the sword and lived.
15 He was granted power to give breath to the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak and cause as many as would not worship the image of the beast to be killed.
16 He causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads, 17 and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or[f] the name of the beast, or the number of his name.
18 Here is wisdom. Let him who has understanding calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man: His number is 666.

Revelation 14

The Lamb and the 144,000

1 Then I looked, and behold, a[a] Lamb standing on Mount Zion, and with Him one hundred and forty-four thousand, having[b] His Father's name written on their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voice from heaven, like the voice of many waters, and like the voice of loud thunder. And I heard the sound of harpists playing their harps.

3 They sang as it were a new song before the throne, before the four living creatures, and the elders; and no one could learn that song except the hundred and forty-four thousand who were redeemed from the earth.

4 These are the ones who were not defiled with women, for they are virgins. These are the ones who follow the Lamb wherever He goes. These were redeemed[c] from among men, being firstfruits to God and to the Lamb.

5 And in their mouth was found no deceit,[d] for they are without fault before the throne of God.[e]

The Proclamations of Three Angels

6 Then I saw another angel flying in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach to those who dwell on the earth—to every nation, tribe, tongue, and people—

7 saying with a loud voice, "Fear God and give glory to Him, for the hour of His judgment has come; and worship Him who made heaven and earth, the sea and springs of water."

8 And another angel followed, saying, "Babylon[f] is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she has made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication."

9 Then a third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, "If anyone worships the beast and his image, and receives his mark on his forehead or on his hand,

10 "he himself shall also drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out full strength into the cup of His indignation. He shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb.

11 "And the smoke of their torment ascends forever and ever; and they have no rest day or night, who worship the beast and his image, and whoever receives the mark of his name."

12 Here is the patience of the saints; here are those[g] who keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.

13 Then I heard a voice from heaven saying to me,[h] "Write: 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on.' " "Yes," says the Spirit, "that they may rest from their labors, and their works follow them."

Reaping the Earth's Harvest

14 Then I looked, and behold, a white cloud, and on the cloud sat One like the Son of Man, having on His head a golden crown, and in His hand a sharp sickle.

15 And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to Him who sat on the cloud, "Thrust in Your sickle and reap, for the time has come for You[i] to reap, for the harvest of the earth is ripe."

16 So He who sat on the cloud thrust in His sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

Reaping the Grapes of Wrath

17 Then another angel came out of the temple which is in heaven, he also having a sharp sickle.

18 And another angel came out from the altar, who had power over fire, and he cried with a loud cry to him who had the sharp sickle, saying, "Thrust in your sharp sickle and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth, for her grapes are fully ripe."

19 So the angel thrust his sickle into the earth and gathered the vine of the earth, and threw it into the great winepress of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepress was trampled outside the city, and blood came out of the winepress, up to the horses' bridles, for one thousand six hundred furlongs.

Revelation 15

Prelude to the Bowl Judgments

1 Then I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous: seven angels having the seven last plagues, for in them the wrath of God is complete.

2 And I saw something like a sea of glass mingled with fire, and those who have the victory over the beast, over his image and over his mark[a] and over the number of his name, standing on the sea of glass, having harps of God.

3 They sing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying:

"Great and marvelous are Your works,
Lord God Almighty!
Just and true are Your ways,
O King of the saints![b]
4Who shall not fear You, O Lord, and glorify Your name?
For You alone are holy.
For all nations shall come and worship before You,
For Your judgments have been manifested."

5After these things I looked, and behold,[c] the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in heaven was opened.
6And out of the temple came the seven angels having the seven plagues, clothed in pure bright linen, and having their chests girded with golden bands.
7Then one of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven golden bowls full of the wrath of God who lives forever and ever.
8The temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from His power, and no one was able to enter the temple till the seven plagues of the seven angels were completed.

Revelation 16

1Then I heard a loud voice from the temple saying to the seven angels, "Go and pour out the bowls[a] of the wrath of God on the earth."

First Bowl: Loathsome Sores

2So the first went and poured out his bowl upon the earth, and a foul and loathsome sore came upon the men who had the mark of the beast and those who worshiped his image.

Second Bowl: The Sea Turns to Blood

3Then the second angel poured out his bowl on the sea, and it became blood as of a dead man; and every living creature in the sea died.

Third Bowl: The Waters Turn to Blood

4Then the third angel poured out his bowl on the rivers and springs of water, and they became blood.

5 And I heard the angel of the waters saying:

> "You are righteous, O Lord,[b]
> The One who is and who was and who is to be,[c]
> Because You have judged these things.
> 6 For they have shed the blood of saints and prophets,
> And You have given them blood to drink.
> For[d] it is their just due."

7 And I heard another from[e] the altar saying, "Even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are Your judgments."

Fourth Bowl: Men Are Scorched

8 Then the fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun, and power was given to him to scorch men with fire.
9 And men were scorched with great heat, and they blasphemed the name of God who has power over these plagues; and they did not repent and give Him glory.

Fifth Bowl: Darkness and Pain

10 Then the fifth angel poured out his bowl on the throne of the beast, and his kingdom became full of darkness; and they gnawed their tongues because of the pain.
11 They blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and their sores, and did not repent of their deeds.

Sixth Bowl: Euphrates Dried Up

12 Then the sixth angel poured out his bowl on the great river Euphrates, and its water was dried up, so that the way of the kings from the east might be prepared.
13 And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs coming out of the mouth of the dragon, out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet.
14 For they are spirits of demons, performing signs, which go out to the kings of the earth and[f] of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.

15 “Behold, I am coming as a thief. Blessed is he who watches, and keeps his garments, lest he walk naked and they see his shame.”
16 And they gathered them together to the place called in Hebrew, Armageddon.[g]

Seventh Bowl: The Earth Utterly Shaken

17 Then the seventh angel poured out his bowl into the air, and a loud voice came out of the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying, “It is done!”
18 And there were noises and thunderings and lightnings; and there was a great earthquake, such a mighty and great earthquake as had not occurred since men were on the earth.
19 Now the great city was divided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell. And great Babylon was remembered before God, to give her the cup of the wine of the fierceness of His wrath.
20 Then every island fled away, and the mountains were not found.
21 And great hail from heaven fell upon men, each hailstone about the weight of a talent. Men blasphemed God because of the plague of the hail, since that plague was exceedingly great.

Revelation 17

The Scarlet Woman and the Scarlet Beast

1 Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and talked with me, saying to me,[a] “Come, I will show you the judgment of the great harlot who sits on many waters,
2 “with whom the kings of the earth committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth were made drunk with the wine of her fornication.”
3 So he carried me away in the Spirit into the wilderness. And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast which was full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.
4 The woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls, having in her hand a golden cup full of abominations and the filthiness of her fornication.[b] 5 And on her forehead a name was written:

MYSTERY,

BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.

6 I saw the woman, drunk with the blood of the saints and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus. And when I saw her, I marveled with great amazement.

The Meaning of the Woman and the Beast

7 But the angel said to me, "Why did you marvel? I will tell you the mystery of the woman and of the beast that carries her, which has the seven heads and the ten horns.

8 "The beast that you saw was, and is not, and will ascend out of the bottomless pit and go to perdition. And those who dwell on the earth will marvel, whose names are not written in the Book of Life from the foundation of the world, when they see the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.[c]

9 "Here is the mind which has wisdom: The seven heads are seven mountains on which the woman sits.

10 "There are also seven kings. Five have fallen, one is, and the other has not yet come. And when he comes, he must continue a short time.

11 "The beast that was, and is not, is himself also the eighth, and is of the seven, and is going to perdition.

12 "The ten horns which you saw are ten kings who have received no kingdom as yet, but they receive authority for one hour as kings with the beast.

13 "These are of one mind, and they will give their power and authority to the beast.

14 "These will make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb will overcome them, for He is Lord of lords and King of kings; and those who are with Him are called, chosen, and faithful."

15 Then he said to me, "The waters which you saw, where the harlot sits, are peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues.

16 "And the ten horns which you saw on[d] the beast, these will hate the harlot, make her desolate and naked, eat her flesh and burn her with fire.

17 "For God has put it into their hearts to fulfill His purpose, to be of one mind, and to give their kingdom to the beast, until the words of God are fulfilled.

18 "And the woman whom you saw is that great city which reigns over the kings of the earth.”

Revelation 18

The Fall of Babylon the Great

1 After these things I saw another angel coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth was illuminated with his glory.
2 And he cried mightily[a] with a loud voice, saying, “Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and has become a dwelling place of demons, a prison for every foul spirit, and a cage for every unclean and hated bird!
3 “For all the nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth have become rich through the abundance of her luxury.” 4 And I heard another voice from heaven saying, “Come out of her, my people, lest you share in her sins, and lest you receive of her plagues.
5 “For her sins have reached[b] to heaven, and God has remembered her iniquities.
6 “Render to her just as she rendered to you,[c] and repay her double according to her works; in the cup which she has mixed, mix double for her.
7 “In the measure that she glorified herself and lived luxuriously, in the same measure give her torment and sorrow; for she says in her heart, ‘I sit as queen, and am no widow, and will not see sorrow.’ 8 “Therefore her plagues will come in one day—death and mourning and famine. And she will be utterly burned with fire, for strong is the Lord God who judges[d] her.

The World Mourns Babylon’s Fall

9 “The kings of the earth who committed fornication and lived luxuriously with her will weep and lament for her, when they see the smoke of her burning,
10 “standing at a distance for fear of her torment, saying, ‘Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city! For in one hour your judgment has come.’
11 “And the merchants of the earth will weep and mourn over her, for no one buys their merchandise anymore:
12 “merchandise of gold and silver, precious stones and pearls, fine linen and purple, silk and scarlet, every kind of citron wood, every kind of object of ivory, every kind of object of most precious wood, bronze, iron, and marble;

13 "and cinnamon and incense, fragrant oil and frankincense, wine and oil, fine flour and wheat, cattle and sheep, horses and chariots, and bodies and souls of men.

14 "The fruit that your soul longed for has gone from you, and all the things which are rich and splendid have gone from you,[e] and you shall find them no more at all.

15 "The merchants of these things, who became rich by her, will stand at a distance for fear of her torment, weeping and wailing, 16 "and saying, 'Alas, alas, that great city that was clothed in fine linen, purple, and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls!

17 'For in one hour such great riches came to nothing.' Every shipmaster, all who travel by ship, sailors, and as many as trade on the sea, stood at a distance

18 "and cried out when they saw the smoke of her burning, saying, 'What is like this great city?'

19 "They threw dust on their heads and cried out, weeping and wailing, and saying, 'Alas, alas, that great city, in which all who had ships on the sea became rich by her wealth! For in one hour she is made desolate.'

20 "Rejoice over her, O heaven, and you holy apostles[f] and prophets, for God has avenged you on her!"

Finality of Babylon's Fall

21 Then a mighty angel took up a stone like a great millstone and threw it into the sea, saying, "Thus with violence the great city Babylon shall be thrown down, and shall not be found anymore.

22 "The sound of harpists, musicians, flutists, and trumpeters shall not be heard in you anymore. No craftsman of any craft shall be found in you anymore, and the sound of a millstone shall not be heard in you anymore.

23 "The light of a lamp shall not shine in you anymore, and the voice of bridegroom and bride shall not be heard in you anymore. For your merchants were the great men of the earth, for by your sorcery all the nations were deceived.

24 "And in her was found the blood of prophets and saints, and of all who were slain on the earth."

Revelation 19

Heaven Exults over Babylon

1 After these things I heard[a] a loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying, “Alleluia! Salvation and glory and honor and power belong to the Lord[b] our God!
2 “For true and righteous are His judgments, because He has judged the great harlot who corrupted the earth with her fornication; and He has avenged on her the blood of His servants shed by her.”
3 Again they said, “Alleluia! Her smoke rises up forever and ever!”
4 And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshiped God who sat on the throne, saying, “Amen! Alleluia!” 5 Then a voice came from the throne, saying, “Praise our God, all you His servants and those who fear Him, both[c] small and great!” 6 And I heard, as it were, the voice of a great multitude, as the sound of many waters and as the sound of mighty thunderings, saying, “Alleluia! For the[d] Lord God Omnipotent reigns!
7 “Let us be glad and rejoice and give Him glory, for the marriage of the Lamb has come, and His wife has made herself ready.”
8 And to her it was granted to be arrayed in fine linen, clean and bright, for the fine linen is the righteous acts of the saints.
9 Then he said to me, “Write: ‘Blessed are those who are called to the marriage supper of the Lamb!’ ” And he said to me, “These are the true sayings of God.”
10 And I fell at his feet to worship him. But he said to me, “See that you do not do that! I am your fellow servant, and of your brethren who have the testimony of Jesus. Worship God! For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.”

Christ on a White Horse

11 Now I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse. And He who sat on him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness He judges and makes war.
12 His eyes were like a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns.
He had[e] a name written that no one knew except Himself.
13 He was clothed with a robe dipped in blood, and His name is called The Word of God.

14 And the armies in heaven, clothed in fine linen, white and clean,[f] followed Him on white horses.

15 Now out of His mouth goes a sharp[g] sword, that with it He should strike the nations. And He Himself will rule them with a rod of iron. He Himself treads the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.

16 And He has on His robe and on His thigh a name written:

KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.

The Beast and His Armies Defeated

17 Then I saw an angel standing in the sun; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the birds that fly in the midst of heaven, "Come and gather together for the supper of the great God,[h]

18 "that you may eat the flesh of kings, the flesh of captains, the flesh of mighty men, the flesh of horses and of those who sit on them, and the flesh of all people, free[i] and slave, both small and great."

19 And I saw the beast, the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against Him who sat on the horse and against His army.

20 Then the beast was captured, and with him the false prophet who worked signs in his presence, by which he deceived those who received the mark of the beast and those who worshiped his image. These two were cast alive into the lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the rest were killed with the sword which proceeded from the mouth of Him who sat on the horse. And all the birds were filled with their flesh.

Revelation 20

Satan Bound 1000 Years

1 Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, having the key to the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand.

2 He laid hold of the dragon, that serpent of old, who is the Devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years;

3 and he cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal on him, so that he should deceive the nations no more till the thousand years were finished. But after these things he must be released for a little while.

The Saints Reign with Christ 1000 Years

4 And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands.
And they lived and reigned with Christ for a[a] thousand years.
5 But the rest of the dead did not live again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.
6 Blessed and holy is he who has part in the first resurrection. Over such the second death has no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with Him a thousand years.

Satanic Rebellion Crushed

(cf. Ezek. 38; 39)

7 Now when the thousand years have expired, Satan will be released from his prison
8 and will go out to deceive the nations which are in the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the sea.
9 They went up on the breadth of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city. And fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them.
10 The devil, who deceived them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone where[b] the beast and the false prophet are. And they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

The Great White Throne Judgment

11 Then I saw a great white throne and Him who sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away. And there was found no place for them.
12 And I saw the dead, small and great, standing before God,[c] and books were opened. And another book was opened, which is the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to their works, by the things which were written in the books.
13 The sea gave up the dead who were in it, and Death and Hades delivered up the dead who were in them. And they were judged, each one according to his works.
14 Then Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death.[d]

15And anyone not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire.

Revelation 21

All Things Made New

1Now I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away. Also there was no more sea.

2Then I, John,[a] saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

3And I heard a loud voice from heaven saying, “Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people. God Himself will be with them and be their God.

4“And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes; there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying. There shall be no more pain, for the former things have passed away.”

5Then He who sat on the throne said, “Behold, I make all things new.” And He said to me,[b] “Write, for these words are true and faithful.”

6And He said to me, “It is done![c] I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. I will give of the fountain of the water of life freely to him who thirsts.

7“He who overcomes shall inherit all things,[d] and I will be his God and he shall be My son.

8“But the cowardly, unbelieving,[e] abominable, murderers, sexually immoral, sorcerers, idolaters, and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burns with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.”

The New Jerusalem

(cf. Ezek. 48:30–35)

9Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls filled with the seven last plagues came to me[f] and talked with me, saying, “Come, I will show you the bride, the Lamb’s wife.”[g]

10And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me the great city, the holy[h] Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God, [11]having the glory of God. Her light was like a most precious stone, like a jasper stone, clear as crystal.

[12]Also she had a great and high wall with twelve gates, and twelve angels at the gates, and names written on them, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel:

[13]three gates on the east, three gates on the north, three gates on the south, and three gates on the west.

[14]Now the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and on them were the names[i] of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

[15]And he who talked with me had a gold reed to measure the city, its gates, and its wall.

[16]The city is laid out as a square; its length is as great as its breadth. And he measured the city with the reed: twelve thousand furlongs. Its length, breadth, and height are equal.

[17]Then he measured its wall: one hundred and forty-four cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of an angel.

[18]The construction of its wall was of jasper; and the city was pure gold, like clear glass.

[19]The foundations of the wall of the city were adorned with all kinds of precious stones: the first foundation was jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald,

[20]the fifth sardonyx, the sixth sardius, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth, and the twelfth amethyst.

[21]The twelve gates were twelve pearls: each individual gate was of one pearl. And the street of the city was pure gold, like transparent glass.

The Glory of the New Jerusalem

[22]But I saw no temple in it, for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are its temple.

[23]The city had no need of the sun or of the moon to shine in it,[j] for the glory[k] of God illuminated it. The Lamb is its light.

[24]And the nations of those who are saved[l] shall walk in its light, and the kings of the earth bring their glory and honor into it.[m]

[25]Its gates shall not be shut at all by day (there shall be no night there).

[26]And they shall bring the glory and the honor of the nations into it.[n]

[27]But there shall by no means enter it anything that defiles, or causes[o] an abomination or a lie, but only those who are written in the Lamb's Book of Life. The Eternal Kingdom

Revelation 22

The River of Life

1 And he showed me a pure[a] river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding from the throne of God and of the Lamb.
2 In the middle of its street, and on either side of the river, was the tree of life, which bore twelve fruits, each tree yielding its fruit every month. The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.
3 And there shall be no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it, and His servants shall serve Him.
4 They shall see His face, and His name shall be on their foreheads.
5 There shall be no night there: They need no lamp nor light of the sun, for the Lord God gives them light. And they shall reign forever and ever.

The Time Is Near

6 Then he said to me, "These words are faithful and true." And the Lord God of the holy[b] prophets sent His angel to show His servants the things which must shortly take place.
7 "Behold, I am coming quickly! Blessed is he who keeps the words of the prophecy of this book."
8 Now I, John, saw and heard[c] these things. And when I heard and saw, I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel who showed me these things.
9 Then he said to me, "See that you do not do that. For[d] I am your fellow servant, and of your brethren the prophets, and of those who keep the words of this book. Worship God."
10 And he said to me, "Do not seal the words of the prophecy of this book, for the time is at hand.
11 "He who is unjust, let him be unjust still; he who is filthy, let him be filthy still; he who is righteous, let him be righteous[e] still; he who is holy, let him be holy still."

Jesus Testifies to the Churches

12 “And behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to give to every one according to his work.
13 “I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last.”[f]
14 Blessed are those who do His commandments,[g] that they may have the right to the tree of life, and may enter through the gates into the city.
15 But[h] outside are dogs and sorcerers and sexually immoral and murderers and idolaters, and whoever loves and practices a lie.
16 “I, Jesus, have sent My angel to testify to you these things in the churches. I am the Root and the Offspring of David, the Bright and Morning Star.”
17 And the Spirit and the bride say, “Come!” And let him who hears say, “Come!” And let him who thirsts come. Whoever desires, let him take the water of life freely.

A Warning

18 For[i] I testify to everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book: If anyone adds to these things, God will add[j] to him the plagues that are written in this book;
19 and if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away[k] his part from the Book[l] of Life, from the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

I Am Coming Quickly

20 He who testifies to these things says, “Surely I am coming quickly.”
Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus!
21 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.[m] Amen.

Annotations for Revelation

1:1 Revelation or Apocalypse (Gr. apokalypsis) means literally to unconceal, unveil, or reveal. It was used anciently of a coded message that must get through without falling into the wrong hands. God Himself is the ultimate source of all revelation (see Dan 2:28, 29, 45), but it is the Son, Jesus Christ—who revealed Himself to the prophets of the OT before He became flesh and now is made flesh—who mediates this unveiling (see Jn 1:18; 4:19–23; 7:16; 8:26, 40; 12:49; 15:15; 17:8). This revelation concerns not only the age to come, but certain things from the past and from this present age as well. Things which must tells us this is not a haphazard presentation. Shortly take place indicates God's time, which is always imminent. It may take a lot of earth's time.

1:2 The word of God refers to the Son of God. Testimony of Jesus means a witness concerning Jesus. It is John testifying of Christ (see 4:21), not Jesus testifying of Himself. Bore witness (from Gr. martyreo, a verb) and testimony (from Gr. martyria, a noun) are forms of the word from which we obtain "martyr." Persecution is the consequence of witnessing. The martyrs (see Heb 12:1) are those who testify or bear witness, sealing it with their blood in death.

1:3 A blessing is promised to those who read and hear (see Lk 11:28). This is the first of the seven beatitudes of the Revelation, found also in 14:13; 16:15; 19:9; 20:6; 22:7, 14. Blessed here are both the reader and the hearers (the assembled faithful), provided they heed what is read—for faith and works are inseparable. Time (Gr. kairos) means here an eschatological decisive moment—a time of judgment, a critical moment, the time when all is fulfilled.

1:4 Church tradition maintains St. John dwelt and was bishop in Ephesus, in an area where the seven churches were located along a major roadway. The number seven signifies fullness, suggesting the entire Church is also in view.

The doxology is Trinitarian, involving the Father (vv. 4, 6), the Spirit (v. 4), and the Son (vv. 5, 6). This initial greeting (lit., "the Existing, the Was, and the Coming") may express the Father, the one who is (Ex 3:14); the Son, who was (Jn 1:1); and the Holy Spirit, who is to come (Acts 2) at Pentecost and shall always be present. Or it may denote the character of the Holy One, who is eternally present and exercises lordship throughout history (see Heb 13:8). God reveals the meaning of the present in light of the past and the age to come. This title may be a paraphrase of the Tetragrammaton, YHWH ("I Am"), of Ex 3:14.

Seven is the number of fullness or completion. The seven Spirits of God most likely refers to the Holy Spirit and His several gifts, as this phrase is included in the blessing with the Father and the Son. Alternately the term could refer to the seven archangels who, according to Jewish tradition, stand before the throne of God (Tb 12:15; see also 1En 20:1–8; 90:21, 22; TLev 8:2).

1:5 Jesus Christ is presented as the Risen Savior, Lord of all (see Zec 12:10), giving hope to the early Christians that the Church will not always be dominated by a cruel state. Instead of washed, many Greek texts read "freed." The term witness (Gr. martys), used only here and in 3:14 in the entire NT, refers to Christ, the authentic witness of all divine revelation; all that God has revealed is summed up in His life, witness, Passion, Resurrection, and exaltation. He has inaugurated the new age, for He is firstborn from the dead in His humanity and has achieved a universal sovereignty by His death, Resurrection, and revelation of His Kingdom for the world's salvation.

1:6 Those joined to the body of Christ in baptism comprise the messianic royal priesthood promised of old (see Ex 19:5, 6; Is 61:6; 1Pt 2:9; and the Anaphora of the Liturgy of St. Basil). This priestly ministry is to offer the world back to God in a sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving—eucharistically—as in the Orthodox Church's Divine Liturgy. The universe itself thus becomes hallowed, transfigured, and sacramental. Amen is Semitic. It signifies ratification: an acknowledgment of something trustworthy.

1:8 Alpha and Omega, the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet, along with Beginning and End signify the eternality of God, who is the origin and destiny of all things. Its attribution to the Son proves His divinity. History—in fact, all of creation—begins and is completed in the Creator (Is 44:6). Almighty (Gr. Pantocrator) is used throughout the OT and is found ten times in the NT—nine of which are in Revelation. The inscription that adorns the central dome of a properly appointed Orthodox temple bears the words of this verse; the fresco depicts the Lord Jesus, since He is the One who shows us the Father, and since He has used the title "Alpha and Omega" for Himself (22:13).

1:10 In the Spirit may mean John received the revelation in a visionary ecstasy (see Ezk 3:12), but more probably that he was in the worship ("in Spirit and in truth") of the Lord. The Lord's Day is the earliest reference to the Christian name for Sunday. The Didache and St. Ignatius of Antioch show this name was used very early for the day when Christians gathered to celebrate the Resurrection in the Holy Eucharist. As a fulfillment of the first day of the week of the old creation, Sunday becomes the "eighth day," the "first day of the new creation." The term "eighth day" is seen in 2En 33:1 and inaugurates the first day of the timeless age to come. The loud voice, as of a trumpet is a traditional, eschatological, apocalyptic introduction describing an appearance of the Lord (see Ex 19:16, 19; Mt 24:31; 1Co 15:52; 1Th 4:16).

1:11, 12 The glorified Christ introduces himself as the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last, thus identifying Himself with God the Father (v. 8; 22:13). His position amidst the seven lampstands signifies His presence in the Church (see Mt 5:14). The seven golden lampstands, a fusion of the great menorah of the temple with its seven lamps (see Ex 25:31–37; Zec 4:2; Heb 9:2) and the golden lampstands of Solomon's temple (3Kg 7:35), represent the fullness of God's presence. Also symbolized are the seven Asian churches that receive the letters of chs. 2; 3. This reference prompts some scholars to suggest John was in the church in a liturgical setting during the Revelation.

1:13 One like the Son of Man recalls Daniel's messianic figure (Dan 7:13—repeated by Stephen at his martyrdom, Acts 7:56). Christ called Himself Son of Man (see especially Mt 24:30ff.), for He is the fulfillment of Daniel's prophecy. Additional parallels may be seen in both the Old and New Testaments (Dan 10:6; Mt 17:2; Eph 6:17; Heb 4:12). We also see Him vested in high-priestly garments (see Ex 28:4; 29:5; Lv 16:4; WSol 18:24; Zec 3:4, 5). The gold with which He is girded is both royal (1Mc 10:89) and priestly.

1:14–16 Further, Christ is here described as God, His hair (v. 14) being that of Daniel's vision of God as the "Ancient of Days" (7:9; see also 1En 46:1). His eyes signify knowledge; His feet (v. 15), permanence and stability; His voice, authority or teaching; His right hand (v. 16), power; His two-edged sword, complete discernment. This imagery continues throughout Revelation to affirm the preexistence and eternal divinity of the Son of Man (see also Jn 1:1–18). Thus, in Christ man (v. 14) and God (vv. 15, 16) are united.

1:15 Dan 2:31–44 indicates this mysterious metal foundation not only provides stability but has the ability to forcibly crush all opposition as well. These images are contrasted with the feet of clay found in Dan 2:33, 43: the kingdoms of this world are not permanent, nor ultimately triumphant.

1:16 The Lord holds the stars that represent the seven churches (1:20), and hence, the Church. For Christ is Lord of the Church. In His just judgment, the sword He wields is the Word of God, which cuts effortlessly to the very marrow and heart of humanity (see 2:16; 18:15; Is 11:4; 49:2; WSol 18:15; Eph 6:17; 2Th 2:9; Heb 4:12). The brilliance of His face recalls the Uncreated Light John saw radiating from the Savior at the Transfiguration on Mount Tabor.

1:17, 18 Mortal humanity cannot bear the revelation of divine glory, a frequent biblical theme (see Ex 19:21; 33:20; Is 6:5). Just as he fell prostrate at Mount Tabor (Mt 17:6), so also does John here, in the presence of the glorified Savior (see Ezk 1:27; Dan 10:7–9; see also 1En 14:24). Do not be afraid is a revelatory formula from the OT. As a signal for the theophany, it was carried over into the NT (see the Annunciation, Lk 1:30; Jesus walking upon the water, Mt 14:27—"Fear not, I AM"; the Transfiguration, Mt 17:7). In the OT God was called "the first and the last" (Is 44:6; 48:12), and so, too, is the Messiah. Some early heresies (e.g. Docetism) held that Jesus only seemed to die. But the Lord Himself testified, I . . . was dead, affirming the authenticity of His death; alive forevermore, His Resurrection—the power of which effects His lordship over death and its realm. The Orthodox icon of the resurrected Christ depicts Him with these keys (v. 18) in hand, standing triumphantly on the open gates of Hades.

1:19 John's visions have to do with both the present (things which are) and the future.

1:20 The angels of the seven churches have been variously interpreted as being (1) the guardian angels of the church communities; (2) the pastoral leadership of these local churches; (3) a personification of the prevailing spirit of the given congregations; or (4) simply the messengers responsible for delivering the letters. The term "angel" (heavenly or earthly messenger) is used over 60 times in Revelation.

2:1 The letters to the seven churches all follow a standard format: (1) John is commanded to write to the angel of the church. (2) A short introduction of Christ with a descriptive title follows. (3) The state of the church is summarized, beginning with Jesus' saying, "I know," followed by praise or rebuke. (4) Exhortations are given. (5) The message concludes with, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear," and a special promise to him who "overcomes."

Ephesus, the provincial Roman capital for Asia Minor, was a populous, prosperous city located on important trade routes. Besides the official cults of Artemis (Diana) and the emperor, various occult practices flourished there (see Acts 19). The church had been founded by Paul about AD 53–56, and according to tradition, both John the Apostle and the Virgin Mary (whom Christ committed to John's care at His crucifixion) lived in Ephesus.

2:2–5 The Ephesian church had persevered in orthodox faith and moral uprightness, but had left its first love (v. 4), presumably for God and each other. False apostles were a serious problem in the early Church (see 2Co 11:13–23), and Paul warned they would ravage the church of Ephesus (Acts 20:29). However, in the early second century, St. Ignatius of Antioch praised the Ephesians for their continuing resistance to heresy. The lampstand (v. 5) is probably the Ephesian church's honor as the metropolitan church of Asia.

2:6 Most scholars believe the Nicolaitans to be an early gnostic sect that tolerated idolatry and encouraged fornication. Some of the church fathers held the founder of this sect to be an apostate Nicholas, one of the original seven deacons (Acts 6:5).

2:7 The message of the Spirit to the churches is explicitly a message to all Christians. In Hebrew, "conquering" and "saving" are synonymous: Salvation is victory. He who overcomes does so by participating in Christ's victory, which is salvation. In contrast to the false Nicolaitan sect, "overcomers" remain faithful to Christ until the end, in spite of all obstacles. Further, they fulfill the original destiny of man by partaking of the tree of life (Gn 2:9). To eat of this tree is to receive eternal life (vv. 11, 17, 26; 3:5, 12, 21; 21:7; Jn 16:33; 2Co 4:7–18). The fruit of the tree is the spiritual food of 1Co 10:3, the "medicine of immortality." Tree of life is also an allusion to the Cross, upon which all Christians must be co-crucified with Christ (Gal 2:20), partaking in the death of Christ in order to participate in His Resurrection. The Paradise of God is heaven (Lk 23:43; 2Co 12:2–4); the city of God, the New Jerusalem (see 21:1–22:5), contrasted to the original earthly paradise.

2:8 Smyrna (Izmir in modern Turkey) was, like Ephesus, a beautiful and prosperous city, maintaining a strong allegiance to Rome. A large and influential Jewish population actively opposed Christianity there. St. Polycarp, bishop of Smyrna, was one of the first of the early hierarchs to be martyred: he was burned to death on a pyre, confessing he had served Christ faithfully "for 86 years." Polycarp was probably a youth in Smyrna when John addressed the letter to the church there. St. Ignatius of Antioch also wrote to the Smyrnans—and to Polycarp, as well.

2:9 The Smyrnan church was poor, perhaps because of the persecution, but spiritually rich, the opposite of Laodicea. The Jews of the synagogue of Satan may be either Jews in name only (see Rom 2:28, 29) who were insincere in their profession of Judaism and compromising in their beliefs (Jn 8:31–47); or Jews who refused to embrace the Messiah and His Church (Rom 2:28; Gal 6:15).

2:10, 11 The persecution will be completed in ten days, a limited time likely not meant to be taken literally, and some may undergo martyrdom. Christ encourages faithfulness to the end. The crown of life, an allusion to the wreath awarded to a victor in an arena (Php 3:14; 2Ti 2:5; 1Pt 5:4), is the reward of eternal life granted to those who conquer in Christ. The second death (v. 11) indicates eternal damnation, the "lake of fire," wherein sinners will receive their reward of final and lasting estrangement from God (20:6, 14, 15; 21:8).

2:12 Pergamos (modern Bergama), northeast of Smyrna, was a distinguished city built on top of a thousand-foot-high hill 10 miles inland from the Aegean Sea. It boasted an outstanding library (the word "parchment" is derived from its name). Four important pagan cults were centered there, and emperor worship was popular. The sharp two-edged sword is the Lord's two-edged message of terror to some and joy to others, the just judgment of God (see note on 19:1–3).

2:13 Satan's throne refers to the city as a seat for idol worship: Pergamos was the first city in Asia to build a temple dedicated to the worship of a living emperor. Hence, Satan's throne, where he holds court, can also indicate the altar where Caesar was worshiped as lord, and/or where the Roman governor sat in his judgment seat, dealing out capital punishment by the "law of the sword." According to tradition, the early martyr Antipas was bishop of Pergamos and was martyred in AD 92 by being burned to death in a heated bronze bull, having witnessed before the Roman governor that Jesus is Lord.

2:14 A group in this church holds the doctrine of Balaam. Balaam is the biblical prototype of all corrupt teachers and religious compromisers. He encouraged immorality, idolatrous feasting, and infidelity against the Lord (Nm 22–24; 25:1–3; 31:16; 2Pt 2:15; Jude 11).

2:16 The sword of My mouth is simply the Word of the Lord, the very articulation of which is just and righteous judgment.

2:17 Hidden manna is an allusion to the bread of heaven (or the bread of angels), the bread of the Almighty (Ex 16:4; Ps 77:24, 25; Jn 6:31–35, 48–51). To eat it is to partake of the messianic banquet in the Kingdom (Lk 22:28–30), the Eucharist of the age to come. In sharp contrast to communion with the pagan cult, it restores our original communion with God. The white stone on which a new name is inscribed indicates a new identity with Christ. Unlike pagan amulets inscribed with mysterious formulae, the new name of Christ is received by His faithful at their baptismal rebirth.

2:18 Thyatira lay southeast of Pergamos and was a commercial city known for its trade guilds (Acts 16:14). Guild meetings frequently included cultic meals in their patronal temples, a problem for Christian tradesmen, for the meetings involved idol worship and sexual debauchery. Christ's eyes and feet allude to the vision of the Son of Man in Dan 10.

2:20 The false prophetess is called Jezebel after Ahab's queen, who vigorously promoted idolatry in Israel (3Kg 18; 4Kg 9). The church in Thyatira has allowed a new Jezebel (a member of the Nicolaitan sect) to exert an influential "prophetic" leadership in the community, leading many of the faithful astray.

2:22, 23 Those who commit adultery (v. 22) are those who accept the teaching of the false prophetess; her children (v. 23) are her followers.

2:24 The depths of Satan: The infidels claimed to know deep spiritual things, but Christ labels their claims satanic delusion.

2:28 The morning star is none other than Christ (22:16). He is the Daylight from on high (Lk 1:78; see 2Pt 1:19), the true Light which enlightens all who come into the world (Jn 1:9). The phrase may also refer to eternal life and a share in the reign of Christ.

3:1 Sardis, 30 miles southeast of Thyatira, was known for its wealth and unassailable fortifications. It was an ancient city, once very powerful, fallen into decline. The church there was also in decline, not falling into heresy or immorality, but into death. For the church in Sardis had so completely compromised with the surrounding pagan world that although it appeared to be alive, it was spiritually dead (Mt 21:19). There is irony in Christ's accusation. Sardis boasted of a venerable temple to the Asiatic mother-goddess Cybele, purportedly able to restore the dead to life. In the letter to Ephesus (2:1–7), the seven stars represented the angels that guided the churches. The seven Spirits of God is either an expression indicating the fullness of God's powerful presence in the Church, or an allusion to the sevenfold operation of the Spirit of God spoken of by Isaiah (11:2), a connection proposed by St. Justin. The earliest recorded interpreter of Revelation, St. Melito, was bishop of Sardis c. 190.

3:2 Christ's exhortation to vigilance would be especially relevant to the citizens of Sardis. Though its fortress was considered impregnable, the city was overconfident and had twice fallen because of its guards' failure to be watchful.

3:4, 5 White garments: Basic vestment for priests, a symbol of the resurrected body. They allude to spiritual purity, victory, and love; immersion or baptism into new life in Christ; immortality; a glorified body; and a place at the messianic wedding banquet (Mt 22:11–14).

3:5 The Book of Life (13:8; 17:8; 20:12, 15; Ex 32:32; Ps 68:29; Dan 12:1; Lk 10:20; see also 1En 47:3) is God's register naming all who will inherit eternal life. By the fourth century, at the beginning of Lent the names of the catechumens were enrolled in a church record book termed "The Heavenly Book," or "The Book of the Church" (see TheoMop, JohnChr and GrgNy). The Son speaks of His Father and His angels but He also calls them His own angels (Mt 13:41; 24:31), showing His equality with the Father.

3:7 Philadelphia (modern Alashehier) was a smaller and newer city than the other six, situated 30 miles southeast of Sardis. The key of David (Is 22:22, Hebrew text) is a messianic reference to the One who may judge in God's Name and admit or exclude from the City of David, the New Jerusalem (see Eph 1:22). St. Ignatius calls Christ the Door to the Father.

3:8 The Philadelphians had probably been excommunicated from the local synagogue, hence Christ's assurance of an open door to His Kingdom.

3:9 Worship is better translated "bow down." Jesus will force the unbelieving Jews to humble themselves before the Philadelphian Christians, not literally to worship them.

3:10 To those faithful to Him, the Lord Jesus will in turn be faithful during the hour of trial that will come to the whole world by preserving them during that trial (see Jn 17:15) and protecting them from demonic assaults. Although the faithful will not be rescued from sufferings, persecution, and martyrdom, they will be sustained and supported so as to persevere in their faithfulness. The hour of trial is an apocalyptic image (Dan 12:1; Mt 6:13; Mk 13:4; Jn 17:6, 15; 2Th 2:1–12), referring to the testing and tribulation (chs. 8; 9; 16) preceding the manifestation of the eternal Kingdom of God. Those who dwell on the earth is a commonly used term for the ungodly.

3:12 The coming down of the New Jerusalem represents the union of heaven and earth and the liberation of all creation from bondage. Pillar indicates permanence; the new name is Christ's full revelation at His second and glorious coming.

3:14 Laodicea (modern Eski-hisar) was 40 miles southeast of Philadelphia on the same road. It was the most prosperous city of the area, boasting a special type of wool, a large banking industry, and a famous medical school. Many Jews lived there. Paul wrote a letter to Laodicea (which no longer exists, unless it was identical to what we know as Ephesians) to be exchanged with the Colossians (see Col 4:16).

Amen is a divine title applied here to Christ, who is the final ratification and accomplishment of the promise of God (2Co 1:19, 20). It affirms His sureness and steadfastness, amplified by Faithful and True Witness. The word beginning (Gr. arche) has been seized upon by ancient Arians and modern Jehovah's Witnesses, who attempt to prove Christ is created, thus denying His eternal existence. However, the term is more accurately translated as "source" or "origin," signifying He is the Master of all. Christ the Beginning is the principle, the source of God's creation (see Pr 8:23; Jn 1:3; 1Co 8:6; Col 1:16, 17; Heb 1:2), the creative Word and Wisdom of God.

3:15, 16 Six miles from Laodicea, hot springs at Hierapolis gave forth water that became lukewarm (v. 16) by the time it reached Laodicea. It was contaminated with many minerals, impossible to drink and nauseating. The Laodiceans were lukewarm in spiritual fervor and good works; their lack of commitment is revolting to the Lord, who would have them go one way or the other.

3:17, 18 Preoccupation with material wealth and comfort have deadened the fervor of the Laodiceans, who have fallen into a complacent self-satisfaction denounced by the Physician of our souls and bodies. Christ counsels them to seek spiritual wealth, forgiveness and resurrection life, and enlightenment, offering a loving chastisement that can bring about true healing, true and lasting riches. Gold, white garments, and eye salve (v. 18) correspond to the three leading Laodicean industries.

3:20 I will . . . dine with him if there is cooperation, the synergy of an open door. God does not force anyone to cooperate with Him. He keeps knocking, awaiting a response. This promise looks toward both the messianic banquet, the wedding supper of the Lamb of God (19:9; Lk 22:30), and the Holy Eucharist, which is a foretaste of the heavenly feast. Faithful disciples are promised they will eat and drink at table with Him (Lk 22:28–30) in the ultimate reality of the Kingdom of heaven. Note the parallels with the parable of the bridegroom (Mt 25:1–13) and with the teaching about those who will shut themselves out of the feast of the Kingdom (Lk 13:25–30).

3:21 The one who cooperates with God overcomes, or conquers. Those who heed God's rebuke and chastening (v. 19) conquer lukewarmness and become "hot" in their spiritual lives (vv. 15, 16). Those who share Christ's trials will share His table and His throne in His Kingdom (4:4; 20:4–6; 22:3–5; Lk 22:30; 2Ti 2:12).

4:1 After this does not refer to a chronological order within the text of chs. 1–4, but instead connects this next sequence with the initial vision, a vision that beholds past, present, and future as one whole. St. John writes, as it were, from inside the eye of an apocalyptic tornado, recording glimpses of the eschatological events that whirl by. The single open door through the vaulted firmament (see Gn 1:7, 8) allows vision into the depths of all mysteries, the celestial throne. Since earthly events have their origin in heaven, true insight into history can be attained only from that vantage point (see Gn 28:17; Ezk 1:1; Mk 1:10; Acts 7:56; see also 1En 14:14; TLev 5:1). Come up, reminiscent of Moses' invitation from God to ascend Mt. Sinai (Ex 19:24), is a command with liturgical overtones: to enter God's sanctuary, His "high place."

4:2, 3 God is seen in biblical visions as sitting on a throne, a symbol of His sovereign lordship (3Kg 22:19; Ps 46:9; Is 6:1; Ezk 1:25–27; Dan 7:9; Mt 5:34; 23:22; see also 1En 14:18, 19). The image of this throne occurs over 40 times in Revelation and is further described as "a great white throne" (20:11), a throne of judgment. But here His throne is surrounded by a rainbow (v. 3), the sign of God's everlasting covenant according to which He will not judge man again as He did at the Flood (Gn 9:12–17). Mercy triumphs over judgment (Mt 9:13). Thus, in the Orthodox Church, the altar table is sometimes called "the throne."

4:4 The twenty-four elders are usually interpreted to be elders of the old and new covenants: the twelve sons of Jacob and the twelve apostles, the fullness of both covenants. They are the foundation of the people of God in both covenants (7:4; Mt 19:28). These elders continually fall down before God in worship (5:14; 11:16; 19:4), in adoration and praise (4:11; 5:9, 10; 11:17, 18; 19:4).

4:6, 7 The sea of glass (Ezk 1:22–26) surrounds God's throne, for God is approached by fallen men only through waters of death that produce life. As Israel journeyed through the Red Sea as if on hard ground, so Christians pass through the waters of baptism, entering into Christ's death and Resurrection. If the sea is not of glass, there is death, not new life. Also, God is vast and overpowering, as a sea of light would be. The hosts of angels surround Him (Dan 7:10) as a sea of purity.

The four living creatures are angelic beings adapted from Ezk 1:4–20 and Is 6:2. Their number is that of the whole world, the cosmos, and thus they portray creation, beasts, men, and angels as the Kingdom of God. Traditional iconography depicts them as symbols for the four evangelists. Their worship of God is unceasing, an ideal inspiring the round-the-clock services of Orthodox monastic communities.

4:8 The six wings (Is 6:2; Ezk 1:6) may symbolize the swiftness with which God's will is enacted in His world. Full of eyes around and within (see the wheels of Ezk 1:18) indicates the absolute vigilance of these creatures. They do not rest day or night suggests the essence of their ceaseless activity: to praise God (the very liturgy which the whole cosmos is called to serve) and to pray without ceasing (Ps 102:20–22; 148; 150; 1Th 5:17).

Their hymn, "Holy, holy, holy," like that of Isaiah's seraphim (Is 6:3), praises God, who is Lord of history and fills heaven and earth with His glory. Isaiah's doxology was part of synagogue worship and was incorporated into the worship of the Church (1Clem 34:6). Another form of this hymn, the Trisagion ("Holy God, Holy Mighty, Holy Immortal, have mercy on us!") reverberates throughout the services of the Orthodox Church. Ambrose wrote a similar hymn, the "Te Deum."

The eucharistic prayer of the Divine Liturgies of Ss. John Chrysostom, Basil, and James refers to the perpetual thrice-holy hymn of the "cherubim and the seraphim," thus blending the visions of Ezekiel, Isaiah, and St. John, and underscoring that the Divine Liturgy on earth is one with the heavenly liturgy of the angels and glorified saints.

4:10 The elders participate in the heavenly worship by the physical acts of prostration (see 3Kg 18:42) and casting their crowns. Prostration, a significant feature of historic Christian worship, is based in Scripture and signifies humility before God. The casting of crowns shows that the honor and glory of the saints derives from and belongs to God.

4:11 This doxology (glorification of God) is typical of many in the Apocalypse. It is offered to the Father and to Christ. Doxologies are a prominent aspect of Orthodox liturgy, ascribing glory, honor, and power to God.

Liturgy in the New Testament Church

Virtually all students of the Bible realize there was liturgical worship in Israel. Immediately after the giving of the Ten Commandments (Ex 20:1–17), instructions for building the altar were set forth (Ex 20:24–26). Then comes instruction concerning keeping the Sabbath (Ex 23:10–13), the annual feasts (Ex 23:14–19), and the various offerings and furnishings in the sanctuary (Ex 25:1–40). Following this, chapters 26–30 deal with such matters as the design of the tabernacle, the altar, and the outer court, the priests' vestments and their consecration, and instructions for daily offerings.

Liturgical worship is also found in heaven, which is to be expected, since God instructed Moses to make the earthly place of worship as a "copy and shadow of the heavenly things" (Heb 8:5; see Ex 25:40). Heavenly worship is revealed in such passages as Isaiah 6:1–8, where we see the prophet caught up to heaven for the liturgy, and Revelation 4, which records the apostle John's vision of heaven's liturgy.

The key to comprehending liturgy in the New Testament is to understand the work of the High Priest, our Lord Jesus Christ, who inaugurates the new covenant. Christ is "a priest forever" (Heb 7:17, 21). It is unthinkable that He would be a priest but not serve liturgically: "forever" suggests He serves continually, without ceasing, in the heavenly tabernacle. Further, He is called not only a priest but a liturgist: "a Minister [Gr. leitourgos, lit., "liturgist") of the sanctuary and of the true tabernacle which the Lord erected" (Heb 8:2). Christian worship on earth, to be fully Christian, must mirror the worship of Christ in heaven.

Moreover, Christ is "Mediator of a better covenant" (Heb 8:6). What is that covenant? In the words of the Lord, "This cup is the new covenant in My blood" (1Co 11:25). Just as the blood of bulls and goats in the old covenant prefigured Christ's sacrifice to come, so the eucharistic feast brings to us the fullness of His new covenant offering, completed at the Cross and fulfilled in His Resurrection. This once-for-all offering of Himself (Heb 7:27) which He as High Priest presents at the heavenly altar is an offering in which we participate through the Divine Liturgy in the Church. This is the worship of the New Testament Church!

Given this biblical background, a number of New Testament passages take on new meaning.

1. Acts 13:2: "As they ministered to the Lord [lit., "as they were in the liturgy of the Lord"] and fasted, the Holy Spirit said, 'Now separate to Me Barnabas and Saul.'" We learn that (a) these two apostles were called by God during worship, and (b) the Holy Spirit speaks in a liturgical setting.
2. Acts 20:7: "Now on the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul, ready to depart the next day, spoke to them." Communion was held each Sunday.
3. Romans 16:16: "Greet one another with a holy kiss." A kiss of greeting was common in this ancient culture. The "holy kiss," however, was an element of the Christian liturgy that signified the people of God were reconciled to one another, so that they might receive the Body and Blood of Christ in peace.

4. Ephesians 5:14: "Awake, you who sleep, / Arise from the dead, / And Christ will give you light." This is an ancient baptismal hymn, already in use by the time Ephesians was written. Other examples of creeds and hymns of New Testament times are seen in 1 Timothy 3:16 and 2 Timothy 2:11–13.
5. Hebrews 13:10: "We have an altar" reveals the continuation of the altar in New Testament worship.
6. Revelation 1:10: "I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day." Many scholars believe John saw his vision of Christ during the Sunday liturgy, as the Lord appeared to him "in the midst of the seven lampstands" (Rev 1:13). Lampstands would be found in the Christian sanctuary just as they were in the Hebrew temple.

5:1 The scroll contains the secret decrees of God concerning the judgment and salvation of humanity (see Ezk 2:9, 10; Ps 138:16; see also 1En 81:1, 2). Included is the greatest of all mysteries, God's will concerning the events marking the end times (see Dan 10:21), sealed up and hidden in profound security (with seven seals) until the time it will be revealed and implemented. In the twenty-three references to scrolls in Revelation there are five types: (1) the unsealed letters to the churches of Asia; (2) the unsealed Book of Life (13:8ff.); (3) the unsealed books of judgment (20:12); (4) the little open scroll that is eaten (10:8–10); and (5) the present sealed scroll.

5:2–5 Who can know the mysteries of the scroll and the seals? Who but Christ, the Son of God Himself, can understand the greatest of all mysteries and how God deals with man in history? The Lion . . . of Judah and Root of David are messianic titles with parallels in the OT and apocryphal books (see Gn 49:9, 10; Is 11:1–10). The One who has conquered Satan decisively, once and for all, in His self-sacrifice on the Cross and in His Resurrection, is alone worthy to open the scroll of destiny, reveal its message, and carry out its words.

5:6, 7 Jesus is called the Lamb of God in Jn 1:29. Isaiah compares the Messiah's voluntary self-sacrifice to a lamb being led to slaughter (Is 53). The central theme of Revelation is victory through sacrifice. This Lamb stands between the throne, the four living creatures, and the elders. St. Ignatius refers to the bishop standing at the center of his flock as an image of both the Father and the Son. In the development of episcopal vesture, the bishop's outer garment was for a time woven of wool. Seven horns and seven eyes represent the fullness of Christ's power and knowledge; through Him also the Holy Spirit (the seven Spirits of God) is sent on His mission to the world. Intertestamental Jewish apocalyptic literature portrayed the Messiah as a horned lamb who would fight for His people and conquer the forces of evil. The Jews, however, never expected this warrior-lamb to suffer and die, and did not consider Him to be God. The warrior-lamb is both with God (in the midst of the throne) and with man (in the midst of the elders), for He is the union of God and man without the merging of the two natures.

5:8 The four angelic beings, the four living creatures, and the glorified saints of all ages represented by the twenty-four elders worship Jesus, thus recognizing His deity, by elevated thanksgiving (each having a harp). And by elevated prayer (golden bowls full of incense) they present to God the prayers of the saints still on earth, manifested in the incense (8:3, 4; see Ps 140:2; Tb 12:15). In the ancient world, incense was used in both secular and liturgical life. God, people, and objects were censed as a sign of honor and dedication. And in the services of the Church, incense is also a symbol of prayer.

5:9–14 Three doxologies are sung by ever-increasing choruses. (1) The elders with the most eminent angels sing a new song, more perfect than any hymn before, to the Lamb (Christ), for He has inaugurated the new age (21:1, 5; Is 42:10). (2) The Church joined by all the holy angels—much as the priests are followed by the choir and then by the entire church—sends up to the Lamb a fullness of divine ascriptions in a sevenfold doxology (5:12). (3) All creation, the whole cosmos, joins in a hymn of glory addressed to the Father and to the Son. As heaven's angels sing to God, so do "we who represent the cherubim." The Church has always been first and foremost a worshiping community; the Divine Liturgy empowers and inspires evangelism, social service, instruction, and all else.

6:1–17 With the Lamb's opening of the seals, John begins a description of the signs of the end, much of it already set forth by Jesus in the Gospels (Mt 24; Mk 13; Lk 21). The seals are consequences of man's condition, an overview of conditions manifest since the birth of the Church, which will continue until Christ's second coming. The four horsemen (see Zec 1:8–17; 6:1–8 for the model of this imagery) personify the scourges which, through the prophets, God has threatened as judgment on the faithless: war, famine, plague, natural disasters.

6:2 The first rider (on the white horse, carrying a bow) represents the spirit of conquest, reminiscent of fierce divine judgment in the OT, usually wrought through the military power of adversaries (Jer 27:29; Ezk 5:15). Jesus taught "nation will rise against nation" (Mt 24:7). The figure here probably represents liberators of the oppressed people of God.

6:3, 4 The second rider represents war, violent bloodshed, and death—removal of peace from the earth, the result of the conquests of the first rider. Jesus predicted there will be "wars and rumors of wars" (Mt 24:6).

6:5, 6 The third rider represents famine and inflation, frequent accompaniments of war.

6:7, 8 The fourth horseman represents widespread human death, pale green being the color of rotting flesh. Pestilence and starvation follow the famine of warfare.

6:9–11 The cry of the martyrs for vengeance is not vindictive; they are pleading with God to hasten the end of persecution and the consummation of His plans for the world. In the interim, the martyrs are consoled by the white robe (v. 11)—a Jewish symbol of resurrection from the dead. Elsewhere it is a symbol of blessedness, good deeds, innocence, victory, purity, new and eternal life, transfiguration, a resurrected and glorified body, vesting in Christ, and the wedding garment of salvation (3:5; 7:9, 13–17; 19:8, 9; Is 61:10; Dan 10:5; Mt 22:1–4; Gal 3:27; see also 1En 62:16). The martyrs are called to have patience until the fullness of their number is complete. The vision of the souls of the martyrs under the altar (v. 9) derives from the OT practice of pouring the blood (the physical manifestation of the life of the soul) of sin offerings at the base of the altar of burnt offering. It is a basis for the historic Christian practices of building church buildings over tombs of martyrs, placing relics of saints in the altar when a church is consecrated, and burying baptized people under the altar. Thus, in the Divine Liturgy Orthodox Christians remember "those who lie asleep here and in all the world."

6:12–17 The sixth seal represents the cosmic disturbances that often accompany descriptions of "the day of the Lord," the return of Christ (Joel 3:3, 4; Mt 24:29, 30; and parallels). People in rebellion against God (v. 15) are terror-stricken before God's judgmental wrath.

7:1–17 The seventh (and final) seal will yet be opened (8:1). The visions here of the faithful Church form an interlude wherein the Lord's faithful are "sealed" against His wrath. "Who is able to stand?" (6:17). The faithful, who will be sealed and will then assemble for worship.

7:1–3 The four winds are symbolic "winds of judgment," as in Jewish apocalyptic literature (Jer 25:16; Zec 2:10; Dan 8:8; Mk 13:27; see also 1En 76:1–4). They are restrained until God's servants (Is 44:5; 2Co 1:22; 2Ti 2:19) are sealed (v. 3), that is, given a special protection from the ensuing judgments (Ezk 9:1–11).

7:4–8 The servants of God are sealed (v. 4) by the Holy Spirit. Extensive debates have taken place regarding the 144,000. Some regard the number as symbolizing the entire faithful Church as the new Israel (12 tribes times the churches of the 12 apostles times 1000—a number which means "a great amount"). Thus, the contention is that the number simply stands for completeness and perfection—twelve times twelve equals the perfect square. Slightly differently, some see the 144,000 as the Church militant, the Church on earth, and the white-robed multitude (vv. 9, 10) as the Church triumphant.

7:9–14 The scene shifts to heaven, where an innumerable multitude from all nations worships before the throne of God. Their white robes and palm branches (v. 9) symbolize purity and victory. The vast multitude represents either the entire faithful Church—which lives in the spirit of its baptism (washed . . . in the blood of the Lamb, v. 14)—or the righteous from all nations who were not members of the "12 x 12 x 1000," old covenant Israel and the Church. These pass victoriously through the great tribulation to inherit the Kingdom. See also note on 22:14.

7:15–17 The heavenly life is pictured as one of unending worship, day and night (v. 15), from which all suffering has been banished. Here we have the ultimate sanctification of time, the consecration of all life to the service and worship of God, carried out along with the heavenly hosts. Is 49:10 inspires the statement of v. 16. John's descriptions of the victorious Church and the blessings of heaven were written to encourage and console Christians of the first century who faced severe persecution for their faith—in which the faithful of all generations may find consolation.

8:1–4 The silence (v. 1), trumpets (v. 2), and offering of incense (vv. 3, 4) were features of the Jewish temple liturgy. The half-hour silence (v. 1) dramatically indicates profound awe at the opening of the seventh seal.

8:2 The seven angels receive the seven trumpets. These bodiless powers represent the OT priests, who also sounded their trumpets during the temple liturgy (see Jos 6:12; 1Ch 16:6; Ps 97:6).

8:3 Incense is present in heaven (see 5:8). It symbolizes the prayers of all the saints. Incense is: (1) commanded by God to Moses for use in Israel's worship (Ex 25:6; 20:18; 24:16; Lk 1:9–11); (2) used throughout Israel's history under the old covenant (1Ch 23:13); (3) prophesied by the Lord Himself concerning its use in the Church: incense will be offered "in every place . . . among the Gentiles" (Mal 1:11); (4) brought by the Magi as a gift to Jesus (Mt 2:11); and (5) used in Christian worship from the beginning even till today, in both East and West.

8:5 The casting of the censer to earth (v. 5) shows that the prayers of the saints for vengeance (6:9–11) have been heard. The thunderings and earthquake signify that the judgment of God is imminent.

8:6 The seven angels with the seven trumpets form a double image of the old covenant temple liturgy and the fall of Jericho.

The interrelationship of the "seal judgments" (5:1–8:1), "trumpet judgments" (8:2–11:19), and "bowl judgments" (15:1–16:21) in Revelation is complex. There is some repetition and summarizing. The trumpets and bowls also give increasing specificity to God's judgments. They may not describe a chronological unfolding of events or even actual events. The trumpets speak of God's final warning to the world, especially seen in the "one-third" formula, calling the world to repentance before utter destruction comes. This stage of judgment can be seen to be the prelude—manifested in the natural world—to the great tribulation (Mt 24:15–22), playing a role much like that of the ten plagues of Exodus; the end itself is "not yet." The Church is not mentioned until ch. 11, where the calamities of earth are overcome by the Kingdom of God (11:15–19).

8:7 Only vegetation is affected. The seventh plague in Egypt is recalled (Ex 9:22–26; see also Ezk 5:12; Zec 13:8, 9). The reference to blood most likely comes from Joel (3:3; see Acts 2:19). A mixture of hail, fire, and blood is a typical apocalyptic picture of judgment.

8:8, 9 As in the first plague of Egypt (Ex 7:14–25), the sea, marine life, and maritime commerce are affected.

8:10, 11 Reminiscent of the first Egyptian plague, this judgment affects fresh waters. Wormwood, an extremely bitter plant that would make water undrinkable, symbolizes the bitter fruits of idolatry and sorrow to those who pursue adulterous liaisons with the heathen Gentiles (see Jer 9:12–16; 23:15).

8:12 A three-day period of darkness was the ninth Egyptian plague (Ex 10:21–29). An unnatural darkness is one of the signs of the end of days (Mk 13:24). Darkening of the sun, moon, and stars portends cosmic catastrophe. The darkness is partial to indicate it is a warning.

9:1, 2 While the star may refer to an angel, the same angel as the one of 20:1 (such symbolism was known in Judaism: see Job 38:7; also 1En 21:6), it may also represent the fallen world powers (see Jude 13), a fallen angel (Lk 10:18), or Satan himself (9:11; Is 14:12–15). His "fall" may mean "descent": an angel is sent from heaven by God to unlock the bottomless pit, the abyss below the earth, the place of confinement for evil spirits (11:7; 17:8; 20:1–3; also Lk 8:31). The smoke from the pit causes a darkness on the earth; this may symbolize the spiritual darkness covering the earth during the last times. Compare with 1:18, in which the key to death and Hades is given to the Risen One.

9:3, 4 These new plagues are again reminiscent of the plagues on Egypt (see the eighth and ninth plagues in Ex 9; 10). From the smoke come locusts, representing demonic entities who rise from the pit to torture those who do not belong to God's Kingdom. The seal of (the name of) God on their foreheads is given to the 144,000 servants (5:4; 7:2–4; 14:1; 22:3, 4 in contrast with 13:16–18) for their spiritual identity. At chrismation, Orthodox Christians receive "the seal of the gift of the Holy Spirit" through holy oil placed on their foreheads.

9:5, 6 The period of torture is limited; it is likened to the sting of the scorpion, one of the most painful known to man. Because of its intensity, the afflicted will seek death, but it is not permitted to them.

9:7–10 A terrifying picture of the demonic oppression of sinners in the last times.

9:11 In Hebrew, Abaddon refers to destruction (Job 28:22 and 31:12, Hebrew text). Apollyon is the masculine Greek form for "destroyer." There may be an allusion here to the Greek god Apollo, with whom the emperors Caligula, Nero, and Domitian claimed a special relationship.

9:13–16 The four-horned altar is based on the OT prototype (Ex 27:2). The voice is a command from God allowing the four angels (v. 14) to create the spiritual conditions for the destruction of a third of mankind (v. 15). The Euphrates (v. 14) was the border of the empire beyond which fierce and menacing peoples were often feared to dwell. The number two hundred million (v. 16) makes it unlikely any earthly army is in view; as with the locusts, another infernal, demonic host is probably envisioned.

9:17–19 The description given is for horse and rider combined. Some may imagine modern armaments, but this would have been completely foreign to the communities for whom the book was written. The various features are intended to present an awesome spectacle of the horrific plagues visited on those who resist God.

9:20, 21 Unfortunately, humanity is so addicted to sin that even these terrifying plagues do not cause the survivors to repent (see 1Co 8:4). Paul (1Co 10:20, 21) and early fathers such as Justin Martyr and Irenaeus also connected idol worship with the worship of demons.

10:1—11:13 A parenthesis between the sixth and seventh trumpets. The passage consists of two visions: (1) the angel with the book; (2) the two witnesses. Dan 12 provides many of the images.

10:1, 2 John once again beholds from earth the angel's descent. God's message comes to him in a little book (v. 2) or scroll. The descriptive features of the angel are common symbols for divine glory (Ezk 1:26, 27; Mt 17:2). His feet on the sea and land (v. 2) show his immensity and his authority to speak to the whole earth.

10:3, 4 The angel's voice, like a lion's roar, reminds us of God readying Himself for judgment (Jer 27:44; Am 1:2; Joel 4:16). The seven thunders probably refer to the divine voice (Ps 28:3–9; Jn 12:27–33), a fullness of terror, power, and magnificence. In Dan 12:4, God tells the prophet to seal up (v. 4) what has been written in his book. So, too, St. John is told, regarding what the seven thunders have revealed. This command not to write down the utterance shows John's revelation does not exhaust divine decrees for humanity: undisclosed mysteries remain (2Co 12:4).

10:5–7 The angel, lifting his hand in the form for taking an oath (see Gn 14:22; Dan 12:7), swears that the fullness of time has arrived and God's plan for history (the mystery of God, v. 7) is to be completed. This recalls Ps 118:126, proclaimed by the deacon at the beginning of the Divine Liturgy: "It is time for the Lord to act!" as an answer to the question of the martyrs dwelling under the altar (6:10–11). Lives forever and ever (v. 6) is literally "unto ages of ages," the closing phrase of most Orthodox Christian prayers.

10:8–11 The voice of God directs John to take the book. The symbolism of eating refers to receiving a revelation from God: John's account has many parallels to the commissioning of Ezekiel (Ezk

2:8–3:3; see also Ps 118:103). The contrast between sweetness in the mouth and bitterness in the stomach shows the sweetness of receiving God's revelation (announcing God's victory for His people) as opposed to the bitterness of its message of woe (announcing God's terrible judgments, as well as sufferings for His faithful ones).

11:1, 2 The measurement of the temple recalls Ezekiel's vision (Ezk 40–42). Here the measurement indicates the preservation of the temple, not restoration. Commentators variously interpret the temple as (1) a literal temple to be rebuilt in Jerusalem in the future, (2) a symbol of the Church (see Eph 2:19–21; 1Pt 2:5), or (3) the Jewish-Christian Church of the first century. The holy city (v. 2) shows the setting to be Jerusalem. The Synoptic Gospels also taught that Jerusalem would fall (Mt 24; Mk 13; Lk 21); Luke mentioned specifically that the Gentiles would trample Jerusalem for a period (21:24). In patristic tradition the second interpretation is preferable. The court outside (v. 2) is for both Jews and Gentiles. It will not be measured because of the large number of Christians.

The forty-two months (v. 2) is three and a half years, one-half of seven, symbolizing what is not full or final but temporary, incomplete. It derives from Daniel's "a time, two times, and half a time" (12:7), the three-and-a-half-year period when the temple was to be profaned (Dan 9:27). John affirms the true temple, the Church, will be preserved during this Gentile onslaught. "Temple" is a frequent NT symbol for the Church (1Co 3:16, 17; 2Co 6:16; Eph 2:19–22).

11:3 The identity of the two witnesses is much disputed. The most common opinion of the church fathers is that they represent Elijah and Enoch, who were believed to have ascended to heaven. In Jewish tradition, Moses is frequently substituted for Enoch on the basis of the tradition that he, too, ascended to heaven. It was Moses who appeared with Elijah at the Transfiguration of Jesus. John most likely drew on the Jewish tradition that Elijah would return to preach in the last days (Mal 3:22; Mt 4:5). Although Jesus identified the Elijah figure with John the Baptist, many continued to believe in an actual appearance of Elijah before the end. Sackcloth was the ancient garb of penitence (see Jer 4:8; Mt 11:21). The prophecy of the two witnesses will continue for 1,260 days (42 months or 3–1/2 years; see Dan 7:25; 12:7). This period may be interpreted as "fullness" (i.e., seven) arrested halfway, imperfect, impermanent, not necessarily to be taken in a numerically literal manner.

11:4 These two olive trees and the two lampstands who stand before . . . God are the eschatological agents of God at work on earth. This symbolic description of the witnesses is derived from Zechariah's vision concerning Zerubbabel the governor and Joshua the high priest, who are described as standing "beside the Lord of all the earth" (Zec 4:14).

11:5, 6 These features are reminiscent of Elijah's ministry (3Kg 17) and the plagues God visited upon the Egyptians through Moses (Ex 7–11).

11:7 The beast is either the Antichrist or the Roman Empire (see 13:1–10; Dan 7).

11:8 The great city . . . where also our Lord was crucified, is clearly Jerusalem (which kills the prophets; Lk 13:34). Like Sodom and Egypt, Jerusalem becomes self-sufficient and rebels against God.

11:9 The peoples, tribes, tongues, and nations represent the whole world in rebellion against God. They rejoice at the sight of the dead prophets because the prophets' preaching had tormented the rebels' consciences.

11:11 The breath of life is a biblical term for the animating life-force manifest in the breath. The resurrection of the witnesses is conceivable because of the traditions regarding the ascensions of Enoch, Elijah, and Moses (see, as well, the dry bones of Ezk 37).

11:15 These heavenly voices, which introduce an interlude with the scene shifting back to heaven, provide for us the pivotal verse of the whole of Revelation. Once again (as in 10:5–7) the proclamation is made that the fullness of time has arrived: the kingdoms of this world are subject to the Kingdom of God. This is the mystery of mysteries alluded to in 10:7, which our Lord Himself mentioned, as recorded in Jn 12:31: the judgment of the world and the casting out of Satan is effected by the crucifixion. The voices state this has already occurred once and for all, at Calvary. Up to this point, Revelation has recorded only the prelude to God's judgment. From now on, the book records the judgment of God in all its power.

11:16–18 The twenty-four elders concelebrate the consummation of God's Kingdom in the heavenly liturgy. This carries a message of consolation to the Church. Those who destroy the earth (v. 18) are the morally wicked, not merely the ecologically irresponsible—however, ecological irresponsibility is moral wickedness. Perhaps the pagan Roman Empire is in view.

12:1 These verses begin an extensive parenthesis in the center of Revelation dealing with the conflict between the Church and the powers of evil (12:1–14:20). The great sign in heaven, the woman, is either the Theotokos or true Israel, the Church (Is 7:14). Orthodoxy sees the Theotokos as the perfect symbol of Israel and the Church. She is the antithesis of the harlot of ch. 17, for she is a radiant bride (SS 6:4, 10) adorned with splendor. The twelve stars indicate the twelve tribes (and possibly the twelve apostles) and the moon under her feet symbolizes her preeminent role over creation. Her birth-giving ("a male Child," v. 5) is that of the Messiah, and she bears other offspring as well (12:17), a likely reference to the Church.

12:3, 4 The dragon is clearly identified as Satan (12:9). A third of the stars of heaven (v. 4) is usually interpreted to mean that Satan drew a third of the angels with him when he fell. His intention is to destroy the Messiah.

12:5 True Israel brings forth Christ, who, after completion of His saving work, ascends to heaven (Ps 2:7–9; 46:6).

12:6 The flight of the woman may refer to the flight of the Jerusalem Church (embodying true Israel) to Pella before the outbreak of the Roman war. It illustrates there is no place for the Church in this age. The 1260 days, or three and a half years, is the classic period of apocalyptic woe (see 11:2): as bad as it is, it is temporary, not the end of things.

12:7–12 This passage begins an interlude describing Satan's role in stimulating persecution of the Church. The war with Michael and the good angels is usually interpreted to picture an event before the creation of the world. However, the context places it just before the end of the world. Satan has been accusing the brethren (v. 10), the Christians, and his downfall (see Lk 10:18) presages the consummation of the Kingdom (v. 10). Satan is overcome by Christ's self-sacrifice and that of the martyrs (v. 11)—those who did not love their lives to the death. The short time (v. 12) Satan has is the period of tribulation just prior to the end.

12:13–16 Satan hates Christ and His mother. The Virgin Mary was saved by the inspiration of the angel who told Joseph to run into Egypt. Likewise, Satan hates Christ and the Church (Jn 15:21) and attacks the one through the other, since they are identified. One of his first activities is to persecute true Israel. The wings of a great eagle (v. 14) refers to the original Exodus (Ex 19:4; see Dt 32:11), as the flood (vv. 15, 16) may also be the threat of drowning in the Red Sea. However, Satan is unable to prevail. The Jewish Church safely completes its exodus and is preserved during its apocalyptic period. And the Church in general will be preserved: the gates of hell cannot prevail against her (Mt 16:18). For Jesus' warnings about this flight, see Mt 24:15–21.

12:17 Satan then turns his attention to the rest of true Israel's offspring, obviously the Gentile Church, which has inherited from her both the commandments of God and faith in Christ.

13:1, 2 The beast (monster) rising up out of the sea, a composite of the four beasts of Dan 7, is the epitome of worldly kingdoms opposed to God and His Kingdom. For John, this was the Roman Empire: a monstrous creature with ten horns (very powerful), seven heads (the emperors), ten crowns, and on his heads a blasphemous name (emperors who assumed titles of divinity such as "Lord and God," "Savior," "Son of God," etc.). In a parody of 5:12–14, where the sacrificed Lamb is enthroned, the beast is given power, not to bless the Church but to persecute it. One of the heads of this monster was "as though it had been slaughtered to death" (the Greek text), and is another parody of the Lamb, which was standing even though it had been slain (5:6).

The deadly wound might refer to the mad emperor Nero's death (inflicted by a slit throat in the manner of temple sacrifice). For despite his death in AD 68, the empire lived on, revived under Vespasian. Many believed Nero himself would rise from the dead. Domitian (AD 81–96, the emperor at the time of the writing of Revelation) was considered to be "Nero reincarnate" because his cruelty surpassed Nero's. Christian tradition has also seen the beast as an image of the Antichrist, the false messiah who presents himself in the last times as God incarnate and is accepted by the world (see Jn 5:43; 2Th 1:12; 1Jn 2:18). Since there are "many antichrists" (1Jn 2:18), there may be more than one application of the beast figure.

13:4 People worshiped the dragon (Satan), for it had given authority to the beast (a reference to emperor worship, which Domitian ruthlessly enforced). "Who is like the beast?" is an allusion to Michael the Archangel, whose name means "Who is like God?" It is also a parody of God, the incomparable (Ex 15:11; Ps 88:7). Citizens are awed by the power and authority of the empire.

13:5 Forty-two months is the final period of apocalyptic conflict. It is one-half of seven years, not the final end of things. Thus, the nations trample over the holy city for three and a half years (11:2); the two witnesses prophesy for three and a half years (11:3); they are left unburied for three and a half days (11:9, 11); the woman is protected in the wilderness for three and a half years (12:6, 14). Nero's persecution lasted approximately forty-two months.

13:6 The beast, the Roman Empire, utters blasphemy against God, for the emperor came to see himself as god. Domitian demanded to be called divine, and on Roman coins divine titles were associated with the likenesses of deceased emperors. The tabernacle is God's Church; those who dwell in heaven, the angels and glorified saints. Christians saw emperor worship as worship of Satan (v. 2; 2:13); it is the ultimate offense against God that His creatures would worship earthly authority, itself under demonic rule. Nevertheless, by God's permission, the Antichrist rules over the whole earth and apparently vanquishes the Church.

13:10 Better rendered "he who is destined for captivity," "he who is destined for the sword," directed to Christians facing persecution (see Jer 15:2).

13:11, 12 The beast which rose out of the earth with two horns (power) like a lamb (Christ, gentle and giving), and which spoke like a dragon (Satan, whose speech is seductive), is worldly religion. Its minister of propaganda, so to speak, mimics John the Baptist and the Holy Spirit: a false prophet (see 16:13; 19:20; 20:10; Dan 7:8) calling all to worship the first beast (false divinity). This monster completes the unholy triumvirate: dragon (Satan, false god), beast from the sea (worldly authority and power, false incarnation), and beast from the earth (worldly religion, false prophet): a blasphemous parody of the Holy Trinity.

13:13–15 With a parody of Pentecost, this monstrous cult leader is able to make fire come down from heaven on the earth by means of deception and sorcery (see Mt 24:24; Acts 13:6–12; Didache 16:3–4)—luring people into making an image to the beast (v. 14; the goddess of Rome or the emperor). Statues were often "brought to life" by sorcery. Irenaeus, Clement, Justin, and Eusebius note that the sorcerer Simon Magus (Acts 8:9–24) used illusion and occult practices to make idols seem alive. This beast is able to enforce the sentence of death on those who will not worship him (see Nebuchadnezzar's statue in Dan 3).

13:16, 17 A parody of God's seal of 7:3, even alluding to the Hebrew phylactery of Dt 6:8—where God's Law is kept on the forehead and the left hand—and to chrismation (but not the same word as "sealed"). The mark is gained by worshiping the beast (v. 17); it signifies the beast is the owner of those who wear it—their protector and the one to whom they owe their livelihoods. This mark is not necessarily a visible and physical mark on the person, but it is required to do business. There is then an economic bias against those who do not bear the beast's mark (the faithful who will not render demonic worship to the state).

13:18 The letters of the alphabet were used as numbers in ancient times (Roman numerals). Thus, the numerical value of names could easily be calculated. "The name of the beast" (v. 17) is the numerical equivalent of the letters of the name of a man (some texts read "616" instead of the well-known 666). John may be purposefully enigmatic, using a secret code to protect against a charge of sedition.

This is a predictably misunderstood passage, for the text itself says it requires wisdom and understanding. In the Bible, the number six stands for falling short, incompleteness, imperfection; seven, for perfection, fullness, completion; eight, for eschatological perfection, a superabundance of fullness (see 2En 33:1). The sixth day, Friday, is the day of preparation; the seventh, the Sabbath, Saturday, a picture of the rest to come; the eighth day, Sunday, the day of the Resurrection, the final establishment of God's Kingdom. The numerical equivalent of "Jesus" in Greek is 888. The numerical equivalent of "Nero Caesar" transliterated from Greek into Hebrew is 666, meaning the epitome of created inadequacy. The numerical equivalent of "Nero Caesar" transliterated from Latin into Hebrew is 616. If John were referring to Domitian, whom some considered to be Nero reincarnated, it would be safer to refer not to the present persecutor but to the one long gone. Some believe that "666" is a symbol rather than a cryptogram, falling short of perfection in each of its digits: failure upon failure upon failure, an evil trinity which always falls short of the Holy Trinity ("777"). Many have attempted to identify "666," but writing only one hundred years after John, St. Irenaeus had no idea to whom John was referring!

14:1 Mount Zion, the location of the temple in Jerusalem, is the Church (Heb 12:22). It is where the Lamb of God and His one hundred and forty-four thousand faithful (see 7:4) assemble. Instead of the mark of the beast (13:16–18) they have the "mark" of the Father (see 7:3).

14:2, 3 The voice from heaven that made the voice of many waters, loud thunder, and harps recalls the sounds of the temple liturgy. This voice sings a new song (v. 3; see 5:8–10; Ex 15:1–18; Ps 32:3; 98:1; 149:1; Is 42:10) which only the redeemed faithful from the earth are able to learn.

14:4 Virgins: In the OT, prostitution and adultery symbolize idolatry, and virginity signifies faithfulness to God. Thus, the 144,000 have kept themselves pure from the idolatrous worship of the beast. Instead, they are faithful and follow the Lord wherever He goes (Ru 1:16, 17) as sheep follow a shepherd (and here, the Shepherd is the Lamb), unlike adulterous Israel (Hos 3:1). These martyred faithful who love not their lives even unto death are the firstfruits offered to God from among humanity: the faithful remnant. They are truthful (having nothing to do with the father of lies) and unblemished (a technical term in OT temple sacrifice; see Ex 12:5; Eph 5:25–27; 1Pt 1:19). We shall later encounter them as the bride of the Lamb (19:8; 21:2).

14:6, 7 A universal summons to worship the one true God in the face of His approaching judgment.

14:8 Babylon the Great, Rome, has fallen (Jer 28:8), an anticipation of the dirge over Babylon in 18:1–19:4 (see Is 21:9). Rome has made the nations, peoples of the empire, subservient through drinking the wine of her fornication, the sensual, unholy eucharist of her idolatry and self-divinization. This wine is intoxicating and results in the wrath of man: corruption, anger, and murder, including the shedding of the blood of the saints (16:6).

14:9–11 The wrath of God (v. 10) shall be poured out like wine, full strength (unmixed, with no water to dilute it), to be drunk by those who compromise with the evil one. Like a smoldering hotpot, this cup is agonizing, the same bath of fire and brimstone (the fate of Sodom and Gomorrah, Gn 19:24) reserved for Satan, the beast, and the false prophet (19:20; 20:10; 21:8). Even the presence of God, the Lamb, and His good servants, the holy angels, is a torment (see the townspeople in Lk 8:37). And, as the refuse piles in the Valley of Hinnom (Gehenna) smoldered unceasingly outside Jerusalem, this agony continues forever and ever, an eternal contrast to the never-ending joy of the worship of God (9:8).

14:12, 13 Christians, when persecuted, must exercise patience and faith, with labors and good works (v. 13)—the unity of faith and works. The alternative, eternal damnation, is too horrible (vv. 9–11).

14:14–20 Two images of judgment, a grain harvest (vv. 14–16) and a grape harvest, complete with the treading of a winepress (vv. 17–20).

14:14 The Son of Man, royal conqueror (golden crown) and judge (sharp sickle; see Mt 3:12), appears, seated on a cloud (see Mk 13:26), and reaps the harvest of the earth, the beginning of the final judgment (see Mt 13:24–30, 36–43; Mk 4:26–29).

14:18 The angel . . . from the altar with power over fire (see see also 1En 60:11–21) recalls 6:9; 8:3–5; and 11:1, 18. The prayers of the martyrs under the altar and the saints on earth for a hasty destruction of the destroyers are answered.

14:20 The trampling of the wicked who were gathered outside the city recalls the bloodshed (the crucifixion, Heb 13:12; the martyrdom of Stephen, Acts 7:58–60) that took place outside the walls of Jerusalem. The whole world is judged as the Jews would judge the Gentiles (Joel 4:2, 12; Zec 14:2–12; see also 1En 5:31). The absurdly large amount of blood (one thousand six hundred furlongs is about 184 miles) suggests the severity and completeness (1600 = 4 x 4 x 100) of God's judgment.

15:1 An introduction to the bowl plagues, the culmination of God's judgment of the earth.

15:2–4 The victory celebration for those who refuse to submit to Antichrist, perhaps a hymn used in the liturgy of the early Church. In contrast to the idolatry of the beast, this hymn emphasizes the worthiness of the true God. The song of Moses and the Lamb (v. 3) is prefigured in the hymns of Ex 15:1–18 and Dt 32:1–43, where victory over the oppression of Pharaoh and the Egyptians is celebrated. The Jews incorporated these into the Sabbath liturgy, and the Church also sings them at various times of the year (for example, in Matins, and in the Vespers of Holy Saturday). The Church sings this song of the Lamb in baptism and at the Great Blessing of Water.

15:5–7 The temple of the tabernacle of the testimony is the heavenly prototype of the earthly "tabernacle of testimony" (Nm 17:7), containing the witness of God's covenant, the tablets of the Law brought down from Mt. Sinai by Moses (Ex 32:15)—which was itself the archetype of the temple of Jerusalem (see Ex 25:9, 40; Heb 8:5; 9:11; 13:10; Acts 7:44). Seven angels (v. 6) appear out of the temple in priestly vesture (Ezk 9:2; Dan 10:5; Heb 1:14; Rev 1:13; 19:14). They are given golden bowls (see the vessels used by the priests in the Jerusalem temple, 5:8; Ex 27:3; Nm 7) by one of the living creatures (v. 7; see 4:6). God's judgment is meted out within the framework of this apocalyptic liturgical theophany.

15:8 The temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God (see Is 6:4; Ezk 10:3, 4), so that no one was able to enter the temple (see Ex 40:29, where Moses was unable to enter the tabernacle; and 3Kg 8:10, 11 where the priests were unable to enter the temple for the same reason). None may enter to intercede for the earth or to divert the coming catastrophe of God's sworn judgment.

16:1 Although they are quite similar, the trumpet plagues are partial, a warning and call to repentance, whereas the bowl judgments are final and total. The difference is that dreadful step from the "beginning of sorrows" to final judgment. This chapter, like ch. 15, contains many elements foreshadowed in Joel 4:9–17, which is read in the Church on the Wednesday before Great Lent.

The loud voice from the celestial temple is presumably God's voice. Pour out is a liturgical term (Lv 4:7, 18, 25, et. al.) referring to the blood and the wine poured out with the offering of the daily sacrifice and the Feast of Dedication. On the Day of Atonement, blood was sprinkled seven times towards the inner veil, more was then smeared upon the horns of the altar, and the remainder was poured out at the altar's base. Here, the seven angelic priests pour out the bowls of God's wrath as a ritual answer to the cry of the martyrs (from under the altar) for vengeance (see Ps 68:25; Jer 10:21; Zep 3:8).

16:2–4 The first bowl is poured out, and the mark of the beast breaks out on those who received it in foul and loathsome sores, like the sixth plague of Ex 9:8–11. The second (v. 3) and third (v. 4) bowls are like the first plague (Ex 7:20–21; see Rev 8:8–11).

16:5–7 This judgment becomes the occasion for a doxology to God from the angel of the waters, the element just affected by God's wrath (vv. 3, 4). In biblical thought, spiritual or angelic powers have charge of the physical realm; all elements of the material world have angelic guardians. In response, the altar itself (the voice of the martyrs? —see 6:9; 8:3–5; 9:13) proclaims that God's judgments are true and righteous (v. 7).

There is a parallel here with "the song of Moses" (15:3, 4). Indeed, there is a parallel here with the musical interlude in the Jerusalem temple liturgy between the preparation and the offering of the sacrificed lamb. It is their just due (v. 6) is literally "they are worthy [axios]," the antithesis of the worthiness of the Lamb sung about in 3:4; 5:9, 12. At the ordination of a deacon, priest, or bishop, the assembly sings "Axios" as an assent to the candidate's worthiness (see WSol 3:5).

16:8, 9 The spiritually hardened followers of the beast cannot repent, but only blaspheme at the judgments of God. In contrast to Dan 3:22–24, 46–50, where the holy youths who refuse to worship Nebuchadnezzar's image are not even singed by the furnace's heat, here those who worship the beast and its image are scorched with great heat (v. 9).

16:10 The plague of darkness is similar to the ninth Egyptian plague (Ex 10:21–29). Here the throne is Rome (in contrast to 2:13), and the kingdom is the empire. Satan has shared his dominion with "the beast from the land," the false prophet (13:2).

16:12 In 9:13–21 the Parthian Empire threatened the Roman Empire, as it had Israel. In this verse, the historical setting of ch. 9 is clarified: Rome will lose its natural defensive line (the Euphrates) and be punished by the kings from the east, the Parthians (see also 6:2; 17:12, 13). The OT miracles of crossing over a river on dry land (Ex 14:21, 22; Jos 3:17) are repeated (see also Is 11:15; Jer 28:36; Zec 10:11).

16:13 An allusion to the second Egyptian plague (Ex 7:26–8:11). The unclean spirits (see 1Ti 4:1; 1Jn 4:3) are like frogs.

16:14 Spirits of demons, performing signs are attested by our Lord (Mk 13:22; see also Acts 13:6; 2Th 2:9). The great day of God Almighty (6:17, foreshadowed in Joel 2:11; Zep 1:14; graphically described in 2Pt 3:12) is the eschatological Day of the Lord.

16:15 In a parenthetical comment, we are told that this Day of the Lord will see Him coming unexpectedly as a thief in the night (see 3:3; Mt 24:42–44; 1Th 5:2). Like the wise virgins who stand in readiness for the bridegroom who comes at midnight, the Lord exhorts His blessed faithful here to remain vigilant as well. It is said that the officer on duty at the Jerusalem temple was to see that his night guards kept awake during their watch. If they were caught asleep, they were beaten. If caught a second time, they were stripped of their garments, their vesture, then and there (see Mk 14:51). A Christian's garment is his white baptismal robe, "the garment of righteousness," the putting on of Christ.

16:16 Decisive battles in Israel's history were fought in the strategic pass near Megiddo (see 4Kg 9:27). Armageddon—the word is found only here in Scripture—means "the hill of Megiddo"; the nearest hill to Megiddo is Mt. Carmel, where Elijah confronted the prophets of Baal (3Kg 18:19–40). In the final conflict at Armageddon, evil spirits (vv. 13, 14) lead apostate mankind against God. This battle is more fully recorded in 20:7–10, foreshadowed in Ezk 39 and Joel 4.

16:17–21 The last bowl is a conclusive act of judgment; a loud voice from God's throne declares, "It is done!" (repeated at 21:6; see Jn 19:30). Cosmic signs of God's presence are manifest—evoking Mt. Sinai and other theophanies (see 4:5; 8:5; 11:10), quite similar to those of the last trumpet (11:19)—especially great earthquakes, causing worldwide destruction (v. 20). Yet even 75-pound (the equivalent of one talent) hailstones (v. 21) fail to induce repentance. The great city (v. 19) is probably Jerusalem (see 11:8) in that Rome is mentioned separately as great Babylon.

17:1 The great harlot is Rome, the empire with its claims of divinity, sovereignty, and eternity (see vv. 9, 18), opposed to God and the Church: symbolic of all evil rule. In the Bible, harlotry frequently symbolizes apostasy and idolatry (see Is 1:21; 23:15; Jer 13:25–27; Ezk 16; Hos 4:12; Nah 3:4). The many waters on which the harlot is seated portray both the waters of Babylon—the canals and tributaries of the Euphrates (Ps 136:1; Jer 28:12, 13)—and the waters of Rome, the seas surrounding Italy. They symbolize the nations who submit to the harlot's rule (v. 15).

17:2 Fornication, committed by the kings of the earth with this harlot, is a metaphor for infidelity to the Lord (Jer 3:1–5; Ezk 23; Hos 2). The vassal kingdoms within the Roman Empire have accepted the cults of Rome and her emperors and have solidified their obeisance with political and economic obligations—and have fallen into moral decadence. The wine of this fornication has made the inhabitants of the earth to become drunk, seduced and stupefied by a hideous eucharist of death, focused on the persecution and martyrdom of Christians (v. 6; see Jer 28:7).

17:3 The woman's position on the beast shows the Roman system supported by the Antichrist-emperor. The names of blasphemy may be the divine titles assumed by the emperors.

17:4 The harlot is arrayed in abominable luxury: purple (an extremely expensive and rare dye from the murex shellfish of Phoenicia), scarlet, gold, precious stones, and pearls. Contrast this with the pure linen in which the bride is arrayed in 21:2. The harlot's cup contains the spiritual pollutions by which she contaminates humanity. In Jer 28:7, Babylon is pictured as a golden cup in the hand of the Lord which makes all the earth madly intoxicated.

17:5 Roman law stated harlots must wear headbands exhibiting their name. This great harlot bears the mysterious name of BABYLON . . . MOTHER OF HARLOTS. For the late-first-century Christians, Babylon was incarnate in Rome (see 1Pt 5:13), but it is primarily a spiritual reality, a "mystery," transcending concrete manifestations. For Babylon has always stood for rebellion against God (see Gn 11): self-exaltation and idolatry. She is the mother OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH (lit., "detestable things"), the prostitution of God's creation. And she finds her life in a perverse eucharist, the death of those united with Life Incarnate.

17:8–11 The beast that was, and is not, and yet is represents the Roman Empire or the hellish Antichrist, who seems to have been destroyed only to resurrect, in imitation of the true Christ. The seven mountains or hills (v. 9) was a well-known description of Rome herself. Numerous interpretations have been given of these verses. A likely historical explanation is that the beast is Nero, who was expected to return to life after he died; the five who have fallen (v. 10) are Augustus through Nero; Vespasian is the one who is; and the beast who is himself also the eighth (v. 11) is Domitian, seen as Nero revived. But, again, the reality seems to be transcendent as well. Certainly, at least, the eighth—the number eight signifying complete abundance—is a type of the final Antichrist.

17:12 The ten kings may be symbolic of all the nations allied with Antichrist in his war against the Church. They completely give themselves over to the beast, but the authority they receive is of very short duration (symbolically, one hour). Though they join the beast in his persecution fury, ultimately Christ and his faithful triumph (19:11–21). As the seal on the eucharistic bread, from which is taken the mystical "Lamb" (v. 14), reads: "Jesus Christ Victor."

17:15–18 The peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues represent the diversity of the Roman Empire (see v. 18). Reaping what she sows, Rome will be conquered as she has conquered. That the ten horns (vassal kings) and the beast (false prophet) will rise up against the harlot (v. 16) indicates the self-destructiveness of evil (see Ezk 23:11–35). The Antichrist proves himself (in contrast to the true Christ, v. 14) the traitor of traitors. Rome will be stripped, devoured, and burned (see Lv 21:9, where death by fire is prescribed for a harlot who is the daughter of a priest).

18:1 As God is light (4:3; Ps 103:2; 1Ti 6:16), so the angel coming down from heaven exudes a lingering radiance (see Moses in Ex 34:29–35).

18:2 This dirge over fallen Babylon is inspired by Is 13:19–22; 34:11–15, where the prophet speaks of the total destruction of the enemies of God's people. The city is a haunt of demonic, foul, and hateful spirits.

18:4–8 God's people are called to come out of her so as not to partake of her punishment, destruction, and devastation (see Nm 33:51–56; Is 52:11; Jer 27:8; 28:6, 46). Separation from this world is spiritual, not necessarily a physical move but a refusal to participate in the works of darkness (2Co 6:14–18). As Babylon (Rome) has proclaimed her own sovereign greatness, sitting as queen (v. 7), so her sins have reached to heaven (v. 5), recalling the Tower of Babel (Gn 11:4), a symbol of excessive arrogance. God's judgment will be swift, in one day (v. 8). In Hebrew day denotes not so much a chronological period as a completed act.

18:9, 10 The kings of the earth who committed fornication will mourn (but from a distance), stunned by the judgment of Rome and the specter of their own economic loss, when they see her devastation (see Ps 75:13; Nah 3:4–7). What happened to Sodom (Gn 19:28) and Edom (Is 34:6–10) is befalling Rome.

18:11–19 Like the political leaders (vv. 9, 10), the economic leaders, the merchants, stand astonished at Rome's sudden destruction and their own loss of revenues. Verses 11–13 list luxury items in Rome's flow of trade (see Ezk 27:12–25).

It was said by the rabbis that "ten measures of wealth came down into the world; Rome received nine and all the world received one." These goods together with their profit made Rome queen (v. 7) of the world. While worldly possessions are not in themselves good or bad, their misuse leads to sin, complacency, and a fatal lack of poverty of spirit (see 3:17–20). Therefore, excessive wealth easily conflicts with authentic Christian discipleship (see Mt 6:24). The last item in this list, bodies and souls (v. 13), refers to slaves sold at auction as human livestock for domestic service, prostitution, and gladiatorial amusements.

18:20 The opposite reaction (see vv. 9–19) in heaven: Justice has prevailed!

18:21–24 The great millstone thrown into the sea recalls Babylon's disasters and annihilation (Jer 28:59, 60; Nah 3:4–7). Her spell of idolatry, vice, and murder bound the whole civilized world with a bewitching belief that she was immortal and secure. But as her influence was total, so her destruction is total. No signs of life are seen or heard; an eerie silence pervades. In her was found the blood of prophets and saints (v. 24) here alludes directly to the massacres of Christians under such as Nero and Domitian. However, Babylon as the center of opposition to God and self-deification of creation continues beyond the immediate incarnation to be seen in the Roman Empire.

19:1 In contrast to the song of doom for Babylon (ch. 18), the scene returns to the heavenly liturgy with an outburst of celestial triumph. Alleluia, appearing in the NT only here (vv. 1, 3, 4, 6), is from the Hebrew for "Praise the LORD." It was used in the Great Hallel (Praise) of the Jerusalem temple liturgy (Ps 104–106; 110–117; 134–135; 145–150) and in the synagogue as a response by the people (see Tb 13:18; 3Mc 7:13). Within Christendom, the Alleluia has been a part of liturgical and private prayers since earliest times.

19:2 The judgments of God are righteous, in contrast to the slander of the "accuser of the brethren" (2:9; 12:10), which resulted in persecution of Christians.

19:3–5 Her (the harlot, Rome) smoke rises up forever and ever (contrast 4:9; 15:7), in contrast to the ascent of incense (5:8; 8:4) in eternal heavenly worship. The Church on earth is united with this liturgy in heaven; a deacon calls from the altar, as it were, for all to praise our God (v. 5).

19:6 For the use of the term Omnipotent (Gr. pantokrator), see 1:8; 4:8; 11:17; 15:3; 16:7, 14; 19:15; 21:22, as well as Hos 12:6; Am 4:13. It is used in the NT only in Revelation and once in 2Co 6:18, in a quote from the OT. The word means "almighty, all-powerful."

19:6–9 At the Passover, deliverance from Egypt—the "Babylon" of Moses' day—was united with the theme of Israel's betrothal to the Lord (for further nuptial imagery, see Song of Songs; Hos 2:19; Rom 7:1–6). For marriage is a symbol of the union of God with His people (see Is 54:1–8; Ezk 16:7–14; Hos 2:1–23), of Christ with His Church (Mt 22:1–14; 2Co 11:2; Eph 5:22–32). This union is fulfilled in the rest of Revelation: Jesus, the Passover Lamb (1Co 5:7) whose death has ransomed the New Israel, is also the divine Bridegroom (Mt 22:2; 25:1–13).

A wedding in the Middle East consisted of two parts: the betrothal and the wedding proper. The wedding itself began with the procession of the groom to the bride's home and concluded with the procession of all back to the bridegroom's home for the wedding supper. By analogy, the Church is now betrothed to Christ by faith. She awaits the coming of the Bridegroom for the marriage supper of the Lamb (v. 9), the final eschatological union of Christ and His Church.

The recompense to the faithful for having remained steadfast and pure under persecution (see Mt 5:12; 1Pt 4:13) is to be clothed with fine linen, clean and bright (v. 8; see 3:4, 5; 7:14)—the clothes of grace, holiness, and incorruption—and to participate in this mystical supper both as guest (v. 9) and as bride (in apocalyptic literature it is not uncommon to find mixed images). This supper has already begun in the Eucharist, a foretaste of the Kingdom (see Mt 26:29; Lk 13:29; 22:30). The Orthodox sing on Pascha (Easter): "Shine, shine, O New Jerusalem; the glory of the Lord has shone on you. . . . Grant that we may evermore perfectly partake of You in the never-ending Day of Your Kingdom."

19:10 Orthodoxy makes a strict distinction between the veneration proper to saints and angels (Gr. doulia) and the worship (Gr. latria) due to God alone (see 22:8, 9).

19:11–16 Heaven is opened: A standard revelatory formula (4:1; Ezk 1:1; Mt 3:16; Jn 1:51; Acts 7:57). Christ is presented as the Warrior-Messiah, a triumphant King. In Semitic thought, name expressed being. Some of the names of the rider are understandable: Faithful and True (see 3:13), Word of God (v. 13; see Jn 1:1, 14), KING OF KINGS (v. 16; see 17:14) AND LORD OF LORDS (see Dt 10:17; 1Ti 6:15). But He also has a secret name only He can understand (v. 12; see 2:17; Dan 2:47), for He is God, and only God can comprehend God (Jn 1:18).

19:13 His robe dipped in blood (see Gn 49:11; Is 63:1–6) unites Christ's sacrifice on the Cross, granting forgiveness of sin and fulfilling all righteousness, with His making war "in righteousness" (v. 11), judging sin (see the reaping of the harvest of 14:14–20; Ps 44:3–7; WSol 18:15, 16; Jn 12:31).

19:14 The armies in heaven, clothed in fine linen are likely the 144,000 faithful (14:4) who, having survived the great tribulation in purity, have washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb (7:14).

19:15 The sharp sword from the mouth is judgment, the prophetic word fulfilled (1:16; 2:12; 11:6; Is 11:4); the rod of iron (2:27; 12:5; Ps 2:9) is rule. He treads the winepress, executing God's wrath on earth (14:19, 20; Is 63:3; Lam 1:15).

19:17, 18 A graphic portrayal of the triumph of Christ over Antichrist, forming a macabre contrast with the wedding supper of the Lamb of God (v. 9; 2:17; 3:20). The destruction is total (see Is 34:1–7; Ezk 39:17–20; Mt 24:28).

19:20, 21 Worldly authority and worldly religion are overthrown. The first beast (false deity) and the second beast (false prophet) of 13:11–15 are captured and cast alive into the lake of fire, hell. Hell is pictured in Gehenna, the noxious, smoldering garbage dump just outside Jerusalem in the Valley of Hinnom. In the past, pagan rituals, including child sacrifice, had occurred in this valley. It came to be associated with the abode of the wicked dead, either awaiting final judgment or actually experiencing eternal torment (see Mt 18:9). Brimstone, a yellow sulphurous substance that burns easily, exuding a foul odor, is found in the Dead Sea region. The rest were killed (v. 21) so as to await the final judgment.

20:1 The bottomless pit (abyss) is the great nether regions (Ps 87:7) where the disobedient are confined awaiting final judgment. The demons fear it (see Lk 8:31; Jude 6). It is reached through a chasm, the key to which is in the hand of the angel. The great chain binds Satan (Mk 5:3).

20:2 Though most did not, a few early Fathers and writers believed in a literal thousand year binding of Satan and reign of Christ and the saints on earth (vv. 2–7). The Church, however, authoritatively rejected this teaching (called chiliasm) at the Second Ecumenical Council. In apocalyptic literature, numbers have symbolic significance. "Thousand" is often used in the Scriptures to denote a long period of time, a great quantity, completion, perfection, thoroughness (Job 9:3; 2Pt 3:8). Here, a thousand years (vv. 2–7) is interpreted as the Church age, when Jesus reigns on earth in those who believe. It is that era between the first and second comings of Christ, also called the "last times," when Satan's effectiveness at deceit is restricted through the Cross and Resurrection of Christ, and the saints share in Christ's earthly reign through the Church. For these persecuted Christians threatened by martyrdom, this is a consoling hope.

20:3 The devil is thrown into the pit, which is shut and sealed for a thousand years—meaning a long period of time—to allow the Church to be planted, to grow and to overcome, even in times of persecution and trial. The word "millennium" is synonymous with thousand years, and carries with it no connotations of peace and prosperity. The Bible teaches that Satan was bound at the completion of Christ's saving work (Mt 12:28, 29; Lk 10:17, 18; Jn 12:31, 32; Col 2:15). He is not totally inactive (Acts 5:3; 1Co 5:5; Eph 6:11), but he cannot deceive the nations by keeping the gospel from them. At the close of the millennium or Church age, Satan will be released for a little while (vv. 7, 8).

20:4–6 Those who have died for their witness to Jesus are in heaven living and reigning with Him (5:9, 10; Mt 19:18; 2Ti 2:12) as royal priests (1:6; 5:9, 10; Is 61:6; 1Pt 2:9, 10) while the Church serves Him here on earth. The first resurrection (v. 6) is the heavenly life of souls who have died in Christ before His Second Coming. Those not in Christ who die are in Hades awaiting the resurrection of the body at His coming. For the righteous saints with Christ, the second death has no power (v. 6). These righteous spirits (Heb 12:23) await only the reuniting of soul and body after the final judgment, when all things are made new (21:1). Hell or Hades (Sheol), where sinners' souls are separated from their bodies, will give up its dead to Gehenna (vv. 13, 14), the lake of fire that burns with sulphur (21:8), which is eternal damnation (Mt 25:41). Sinners will be excluded from the blessedness of the age to come. Hell cannot harm the victorious in Christ (2:11).

20:7–10 The lengthy millennial period of Satan's binding and the saints' heavenly reign (vv. 1–6) is concluded by the release of Satan and the final battle of history (probably the same as that of 16:12–16; 19:14–21). Gog and Magog (v. 8; see Ezk 38; 39) are nations hostile to God's people, gathered for one final assault directed against the beloved city (v. 9), Jerusalem as the Church. As Elijah called down fire . . . out of heaven on his persecutors (4Kg 1:10–12), so here God sends a consuming fire (see Gn 19:24; 3Kg 18:38; Ezk 38:22; 39:6). The devil joins the beast and the false prophet in the lake of fire, the second death of eternal damnation, and is no longer a threat to the world.

20:11 God executes judgment from the great white throne (see Dan 7:9; see also 1En 18:8). The One who sits on the throne in Revelation is God the Father (4:2–9; 5:1, 7, 13; 6:16; 7:10; etc.). However, in the rest of the NT Christ is the judge on the throne (Mt 25:31–46; Jn 5:22; Acts 10:42; 17:31; 2Co 5:10). John is about to show their unity: "the throne of God and of the Lamb" (22:1). Earth and heaven flee away (Mt 24:35; 2Pt 3:10–13) in terror, a cosmic sign of the great Day of the Lord and the coming of the new heaven and earth (21:1).

20:12 Standing before God at His throne at the final judgment, the dead are confronted with their works. The books of judgment (Dan 7:10) contain a record of men's deeds; their own works will judge them (Ps 61:13; Jer 17:6). This judging of believers' works is a common NT theme (Mt 16:27; Rom 2:6; 2Co 5:10; 1Pt 1:17; see also the Anaphora of the Liturgy of St. Basil and the hymns for the Sunday of the Last Judgment). In contrast is the Book* of Life. It contains the names of all saved by grace (see Ex 32:32; Is 4:3; Dan 12:1, 2)—not that they have no works, but that God's mercy is far greater in comparison. The Orthodox liturgy thus petitions God for a "good account before the dread judgment seat of Christ."

20:13–15 The sea, Death, and Hades—the powers that held men captive—show all the dead are judged. That Christ has the keys to death and Hades (1:18) expresses not His power to put men to death, but His trampling of death by death. He is victorious over death. The sea as a symbol of turbulence, chaos, and the unknown will be no more (21:1). Death, the "last enemy that will be destroyed" (1Co 15:26), and Hades, the intermediate state between death and resurrection, will end. They are cast into hell, the lake of fire (vv. 14, 15), along with all who reject the grace of God.

21:1 The NT teaching that the present world will pass away (see Mt 5:18; Mk 13:31; 1Co 7:31; 2Pt 3:10–13; 1Jn 2:17) does not mean the present creation will be utterly destroyed. It will be totally renewed (5:9; 21:5; Is 65:17–25; Rom 8:19–22; 2Co 5:17; 2Pt 3:13): freed from corruption, purified, transfigured, glorified. The first cosmos will pass away.

21:2 The holy city, New Jerusalem is the city built by God (Heb 11:10). It is the perfected Church, the bride ready for her husband, Christ, the abode of the righteous eternally. The OT prophesied a restored and exalted Jerusalem (Is 2:1–4; 54:11–15; 60:1–22; 62:1–12; 65:17–25; Ezk 40–48).

21:3, 4 The OT also prophesied that God would dwell with His people. The Immanuel prophecy (Is 7:14; see also Ps 45:5–8) is fulfilled in the Incarnation (Jn 1:14; 17:22), but comes to completion in the messianic age, when God will fully dwell (lit., "in-tent") with His people, restoring the paradise of old (Gn 2; Lv 26:11, 12; Ezk 37:26, 27; Jer 38:33; 2Co 6:16). Therefore joy displaces sorrows and sufferings, a great consolation for persecuted believers.

21:6–8 The water of life ("living water," Jn 4:10–14; 7:37–39, or "living fountains of waters," Rev 7:17) is the grace of the Holy Spirit, bestowed along with baptism in chrismation. Only the one who thirsts will be given the water forever (v. 6). And, repeating the concluding exhortation of each of the seven letters (chs. 2; 3), only those who overcome (v. 7), who persist in their allegiance to God, inherit, becoming permanent sons of God. Those who fall away through cowardice or unbelief face instead the lake of fire (v. 8). They lose God's inheritance, receiving instead the damning recompense of sin and death (see 20:15; 22:15), along with Satan, the beast, the false prophet, Death, and Hades.

21:9 In stark contrast to the harlot arrayed in gaudy finery (17:3), the messianic bride comes from God and so reflects God's splendor.

21:10 Like Ezekiel's, John's vantage point is a high mountain (Ezk 40:2); the perfected Church he sees resembles Ezekiel's new temple (Ezk 40–42). The New Jerusalem descends out of heaven from God, for God Himself completes the reunion of heaven and earth. She completes and fulfills the old Jerusalem just as the new covenant fulfills the old.

21:12–14 The splendor described is fitting for the place where God will dwell with His people (vv. 3, 7). As the breastplate of the high priest was adorned with twelve jewels corresponding to the twelve tribes (Ex 28:15–21), so the Church is founded on the twelve precious foundation stones of the apostles (v. 14): Heaven is fundamentally priestly. All who are espoused to Christ, who feast at the wedding supper, and who dwell in the Holy City, are members of the royal priesthood (1:6; 5:10; 20:6; 1Pt 2:9).

21:15–21 As in Ezekiel's vision, the angel measures the city (Ezk 40–42): a colossal cube (12 x 1,000 stadia = 1,500 miles square), recalling the shape of the holy of holies (3Kg 6:19, 20; Ezk 41:4) and symbolic of its perfection: the multiples of 12 symbolize the people of God, and 1000 shows its greatness. The precious stones portray its glory. As the priests in the Jerusalem temple walked on pavements of gold (3Kg 6:29), so the new, royal priesthood will walk on a street of pure gold (v. 21).

21:22 There is no temple in the old sense in the New Jerusalem (Jn 4:21). Its temple is the presence of God in all (v. 22; 1Co 15:28; Col 3:11; 1Pt 2:4–10). The Church itself is the temple.

21:23–27 The OT prophecies concerning the glorification of Jerusalem are fulfilled in the eternal Kingdom (see Is 60). Created light is unnecessary. For the everlasting Uncreated Light will illumine all (Ps 35:10) with true and clear vision to see things as they really are. The true Light, the Light of the world (Jn 8:12), was incarnate (Jn 1:9), and even while on earth He shone with Uncreated Light (Mk 9:2–8; 2Pt 1:16–18). As prophesied, all the earth will stream to the Holy City to honor it (Is 55:5; Jer 16:19–21; Tb 13:13; see also 1En 10:21; 48:4, 5)—it has no enemies—but only the pure will live within it (Mt 5:8).

The Eternal Kingdom

Few saints have been blessed with a vision of heaven while still in this life. Isaiah saw heaven (Is 6:1–8), as did Ezekiel (Ezk 1:1–28), and the apostle John saw a new heaven—God's eternal Kingdom revealed as a city (Rev 21:1–22:5).

When we read these passages, we note an abundance of mystical, apocalyptic imagery. But the strong similarities between these passages suggests an inspired consistency of reporting on the visions. The living creatures, the light, the cherubic beings, the throne, and the glory of the Lord all work together to unveil a Kingdom of celestial majesty and splendor.

While confessing with the prophet Isaiah and the apostle Paul that "eye has not seen, nor ear heard, nor have entered into the heart of man the things which God has prepared for those who love Him" (1Co 2:9), we nonetheless find, taking the Scriptures as a whole, that certain things can be said about the eternal Kingdom.

1. The saints who inhabit God's Kingdom live in active fulfillment of His eternal plan. In the Kingdom, humanity becomes all it is meant to be. There is nothing at all in Scripture to suggest that eternal life means people passively afloat on huge white clouds strumming harps unto the ages of ages.

   Originally created to inhabit Paradise, our first parents chose to sin against God and were expelled from the Garden. The Kingdom of God was closed to mankind (Gn 3:24). But God in His love called His creation back to Himself, speaking to us through the law and the prophets and ultimately through His incarnate Son. Through new life in Jesus Christ, we are brought back by God's mercy into the new creation, His everlasting Kingdom. As kings and priests we will reign with Him forever (Rev 1:6).
2. We experience a foretaste of the Kingdom in the Church. The very first words of the Divine Liturgy spoken by the priest are, "Blessed is the Kingdom of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, now and ever and unto ages of ages." The Church at worship enters or ascends to the heavenly Kingdom. For it is in the Church that we are seated "together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus" (Eph 2:6) and are raised to "where Christ is, sitting at the right hand of God" (Col 3:1).

In worship we join the heavenly hosts—the saints and the angels—in giving praise to our God. As the body of Christ, we participate with that "great cloud of witnesses" (Heb 12:1) surrounding us as we come to "the throne of God" (Heb 12:2). We come liturgically "to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of the firstborn who are registered in heaven, to God the Judge of all" (Heb 12:22, 23). With this heavenly vision, the Orthodox Church each Sunday remembers not only those in the parish but "all those who in faith have gone on before us to their rest."

3. Knowledge of the Kingdom motivates us to live in complete devotion to Christ. In this life, we have a foretaste of the Kingdom that inspires us to seek its fullness. In Paul's words, "For now we see in a mirror, dimly, but then face to face" (1Co 13:12). Worship is not a solitary act. Rather it is the Bride of Christ, the one Church—those on earth joining with those in heaven—giving thanks to our God and King, who has made us citizens of His magnificent domain.

   The apostle John writes, "Beloved, now we are children of God; and it has not yet been revealed what we shall be, but we know that when He is revealed, we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is. And everyone who has this hope in Him purifies himself, just as He is pure" (1Jn 3:2, 3).

22:1 The river of water of life manifests the Giver of Life, the Holy Spirit (see 21:6; also Ezk 47:1–12; Zec 14:8; see also 2En 8:5). The OT Feast of Tabernacles, the festival of the Messianic Kingdom, emphasized light and water. As in his Gospel, so here John shows these themes are fulfilled by Christ and His Church. Christ is the Light of the World (21:23–26; 22:5 with Jn 8:12); the Holy Spirit is the Water of Life (22:1, 2; 21:6 with Jn 7:37–39). The Church is the Messianic Kingdom.

God the Father and the Lamb, the Son incarnate, share one throne, for they are consubstantial and one worship is offered them. With the Spirit proceeding from the throne, the entire Trinity is here.

22:2, 3 The tree of life, a symbol of Christ Himself, gives immortality. It fulfills the tree of life in Paradise (Gn 3:22) and the other tree of life, the Cross of the Savior, the tree of obedience (1Pt 2:24), a tree of curse (Gal 3:13). But there is no more curse (v. 3) in the Holy City: a reversal of the curse of Gn 3:16–19. The fruits and leaves of the tree are completely and universally therapeutic, reversing the effects of the fruit of the tree of disobedience (Gn 3:6).

22:4 The face of God is that of the glorified Christ (see Jn 14:9; 1Jn 3:2). The face which cannot be seen is the hidden essence of God (Jn 1:18; 1Ti 6:16). Normally, even to see His energy is not possible in this life (Ex 33:20–23; Mt 5:8; Jn 1:18; 1Co 13:12; Heb 12:14; 1Jn 3:2). But in the age to come the faithful, who bear Jesus' name . . . on their foreheads, may see Him ceaselessly. In the OT only the high priest bore the unspeakable name of God on his forehead, and that he did externally, on a golden headband around his turban (Ex 28:31–33; see Ezk 9:4–6; Rev 3:12; 7:3). In the NT, all who believe are granted His name.

22:5 The Lord God gives them light perfects the priestly blessing of Nm 6:23–26, a concluding benediction of the daily morning and evening sacrifices of the OT temple. When you have God's uncreated light, there can be no night (see 21:23; Is 60:19, 20).

22:7 Keeping the words . . . of this book refers to repentance, faithfulness, and steadfastness, no matter the circumstances of life. The "overcomers" are blessed.

22:8, 9 John repeats his error of attempting to worship the angel (see 19:10). The fact is, even mature Christians and leaders sometimes err. But we press on to change and to continue with Christ. The command to John is, "Worship God" (v. 9). The angel affirms John is a brother of the prophets (v. 9).

22:10, 11 The command not to seal the words of the prophecy is a reversal of 10:4 and Dan 8:26; 12:4, 9. For the time is now, the message is for the contemporary communities John is addressing. Some are unable to repent: those who still persist in their wickedness (see Is 6:9, 10; Ezk 3:27; Dan 12:10; Mk 4:12); the righteous are encouraged to be steadfast.

22:12, 13 For the divine titles, see notes on 1:8 (see also 1:17; 2:8; 21:6; Is 41:4; 43:10; 44:6; 48:12). Divine recompense (Is 40:10; Jer 17:6) will be visited on the earth soon (v. 12).

22:14, 15 A clear distinction is drawn between the eternal state of the blessed and that of the damned (see 21:8). Many texts read "wash their robes" (see 3:4; 7:14; 16:15) rather than do His commandments. The point is the same: it is the pure in Christ who enter the Kingdom. Dogs (v. 15) refers to the impure (Dt 23:18, 19; Php 3:2; 2Pt 2:22).

22:16 Jesus confirms this is His message. It fulfills the intent of OT prophecy, for He Himself is the prophesied Messiah.

22:17 A liturgical dialogue, a reflection of eucharistic theology. The Church as bound to God, the bride in union with the Holy Spirit, invites Christ to "Come!" We plead for His return (see His answer in v. 20). Those who desire God (21:6; Ps 41:2, 3; 63:1; Is 26:8, 9; Jn 6:35; 7:37) but who are not yet overcoming the world are in turn invited to come to Christ.

22:18, 19 This severe warning refers to the Book of Revelation, not to the Bible as a whole, and admonishes those in the communities addressed not to distort its message. To do so is to threaten one's very salvation (see Dt 4:2; 12:32; Gal 1:8, 9).

22:20 A liturgical benediction to the book. The bride, recognizing the voice of her Beloved as He testifies to His advent, runs "out to meet Him" (Mt 25:6) and in her joy proclaims, Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus! This echoes maranatha ("O Lord, come!" in 1Co 16:22), which was part of the eucharistic dialogue of the early Church.

22:21 An appropriate final benediction, considering the book was to be read aloud in all seven churches.

The Bible: God’s Revelation To Man

By The Right Reverend JOSEPH, Bishop of Los Angeles and the West

For the Christian of true worship, the Bible is the greatest source of truth, virtue, and moral ethics. It is invaluable as a source of teaching doctrine and holiness. We call it the “Book of Life,” for in its pages we find the closest expression we have of the Inexpressible. From generation to generation, the books that make up the canon of Scripture have communicated to us the lessons God has taught and still is teaching His people. It is open to all, and should be read by all: men and women, clergy and laity, children and adults, believers and unbelievers.

The Bible Reveals God

From the beginning, God has revealed Himself to mankind. He never ceases to reach out to His creation with abundant blessings, desiring all to freely partake of the personal communion He offers. The Bible also establishes that it was humanity who rejected Him, following after the selfish desire to be as God. Certainly humanity has afflicted itself with this delusion. Even so, the human race, even in its fallen state, is unable to deter God’s unceasing ministry to His people. The Scriptures record this ongoing spiritual struggle between the loving truth of God and man’s deluded expression of pride.

Once the truth of God is accepted, and a person surrenders his pride and his denial of reality, his eyes become open to Christ our God, whose divine Light invisibly enters in. This is what we call holiness, and therefore only in genuine holiness can we begin to understand the Bible and experience God revealed in it. The Scriptures and the histories of the martyrs bear witness to the glory of God as it enters us. They also witness to us the terrible price that people pay when they refuse to acknowledge the presence of the Lord.

The Bible Reveals Our Need

The Old Testament establishes the way of thinking of the one who has “seen” God. He now sees the misery of fallen humanity. He discerns how, in our wretched state, we bring ruin upon ourselves with the lies our pride fabricates for us. In the pages of the Bible, we see how even good men can fail. And we see and hear the warning for us that, just as surely as sunset brings night, the disobedience of mankind brings death and destruction.

The Bible is not a document for individuals seeking to feel self-justified and full of wisdom. Rather, it is a mirror in which each person can see his own weakness without God and his need for Him. One who reads the Scriptures and does not fall down praying for God's mercy has not really read them. He may have read the words on the pages, but he is still a man of the world, a prisoner of his blinded intellect and fleshly desires. Perhaps such a person would do better with a technical manual or a history book. The Bible is neither of these. It is a spiritual tool, the greatest of all, designed to change us. It overcomes all boundaries of human time and transcends all cultures.

The Bible Reveals Salvation

The one who reads the Bible and repents of his own sinfulness, recognizing no good in his life without God, opens the door to a new life. He is transformed by encountering the Person of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Son and Word of God. He is the One whom the prophets proclaim would save us from sin and the sting of death which we brought upon ourselves. When we read with a repentant heart, the words we read in the Bible are not lifeless rules and interesting stories, but insights into a world beyond expression. These words are doors through which to walk, so we may come to know God. The Bible challenges us to emerge from our own personal self-centered and illusory world, and to enter rather into the Kingdom of God. Then every word of the Bible is a window to heaven, to Paradise, and to Perfection.

Just as someone cannot "birth" himself, neither is a man "reborn" by himself. His personal faith in our Lord Jesus Christ will not be fulfilled outside of the Church. For it is there that we enter into a Tradition, a dynamic history of men and women—saints—who honored what they received from God and passed it on intact to the next generation. This embodiment of Faith is found in the Incarnate Word of God, Jesus Christ, the Head of the Body which is His Holy Orthodox Church. Within the Church, the repentant man, woman or child is born anew through the life-giving waters of Holy Baptism. Here, the passions of the individual begin to die and transformation is initiated.

Truly the fullness of the Scriptures cannot be obtained outside the mind of the Church. Heretics and unbelieving intellectuals may to read the words of Scripture, but they cannot understand it as does a spiritual man or woman within the Holy community of the Church. Without the gift of the Holy Spirit to reveal within us the truth of God, the Bible is but raw data. Certainly the Holy Spirit has whispered truth into the ears of people not in the Church, but the place where He speaks the fullness of the Faith is within the Church where He dwells.

Only with the teachings of His Church—the Church that proclaims the Truth found in the Bible—can we begin our true work of breaking out of the self-imposed imprisonment of self-idolatry. When we submit our lives to Christ in repentance and humility, the Holy Spirit comes to us through the Holy Mysteries and lifts us up. Therefore, it becomes our joyful duty to ceaselessly knock on the door of the Scriptures, asking God to reveal the truth to us through His Word, that we might walk through the gates and grow into an ever greater appreciation and experience of Him and His Heavenly Kingdom.

Simply put, the Bible must be read with serious and humble prayer, a genuine desire for God's mercy, along with sound instruction from the Church and the very presence of the Holy Spirit within us. Our Lord Jesus Christ left Himself within this Holy Book, that He might be found by those who genuinely seek Him. May you find Him today!

How to Read the Bible

By The Right Reverend KALLISTOS, Bishop of Diokleia

"All Scripture is inspired by God" (2Ti 3:16)

"If an earthly king, our emperor," says Saint Tikhon of Zadonsk (1724–83), "wrote you a letter, would you not read it with joy? Certainly, with great rejoicing and careful attention." But what, he asks, is our attitude towards the letter that has been addressed to us by no one less than God Himself? "You have been sent a letter, not by any earthly emperor, but by the King of Heaven. And yet you almost despise such a gift, so priceless a treasure." To open and read this letter, Saint Tikhon adds, is to enter into a personal conversation face to face with the living God. "Whenever you read the Gospel, Christ Himself is speaking to you. And while you read, you are praying and talking to Him."

Such exactly is our Orthodox attitude to the reading of Scripture. I am to see the Bible as God's personal letter sent specifically to myself. The words are not intended merely for others, far away and long ago, but they are written particularly and directly to me, here and now. Whenever we open our Bible, we are engaging in a creative dialogue with the Savior. In listening, we also respond. "Speak, Lord, for Your servant hears," we reply to God as we read (1Kg 3:10); "Here am I" (Is 6:8).

Two centuries after Saint Tikhon, at the Moscow Conference held in 1976 between the Orthodox and the Anglicans, the true attitude towards Scripture was expressed in different but equally valid terms. This joint statement, signed by the delegates of both traditions, forms an excellent summary of the Orthodox view: "The Scriptures constitute a coherent whole. They are at once divinely inspired and humanly expressed. They bear authoritative witness to God's revelation of Himself in creation, in the Incarnation of the Word, and in the whole history of salvation, and as such express the word of God in human language. We know, receive, and interpret Scripture through the Church and in the Church. Our approach to the Bible is one of obedience."

Combining Saint Tikhon's words and the Moscow statement, we may distinguish the four key characteristics which mark the Orthodox "Scriptural mind." First, our reading of Scripture is obedient. Second, it is ecclesial, in union with the Church. Third, it is Christ-centered. Fourth, it is personal.

Reading the Bible with Obedience

First of all, then, we see Scripture as inspired by God, and so we approach it in a spirit of obedience. The divine inspiration of the Bible is emphasized alike by Saint Tikhon and by the 1976 Moscow Conference. Scripture is "a letter" from "the King of Heaven," says Saint Tikhon; "Christ Himself is speaking to you." The Bible, states the Conference, is God's "authoritative witness" of Himself, expressing "the word of God in human language." Our response to this divine word is rightly one of obedient receptivity. As we read, we wait on the Spirit.

Since it is divinely inspired, the Bible possesses a fundamental unity, a total coherence, for it is the same Spirit that speaks on every page. We do not refer to it as "the books" in the plural, ta biblia, but we call it "the Bible," "the Book," in the singular. It is one book, one Holy Scripture, with the same message throughout—one composite and yet single story, from Genesis to Revelation.

At the same time, however, the Bible is also humanly expressed. It is an entire library of distinct writings, composed at varying times, by different persons in widely diverse situations. We find God speaking here "in many and various ways" (Heb 1:1). Each work in the Bible reflects the outlook of the age in which it was written and the particular viewpoint of the author. For God does not abolish our created personhood but enhances it. Divine grace co-operates with human freedom: we are "fellow-workers," "co-operators" with God (1Co 3:9). In the words of the second-century Letter to Diognetus, "God persuades, He does not compel; for violence is foreign to the divine nature." So it is precisely in the writing of inspired Scripture. The author of each book was not just a passive instrument, a flute played by the Spirit, a dictation machine recording a message. Every writer of Scripture contributes his or her particular human gifts. Alongside the divine aspect, there is also a human element in Scripture, and we are to value both.

Each of the four Evangelists, for example, has his own particular standpoint. Matthew is the most "ecclesiastical" and the most Jewish of the four, with his special interest in the relationship of the Gospel to the Jewish Law, and his understanding of Christianity as the "New Law." Mark writes in less polished Greek, closer to the language of daily life, and includes vivid narrative details not found in the other Gospels. Luke emphasizes the universality of Christ's love, His all-embracing compassion that extends equally to Jew and Gentile. The Fourth Gospel expresses a more inward and mystical approach, and was aptly styled by Saint Clement of Alexandria "a spiritual Gospel." Let us explore and enjoy to the full this life-giving variety within the Bible.

Because Scripture is in this way the word of God expressed in human language, there is a place for honest and exacting critical enquiry when studying the Bible. Our reasoning brain is a gift from God, and we need not be afraid to use it to the utmost when reading Scripture. We Orthodox Christians neglect at our peril the results of independent scholarly research into the origin, dates and authorship of the books of the Bible, although we shall always want to test these results in the light of Holy Tradition.

Alongside this human element, however, we are to see always the divine aspect. These texts are not simply the work of the individual authors. What we hear in Scripture are not just human words, marked by a greater or lesser skill and perceptiveness, but the uncreated Word of God Himself, the Father's Word "coming forth from silence," to use the phrase of Saint Ignatius of Antioch, the eternal Word of salvation. Approaching the Bible, then, we come not merely out of curiosity, to gain historical information. We come with a specific question: "How can I be saved?"

Obedient receptivity to God's word means above all two things: a sense of wonder and an attitude of listening. (1) Wonder is easily quenched. Do we not feel all too often, as we read the Bible, that it has become over-familiar, even boring? Have we not lost our alertness, our sense of expectation? How far are we changed by what we read? Continually we need to cleanse the doors of our perception and to look with new eyes, in awe and amazement, at the miracle that is set before us—the ever-present miracle of God's divine word of salvation, expressed in human language. As Plato remarked, "The beginning of truth is to wonder at things."

Some years ago I had a dream that I still remember vividly. I was back in the house where, for three years as a child, I lived in boarding school. A friend took me first through the rooms already familiar to me from the waking life of my childhood. But then in my dream we entered other rooms that I had never seen before—spacious, elegant, filled with light. Finally we came to a small, dark chapel, with golden mosaics gleaming in the candlelight. "How strange," I said to my companion, "that I have lived here for so long, and yet I never knew about the existence of all these rooms." And he replied, "But it is always so." I awoke, and behold, it was a dream.

Should we not react in the presence of the Bible with exactly the same surprise, the same feeling of joy and discovery, that I experienced in my dream? There are so many rooms in Scripture that we have never as yet entered. There is so much for us still to explore.

(2) If obedience means wonder, it also means listening. Such indeed is the literal meaning of the word for "obey" in both Greek and Latin—to hear. The trouble is that most of us are better at talking than at listening. An incident in the "Goon Show," which I used to follow eagerly on the radio in my student days, sums up our predicament all too well. The telephone rings, and one of the characters picks it up. “Hello,” he exclaims, “hello, hello.” His volume rises. “Who is speaking? I can’t hear you. Hello, who is speaking?” A voice at the other end says, “You are speaking.” “Ah,” he replies, “I thought the voice sounded familiar.” And he puts the receiver down.

One of the primary requirements, if we are to acquire a “Scriptural mind,” is to stop talking and to start listening. When we enter an Orthodox Church, decorated in the traditional way, and look up towards the sanctuary, we see there in the apse the figure of the Mother of God with her hands raised to heaven—the ancient Scriptural manner of praying that many still use today. Such is also to be our attitude to Scripture—an attitude of openness and attentive receptivity, our hands invisibly outstretched to heaven.

As we read our Bible, then, we are to model ourselves in this way on the Blessed Virgin Mary, for she is supremely the one who listens. At the Annunciation, listening to the angel she responds obediently, “Let it be to me according to your word” (Lk 1:38). Had she not first listened to God’s word and received it spiritually in her heart, she would never have borne the Word of God bodily in her womb. Receptive listening continues to be her attitude throughout the Gospel story. At Christ’s nativity, after the adoration of the shepherds, “Mary kept all these things, pondering them in her heart” (Lk 2:19). After the visit to Jerusalem when Jesus was twelve years old, “His Mother kept all these things in her heart” (Lk 2:51). The vital importance of listening is also indicated in the last words attributed to the Theotokos in Holy Scripture, at the wedding feast in Cana of Galilee. “Do whatever He tells you” (Jn 2:5), she says to the servants and to each one of us.

In all this the Virgin serves as a mirror and living icon of the biblical Christian. Hearing God’s word, we are to be like her: pondering, keeping all these things in our hearts, doing whatever He tells us. We are to listen in obedience while God speaks.

Understanding the Bible through the Church

In the second place, as the Moscow Conference affirms, “We know, receive, and interpret Scripture through the Church and in the Church.” Our approach to the Bible is not only obedient but ecclesial. The words of Scripture, while addressed to us personally, are at the same time addressed to us as members of a community. Book and Church are not to be separated.

The interdependence of Church and Bible is evident in at least two ways. (1) First, we receive Scripture through and in the Church. It is the Church that tells us what is Scripture. In the first three centuries of Christian history, a lengthy process of sifting and testing was needed, in order to distinguish between that which is authentically "canonical" Scripture, bearing authoritative witness to Christ's person and message, and that which is "apocryphal"—useful perhaps for teaching, but not a normative source of doctrine. It is thus the Church that has decided which books form the Canon of the New Testament. A book is not part of Holy Scripture because of any particular theory about its date and authorship, but because the Church treats it as canonical. Suppose, for example, that it could be proved that the Fourth Gospel was not actually written by Saint John the beloved disciple of Christ—in my view, there are in fact strong reasons for continuing to accept John's authorship—yet, even so, this would not alter the fact that we regard the Fourth Gospel as Scripture. Why? Because the Fourth Gospel, whoever the author may be, is accepted by the Church and in the Church.

(2) Secondly, we interpret Scripture through and in the Church. If it is the Church that tells us what is Scripture, equally it is the Church that tells us how Scripture is to be understood. Coming upon the Ethiopian as he read the Old Testament in his chariot, Philip the Apostle asked him, "Do you understand what you are reading?" "How can I," answered the Ethiopian, "unless someone guides me?" (Acts 8:30, 31). His difficulty is also ours. The words of Scripture are not always self-explanatory. The Bible has a marvelous underlying simplicity, but when studied in detail it can prove a difficult book. God does indeed speak directly to the heart of each one of us during our Scripture reading—as Saint Tikhon says, our reading is a personal dialogue between each one and Christ Himself—but we also need guidance. And our guide is the Church. We make full use of our private understanding, illuminated by the Spirit; we make full use of biblical commentaries and of the findings of modern research. But we submit individual opinions, whether our own or those of the scholars, to the judgment of the Church.

We read the Bible personally, but not as isolated individuals. We say not "I" but "we." We read as the members of a family, the family of the Orthodox Catholic Church. We read in communion with all the other members of the Body of Christ in all parts of the world and in all generations of time. This communal or catholic approach to the Bible is underlined in one of the questions asked of a convert at the reception service used in the Russian Church: "Do you acknowledge that the Holy Scripture must be accepted and interpreted in accordance with the belief which has been handed down by the Holy Fathers, and which the Holy Orthodox Church, our Mother, had always held and still does hold?" The decisive criterion of our understanding of what Scripture means is the mind of the Church. The Bible is the book of the Church.

To discover this "mind of the Church," where do we begin? A first step is to see how Scripture is used in worship. How, in particular, are biblical lessons chosen for reading at the different feasts? A second step is to consult the writings of the Church Fathers, especially St. John Chrysostom. How do they analyze and apply the text of Scripture? An ecclesial manner of reading the Bible is in this way both liturgical and Patristic.

To illustrate what it means to interpret Scripture in a liturgical way, let us consider the Old Testament lessons at Vespers for the Feast of the Annunciation (March 25) and at Vespers on Holy Saturday, the first part of the ancient Paschal Vigil. At the Annunciation there are five readings:

(1) Genesis 28:10–17: Jacob's dream of a ladder set up from earth to heaven.
(2) Ezekiel 43:27–44:4: the prophet's vision of the Jerusalem temple, with the closed gate through which none but the Prince may pass.
(3) Proverbs 9:1–11: one of the great Sophianic passages in the Old Testament, beginning "Wisdom has build her house."
(4) Exodus 3:1–8: Moses at the Burning Bush.
(5) Proverbs 8:22–30: another Sophianic text, describing Wisdom's place in God's eternal providence: "Ages ago I was set up, at the first, before the beginning of the earth."

In these passages from the Old Testament, then, we have a series of powerful images to indicate the role of the Theotokos in God's unfolding plan of salvation. She is Jacob's ladder, for by means of her God comes down and enters our world, assuming the flesh that she supplies. She is both Mother and Ever-Virgin; Christ is born from her, yet she remains still inviolate, the gate of her virginity sealed. She provides the humanity or house which Christ the Wisdom of God (1Co 1:24) takes as His dwelling; alternatively, she is herself to be regarded as God's Wisdom. She is the Burning Bush, who contains within her womb the uncreated fire of the Godhead and yet is not consumed. From all eternity, "ages ago . . . before the beginning of the earth," she was forechosen by God to be His Mother.

Reading these passages in their original context within the Old Testament, we might not at once appreciate that they foreshadow the Saviour's Incarnation from the Virgin. But, by exploring the use made of the Old Testament in the Church lectionary, we can discover layer upon layer of meanings that are far from obvious at first sight.

The same thing happens when we consider how Scripture is used on Holy Saturday. Here there are no less than fifteen Old Testament lessons. Regrettably in many of our parishes the majority of these are omitted, and so God's people are starved of their proper biblical nourishment. This long sequence of readings sets before us the deeper significance of Christ's "passing over" through death to resurrection. First among the lessons is the account of the creation (Gn 1:1–13): Christ's resurrection is a new creation (2Co 5:17; Rev 21:5), the inauguration of a new age, the age to come. The third lesson describes the Jewish ritual of the Passover meal: Christ crucified and risen is the new Passover, the Paschal Lamb who alone can take away the sin of the world (1Co 5:7; Jn 1:29). The fourth lesson is the Book of Jonah in its entirety: the prophet's three days in the belly of the whale foreshadow Christ's resurrection after three days in the tomb (Mt 12:40). The sixth lesson recounts the crossing of the Red Sea by the Israelites (Ex 13:20–15:19): Christ leads us from the bondage of Egypt (sin), through the Red Sea (baptism), into the promised land (the Church). The final lesson is the story of the three Holy Children in the fiery furnace (Dan 3), once more a "type" or foreshowing of Christ's rising from the tomb.

How can we develop this ecclesial and liturgical way of reading Scripture in the Bible study circles within our parishes? One person can be given the task of noting whenever a particular passage is used for a festival or saint's day, and the group can then discuss together the reasons why it has been so chosen. Others in the group may be assigned to do homework among the Fathers, relying above all upon the biblical homilies of St. John Chrysostom, which are available in English translation in the series Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, reissued by Eerdmans. Initially, we may be disappointed: the Fathers' manner of thinking and speaking is often strikingly different from our own today. But there is gold in the Patristic texts, if only we have the persistence and imagination to discover it.

Christ, the Heart of the Bible

The third requirement in our reading of Scripture is that it should be Christ-centered. If we agree with the 1976 Moscow Conference that the "Scriptures constitute a coherent whole," where are we to locate their wholeness and coherence? In the person of Christ. He is the unifying thread that runs through the entirety of the Bible, from the first sentence to the last. Jesus meets us on every page. It all ties up because of Him. "In Him all things hold together" (Col 1:16).

Much study of Scripture by modern western scholars has adopted an analytical approach, breaking up each book into what are seen as its original sources. The connecting links are unravelled, and the Bible is reduced to a series of isolated units. Recently there has been a reaction against this, with Biblical critics in the West devoting much greater attention to the way in which these primary units have come to be joined together. This is something that we Orthodox may certainly welcome. It is important to see the unity of Scripture as well as the diversity, the all-embracing end as well as the scattered beginnings. Orthodoxy prefers for the most part a "synthetic" rather than an analytical style of hermeneutics, seeing the Bible as an integrated whole, with Christ everywhere as the bond of union.

Such, as we have just seen, is precisely the effect of reading Scripture within the context of the Church's worship. As the lessons for the Annunciation and Holy Saturday make clear, everywhere in the Old Testament we find signposts and waymarks pointing to the mystery of Christ and His Mother Mary. Interpreting the Old Testament in the light of the New, and the New in the light of the Old—as the Church lectionary encourages us to do—we discover how the whole of Scripture finds its point of convergence in the Saviour.

Orthodoxy makes extensive use of this "typological" method of interpretation, whereby "types" of Christ, signs and symbols of His work, are to be detected throughout the Old Testament. Melchizedek, for example, the priest-king of Salem who offered bread and wine to Abraham (Gn 14:18), is regarded as a "type" of Christ not only by the Fathers but equally in the New Testament itself (Heb 5:6; 7:1–19). The rock that flowed with water in the wilderness of Sinai (Ex 17:6; Nm 30:7–11) is likewise a symbol of Christ (1Co 10:4). Typology explains the choice of lessons, not only on Holy Saturday, but throughout the second half of Lent. Why are the Genesis readings in the sixth week dominated by the figure of Joseph? Why read from the Book of Job in Holy Week? Because Joseph and Job, who both suffered innocently, foreshadow the redemptive suffering of Christ on the Cross.

We can discover many other correspondences between the Old and New Testament by using a Biblical concordance. Often the best commentary of all is simply a concordance, or an edition of the Bible with well-chosen marginal cross-references. Only connect. It all ties up. In the words of Father Alexander Schmemann, "A Christian is the one who, wherever he looks, finds everywhere Christ, and rejoices in Him." This is true in particular of the Biblical Christian. Wherever he looks, on every page, he finds everywhere Christ.

The Bible as Personal

According to Saint Mark the Monk ("Mark the Ascetic," fifth/sixth century),

“He who is humble in his thoughts and engaged in spiritual work, when he reads the Holy Scriptures, will apply everything to himself and not to his neighbor.” We are to look throughout Scripture for a personal application. Our question is not simply, “What does it mean?” but “What does it mean for me?” As Saint Tikhon insists, “Christ Himself is speaking to you.” Scripture is a direct, intimate dialogue between the Saviour and myself—Christ addressing me, and my heart responding. That is the fourth criterion in our Bible reading.

I am to see all the narratives in Scripture as part of my own personal story. The description of Adam’s fall is equally an account of something in my own experience. Who is Adam? His name means simply “man,” “human”: it is I who am Adam. It is to me that God says, “Adam, Where are You?” (Gn 3:9). We often ask, “Where is God?” But the real question is the one that God puts to the Adam in each one of us: “Where are you?”

Who is Cain, the murderer of his brother? It is myself. God’s challenge, “Where is Abel your brother?” (Gn 4:9), is addressed to the Cain in each of us. The way to God lies through love for other people, and there is no other way. Disowning my sister or brother, I replace the image of God with the mark of Cain, and deny my essential humanity.

The same personal application is evident in the Lenten services, and above all in the Great Canon of St. Andrew of Crete. “I am the man who fell among thieves,” we say (Lk 10:30); “I was Your younger son, and wasted the wealth that You gave me . . . and now I am starved and hungry” (Lk 15:11–14). “Who are the sheep, and who are the goats?” the Desert Fathers of Egypt used to ask (Mt 25:31–46). “The sheep are known to God,” they replied. “As for the goats—that means me.”

There are three steps to be taken when reading Scripture. (1) First, we reflect that what we have in Scripture is sacred history: the history of the world from the Creation, the history of God’s chosen people, the history of God Himself incarnate in Palestine, the history of the “mighty works” (Acts 2:11) after Pentecost. We are never to forget that what we find in the Bible is not an ideology, not a philosophical theory, but a historical faith.

(2) Next, we observe the particularity, the specificity, of this sacred history. In the Bible we find God intervening at specific times and in particular places, entering into dialogue with individual humans. We see before us the distinctive calls issued by God to each different person, to Abraham, Moses and David, to Rebekah and Ruth, to Isaiah and the prophets. We see God becoming incarnate once only, in a particular corner of the earth, at a particular moment and from a particular Mother. This particularity we are to regard not as a scandal but as a blessing. Divine love is universal in its scope, but always personal in its expression.

This sense of the specificity of the Bible is a vital element in the Orthodox "Scriptural mind." If you really love the Bible, you will love genealogies and details of dating and geography. One of the best ways to enliven your study of Scripture is to go on pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Walk where Christ walked. Go down near the Dead Sea, climb the mountain of the Temptation, scan the desolation, feel how Christ must have felt during His forty days alone in the wilderness. Drink from the well where Jesus spoke with the Samaritan woman. Take a boat out on the Sea of Galilee, have the sailors stop the engine, gaze in silence across the water. Go at night to the Garden of Gethsemane, sit in the dark under the ancient olives, and look across the valley to the lights of the city. Taste to the utmost the characteristic "isness" of the historical setting, and take that experience back with you to your daily Scripture reading.

(3) Then we are to take a third step. After reliving Bible history in all its particularity, we are to apply it directly to ourselves. We are to say to ourselves, "These are not just distant places, events in the remote past. They belong to my own encounter with the Lord. The stories include me."

Betrayal, for instance, is part of the personal story of everyone. Have we not all betrayed others at some time in our life, and have we not all known what it is to be betrayed? And does not the memory of these moments leave deep, continuing scars on our psyche? Reading, then, the account of Saint Peter's betrayal of Jesus and of his restoration after the resurrection, we can see ourselves as each an actor in the story. Imagining what both Peter and Christ experienced at the moment immediately after the betrayal, we make their feelings our own. I am Peter; in the situation of betrayal, can I also be Christ? Reflecting likewise on the moment of reconciliation—seeing how the risen Saviour with a love utterly devoid of sentimentality restored the fallen Peter to fellowship, seeing how Peter on his side had the humility and courage to accept this restoration—we ask ourselves: How Christ-like am I to those who have betrayed me? And, after my own acts of betrayal, am I able to accept the forgiveness of others, am I able to forgive myself?

Take, as another example, the "woman who was a sinner," who emptied the flask of ointment over Christ's feet (Lk 7:36–50), and whom some identify with Saint Mary Magdalene, although that is not the usual Orthodox interpretation. Can I see her mirrored in myself? Do I share in her generosity, in her spontaneity and loving impulsiveness? "Her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much." Or am I calculating, mean, timid—holding myself back, never willing to commit myself fully to anything, either good or bad? As the Desert Fathers say, "Better someone who has sinned, if he knows he has sinned and repents, than a person who has not sinned and thinks of himself as righteous."

A personal approach of this kind means that in reading the Bible we are not simply detached and objective observers, absorbing information, taking note of facts. The Bible is not merely a work of literature or a collection of historical documents, although certainly it can be approached on that level. It is, much more fundamentally, a sacred book, addressed to believers, to be read with faith and love. We shall not profit fully from reading the Gospels unless we are in love with Christ. "Heart speaks to heart": I enter into the living truth of Scripture only when my heart responds with love to the heart of God.

Reading Scripture in this way—in obedience, as a member of the Church, finding Christ everywhere, seeing everything as part of my own personal story—we shall sense something of the power and healing to be found in the Bible. Yet always in our biblical voyage of exploration we are only at the very beginning. We are like someone launching out in a tiny boat across a limitless ocean. But, however great the journey, we can embark on it today, at this very hour, in this very moment.

At the high point of his spiritual crisis, wrestling with himself alone in the garden, Saint Augustine heard a child's voice crying out, "Take up and read, take up and read." He took up his bible and read; and what he read altered his entire life. Let us do the same: Take up and read.

"Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my paths" (Ps 118:105).

Lectionary

Please note: This lectionary is intended strictly as a rough guide for personal reading for those who wish to follow the church calendar through the year. It is not intended for liturgical use. Because the Paschal cycle occurs at a different time each year while other feasts are fixed on a certain calendar date, there is considerable overlap between the two cycles, which affects what scriptures are actually read on any given day of a particular year. Variations also occur between jurisdictions of the Church, and decisions are sometimes made at the parish level concerning which saints' days to celebrate with the accompanying readings. For an accurate lectionary for a particular year, consult one of the many Orthodox calendars available that list scripture readings for each day, or consult your parish priest for the readings used in your parish. For another plan for reading through the complete Bible, go to www.thomasnelson.com/orthodoxreadingplan.

Dates, where applicable, are listed according to the New, or Gregorian, Calendar, with the Old, or Julian, Calendar date following.

The church year officially begins on September 1/14, but for the purposes of this lectionary it is more convenient to begin with the Paschal cycle.

TRIODION AND GREAT LENT

The Triodion refers to the weeks leading up to Great Lent. The beginning of the Triodion falls on a different date each year.

A

ABBA The Aramaic term of intimacy used in addressing one's father, somewhat equivalent to the English "Papa." Christ uses Abba in addressing God the FATHER (Mk 14:36). St. Paul tells believers that their relationship with God through the HOLY SPIRIT is so personal that they too may speak to Him as intimately as to their own father (Rom 8:15).

ABED-NEGO The name given by Nebuchadnezzar to Azariah, a Hebrew youth who was a prisoner along with Daniel the prophet and two others. A famous PRAYER by Azariah is recorded in Daniel 3:25–45. The Seventh and Eight Odes of canons chanted in Matins and other services are based on the Song of the Three Young Men.

ABSOLUTION The PRAYER offered by a BISHOP or PRESBYTER for the FORGIVENESS of sins. Following His glorious RESURRECTION, Christ breathed on His apostles and said, "Receive the Holy Spirit. If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained" (Jn 20:22, 23). This gift of proclaiming God's forgiveness of sins remains forever in the CHURCH. It is exercised in the sacraments of BAPTISM and CONFESSION—the RECONCILIATION to the Church of Christian believers who have sinned and repented. The priest or bishop is the WITNESS who bears testimony to the REPENTANCE; only God forgives sins. (See article, "Confession," at 1Jn 1.)

ADVENT A forty-day period of PRAYER, REPENTANCE, and FASTING in preparation for Christmas. The word stems from the Latin word for "coming." During the fast the faithful prepare for the coming of Christ at Christmas, and also anticipate His SECOND COMING. See also FASTING, NATIVITY

AGAPE Greek for the self-sacrificial love which God extends to His people.

Agape also designates a communal meal connected to the EUCHARIST which was a practice of the early CHURCH (1Co 11:20–34).

ALEXANDRIA A city in Egypt founded by Alexander the Great in 332 BC and prominent in the books of the Maccabees.

ALLEGORY A story filled with symbolism illustrating a spiritual reality beyond the actual historical event being described. It is possible for a story to be both historical and allegorical. Some Church Fathers combined both elements in interpreting the Bible. (See Lk 15:4–7; Gal 4:21–26.) See also TYPE.

ALLELUIA The Greek form of the Hebrew word Hallelujah, which means "praise God." Orthodox Christians sing a chorus of Alleluias interspersed with verses from the Psalms prior to the Gospel reading at the Divine Liturgy. See also PRAISE.

ALMS Works of MERCY or monetary gifts given to help the poor. Throughout the Scriptures, God's people are called to help those less fortunate than themselves. (See Mt 25:31–46.)

ALPHA AND OMEGA The letters which begin and end the Greek alphabet, and symbolize the beginning and the end. "The Alpha and the Omega" is used as a title of Christ (Rev 1:8).

AMEN "So be it" in Hebrew. Amen is said or sung at the close of a PRAYER or hymn, showing the agreement of the people to what has been said (Dt 27:15–26; 1Co 14:16).

AMOS A PROPHET of the Lord and author of the OT book of prophecy in which he announced judgment against the nations and condemned the sins of Israel. He also foretold many blessings to come. (See Am 9:11–15.)

ANGELS Bodiless powers created before the CREATION of the physical universe. The English word "angel" comes from the Greek word for "messenger." Throughout the Scripture, angels are messengers who carry the WORD OF GOD to earth (e.g., Gabriel's visit to Mary, Lk 1:26–38). The Orthodox Church recognizes nine "choirs" or groups of angels as found in the Scriptures: Angels, Archangels, Powers, Authorities, Principalities, Dominions, Thrones, Cherubim, and Seraphim. (See Gn 3:24; Is 6:2; Eph 1:21; Col 1:16; 1Th 4:16; 1Pt 3:22.)

ANNUNCIATION The visit of the Archangel Gabriel to the Virgin Mary to announce to her that she had been chosen to bear Christ, the Son of God. The Feast of the Annunciation is celebrated exactly nine months before Christmas on March 25. Mary's Son was no ordinary child, but God's divine Son and Word in human flesh. (See article, "Mary," at Lk 1; Is 7:14; Lk 1:26–38; Jn 1:1–14.)

ANTICHRIST Literally; “against Christ” or “instead of Christ.” Antichrist is used by John to refer to (a) the opponent of Christ who will arise at the end of this age, and (b) the “many antichrists” who stand against the Son of God (1Jn 2:18, 22; 4:3).

ANTIOCHUS EPIPHANES The Greek King of Syria who persecuted the JEWS for many years in the second century BC. (See 1Mc 6, 2Mc 2, and 4.)

APOSTASY Literally, “turning away.” This sin is committed when a Christian or body of believers rejects the true faith of Christ (1Ti 1:5–7; 4:1–3).

APOSTLE Literally, “one who is sent.” Apostle is used as a title for the Twelve Disciples who formed the foundation of the NT CHURCH, replacing, symbolically, the twelve tribes of Israel. In order to maintain this symbolism, Matthias was elected to replace Judas (Acts 1:15–26). The word is also used of The Seventy (or 72) sent by Christ, as well as of Paul, the repentant persecutor whom the risen Christ sent as “apostle to the Gentiles” (Rom 11:13). Great missionaries in the Church, such as Mary Magdalene (the “apostle to the apostles”), Thekla, Nina, Vladimir, and Innocent of Alaska are often called “equal to the apostles.” The extension of the apostolic ministry in the Church today is in the EPISCOPACY. See also BISHOP.

ARK OF THE COVENANT The chest with two cherubim on the lid in which Israel kept the tablets of the COVENANT (the Ten Commandments) and other holy items. Stored at first in the tabernacle and later in the Most Holy Place of the Jerusalem TEMPLE, it was later lost to the Israelites. (See Ex 25:10, 16; Dt 10:8; 3Kg 8).

ASCENSION The return of Christ, the Son of God in the flesh, to heaven following His RESURRECTION (Lk 24:50, 51; Acts 1:9–11). Christ’s Ascension completes the union of God and man, for a Man who is God now reigns in Heaven.

ASCETICISM (from Gr. askesis, “athlete”) A spiritual struggle—the CRUCIFIXION of the desires of the flesh—through a life of PRAYER, FASTING, and self-denial. Through asceticism the Christian fights temptation to sin and thereby grows in spiritual strength. Such spiritual classics as The Philokalia and The Ladder of Divine Ascent give directions for the ascetic life. (See Lk 9:23; Gal 5:24.)

AUTHORITY The rule of God over the world and the legitimate authority given by God to those ORDAINED to shepherd the faithful (Heb 13:17). Also, one of the nine choirs of angels. See also ANGELS.

B

BAAL The (male) god worshiped by the Canaanites and other heathen faced by Israel in the OT. Sometimes Israelites turned from WORSHIP of the Lord God to worship Baal. This false god is often associated with immorality. (See especially the books of Judges, Numbers, and Kings.)

BALAAM A PROPHET who predicted the coming Messiah in his very last prophecy "A Star shall rise out of Jacob; and a Man shall rise out of Israel" (Nm 24:17).

BAPTISM (from Gr. baptizo, "to be plunged") The SACRAMENT whereby one is BORN AGAIN, buried with Christ, resurrected with Him and united to Him. In baptism, one becomes a Christian and is joined to the CHURCH. Through Christ's baptism, water was set apart unto God as the means by which the HOLY SPIRIT would bring to us new life and entrance into the heavenly Kingdom. (See article "Holy Baptism," at Rom 6; see also Mt 3:13–17; 28:19; Mk 16:16; Acts 2:38, 39; Rom 6:3; Col 2:12; 1Pt 3:21.)

BEATITUDE Literally, "exalted happiness" or "blessing." The ninefold blessing of Christ in the Sermon on the Mount is called the Beatitudes (Mt 5:3–12).

BELIEF The acceptance of the truths of the gospel. More than a mental assent, belief as used in the NT includes relying upon or trusting in God from the HEART. Such belief results from (1) hearing the WORD OF GOD (Rom 10:17) and (2) a gift of the HOLY SPIRIT (Eph 2:8). But faith without action (that is, a distinct movement of the will to follow Christ) is hollow and void of the RIGHTEOUSNESS that brings us SALVATION. (See article, "Justification by Faith," at Rom 5; Mt 7:21; Jn 3:16; Jam 2:14–26.)

BENEDICTION Literally, "good word." Benedictions were given by Christ (Lk 24:50, 51) and by the APOSTLES (2Co 13:14), and are given by the BISHOP or PRIEST at the close of every Divine Liturgy. (Other biblical benedictions include: Nm 6:24–26; Eph 3:20, 21; and Heb 13:20, 21.)

BISHOP (Gr. episkopos, "overseer.") A bishop is the leader of a local community of Christians. In the New Testament there is often no clear distinction between the offices of bishop and elder (PRESBYTER), both of which function as leaders of the community. However, by the mid to late first century, the CHURCH began to reserve the title bishop for the men of spiritual qualification who were consecrated to follow the apostles in their office of oversight. (See article, "The Four 'Orders' in Church Government," at 1Ti; Acts 1:15–26; 14:23; 1Ti 3:1–7.)

BORN AGAIN Literally, "born from above." A person is born again to new life in Christ to enter God's eternal Kingdom. This new birth takes place through the SACRAMENT of BAPTISM (Jn 3:16; Rom 6:3, 4; Gal 3:27). Spiritual life begins by receiving the HOLY SPIRIT in baptism and CHRISMATION, and is a dynamic process which continues throughout life. (See article, "The New Birth," at Jn 3.)

BROTHERS OF THE LORD St. James, the first BISHOP of Jerusalem, Joses, Simon, and Judas are referred to as brothers of Christ (Mt 13:55). In the ancient Middle East one's close relatives were frequently referred to as brothers and sisters. For example, Lot is clearly Abram's nephew (Gn 14:12), but Lot is also called "his brother" (Gn 14:14). There is an ancient TRADITION that the "brothers and sisters" of Christ were actually children of St. Joseph from an earlier marriage; they are never in Scripture called the children of Mary and Joseph. Thus, these references to siblings of Christ do not contradict the belief of the historic CHURCH—East and West—that the Virgin Mary was a virgin before, during, and after the birth of Christ. The absence of blood brothers is strongly reinforced by Christ's act of entrusting Mary to the care of the apostle John (Jn 19:26, 27), which would have been against the Mosaic Law had she had other natural children.

C

CANON Literally, "a rule." It describes (1) the inspired Books of the Bible—the Canon of Scripture; (2) the rules and decrees issued by the early Church (see Acts 15:23–29) and by Ecumenical Councils—Canon Law; and (3) certain parts of worship, such as the Liturgical Canon or the Canon of MATINS.

CHRISMATION The sacrament completing BAPTISM, whereby one receives the gift of the HOLY SPIRIT through anointing with the Chrism, a specially prepared oil which must be consecrated by a BISHOP. In Acts, a baptized Christian received the gift of the Holy Spirit through the laying on of the hands of an APOSTLE. (See Acts 8:14–17; 19:6.) Chrismation is a continuation of this ancient practice in the Church. (See article, "Chrismation," at Acts 2.)

CHURCH (Gr. ekklesia, the "called out," the "assembly.") The faithful are called out of the world to be the Church: the body of Christ, the Bride of Christ, the New Israel, the ark of SALVATION, the assembly of believers. Through the Church, Christians are united to Christ and to each other. In this community, the believer receives the GRACE of God through the sacraments and hears the truth of the gospel. This mystical transformation of people into one body in Christ takes place in the EUCHARIST. Because Christ is Head of the Church, the Church is a reflection of His INCARNATION, with both human and divine qualities. (See Mt 16:18; 1Co 10:16, 17; Gal 6:16; Eph 4:12; 5:22–32.)

CLOUD A "pillar of cloud" (Ex 13:21) was sent by God to help Israel find its way in the wilderness when the people left Egypt.

COMMANDMENT The Law of God, given first to Moses in the Ten Commandments on Mt. Sinai, and completed or fulfilled by the teaching of Christ (Ex 20:1–17; Mt 5:1–7:27; Jn 15:12).

COMMUNION (Gr. koinonia) A common union of the most intimate kind, enjoyed by Christians with God and with each other in the CHURCH. This communion is especially realized in the mystery of the EUCHARIST (Jn 6:56; 1Co 10:16, 17). See also KOINONIA.

CONFESSION (1) The avowal or verbal witness of faith in Christ, leading to SALVATION (Rom 10:9). (2) The SACRAMENT of the FORGIVENESS of sins, whereby the repentant sinner confesses his sins to Christ in the presence of the priest, who pronounces God's ABSOLUTION of those sins. (See article, "Confession," at 1Jn; Jn 20:22, 23; 1Jn 1:9.)

CONVERSION The beginning of SALVATION, occurring when a person repents, believes the gospel, and enters into a personal union and relationship with Christ. Conversion is not merely a change of belief but the beginning of a new life in Christ (2Co 5:17), which is a process of growth into the image and likeness of God. Our salvation is the working together of conversion, JUSTIFICATION and SANCTIFICATION throughout life.

CORNERSTONE The stone which ties together walls meeting at right angles, especially the one establishing the stability of a building. (See Ps 117:22; Ps 2: 6–8; Is 28:16 and 1Pt 2:6–8.)

CORRUPTION The state of mortality and sinfulness, the universal condition of fallen humanity. All people are born into a world suffering the consequences of the Fall, the sin of Adam and Eve. These consequences include physical suffering, death, lack of perfection and a propensity to sin. (See Ps 52:4; Is 53:6; Rom 3:23; 1Jn 5:19.)

COSMOS The universe or world, created by God from nothing. It is controlled by God; He is the life of the world. Sin has corrupted the entire cosmos, and the rule of evil will not be abolished until the SECOND COMING of Jesus Christ. The universe will finally be redeemed by Christ when He comes again to transform the cosmos into a new heaven and a new earth. (See Gn 1:1; Rom 8:19–22; Rev 21:1.)

COUNCIL A group of Christians gathered to deliberate and ask for the guidance of the HOLY SPIRIT to administer the CHURCH and decide various doctrinal, moral, and liturgical questions. The Orthodox Church is conciliar (operating by councils) on all levels, from a parish to a worldwide council. While councils are not seen as infallible, their decisions become part of Church life when they are received by the entire Church. Besides the Jerusalem Council recorded in Acts 15, the Church counts Seven Ecumenical Councils in her history, from AD 325 to 787.

COVENANT An agreement or testament between men or between God and His people. In the OT, God chose the people of Israel, ending with John the Baptist, to prepare the way for the coming of His Only Begotten Son. Through Christ, the covenant was perfected, and the promises of God to Abraham and the Jews are fulfilled through the CHURCH, the New Israel, the new covenant people of God. (See Gn 13:14–16; Gal 3:6–9; 1Pt 2:9, 10.)

CREATION Everything made by God. The term creation is applied to the COSMOS in general and to mankind in particular. Our regeneration in Christ and the RESURRECTION of the dead are both often called the "new creation" (2Co 5:17; also Rev 21:1). Creation has no existence apart from God, but is nevertheless distinct from God. (That which is not created, such as divine GRACE, the divine energies, belongs to God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.)

CREED A statement of belief. Creeds in their earlier forms were used by the apostles, and many are recorded in the NT (Eph 5:14; 1Ti 3:16; 2Ti 2:11–13). The Creed used throughout the CHURCH was adopted at the COUNCIL of Nicea in AD 325 and expanded at the Council of Constantinople in AD 381. This Nicene-Constantinopolitan Creed, commonly called the Nicene Creed, is used at baptisms, in the Divine Liturgy, and in personal daily prayers.

CRUCIFIXION A form of execution of criminals used by the ancient Romans in which the offender was nailed through his wrists and ankles to a cross. A crucified person usually died from suffocation after becoming too exhausted to pull himself up in order to breathe. Besides Christ Himself (Mt 27:35–50), the apostles Peter, Andrew, James the Less, and Simon were also crucified.

CURSE (Gr. anathema) To "cut off," "separate"; the opposite of blessing. A divine curse is God's judgment. Christ delivers believers from the curse caused by their inability to live by the law of God. (See Gn 3:14–19; 9:25; Mk 11:21; Gal 3:10–14.)

CYRENE A colonial city in today's Libya established by the Greeks as a regional center in North Africa (1Mc 15:23). Simon, who carried Jesus' Cross, was "a man of Cyrene" (Mt 27:32).

D

DARKNESS A symbol of sin and rejection of God, who is LIGHT and whose followers walk in the light of RIGHTEOUSNESS (Jn 1:5; Rom 13:12).

DAY OF ATONEMENT The one day each year when the OT high priest offered sacrifices for the sins of the people; on this day (and on no other) the high priest entered the Most Holy Place of the TEMPLE to sprinkle blood on the ARK OF THE COVENANT, the mercy seat, to reconcile Israel with God.

DEACON Literally, "servant." Originally seven deacons were ordained to assist the apostles with the temporal affairs of the CHURCH (Acts 6:1–7). St. Paul writes of the qualifications for deacon (1Ti 3:8–13). This established office has continued in the CHURCH Deacons help in the Church and assist the BISHOP and priest in liturgical services, but cannot preside over the EUCHARIST, give blessings or pronounce ABSOLUTION. In the NT (Rom 16:1) and the early Church, women also served as deacons or deaconesses, assisting others but not serving liturgically.

DEIFICATION The GRACE of God through which believers grow to become like Him and enjoy intimate COMMUNION with the FATHER through the Son in the HOLY SPIRIT. (See article, "Deification," at 2Pt 1; 2Co 3:18; 5:17; 2Pt 1:2–4.)

DEPARTED The dead. Following death and judgment, those who have accepted God's truth and love as fully revealed in Christ and the HOLY SPIRIT inherit eternal life in heaven. Those who have rejected His gift inherit eternal darkness. (See Mk 16:16; Lk 16:19–31; Heb 9:27.)

DEVIL Satan, the leader of the fallen angels. Called by Jesus the "father of lies" (Jn 8:44), Satan tempts the faithful to join his rebellion against God. The Greek word for devil means "separator"; he seeks to steal people away from God (Jn 10:10). Although not evil by NATURE, the devil turned by his free choice from what was according to nature to what was against it (Is 14:12–15). At the end of time, Christ will judge the devil and his followers and cast them into hell. (See Mt 25:41; Lk 10:18; 1Pt 5:8.)

DISCIPLESHIP The life of learning, growing, self-sacrifice, and commitment required of every Christian. A Christian not only believes in Christ but leaves everything to follow Him. (See Mt 4:18–22; 7:21–23; Lk 9:23; Gal 5:24.)

DOCTRINE The teaching of the Church, called variously the doctrine of Christ (2Jn 9), the apostles' doctrine (Acts 2:42), or sound doctrine (Tts 1:9; see 2Ti 3:16; Rom 16:17).

E

EASTER The Feast of the RESURRECTION of Christ, also known as PASCHA (from the Hebrew word for Passover). St. Paul calls Christ "our Passover" who "was sacrificed for us" 1Co 5:7). Orthodox Christians celebrate Pascha or Easter according to the decree of the COUNCIL of Nicea in AD 325: the first Sunday following the first full moon following the spring equinox following the Jewish Passover. Thus, Orthodox Easter is sometimes one, four, or five weeks after the Roman Catholic Easter—which Protestants also follow.

EDOMITES Descendants of Esau. They warred against Israel during the days of the Maccabees. Edomites are also known as Idumeans. The name Idumea was used by both the Greeks and Romans for the country of Edom. (See 1Mc 5:65.)

ENERGY Used theologically, that which radiates from the hidden ESSENCE or NATURE of God. The energies of God, such as GRACE, are not created, and allow the believer to enter into a personal relationship with God whose essence always remains hidden from humanity. Moses was permitted to see the GLORY of God, His energies, but was forbidden to gaze on the face of God, His hidden essence. (See Ex 33:18–23; 2Pt 1:2–4.)

EPIPHANY Literally, "a breaking through from above." The word means a manifestation or THEOPHANY of God. Examples of epiphanies are the burning bush (Ex 3:1–6) and the TRANSFIGURATION of Christ (Mt 17:1–13). Twelve days after Christmas, the Church celebrates the Feast of Epiphany to honor the manifestation of the Holy TRINITY at the BAPTISM of Christ (Mk 1:9–11).

EPISCOPACY The order of bishops in the Church (from Gr. episkopos, "overseer"). See also BISHOP.

ESCHATOLOGY The study of the last days. According to the Holy Scriptures, Christ will come again at the end of time to judge the living and the dead, destroy the power of evil, and fully reveal the everlasting Kingdom (Mt 25:31–46; Rev 20:10–21:1). See also SECOND COMING.

ESSENCE Also called "substance," "NATURE" or "form." God the FATHER, the Son, and the HOLY SPIRIT are "of one essence." Jesus Christ is "of one essence" with God the Father and the Holy Spirit in His divinity, and "of one essence" with all human beings in His humanity. God's essence is beyond the understanding and comprehension of His creatures. God can be known by humans through the divine energies and operations of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit (Ex 33:18–23). See also ENERGY.

EUCHARIST Taken from a Greek word meaning "THANKSGIVING," Eucharist designates Holy COMMUNION, the central act of Christian WORSHIP At the Last Supper Christ gave thanks (Mt 26:27; 1Co 11:24), and embodied in the communion service is our own thanksgiving. The word came into use very early, and appears in the late first century document, The Didache ("Now concerning the Eucharist. . . ." Did. 9:1) and also the letters of St. Ignatius of Antioch (Ign. Phil. 4:1) written about AD 107.

EVANGELIST One who preaches the gospel; used especially of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, who wrote the four NT Gospels. It is also one of Christ's gifts (Eph 4:11).

EXCOMMUNICATION Literally, "out of communion." This judgment is pronounced usually by the BISHOP of the CHURCH on willfully heretical, immoral, or divisive persons who refuse to repent of their sins, excluding them from the sacramental life of the Church (1Co 5:1–5). Excommunication is not viewed as eternal damnation but as temporal discipline. It is administered for the SALVATION of the excommunicated person, with the hope the sinner will repent.

F

FAITH Belief and trust in Christ as one's Savior, or a reference to Orthodox Christianity as "The Faith." The effects of this faith are freedom from the power of the DEVIL, the growth and maturity in VIRTUE, and progress toward perfection and union with God. One is saved by faith through GRACE—a living faith manifested by a righteous life. (See article, "Justification by Faith," at Rom 5; see also Rom 3:28; Gal 2:1; Eph 2:8; Jam 2:14–17.)

FASTING An exercise or discipline whereby one typically gives up certain foods as a means of disciplining the body and stilling human PASSION. Fasting is a part of the practice of ASCETICISM in the Church and a sign of REPENTANCE Orthodox Christians fast on most Wednesdays and Fridays (in memory of the betrayal and CRUCIFIXION of Christ) and during four fasting seasons: (1) ADVENT, the forty days before Christmas; (2) Great Lent, forty days before Palm Sunday and the week before Easter; (3) two weeks before the Feast of Ss. Peter and Paul (June 29); and (4) two weeks before the Feast of the Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary (Aug. 15). (See Mt 6:16; Rom 13:14; Gal 5:16, 17.)

FATHER (1) God the Father is the "fountainhead" of the Holy TRINITY, for God the Son is eternally begotten of God the Father, and God the HOLY SPIRIT proceeds eternally from God the Father. (See Mt 28:19; Jn 3:16; 14:10; 15:26.) (2) "Father" is also a title given to one's spiritual father based on the custom of the Jews, who spoke of their father Abraham or their father David, and on the words of St. Paul, who called himself the father of his flock. (See Lk 1:73; 16:24; 1Co 4:15.)

FELLOWSHIP (Gr. koinonia) Literally, "COMMUNION"; the unity of believers through Christ based on the fellowship of the FATHER, Son, and HOLY SPIRIT. Christians are united into a special fellowship through their love for one another and common union with Christ (Acts 2:42; 1Jn 1:3, 7). See also COMMUNION.

FILIOQUE A Latin word meaning "and the Son." Roman Catholic and, later, Protestant churches have added words to the Nicene Creed: "I believe in the HOLY SPIRIT . . . who proceeds from the FATHER and the Son." The filioque is judged by the Orthodox Church as error because it is contrary to what Jesus taught (Jn 15:26). Thus, the filioque confuses the true belief concerning the Holy Trinity. The addition of the filioque was a major factor contributing to the Great Schism in the eleventh century.

FORGIVENESS: The remission of sin and guilt through the love of Christ. Forgiveness is given originally in BAPTISM; forgiveness for continuing sin is reclaimed through REPENTANCE As God has forgiven the sins of believers, so are Christians to forgive those who have sinned against them (Mt 6:14, 15; 18:21–35; 1Jn 1:9).

FORNICATION (Gr. porneia); from which we get the word "pornography." It is the sin of sexual immorality. Fornication is strongly condemned in Scripture. (See 1Co 6:16–18; Gal 5:19; Col 3:5.)

FREE WILL The freedom to choose between good and evil. Free will is one aspect of human NATURE created in God's image. According to Orthodox teaching, sin stains the image of God but does not destroy it. Human beings have the right to accept or reject the gospel, but must accept the consequences of their decision. (See Gn 3:22, 23; Rev 3:20.)

G

GABRIEL Literally "man of God." An archangel who explained to Daniel the meaning of a vision (Dan 8:16 and following). Later, he also told Daniel the meaning of a prophecy (Dan 9:21–27). In the NT we see Gabriel announcing first the conception of John the Baptist (Lk 1:11–22) and sometime later the conception of our Lord Jesus Christ (Lk 1:26–38).

GENTILE A non-Jew. Christ and His apostles first preached the gospel to the JEWS, those chosen by God to prepare the way for the Messiah. But because Christ Himself died for all, Jew and Gentile, SALVATION is therefore offered to all, both Gentile and Jew. Those Gentiles (and Jews) who believe in Christ become the true sons of Abraham. (See Acts 11; 15:1–29; Rom 1:16; Gal 3:6–9.)

GIFTS Charismatic or spiritual gifts are blessings and abilities given by the HOLY SPIRIT to believers for the building up of the Body of Christ. (See Rom 12:6–8; 1Co 12; 13; 1Jn 3:24.)

GLORY The divine splendor of God, or a specific manifestation of God's presence, frequently likened to a CLOUD, smoke, or brilliant LIGHT. To serve and WORSHIP God is to glorify Him. Through the HOLY SPIRIT, Christians are being changed to be like God and to reflect His glory. (See Ex 19:9, 16–18; Is 60:1; Lk 2:9; Rom 8:16–18; 2Co 3:18; 4:6.) See also SHEKINAH.

GLOSSOLALIA Literally, "speaking in tongues." St. Paul used the term to describe a spiritual gift in the early CHURCH, not an emotional experience (1Co 12:10). At PENTECOST the gift was given to allow those present to hear the gospel in their native language (Acts 2:6). In Corinth, the gift was an ecstatic utterance (1Co 14:2). The APOSTLE warned against too much emphasis on this experience, urging instead that believers seek to manifest love (1Co 13:1) and communicate the gospel intelligibly (1Co 14:19). Glossolalia has never played a significant role in historic Orthodox spirituality. (See 1Co 12–14.)

GNOSTICISM A very complex ancient heresy that was manifested in many different forms and beliefs. The Gnostics taught that Christ had imparted secret knowledge (Gr. gnosis) to a select few, who in turn transmitted hidden truths to an elite. Central to Gnosticism is the denial of the goodness of matter, leading to a denial of the reality of the INCARNATION of the Son of God and of His bodily RESURRECTION. Several schools of Gnosticism taught that SALVATION consisted of liberation from the physical body and of growth to a higher, non-physical, spiritual level of existence. Orthodoxy has always rejected Gnosticism, teaching that the world and man were created good and will be redeemed by Christ and transformed at the end of this age (Gn 1:1–31; Rom 8:19–22; 1Co 15:35–55; Rev 21:1).

GOSPEL Literally, "the good news." The term comes from the ancient word announcing the ascension of a new ruler to the throne. The Christian gospel is summarized in the statement, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand!" (Mt 3:2; 4:17).

GRACE The gift of God's own presence and action in His creation. Through grace, God forgives sins and transforms the believer into His image and likeness. Grace is not merely unmerited favor—an attitude of God toward the believer. Grace is God's uncreated ENERGY bestowed in the sacraments and is therefore truly experienced. A Christian is saved through grace, which is a gift of God and not a reward for good works. However, because grace changes a person, he or she will manifest the effects of grace through righteous living. (See Jn 1:17; Rom 5:21; Eph 1:7; 2:8; 2Th 1:12; 1Pt 5:5.)

H

HADES A Greek word equivalent to the Hebrew Sheol—the realm of the dead. Following His burial and before His glorious RESURRECTION, Christ liberated the righteous dead in Hades, enabling them to enter PARADISE because He had destroyed sin and death by His life-giving death (1Pt 3:18–20).

HANANIAH Jewish name of one of the three youths held by Nebuchadnezzar along with Daniel. Hananiah's name in exile was Shadrach (See Dan 1:6, 7, 11). He is described as one whose faith saved him from fire (1Mc 2:59).

HANUKKAH The Jewish festival of lights that commemorates the rededication of the Jerusalem TEMPLE to more traditional modes of Jewish worship by JUDAS MACCABEUS around 164 BC after its desecration by the Seleucid King ANTIOCHUS EPIPHANES.

HEART In scriptural terms, the spiritual center of one's being. The heart is the seat of divine presence and GRACE and the source of moral acts. The ongoing transformation of the heart is the major work of God's saving grace. (See Mt 5:8; 6:21; 22:37; Lk 6:45; Jn 7:38; Rom 2:29; 10:9, 10; Heb 13:9.)

HERESY Following one's own choice or opinion so as to cause division among Christians. Heresy is a system of thought contradicting the true teachings of the CHURCH. It is false teaching, which true Christians must reject (Mt 7:15; 2Pt 2:1).

HOLINESS is the goodness of God Who alone is good (Mt 19:17). Holiness is manifested in people being renewed and transformed by the HOLY SPIRIT, who seek to become holy as God is holy (Rom 12:1; 1Pt 1:14–16; 2:9).

HOLY SPIRIT One of the Holy TRINITY, sometimes referred to as "The Spirit of the Lord God" (Is 61:1).

HOPE An expectation of something desired through faith (Heb 11:1). Hope for Christians is to "look forward to the RESURRECTION from the dead and the life of the world to come" (The CREED). (Jn 16:20–24, 33; Rom 5:2; 8:24, 25; 2Th 2:16).

I

ICON A transliterated Greek word meaning "IMAGE" (Col 1:15). Icons of Christ and His saints depict the reality of the INCARNATION: because the Son of God became Man, He can be imaged. Orthodox Christians honor or venerate icons, but never WORSHIP them, for worship is due the Holy TRINITY alone. The honor given to icons passes on to the one represented on the icon, as a means of THANKSGIVING for what God has done in that person's life.

IDOL A statue or other IMAGE of a false god, such as the "golden calf" (Ex 32:4–8). Also, anything that is worshiped in place of the one true God. Money, possessions, fame, even family members can become idols if we put them ahead of Christ our God. (See Lv 26:1; Col 3:5.)

ILLUMINATION "Enlightenment." In the Bible, DARKNESS is often used as an image of sin and death. To be illuminated is to be shown the true path of RIGHTEOUSNESS in God, thereby being led out of the darkness of sin and death. BAPTISM is called illumination, because in it we are delivered from sin and death and regenerated by the HOLY SPIRIT. (See 2Ez 9:8; Ps 12:4; 18:28; Dan 5:11, 14; Tb 12:15–22; Eph 1:18.)

IMAGE (Gr. eikon) The Bible teaches that man was created in the image and likeness of God. Men and women reflect the divine image by their ability to reason and to choose freely. Through Christ, the image of God is renewed in fallen man as believers are renewed and transformed by the GRACE of the HOLY SPIRIT. (See Gn 1:26; Rom 8:29; 2Co 3:18.) See ICON.

IMMANUEL "God with us," a title of Christ Who is God in the flesh (Is 7:14; Mt 1:22, 23).

INCARNATE From Latin, meaning "to become flesh." Christ is God Incarnate: He became flesh, that is, a Man. Thus, Jesus Christ is perfect God and perfect Man in one Divine PERSON (Lk 1:26–38; Jn 1:1–14; Php 2:5–7).

INCENSE The sap of the frankincense tree, or other aromatic substances, dried and burned in honor of God. The offering of incense has been associated with the WORSHIP of God since God commanded Moses to burn incense to Him in the tabernacle (Ex 30:1–8). The WORD OF GOD came to the PROPHET Malachi (1:11) predicting, "among the Gentiles [the Church] . . . incense shall be offered to My name . . ." The Magi offered frankincense to the infant Christ (Mt 2:9–11). Incense manifests the prayers of the saints as they ascend to heaven (Ps 140:2). It is found in OT and NT accounts of the worship of God in heaven (Is 6:4; Rev 5:8).

INFANT BAPTISM There are numerous biblical passages which support the ancient Christian practice of infant baptism, which was universal in the CHURCH until the Anabaptist reaction after the Protestant Reformation. Among these are: "Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for of such is the kingdom of heaven" (Mt 19:14); the BAPTISM of whole households and families, presumably including children (Acts 16:14, 15, 25–33); and Paul's comparison of circumcision —given to infant boys—to baptism (Col 2:11, 12; see also Jn 3:3–6; Rom 6:3, 4; Gal 3:27; 1Pt 3:21)

INTERCESSION Supplication to God in behalf of another person. Christ intercedes before God the FATHER in behalf of the repentant sinner, and God's people intercede for one another. (See Is 53:12; Jer 27:18; Dan 9:3–19; Rom 8:34.)

J

JEWS Originally, God's chosen people who followed the COVENANT given by the Lord to Moses. In the OT, the Jews are (1) citizens of Judah, (2) the postexilic people of Israel, or (3) the worshipers of Yahweh. God chose the Jews to prepare the way for the coming of the Messiah, Jesus Christ, the Only-begotten Son of God. Through Christ the distinction between Jew and GENTILE has been overcome, and all who truly follow Him have become the chosen people of God. (See Acts 22:3; Rom 1:16; 2:28, 29; Gal 3:28; 1Pt 2:9.)

JUDAS MACCABEUS Son of Mattathias. Called "Maccabeus" (Hammer) because of his sturdy defense of the Israelites in the face of those who wished to destroy them. (See 1Mc 2:4.)

JUDGES The period of the Judges ruling Israel was between the conquest of the Canaanites (Jdg 1:1) and the establishment of the monarchy under Saul (1Kg 10:17–24) when the Israelites were settling the land of Canaan. The Book of Judges contains the stories of several individual judges.

JUSTIFICATION In BAPTISM (Rom 6:1–6), God forgives one's sins and begins to transform him or her into a righteous person. (See article, "Justification by Faith," at Rom 5; also Rom 5:1, 2; Gal 2:16; Php 2:12, 13; Jam 2:24.)

K

KINGDOM OF GOD God's rule and reign. This Kingdom, revealed by Christ, is present in the world through the CHURCH. The fullness of the Kingdom will come when Christ returns to judge the living and the dead, creating a new heaven and earth. (See Mk 1:15; Jn 3:3–5; Rom 8:20, 21; 1Co 6:9, 10; Rev 21:1–22:5.)

KISS OF PEACE A kiss given by one believer to another. It is a sign of Christian unity and fellowship. (See 1Co 16:20.) In the Divine Liturgy, the clergy and in some Churches, also the laity, exchange the kiss of peace before saying the Nicene CREED.

KOINONIA A Greek word meaning COMMUNION or intimate fellowship. This relationship exists between Christians who are united by love into one body in Christ. (See Acts 2:41, 42; 2Co 13:14; 1Jn 1:1–7.)

L

LAMB OF GOD Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, offered Himself as a perfect SACRIFICE for the sins of the world (Jn 1:29). In the Preparatory Service of the Orthodox Church, the bread and wine are made ready to be consecrated in the EUCHARIST. The priest cuts out the center section of the loaf, called "the Lamb," for use in COMMUNION as the Body of Christ. (See the OT prophecy in Is 53:7–8.)

LAST JUDGMENT The judgment that takes place after the SECOND COMING of Christ and the final RESURRECTION from the dead. (See Mt 25:31–46; 16:8–11; Rev 20:11–15.)

LIGHT The Bible frequently uses light as a symbol of God and of that which is good, that which overcomes the DARKNESS of sin and death. Candles are used in the CHURCH to symbolize the light of Christ. Christians are to be lights shining in the world to show the way of RIGHTEOUSNESS and SALVATION (Mt 5:14; Jn 8:12).

LITURGY The work or public service of the people of God, which is the WORSHIP of the one true God. The Eucharistic service of the Orthodox Church is called the "Divine Liturgy."

M

MAGNIFICAT The PRAYER or hymn sung by the Virgin Mary when she visited Elizabeth, the mother of John the Baptist, shortly after the ANNUNCIATION (Lk 1:46–55). This hymn is sung frequently during MATINS in the Orthodox Church, and takes its title from the Latin for the beginning phrase, "My soul magnifies the Lord." (See also 1Kg 2:1–10.)

MAN (Gr. Anthropos) Frequently used in the Bible in the generic sense for both man and woman. Man is the pinnacle of God's CREATION, for only he among the creatures was made in the IMAGE and likeness of God. (See Gn 1:26, 27; Lk 4:4.)

MARTYR (Gr. martyria) Literally, "a WITNESS." The term is used to describe those who give their lives for Christ, both in life and in death. (See Jn 1:6–8; Acts 6:8–7:60.)

MATINS The early morning PRAYER service in the Orthodox CHURCH.

MEDIATOR One who intervenes on behalf of another. Jesus Christ mediates on behalf of the faithful before God the FATHER (1Ti 2:5).

MERCY The compassionate, steadfast love of God for sinners. Christians reflect the mercy of God by caring for others. The most frequent PRAYER in Orthodox WORSHIP is "Lord, have mercy." (See Mt 5:7; Eph 2:4–7; Tts 3:4–7.)

MESSIAH The Christ, the anointed one of God. Jesus Christ is the Messiah, fulfilling all the promises made by God to His chosen people. (See Is 7:14; 9:6; Mt 16:13–17.)

MIRACLE A sign whereby God supersedes the laws of nature in a MYSTERY. Jesus Christ performed many miracles, showing His mastery over NATURE, while other miracles demonstrated His POWER over sin, disease, and death. The apostles continued to manifest the power of God through miracles in Jesus' name. Healings, weeping icons, and other contemporary miracles show His power and presence in the CHURCH today. (See Mt 8:1–34; Jn 11:1–44; Acts 3:6–9.)

MISSION A task given by God to His people. Christ sent The Seventy on a mission (Lk 10:1–24). St. Paul went on three missionary journeys to preach the gospel (Acts 13:1–14:28; 15:36–18:22; 18:23–21:16). The mission of the Church today is to proclaim Christ to the world (Mt 28:18–20).

MYSTERY The ways of God, especially God's plan for SALVATION, cannot be known with the rational, finite human mind. It can only be experienced by the revelation of God. The Orthodox Church also uses the term mystery for the sacraments of the Church. (See Mk 4:11; 1Co 2:7, 8; Eph 5:32.) See also SACRAMENT.

N

NATIVITY The birth of Christ according to the flesh. (See note for Matthew 2:11; notes for Lk 1:8; 2:1–3; 2:7.) This holy day is also called "Christmas."

NATURE The sum of the qualities shared by individuals of the same type. (The qualities which distinguish individuals of a type from another make up the "PERSON.") The Holy TRINITY is one Divine Nature in three Persons. Humanity is one human nature in the image of God. Although stained by sin, human nature is good, having been created in the IMAGE of God. Through GRACE, the SPIRIT restores the nature of the believer to its true, uncorrupted state, so that he or she may grow into union with God. (See Gn 1:26–31; 2Co 3:18; 5:17.)

NETHINIM Temple servants in the OT. In the LXX, the word is transliterated from the Hebrew and usually appears as "the Nethinim," and never in the singular.

NEW JERUSALEM The center of the KINGDOM OF GOD which will be established following the SECOND COMING of Christ and the LAST JUDGMENT (Gal 4:26; Rev 3:12; 21:2).

NEW MAN One who is being transformed or deified by the HOLY SPIRIT into a new creature in COMMUNION with God (2Co 5:17; Gal 6:15).

O

ORDINATION The sacramental act setting a man apart for the ministry of the CHURCH by the laying on of hands of a BISHOP. The original meaning of ordination includes both election and imposing of hands. (See article, "Ordination," at Acts 14; Acts 6:1–6; 14:23; 1Ti 4:14.)

ORIGINAL SIN The fact that every PERSON born comes into the world facing mortality: we die. With REDEMPTION in Christ, however, comes new life in Him. Original sin does not carry guilt, for a person is guilty only of his or her own sins, not of those of Adam. Therefore, the Orthodox CHURCH does not believe that a baby who dies unbaptized is condemned to hell. (See Gn 3:1–24; Rom 5:12–16.)

P

PARABLE A story told to illustrate a greater truth through familiar examples related to the daily lives of the hearers. Christ's teaching is filled with parables. (See article, "Parables," at Mt 13; Mt 13:1–54; Lk 8:9–15.)

PARADISE The place of rest for the DEPARTED in Christ. The original Paradise, (see Gn 2:8–14) will be restored in its fullness following the SECOND COMING of Christ. (See 2Ez; Lk 23:43; 2Co 12:4; 2Pt 3:13; Rev 2:7; 21:1.)

PARALEIPOMENON see definition from fr. Peter.

PASCHA Greek for "Passover." Originally Pascha designated the Jewish Passover; now, it is the Feast of the RESURRECTION of Christ, also called "Easter." Christ is the LAMB OF GOD whose SACRIFICE delivers the faithful from death, as the sacrifice of the Passover Lamb delivered the ancient JEWS from slavery and death in Egypt (Ex 12; 13; 1Co 5:7, 8).

PASSION (1) A term used to describe the SACRIFICE of Christ on the Cross. (2) Holy Week is often called Passion Week, describing Christ's struggle and suffering in Jerusalem. (3) In addition, there are blameless passions including human appetites or urges—such as hunger, the desire for pleasure and sexual drives—which can become a source of sin when not controlled or directed by submission to the will of God. (See Rom 1:26; 7:5; Gal 5:24; Col 3:5.)

PEACE (Heb. shalom) Tranquillity, harmony with God, self, and other people made possible through Christ, who unites the faithful to God and to each other. (See Rom 14:17; Gal 5:22; Eph 2:13–16; Php 4:6, 7.)

PENTATEUCH Refers to the first five books of the Hebrew Bible (The Old Testament) traditionally attributed to Moses. The JEWS call these books the "Torah."

PENTECOST Originally an OT harvest festival celebrated fifty days following the Passover. In time, Pentecost became the commemoration of the giving of the Law to Moses on Mt. Sinai. Pentecost took on a new meaning with the descent of the HOLY SPIRIT on the apostles at the time of Pentecost. Through the SACRAMENT of CHRISMATION, Orthodox Christians experience their own personal Pentecost. Every Divine Liturgy becomes a Pentecost through the descent of the Holy Spirit on the faithful and the gifts (the bread and wine), transforming them into the Body and Blood of Christ. (See Ex 23:14–17; Lv 23:15–21; 2Mc 12:32; Acts 2:1–41.)

PERSON (Gr. prosopon; Lat. persona) Regarding the Holy Trinity, there are three Divine Persons: God the FATHER, Son, and HOLY SPIRIT. The Person of God the Son became Man, Jesus Christ, "for us and for our SALVATION" (The CREED; see also Mt 28:19).

PHARISEES One of the parties of first-century Judaism. The Pharisees favored strict legalistic application of traditional interpretations of the Law stemming from oral Jewish traditions. Unlike the SADDUCEES, they believed in ANGELS and in the RESURRECTION of the dead. The Pharisees were generally hostile to the mission of Christ, who condemned their legalism and their preoccupation with outward forms, ignoring true RIGHTEOUSNESS of the HEART. (See Mt 3:7; 12:14; 22:34; 23:13–36.)

PILGRIM One who makes a journey to a religious shrine or a spiritual journey from sin and suffering in this life to eternal life with Christ in heaven. (See Ps 41:4–5; Heb 11:13; 1Pt 2:11.)

POWER (1) A divine attribute or energy (Mt 6:13; Lk 1:35; Rom 1:16). (2) The authority and ability to act (Mt 9:6). (3) A category of angelic beings (Eph 1:21).

PRAISE To glorify and give thanks to God or to speak highly of someone or something (Jdg 5:3; Ps 9:1–12; Ps 20:14; Ps 88:6; Ps 118:164; Rom 15:11). See ALLELUIA.

PRAYER COMMUNION with God through words of PRAISE, THANKSGIVING, REPENTANCE, supplication, and INTERCESSION.

Prayer is "raising up the HEART and mind to God" (St. John of Damascus). Usually prayer is verbal. However, prayer of the heart or in the Spirit, the highest form of prayer, is without words. (See Tb 8:4–8; Dan 4:34, 35; Mt 6:5–13; 21:22; Rom 8:26; Php 4:6; 1Th 5:17.)

PRESBYTER Literally, "elder;" now generally called "priest." Presbyter is one of the three orders of the ordained ministry of the CHURCH: BISHOP, presbyter and DEACON. (See article, "The Four 'Orders' in Church Government," at 1Ti; Acts 14:23; 15:4–23; 1Ti 5:17–19; Tts 1:5.)

PROCEED "To come forth from" or "come to." The HOLY SPIRIT proceeds from the FATHER, the fountainhead of the Holy TRINITY (Jn 15:26).

PROPHET Descriptive title given to accepted spokespersons of God (or their opposites, "false prophets"); a PERSON who speaks in the name of God. One who proclaims the will of God and/or foretells the future, especially the coming and mission of Christ, through the inspiration of the HOLY SPIRIT. (See Dt 18:18; Acts 28:25.)

PROPITIATION An offering that results in atonement, REDEMPTION, and RECONCILIATION. Christ offered Himself on the Cross as a propitiation for our sins, to liberate humanity from sin and death. (See Rom 3:21–26; Heb 2:17; 1Jn 2:2; 4:10.)

PROSELYTE Literally, "one who comes toward." A proselyte is a convert to faith, usually from another religion. In the NT, the word usually refers to a GENTILE convert to Judaism. (See Dt 29:10–13; Is 56:3–8; Ru 1:16; Acts 2:10; 13:43.)

PROVIDENCE God's sovereign care in governing His CREATION, especially His care for the faithful. (See Ps 144:17; Rom 8:28.)

PURIFICATION The OT rite whereby one is cleansed of ritual impurity caused by such things as contact with leprosy, a dead body or sexual acts. This cleansing consists of making a SACRIFICE or being sprinkled with "water of purification" (Nm 19:9). Christ liberated the faithful from these rites. Christians are purified by the sacraments and by their spiritual struggle towards transforming their passions. (See Lv 12:6; Nm 19:9–21; Mt 15:11; Lk 2:22–33; Acts 10:9–16; 15:1–29.)

R

RAPHAEL Archangel sent to help Tobit and his son, and Sarah who became the wife of Tobiah. (See Tb 3:1–17 and references to Raphael throughout.)

RECONCILIATION Making peace between enemies, especially the removal of hostility and barriers between humans and God, and between individuals, accomplished by Christ. (See Rom 5:11; 2Co 5:18, 19.)

REDEMPTION The deliverance of humanity from sin and death by Christ, who took on human NATURE by His INCARNATION, conquering sin and death by His life-giving death and glorious RESURRECTION. Redemption releases those who are in captivity to the evil one, and unites humanity to God by Christ's ASCENSION. (See Dt 7:8; Gal 3:13; Heb 9:15.) See also DEIFICATION and SALVATION.

REMEMBRANCE (Gr. anamnesis) Making present by means of recollection. Remembrance of the COVENANT was crucial for Israel (Ex 2:24; 13:3). The EUCHARIST is not merely a calling to mind but a remembrance of and mystical participation in the very SACRIFICE of Christ, His RESURRECTION, His ASCENSION, and His SECOND COMING (1Co 11:23–26).

REMISSION The FORGIVENESS and putting aside of sins. As the faithful are released from their sins through the sacramental life of the CHURCH, they in turn are called to remit the sins of any who have offended them. (See Mt 26:28; Jn 20:23; Acts 2:37, 38.)

REPENTANCE Literally, "a change of mind" or attitude, and thus of behavior. God is the author of repentance, which is an integral part of BAPTISM, CONFESSION, and ongoing spiritual life. Repentance is not simply sorrow for sins but a firm determination to turn away from sin to a new life of RIGHTEOUSNESS in Jesus Christ. (See Ezk 18:31; Mt 4:17; 2Pt 3:9; 1Jn 1:9.)

RESURRECTION The reunion of the soul and body after death which will revitalize and transform the physical body into a spiritual body. Jesus Himself is the firstfruits of perfect resurrection; He will never again be subject to death. Because He conquered death by His Resurrection, all will rise again: the righteous to life with Christ, the wicked to judgment. (See Is 26:19; Jn 5:28, 29; 1Co 15:35–55.)

RIGHTEOUSNESS Being good, just, and blameless. All are called to a life of humble obedience to God. Righteousness is the fruit of the HOLY SPIRIT, and the way in which Christians respond with living faith to God's gift of SALVATION. (See WSol 5:6, 18; Is 11:5; 46:13; Mt 5:6, 20; Rom 4:3; Gal 5:22; Jam 2:14–26.)

RITES Forms of WORSHIP, music, vestments, and architecture. Most Orthodox Christians follow the liturgical practice of the ancient Churches in the East (Antioch, Jerusalem, and Alexandria), the rite commonly known as the Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom. However, some Orthodox follow a Western Rite, forms that developed in the West before the separation of Rome from the Orthodox Church (see 1Co 11:23–26).

RITUAL Ceremonies and texts used in the WORSHIP of the CHURCH. Having her roots in the TEMPLE and SYNAGOGUE, the Church has employed ritual in her worship from the very beginning. See also LITURGY.

S

SABBATH Saturday, the seventh day of the week, originally a day of rest, for after CREATION "He rested on the seventh day" (Gn 2:2). Since Christ rose from the dead on the first day of the week, Sunday, the CHURCH gathers on this day instead of the seventh to worship God. Sunday is also called "the Lord's Day" and "the eighth day," because it transcends the Sabbath and is seen as being a part of heavenly time rather than earthly time. (See Ex 20:8–11; Acts 20:7.)

SACRAMENT Literally, a "MYSTERY". A sacrament is a way in which God imparts grace to His people. Orthodox Christians frequently speak of seven sacraments, but God's gift of GRACE is not limited only to these seven—the entire life of the CHURCH is mystical and sacramental. The sacraments were instituted by Christ Himself (Jn 1:16, 17). The Seven Mysteries are: BAPTISM (Mt 28:18–20; Rom 6:4; Gal 3:27), CHRISMATION (Acts 8:15–17; 1Jn 2:27), the EUCHARIST (Mt 26:26–28; Jn 6:30–58; 1Co 10:16; 11:23–31), CONFESSION (Jn 20:22, 23; 1Jn 1:8, 9), ORDINATION (Mk 3:14; Acts 1:15–26; 6:1–6; 1Ti 3:1–13; 4:14), Marriage (Gn 2:18–25; Eph 5:22–33), and Healing or UNCTION (Lk 9:1–6; Jam 5:14, 15).

SACRIFICE To offer something up to God. In the old COVENANT, God commanded His people to sacrifice animals, grain, or oil as an act of THANKSGIVING, PRAISE, FORGIVENESS, and cleansing. However, these sacrifices were only a foreshadowing of the one perfect sacrifice—Christ. He, the Eternal Son and the WORD OF GOD became Man, giving His life as a sacrifice on the Cross to liberate humanity from the CURSE of sin and death. In the EUCHARIST, the faithful participate in the life-giving once for all sacrifice of Christ. (See Lv 1:1–7:38; 1Co 11:23–26; Php 2:5–8; Heb 9:1–10:18.) See also REMEMBRANCE.

SADDUCEES A party in Judaism at the time of Christ. The Sadducees steadfastly held to a literal interpretation of the Law contained in the first five books of the Old Testament (the PENTATEUCH or Torah), and rejected traditional interpretations favored by other groups of JEWS, especially the PHARISEES. Sadducees came from the priestly class and rejected the RESURRECTION of the dead and the existence of ANGELS. Christ condemned these Jewish leaders for their preoccupation with outward forms, ignoring or neglecting true RIGHTEOUSNESS of the HEART. (See Mt 16:1–12.)

SAINT Literally, "a holy person." With God as the source of true HOLINESS, all Christians are called to be saints. (See Rom 16:2; 1Co 1:1, 2). But from the earliest times, the CHURCH has designated certain outstanding men and women who have departed this life and reached DEIFICATION as worthy of veneration and canonization as saints or holy persons.

SALVATION is the FORGIVENESS of sin and reunion with God and His Kingdom through Jesus Christ our Lord (Jn 3; Rom 6). (See articles, "The New Birth," at Jn 3; "Justification by Faith," at Rom 5; and "Deification," at 2Pt 1.) See also DEIFICATION, JUSTIFICATION, KINGDOM OF GOD, REDEMPTION and SACRAMENT.

SANCTIFICATION Literally, "being set apart" to God. The process of growth in Christ whereby the believer is made holy as God is holy, through the HOLY SPIRIT. (See article, "Deification," at 2Pt 1; Rom 6:22; 15:16.) See also DEIFICATION, JUSTIFICATION and SALVATION.

SANCTUARY The Holy of Holies or Most Holy Place. The place in the Old Testament tabernacle or TEMPLE containing the ARK OF THE COVENANT, the dwelling place of God. Only the high priest could enter the Most Holy Place and only on the DAY OF ATONEMENT. When the early Christians built Churches, they followed the general pattern of the temple, and the altar area is often called the sanctuary. (See Ex 26:31–35; 40:34, 35; Lv 16:1–5; 1 Kin. 6:1–38; 8:1–11.)

SATRAP A governor or ruler in ancient Babylon, as mentioned in numerous OT passages.

SECOND COMING At the end of the ages, Christ will come again to judge the living and the dead. Following the LAST JUDGMENT, a new heaven and new earth will take the place of the old earth, which has been scarred by sin. Because Christ is already present through the CHURCH, Christians enter into the KINGDOM OF GOD through their participation in the sacramental life of the Church as they await the coming of the Lord. (See article, "The Second Coming of Christ," at Tts 2; Mt 25:31–46; Rom

8:18–21; 1Th 4:16, 17; Rev 20:11–22:5.) See also RESURRECTION.

SHEKINAH The GLORY of God, frequently revealed in the symbols of fire and CLOUD in the OT. Although Christians experience the energies of God, including His GLORY, they never penetrate beyond the cloud to the inner ESSENCE of God, which remains hidden. (See Ex 13:21; 24:15–18; 33:18–23; 40:34, 35; 2Ch 7:1; Mt 17:1–5.) See also ENERGY.

SIN (Gr. hamartia) Literally, "missing the mark." This word in ancient Greek could describe the action of an archer who failed to hit the target. All humans are sinners who miss the mark of perfection that God has set for His people, resulting in alienation from God. (See Mt 5:48; Rom 3:23; 6:23; 1Jn 1:8.)

SOJOURNER A stranger or foreigner. Because the CHURCH exists in a sinful world that has rejected God, Christians—citizens of the KINGDOM OF GOD—are strangers in a foreign land. Therefore, faithful sojourners are on guard, lest they adopt the ways of the fallen society in which they live. Abraham and Jacob were sojourners before us (Gn 12:10; 32:4); Israel was sojourning in Egypt (Gn 47:4); Naomi was a sojourner in Moab (Ru 1:1). Christians, too, are sojourners (1Pt 2:11; 1Jn 2:15–17).

SON OF MAN An important messianic title of Christ, who is perfect God and perfect Man. The Gospels reveal that Jesus often applied this title to Himself. In Christ, the Second Adam, God assumed and perfected sinful humanity, freeing those who follow Him from the consequences of the rebellion of the first man, Adam. (See Mk 2:28; 9:31; Rom 5:12–21; 1Co 15:21, 22, 45–49.) See also INCARNATION.

SORROW The Scriptures distinguish between godly sorrow, which produces REPENTANCE, and ungodly sorrow, the sadness of being found out, which produces death (Mt 5:4; 2Co 7:9, 10).

SOUL A living substance, simple, bodiless, and invisible by NATURE, activating the body to which it brings life, growth, sensation and reproduction. The mind is not distinct from the soul but serves as a window to the soul. The soul is free, endowed with will, and the POWER to act. Along with the body, the soul is created by God in His IMAGE. The soul of man will never die (Gn 1:26; 2:7; Mt 10:28).

STEWARD(SHIP) A steward is one who manages property belonging to another. All that a Christian has belongs to God. Thus, the Christian gives back to God out of the material blessings he has received from Him for the work of the CHURCH. In the OT, God commanded the faithful to give a TITHE or ten percent of their goods to God; though not under law, St. John Chrysostom teaches Christians should give that much and more.

Christians are also stewards of the spiritual knowledge which God has entrusted to us. We must preserve the heritage of apostolic DOCTRINE intact for future generations. (See Gn 14:18–20; Lv 27:30–33; 1Co 4:1, 2; 2Co 9:6–8; 1Pt 4:10.)

SPIRIT (Gr. pneuma) Literally, "breath"; that which is living but immaterial. Spirit is used in three ways in Scripture: (1) the HOLY SPIRIT is one of the three Persons of the TRINITY (Jn 4:24; 20:22); (2) the ANGELS are called spirits (Ps 103:4); and (3) and the human spirit possesses the intuitive ability to know and experience God (Rom 8:16; 1Co 2:10–12).

SPIRITUALITY The ascetic and pious struggle against sin through REPENTANCE, PRAYER, FASTING, and participation in the sacramental life of the Church. (See Gal 5:16–26; Php 2:12, 13.) See also SYNERGISM

SYMBOL In Orthodox usage, the manifestation in material form of a spiritual reality. A symbol does not merely stand for something else, as does a "sign"; it manifests the actual presence of its subject. Names of things are often symbols (Is 7:3, 14). The dove, for example, is the symbol which brought to Jesus the descent of the HOLY SPIRIT (Mt 3:13–16).

SYNAGOGUE A "gathering" or "assembly." The synagogue appears in Judea as a result of the Babylonian exile, as it continues today as the main center of Jewish communal worship. (See 1Mc 2:42; Lk 4:16; 8:41; Acts 18:4; Rev 2:9.)

SYNAXIS Literally, "gathering" or "assembly." Synaxis is the word used for the ancient Greek senate. The first part of the Divine Liturgy is called the synaxis because the faithful gather to sing, pray, hear the Scriptures read, and to hear the homily. The saints' days are also called a synaxis, such as the Synaxis of St. Michael and all ANGELS.

SYNERGISM (from Gr. syn: same, together; ergos: energy, work.) Working together; the act of cooperation. In the NT synergism is the idea of being "workers together with" God (2Co 6:1), or of working "out your own salvation . . . for it is God who works in you" (Php 2:12, 13). This is not a cooperation between equals, but finite man working together with Almighty God. Man responds to Christ's SALVATION through cooperation with God's GRACE in living by faith, righteous works and rejection of evil (Jam 2:14–26). See also FREE WILL and PASSIONS.

SYNOPTIC (From Gr. syn: same, together; optic: eye, vision.) The books of Matthew, Mark, and Luke, which hold essentially the same viewpoint and are similar are called the “Synoptic Gospels.”

T

TEMPLE Ancient Israel had many temples, located throughout the country, but the temple in Jerusalem eventually became the central and only authorized place to WORSHIP the Lord. The first one was built by King Solomon around 950 BC. It was destroyed by the Babylonian King Nebuchadnezzar in 587 BC. It was rebuilt about 70 years later, but it was destroyed by the Romans in AD 70. More recently, temple has come to be used synonymously with SYNAGOGUE. (See 3Kg 6; 4Kg 25:9–17; 2Ez 1:1–4; 3:3–13; 1Mc 4:37–39; 4:48–51.)

TEMPTATION The seductive attraction of sin. Those united to Christ are given His POWER to withstand temptation through patience, courage, and obedience. (See Mt 4:1–11; 1Co 10:13; Heb 2:17, 18; Jam 1:12.)

THANKSGIVING To be grateful, to offer thanks, especially to God for His love and MERCY. The Eucharistic prayer is called The Thanksgiving. (See 1Th 5:18.) See also EUCHARIST.

THEOPHANY A manifestation of God in His uncreated GLORY. It refers also to Christ’s RESURRECTION appearances. The revelation of the Holy TRINITY at the BAPTISM of Christ (Lk 3:21, 22) is the greatest theophany; it is celebrated in the Orthodox Church on EPIPHANY (Jan. 6). Other theophanies are found throughout the Bible. For example, God appeared to Abraham (Gn 18:1–15), and to Jacob in a dream (Gn 28:10–17).

THEOTOKOS God-bearer, birth-giver, frequently translated “Mother of God.” Because Jesus Christ is the divine Son of God, Mary is called the Mother of God to profess our faith that in the INCARNATION, God was in her womb. Elizabeth called Mary “blessed” and “the mother of my Lord” (Lk 1:42, 43). At the Council of Ephesus in AD 431, the Church condemned Nestorius and other heretics who refused to call the Virgin Mary the Theotokos. For if it was not God in Mary’s womb, there is no SALVATION for mankind. (See article, “Mary,” at Lk 1; Lk 1:26–43; Jn 1:1–14.)

TITHE A tenth of one’s income. It is first revealed in Genesis 14:18–20 when Abraham paid a tithe to Melchizedek, centuries before the Law was given to Moses. Abraham’s grandson, Jacob, told the Lord he would give Him a tithe (Gn 28:22; see also Lv 27:30, 32; Mal 3:8–12; WSir 35:3; Lk 18:12).

TRADITION That which is handed down, transmitted. In the NT, there are two types of tradition: (1) the "tradition of men" which Christ strongly condemns (Mk 7:6–8), and (2) holy or apostolic tradition which St. Paul calls us to steadfastly follow (2Th 2:15). Holy Tradition is the life of the HOLY SPIRIT in the CHURCH. He leads the Church "into all truth" (Jn 16:13) and enables her to preserve the truth taught by Christ to His APOSTLES. The Scriptures are the core of this Tradition, as interpreted through the writings of the Fathers, the Ecumenical Councils, and the WORSHIP of the Church. Together, these traditions manifest the faith of the ancient undivided Church. (See also Jn 21:25; Acts 15:1–29; 2Th 3:6.)

TRANSFIGURATION A change or transformation. Christ was transfigured on Mt. Tabor, showing He is God in the flesh (Mt 17:1–8). Christians are called to be transformed by the HOLY SPIRIT into the IMAGE and likeness of God (Rom 12:1, 2). (See article, "The Transfiguration," at Mt 17.) See also DEIFICATION.

TRANSGRESSION Lawlessness, as in "He will not clear the guilty, visiting the lawlessness of the fathers upon the children and the children's children to the third and the fourth generation" (Ex 34:8; see also Dt 17:2–5; Nm 14:41; Jos 7:11; Job 13:38; Pr 17; Mic 6:7; Lk 15:29; Rom 4:15; 1Ti 2:14).

TRIBULATION The Scriptures reveal that much trouble and violence—great tribulation—will engulf the world before the SECOND COMING of Christ (Mt 24:4–29). See also ESCHATOLOGY.

TRINITY God the FATHER and His Son and His HOLY SPIRIT: one in ESSENCE and undivided. God revealed the MYSTERY of the Trinity at Christ's BAPTISM (Mt 3:13–17), but even before that event, numerous OT references pointed to the Trinity. For example, the frequent use of plural pronouns referring to the one God (Gn 1:26); the three angels who appeared to Abraham (Gn 18:1–16); and the Thrice Holy hymn sung by the angels in Isaiah's vision (Is 6:1–4) all suggest one God in three Persons, the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit (Mt 28:19).

TRISAGION Literally, "Thrice Holy." The biblical Trisagion, "Holy, Holy, Holy," is the hymn of the ANGELS before the throne of God (Is 6:1–3; Rev 4:8), and is one of the most important hymns of the Divine Liturgy. In the TRADITION of the CHURCH, this hymn has been amplified into the Trisagion frequently sung during services and said during prayers: "Holy God, Holy Mighty, Holy Immortal One, have mercy on us." The biblical use of "Holy" three times reveals the three Persons in the Godhead.

TYPE An historical event that has a deeper meaning, pointing to our SALVATION in Christ. For example, the three days that Jonah spent in the belly of the fish is a type of the three days that Christ would spend in the tomb (Mt 12:40). The serpent that Moses lifted up on the staff is a type of the lifting up of Christ on the Cross (Jn 3:14–16). The burning bush, aflame but not consumed, is a type of the Virgin Mary, who carried the incarnate God in her womb but was not consumed by His presence (Lk 1:26–38). Noah's ark, which saved Noah and his family from death in the flood, is a type of BAPTISM, which brings the believer from death to life (1Pt 3:18–22). See also ALLEGORY.

U

UNCTION Anointing of the sick with blessed oil, for the healing of body and SOUL. The gift of healing is bestowed by the HOLY SPIRIT through the anointing, together with the prayers of the Unction service. (See article "Healing," at Jam 5.) See also SACRAMENT.

UNLEAVENED BREAD Bread baked without yeast. The JEWS used unleavened bread for the Passover to symbolize the fact they had no time to wait for the yeast to rise in the bread (Ex 12:1–20). By contrast, the bread of the new COVENANT is leavened.

V

VESPERS The evening prayer service in the Orthodox Church.

VICE A particular immoral, depraved, or degrading habit, as contrasted with VIRTUE. Christians are called to flee from the vices and to preserve their personal purity (Rom 13:13; Eph 4:17–24). See also PASSION.

VIRTUE A righteous characteristic such as self-control, patience, or humility; the opposite of VICE or PASSION. As a PERSON grows spiritually, he or she grows in virtue while the passions are conquered by the GRACE of God. (See WSol 4:1, 2; 5:13; Php 4:8; 2Pt 1:2–7.

W

WISDOM (OF GOD) A name for God's Son and Word; Christ is the Wisdom of God. Also, wisdom is given to the CHURCH as a gift of the HOLY SPIRIT. (See Ex 31:3; 3Kg 3:16–28; Pr 9:10; Dan 1:17; WSir 1:9; Jn 1:1; 1Co 2:6–8; Col 3:16.)

WITNESS (Gr. martyria) One who makes known the GRACE and GLORY of the Lord by word and deed. In the NT, the word is also rendered "MARTYR," a reference to those who give their lives for the gospel of Christ. The HOLY SPIRIT bears witness to the spirits of those who believe in Christ, that they belong to Him. (See Dt 31:19–21, 26; Rom 8:16; Heb 10:15; 12:1; 1Jn 5:6–12; Rev 11:3–12.)

WONDERS Miracles and the attitude of mankind toward them. (See Ex 11:10; Ps 106; Dan 4:3; 6:27; 1Ch 16:8, 9, 12; Job 37: 13–19; Acts 2:22–36; 6:8; 14:3; 2Co 12:12.)

WORD OF GOD (Gr. Logos) The Son of God, who from the MYSTERY of His eternal birth is called the Word of the FATHER. The "Word became flesh" (Jn 1:14) for the SALVATION of the world. The Holy Scriptures are also called the Word of God, for they reveal the truth of God (Jn 1:1–14; 2Pt 1:19–21). See also INCARNATION.

WORSHIP Literally, "to bow down." Commanded for God's people (1 Ch 16:29). In the Christian sense worship is the adoration of God through participation in the services of the CHURCH, the highest act of a Christian (Jn 4:19–24). See also LITURGY.

WORTHY (Gr. axios) Describes those who act in a manner befitting one who is a follower of Christ. No one is worthy of SALVATION in and of himself, but all are made worthy through Christ (1Th 2:10–12) In the Church, when a newly-ordained man is being vested, the faithful shout out, "Axios!"

WRATH OF GOD His anger and its consequences (Nm 32:10–13). His wrath can be caused by sympathy with evil (Lv 10:1–6), by APOSTASY (2Ch 34:24, 25), by association with evil (Jn 3:36), and it can be displayed to demonstrate the greatness of His GLORY (Rom 9:22–26).

Z

ZEAL Devotion; enthusiastic obedience to God; a quality of divine diligence or fervor. Zeal is shown by Moses (Ex 32:19–35), Joshua (Jos 24:14–16), David (1Kg 17:26–51), Elijah (3Kg 19:10, and Timothy (Php 2:19–22). Christians are (1) called to follow Christ with enthusiasm and zeal (Acts 18:25; Rom 12:10, 11) and (2) warned against misguided enthusiasm, a zeal "not according to knowledge" (Rom 10:2).

Morning Prayers

The Trisagion Prayers

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Glory to You, O Lord, glory to You.

O Heavenly King, O Comforter, the Spirit of Truth, Who are in all places and fill all things, the Treasury of good things and the Giver of life: Come and abide in us, cleanse us from every stain, and save our souls, O Good One.

Holy God, Holy Mighty, Holy Immortal, have mercy on us. (three times).

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

O Most Holy Trinity, have mercy on us. O Lord, cleanse us from our sins. O Master, pardon our transgressions. O Holy One, visit and heal our infirmities, for Your Name's sake.

Lord, have mercy. (three times).

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Our Father, Who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Morning Prayer to the Holy Trinity

Arising from sleep, I thank You, O Most Holy Trinity, that, for the sake of Your great kindness and longsuffering, You have not had indignation against me, for I am slothful and sinful. Neither have You destroyed me in my transgressions. But You have shown Your customary love toward mankind, and have raised me up as I lay in heedlessness, that I might sing my morning hymn and glorify Your sovereignty. Do now enlighten the eyes of my understanding, open my ears to receive Your words, and teach me Your commandments. Help me to do Your will, to sing to You, to confess You from my heart, and to praise Your All-Holy Name: of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

The Nicene Creed

I believe in one God, the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth, and of all things visible and invisible; and in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the Only-Begotten, begotten of the Father before all worlds, Light of Light, Very God of Very God, begotten, not made; of one essence with the Father; by Whom all things were made; Who for us men and for our salvation came down from heaven and was incarnate of the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary, and was made man; and was crucified also for us under Pontius Pilate, and suffered and was buried; the third day He rose again according to the Scriptures; and ascended into heaven, and sits at the right hand of the Father; and He shall come again with glory to judge the living and the dead; Whose Kingdom shall have no end. And I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord and Giver of Life, Who proceeds from the Father, Who with the Father and the Son together is worshiped and glorified, Who spoke by the prophets. And I believe in One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. I acknowledge one Baptism for the remission of sins. I look for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Intercessory Prayers

Remember, O Lord Jesus Christ, our God, Your mercies and lovingkindnesses, which have been from everlasting, and for the sake of which You did become man and deign to endure crucifixion and death for the salvation of all who rightly believe in You. You rose from the dead and ascended into heaven, and sit at the right hand of God the Father, and regard the humble prayers of all who call upon You with their whole heart. Incline Your ear and hear the humble entreaty of me, Your unprofitable servant, who offers it for an odor of spiritual fragrance for all Your people.

And first of all remember Your Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church which You have purchased with Your precious blood. Confirm and strengthen it, enlarge and multiply it, keep it in peace, and preserve it unconquerable by the gates of hell forever. Heal the schisms of the churches, quench the ragings of the heathen, speedily undo and root out the growths of heresies, and bring them to naught by the power of Your Holy Spirit.

Save, O Lord, and have mercy upon all world rulers, on our president (name), on (names), and on all our civil authorities. Speak peace and blessing in their hearts for Your holy Church and for all Your peoples, in order that we may live a calm and peaceful life, in all godliness and dignity.

Save, O Lord, and have mercy upon patriarchs, metropolitans, archbishops, priests, ministers and deacons, and the whole clergy of Your Church, which You have established to feed the flock of Your word, and by their prayers have mercy upon me, and save me, a sinner.

Save, O Lord, and have mercy upon my spiritual father (name) and by his holy prayers forgive me my transgressions.

Save, O Lord, and have mercy upon my parents (names), my spouse (name), my brothers and sisters (names), my children (names), my kinsmen after the flesh and my friends, and grant them Your blessings both here and hereafter.

Save, O Lord, and have mercy upon the old, the young, the needy, the orphans and the widows, and on all that are in sickness and sorrow, in distress and affliction, in oppression and captivity, in prison and confinement. More especially have mercy upon Your servants who are under persecution for Your sake and for the sake of the Orthodox faith at the hands of heathen nations, of apostates, and of heretics: remember them, visit, strengthen, keep and comfort them, and make haste to grant them, by Your power, relief, freedom and deliverance.

Save, O Lord, and have mercy upon all who are sent on duty, all who travel, our fathers, brothers and sisters, and upon all true Christians.

Save, O Lord, and have mercy upon those who envy and affront me, and do me mischief, and do not let them perish through me, a sinner.

Those who depart from the Orthodox faith, dazzled by destroying heresies, do enlighten by the light of Your holy wisdom, and unite them to Your Holy, Apostolic, Catholic Church.

Prayer for the Beginning of the Day

O Lord, grant me to greet the coming of the day in peace, help me in all things to rely upon Your holy will. In every hour of the day reveal Your will to me. Bless my dealings with all who surround me. Teach me to treat all that comes to me throughout the day with peace of soul and with firm conviction that Your will governs all. In all my deeds and words, guide my thoughts and feelings. In unforeseen events, let me not forget that all are sent by You. Teach me to act firmly and wisely, without embittering and embarrassing others. Give me strength to bear the fatigue of the coming day with all that it shall bring. Direct my will, teach me to pray. And, Yourself, pray in me. Amen.

Benediction

It is truly right to bless you, O Theotokos, ever blessed and most pure, and the Mother of our God. More honorable than the cherubim and more glorious beyond compare than the seraphim, without corruption you gave birth to God the Word. True Theotokos, we magnifiy you.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Lord, have mercy. (three times)

Through the prayers of our holy Fathers, O Lord Jesus Christ our God, have mercy on us and save us. Amen.

Prayer of Thanksgiving

Now that the day has come to a close, I thank You, O Lord, and I ask that the evening with the night may be sinless; grant this to me, O Savior, and save me.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Now that the day has passed, I glorify You, O Master, and I ask that the evening, with the night may be without offence; grant this to me, O Savior, and save me.

Both now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Now that the day has run its course, I praise You, O Holy One, and I ask that the evening with the night may be undisturbed; grant this to me, O Savior, and save me.

Lord, have mercy. (twelve times)

Prayer for Forgiveness

O Lord our God, if during this day I have sinned, whether in word or deed or thought, forgive me all, for You are good and love mankind. Grant me peaceful and undisturbed sleep, and deliver me from all influence and temptation of the evil one. Raise me up again in proper time that I may glorify You; for You are blessed with Your Only-begotten Son and Your All-holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

The Nicene Creed

I believe in one God, the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth, and of all things visible and invisible; and in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the Only-Begotten, begotten of the Father before all worlds, Light of Light, Very God of Very God, begotten, not made; of one essence with the Father; by Whom all things were made; Who for us men and for our salvation came down from heaven and was incarnate of the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary, and was made man; and was crucified also for us under Pontius Pilate, and suffered and was buried; the third day He rose again according to the Scriptures; and ascended into heaven, and sits at the right hand of the Father; and He shall come again with glory to judge the living and the dead; Whose Kingdom shall have no end. ## Prayer for the End of the Day

O Christ our God, who at all times and in every hour, in heaven and on earth, are worshipped and glorified; who are long-suffering, merciful and compassionate; who love the just and show mercy upon the sinner; who call all to salvation through the promise of blessings to come; O Lord, in this hour receive our supplications and direct our lives according to Your commandments. Sanctify our souls, hallow our bodies, correct our thoughts, cleanse our minds; deliver us from all tribulation, evil and distress. Encompass us with Your holy Angels that, guided and guarded by them, we may attain to the unity of the faith and to the knowledge of Your unapproachable glory, for You are blessed unto ages of ages. Amen.

Here may be added your own private devotions and intercessions, using your own words. When you have finished, conclude with this prayer:

It is truly right to bless you, O Theotokos, ever blessed and most pure, and the Mother of our God. More honorable than the cherubim and more glorious beyond compare than the seraphim, without corruption you gave birth to God the Word. True Theotokos, we magnifiy you.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Lord, have mercy. (three times).

Through the prayers of our holy Fathers, Lord Jesus Christ our God, have mercy upon us and save us. Amen.

As you lie down to sleep, say:

Into Your hands, O Lord, I commend my soul and my body. Bless me, have mercy upon me, and grant me life eternal. Amen.

Index to Annotations

This is a thorough, but not exhaustive, index to topics and names discussed in the annotations and articles of the Orthodox Study Bible. For further information on topics, see the Glossary and the Index to Articles. Entries that cover several verses may refer to two or more annotations within a passage of Scripture.

In addition to the usual book name abbreviations, the abbreviation "Dan-Sus" refers to the story of Susanna found at the beginning of the Book of Daniel, which is not numbered as a chapter. The abbreviation "Dan-Bel" refers to the story of Bel and the Serpent, found at the end of the Book of Daniel and also not numbered as a chapter.
